—In an article on "Bathing at Etretat," a London magazine says: "It is reported that one young gentleman, who swam indifferently, followed out into the sea a young lady, who swam excellently; that, panting with emotion and exertion, he assured her in the briefest possible manner of his attachment, and almost choked himself in the attempt to seize and kiss her hand; that, floating upon his back, he explained quietly his position and circumstances, and breathed words of tenderness, while the fair one again and again plunged under water to conceal her blushes; and that, finally, when they swam to shore, the daring youth had been accepted, at the cost of being almost paralyzed with cold."

—Thomas Carlyle has placed the following inscription on the grave stone that marks the resting place of his deceased wife, (and of her parents) at Haddington, East Lothian:

"Here likewise now rests Jane Welsh Carlyle, spouse of Thomas Carlyle, Chelsea, London. She was born at Haddington, 14th July, 1801; only child of the above John Welsh and of Grace Welsh, Caplegell, Dumfriesshire, his wife.

"In her bright existence she had more sorrows than are common, but also a soft invincibility, a clearness of discernment, and a noble loyalty of heart, which are rare. For forty years she was the true and loving help-mate of her husband, and by act and word unwearedly forwarded him as none else could in all of worthy that he did or attempted. She died at London, 21st April, 1866, suddenly snatched away from him, and the light of his life is as if gone out."

Personal and Literary.

ADA CLARE, once known as the Bohemian Queen, has sailed from New York to San Francisco.

ARTEMUS WARD has been engaged to show his "wax figgers" in London and advertises them in Punch.

MRS. JENKINS complained in the evening that the turkey she had eaten did not set well. "Probably," said Jenkins, "it was not a hen turkey."

RUMOR says that the confiscation of Santa Anna's Mexican estates has not left him poor. He is reported to have $10,000,000 in gold on deposit in Great Britain.

MRS. S. PETIGRU KING, daughter of Judge Petigru, of South Carolina—ruined in circumstances by the rebellion—is giving dramatic readings in Buffalo, New York.

EX-GOVERNOR HENRY CONNELLY, of New Mexico, died at Santa Fe, August 12th. He was appointed Governor of the Territory by Mr. Lincoln, and served in that capacity for four years.

REV. D. DENT, of the Congregational Church, Winona, Minnesota, has accepted an appointment on the staff of Gen. Fisk, as Superintendent of Education in the Department of Tennessee.

BOWES R. MCILVAINE, eldest son of the late Hon. Joseph McIlvaine, United States Senator from New Jersey, and brother of the Rt. Rev. C. P. McIlvaine, Bishop of Ohio, died in New York on the 27th ult., in his 72d year. He was a successful merchant in that city.

MR. HART, an American sculptor and gentleman, residing in Florence, has just completed successfully a group, which he calls the Triumph of Woman the model of which, in clay, we saw two winters ago. Cupid is represented as crying at the loss of his last arrow, which has been snatched from him by a beautiful woman, just as the young Love-God was throwing it at her.

THE great event in the theatrical world will be the advent of Ristori, the successor of Rachel—the Italian prototype of the French artiste, who now lies entombed in the Jewish quarter of Pere la Chaise, not far from the monument erected to the poetic history of Eloise and Abelard. She comes with a large troupe of fifty, who will be as little as she is great, but this we must tolerate for the contrast it will present.

WHEN LOLA MONTES left Bavaria, and went to France, she deposited about half a million of francs with a well known banker, bought her villa in the Bois de Boulogne, and rode in an elegant equipage drawn by four horses. It being one of the periodical crises of liberte, fraternite egalite, the Parisian populace were about to mob the turnout one day, while the mistress was shopping. The footman had the presence of mind to cry to them that it belonged to Eugene Sue, at that time a Liberalist, and it was saved. Sue is now an Imperialist, and rides in his carriage; Montes died poor, and a Republican.

Music Book Trade.

To give our readers an idea of the increase of Root & Cady's music book trade, and the measures they are taking to meet the demand, we copy below the orders they recently gave, in one day, to New York houses. For the information of buyers in the northwest, we also quote the prices ruling in Chicago.

Of Mason Bros., R. & C. ordered as follows:

		Retail Price.	Dozen Price.
4,000	Key-Note, Wm. B. Bradbury	$ 1.50	$15.00
2,000	Diapason, Geo. F. Root	1,50	15.00
2,000	Jubilee, Wm. B. Bradbury	1.50	15.00
2,000	Praise of Zion, Wilder & Davenport.	1·50	15.00
1,000	Root's Cabinet Organ School	2 50
500	New Carmina Sacra, Dr. L. Mason	1.50	15.00
500	Hallelujah, Dr. Lowell Mason	1.50	15.00
500	Asaph, do	1.50	15.00
500	Shawm, Bradbury & Root	1.50	15.00
200	Sabbath Bell, Geo. F. Root	1.50	15.00
200	Festival Glee Book, Root & Bradbury	3.00	30.00
100	N. Y. Glee and Chorus Book, Wm. B. Bradbury	2.00	20.00
100	Haymakers, Geo. F. Root	1.00	10 00
200	Esther, Wm. B. Bradbury	50	5 00
200	Flower Queen, Geo. F. Root	75	7.50
20	Mammoth Exercises, Dr. L. Mason	14.00

14,020 Books.

Of F. J. Huntington & Co., R. C. ordered as follows:

		Retail Price.	Dozen Price.
1,000	New Lute of Zion, I. B. Woodbury	$1.50	$15 00
700	Sacred Lute, I. B. Woodbury	1.50	15.00
300	New Olive Branch, Cook & Perkins	1.50	15 00
300	Psalm King, T. E. Perkins	1.50	15.00
300	Anthem Thanksgiving, I. B. Woodbury	1.50	15.00
100	Day Spring, I. B. Woodbury	1 35	13 50
100	Dulcimer, I. B. Woodbury	1 25	13 50
200	Cythara, I. B. Woodbury	1,50	15.00
100	Oriental Glee Book, Cook & Perkins	80	8.00
100	Sunny Side Glee Book, Theo. F. Seward	80	8.00
500	Shining Star, (board.) T. E. Perkins	35	3 75
500	Shining Star, (paper,) T. F. Perkins	30	3.25

4,200 Books. Grand total in both orders, 18,220.

These books weigh about fourteen tons! Measure, when stacked up solid, nine cords! and amount, at retail prices, to $25,720, being the largest orders ever given for music books in this country. Besides these, Root & Cady order largely, of course, from other houses. Last fall and winter Root & Cady's steam power presses could not print their own music books fast enough to keep up with their orders. To guard against a repetition of this difficulty they commence the fall trade this year with the following stock of their principal selling books on hand:

		Retail Price.	Dozen Price.
6,500	Musical Curriculum, G. F. Root	$4.50
13,000	Coronet, G. F. Root	1.25	$12.50
15,000	Silver Lute, G. F. Root	50	5.00
1,200	Cabinet Organ Companion, G. F. Root	75
700	Root's Piano-Forte Guide, G. F. Root	75
5,000	Musical Fountain, G. F. Root	18	2.00
5,000	Snow Bird, "Our Song Birds" for 1866,	18	2.00
8,000	Robin,
7,000	Red Bird,
10,000	Dove,

71,400 Books, amounting, at retail prices, to $68,725.

Add to the two above aggregates all other music books in Root & Cady's stock not included in the foregoing, and a grand aggregate is reached, both in numbers and value, that is really stupendous, when it is remembered that this is only one branch of their rapidly growing business.

THE IRON CROWN.—When the Austrians recently ceded Venetia to France, they carried off from Venice the famous Iron Crown of Lombardy, and its restoration has been demanded by the Italian Government, to whom France has ceded Venetia. The crown, although made chiefly of gold, derives its name from an iron band, encircling the interior, which is said to have been made from one of the nails driven through Christ's body at the crucifixion. It was worn by Charlemagne, the first Emperor of Germany, more than a thousand years ago; was preserved in Italy through the terrible devastation of the Middle Ages; and finally worn by Napoleon Bonaparte, who with it was crowned King of Italy at Milan. When Austria became master of Lombardy, the crown followed the fortunes of the country, and now that the country is made part of the Italian kingdom, the Italian Government justly claims it.

A LUXURIOUS SMOKING ROOM.—The Prince of Wales's smoking room, at his estate, Frogmore, writes a Home Journal correspondent, is fitted up in splendid style, and is one of the most luxurious apartments in the whole place. He has the choicest brands of cigars that can be obtained, and tobaccos of every kind that grow. His visitors, if they affect the pipe, are each supplied with new and costly meerschaums, as soon as they enter the estate, which pipes are never used again at Frogmore, after the guests depart. The Prince is fond of the weed, and has taught the Princess to smoke cigarettes. The "ash boxes" that stand on the rare marble tables, are artistically designed, in solid gold, and embellished with precious stones.

.....The price of a wife in Egypt varies from five shillings to $1,500.

.....The utter-most parts of the earth are supposed to be the parts where there are the most women.

.....An old bachelor says that every woman is in the wrong until she cries—and then she is in the right instantly.

.....The following is given as a Quaker woman's sermon: "My dear friends, there are three things that I very much wonder at. The first is that children should be so foolish as to throw up stones, clubs and brick-bats into fruit trees to knock down fruit. If they would let it alone it would fall itself. The second is that men should be so foolish as to go to war and kill each other. If let alone they would die themselves. The third and last thing I wonder at is that young men should be so unwise as to go after young women. If they would stop at home the young women would come after them."

An Honest Machine.—The Rev. W. G. Hubbard, of Wilson, N. Y., writes to the Wilcox & Gibbs Sewing Machine Co., "I have regarded your machine as the most perfect in construction and working of any I have seen; but now, after taking it to pieces, I admire it more and more. It is an honest machine; and I hope every man and woman who owns one will take pattern from it in principle and duty."

THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.
COTTON—Middling	$ .33	@	.35¼
FLOUR—Extra Round Hoop Ohio	8 00	@	10.50
WHEAT—No. 1 Milwaukee New	2.20	@	2.25
BARLEY		@	.90
CORN—Sound Western Mixed	.83	@	.84
OATS—New Western	.46	@	.52
PETROLEUM—Crude	.26	@	.27
PORK—Mess new	33.00	@	33.25
BEEF CATTLE—Common to good	12.50	@	17.00
DRY GOODS—Merrimacs	.20	@	.21
Bleached Sheetings—Masonville		@	.35
Brown Sheetings—Stark		@	.22½
Delaines—Manchester		@	.27½
Denims—Manchester		@	.35
GOLD—Closed 1.46.

CHICAGO, Sept. 10, 1866.
BEEVES—Stock to prime	7.00	@	$ 7 50
BEANS	.50	@	1.00
BRAN	10.00	@	12 00
BUTTER—Good Tub	.22	@	.24
CHEESE—Western States	.11½	@	.13½
COFFEE—Rio	.26	@	.30
Java	.39	@	.40
EGGS	.16	@	.18
FRUITS—Green Apples—New	3.00	@	5.00
Peaches—box	1.00	@	3 50
FLOUR—Winter White	11.00	@	13.75
Spring Extra	9 00	@	11 00
FISH—Mackerel, No. 1, half bbl	12.25	@	12 50
Whitefish, " "	7.25	@	7.50
Codfish, per hundred	9.00	@	9 50
GRAIN—Corn, No. 1	.51	@	.53
Oats "	.29	@	.29½
Rye	.61	@	.62
Wheat—Spring No. 1 New	1.90	@	1.95
Barley Western—new	.75	@	.85
HIGHWINES	2.23	@	2.24
LARD	.19	@	.20
LUMBER—Common flooring, rough	32.00	@	35.00
PORK—Mess	33.50	@	33.75
POTATOES, per bushel	.50	@	.60
SHEEP—Good	3 00	@	4.87½
SUGARS—Cuba	.12¾	@	.14⅝
New York Refined	.17¾	@	.18
White B	.16¾	@	.17
SALT—Fine		@	2.60
Coarse		@	2.50
WOOL—Medium washed	.43	@	.47
SEEDS—Timothy	2.95	@	3.20
Flax	2.62	@	2.75

A Brief Dialogue Between Common Sense and a Dyspeptic.

COMMON SENSE.—Is it possible for any human being to enjoy life while suffering from indigestion?

DYSPEPTIC.—No more than it is possible to be happy on the rack. I speak from experience.

COMMON SENSE.—Suppose, then, a remedy for this terrible complaint is offered, under the guarantee of hundreds of individuals of high social standing, who have tested the effect of the article in their own cases is it not unwise in any one afflicted with the disease to neglect to give it a trial?

DYSPEPTIC.—Unquestionably. I admit the premises. What is the deduction?

COMMON SENSE.—Give heed. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is such a remedy. The evidence of its efficacy as a cure for dyspepsia is positive, complete, undenied and undeniable. Have you ever ascertained by experiment whether it is or is not the infallible cure that it is claimed to be?

DYSPEPTIC.—I confess that I have not.

COMMON SENSE.—Then you stand convicted of folly by your own showing. If the same strong proofs that have been advanced in favor of this great tonic had been submitted to you with regard to any business speculation, you would have gone into it at once. Is HEALTH of less importance than the dollars and cents which no man can enjoy without it?

DYSPEPTIC.—No, no, no—a thousand times no. Common Sense, you are right. I will give the Bitters a trial.

COMMON SENSE.—Do so, and I shall never more have reason to address you as a dyspeptic.

DR. TOBIAS' VENETIAN HORSE LINIMENT

Pint Bottles at One Dollar, for the cure of lameness, scratches, wind galls, sprains, bruises, splints, cuts, colic, slipping stifle, over-heating, sore throat, nail in the foot, etc. It is warranted cheaper and better than any other article ever offered to the public. Thousands of animals have been cured of the colic and over-heating, by this Liniment, and hundreds that were crippled and lame have been restored to their former vigor. It is used by all the first horsemen throughout the States. Orders are constantly received from the racing stables of England for fresh supplies of this invaluable article. Over 2,500 testimonials have been received. Remember, one dollar laid out in time may save the life of your horse. Sold by all druggists Office, 56 Cortlandt street, New York.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS,

WHOSE TIMELY USE, UNDER PROVIDENCE, HAS OFTEN SAVED LIFE.

These celebrated Vegetable Pills are no new, untried remedy; they have been used and tested in the United States for thirty years, and are relied upon by hundreds of thousands of families as almost their sole medicine when sick. No cure or expense is spared in their preparation, and it is certainly true when I assert that no King can have a medicine safer or surer than Brandreth's Pills.

They produce a good effect upon disease almost immediately they are taken. By some wonderful power, perhaps electric or nervous influence, the progress of diseased action is arrested; where watchfulness and pain have been present, the system becomes quieter, and the patient soon obtains refreshing sleep.

The genuine BRANDRETH PILL BOX has upon it a UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT STAMP with B. BRANDRETH in White Letters in the same.

Wilcox & Gibbs Sewing Machine.

"Its seam is stronger and less liable to rip in use or wear than the Lock-Stitch." ["Judges Report," at the "Grand Trial."]

Send for the "Report," and samples of Work, containing both kinds of stitches, on the same piece of goods. Agents wanted.

L. CORNELL & CO., General Agents,
188 Lake Street, Chicago, Ill.

DR. SWAIN'S VEGETABLE HAIR BALM invariably restores grey hair to its original color, without staining the skin or clothing. It leaves the most dry, dead and crisp hair, soft, moist and glossy, causes it to curl, and keeps it in its place, while it promotes its growth and prevents its falling off.

It contains neither oil or alcohol.

Numerous preparations of oil, alcohol and sulphur have been palmed upon the public, and having totally failed to give satisfaction, the manufacturers have deservedly come to grief.

Dr. Swain warrants his Vegetable Balm to accomplish all that he claims for it, and authorizes his agent to refund the money wherever it fails to give satisfaction.

It is an entirely new and scientific preparation, produced by the distilation of rare and fragrant flowers, which renders it not only the best renewer in the world, but makes it particularly agreeable as a hair dressing to both old and young, while its liquid purity and floral odor are in striking contrast with the nasty mixtures usually sold.

The proprietor has letters from many of the most distinguished as well as fashionable people, judges, clergymen, lawyers, physicians, opera singers, actresses, &c, certifying to the remarkable virtues of the Balm.

Don't let any dealer urge upon you a different article, but if your tradesman does not keep this, send one dollar for a trial bottle to the nearest agent, or the proprietor.

If for grey hair, send for No. 1.
If for hair dressing, send for No. 2.

C. H. Swarm, proprietor, No. 34 South Water street, Chicago.

For sale by all the wholesale druggists in Chicago.

AGENTS WANTED

For the best selling and most useful work of the day. Our Agents are making from $100 to $300 per month in selling "Mackenzie's Universal Encyclopedia," or 10,000 receipts in all the useful arts, such as Medicine, Cookery, Farriery, Agriculture, &c., &c. New and special articles upon Cholera, and the Rinderpest and Trichinæ have just been added. All new, reliable and useful discoveries added to each edition, making it the most complete book of the kind ever issued. The whole compiled and arranged by a corps of the best scientific men of the country. Apply for circular giving full description and terms to agents. Copies of letters, showing what other agents are doing, &c., sent free by the publishers.

T. ELWOOD ZELL & COMPANY,
Nos. 17 and 198, Sixth street, Philadelphia.

THE MOON'S VOLCANOES

are engaging the attention of astronomers, but the world of Beauty and Fashion is less interested in human discoveries than in the great question of

TURNING THE HEADS

that have been whitened by age or sickness to a glorious black or brown hue. Nobody now is such as not to admit that the finest and most harmless hair darkener in existence is

A LUNATIC

CRISTADORO'S HAIR DYE,

which nourishes the fibres as well as changes their hue. Manufactured by J. CRISTADORO, 6 Astor House New York. Sold by all Druggists. Applied by all Hair Dressers.

A Household Necessity Exists for the use of Burne's Celebrated Catarrh Snuff.

The best known remedy for "a Cold in the Head," Headache, Snuffles, Sore Eyes, Deafness, and the worst forms of that loathsome disease, CATARRH.

It cleanses the entire head. Its effects are pleasant and wonderful, contains no tobacco, nor injurious ingredient. It has the highest professional testimonials. Sold by all Druggists for 25 cents per Box. Can be sent by mail on receipt of 30 cents for one Box, or $1 for four Boxes. Address JAS. BURNO, Postoffice-Box 1235, New York City. Wholesale by D. BARNES & CO., 21 Park Row New York.

Root & Cady,

NO. 67 WASHINGTON ST.,

CHICAGO,

MUSIC PUBLISHERS!

WHOLESALE AGENTS FOR

THE "STECK"

—AND—

Mason & Hamlin CABINET ORGANS.

Importers and Dealers in all kinds of

Band and Orchestral Instruments, STRINGS,

—AND—

GENERAL MUSICAL MERCHANDISE.

Publishers of "The Curriculum,"

Mr. Geo. F. Root's great work for the aid of all capable and energetic Piano and Music Teachers and their Pupils, more than ten thousand of whom already have it in use. Price, $4.50.

"The Coronet," by Geo. F. Root. New and admirable for the Convention, Singing Class and Social Circle. $12 per dozen.

"Our Song Birds," a quarterly-issued Music Book, for Day and Sabbath Schools. The fourth number, "The Dove," will be issued on the 15th instant. Price, 18 cents; $2 per dozen. Send and get a copy.

"

Glorious News,

Not from Mexico, but from the establishment of

MERRITT, MEEKER & Co

The people are jurt finding out that they can save from five to ten per cent in buying their Goods at the

CHEAP CASH STORE.

They have received and are still receiving every week additions to their

STOCK OF GOODS,

And are now prepared to supply the wants of all who wish to purchase anything in the line of

DRY GOODS,

YANKEE NOTIONS,
BOOTS & SHOES, HATS, CAPS
AND GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS.

Particular attention is called to their stock

Of Boots and Shoes

which they are selling at from 10 to 20 per cent lower than any other establishment this side of sunrise. All who are in doubt can be convinced by calling and examining for themselves.

You will find Wm VanCamp on hand and ready at all times to show you any goods you may please to see, and who esteems it a pleasure to wait upon customers, and he will sell for our motto is "quick sales and small profits.' Remember the place one door west of Drews Hardware Store

EUREKA.

NOT CALIFORNIA WITH ALL ITS GOLD,
BUT THE PLACE TO BUY

Boots & Shoes at

Prices that suit the times, at

MC'NICHOL & WILSON'S

EMPIRE

Boot & Shoe Store.

We shall keep constantly on hand a full assortment of the BEST

Eastern Work to be Found

Consisting of
LADIES' CALF, GOAT AND KID GAITERS, BALMORALS, SLIPS,
And an endless variety of EVERYTAING usually found in a First Class Boot & Shoe Store. Our manufacturing department will be ably conducted and all work done by us warranted to give satisfaction. Those in want of Boots or Shoes will save money by calling, and will be sure to buy, for they can't fail to "see it."

☞ Remember the place—one door east of Curtis Drug Store,

Yes, 'Tis So!--Fact.

The subscriber would respectfully inform the citizens of Tecumseh and vicinity, that they have purchased the

On Railroad st. opposite Slayton, Co's. Warehouse where they will dall & constantly on hand a supply of all p con- things people may want, such as good

BEEF, PORK, MUTTON

Lamb, Veal, Corned Beef, Salt Fish of all kinds, Smoked Hams &c. &c. We intend to keep the best market ever kept in this village, and sell as reasonable as the times will allow. Call and see me,

A. S. Mathews.

Tecumseh, July, 1866.

DR. VELPAU'S FRENCH PILLS.

Ladies, take Particular Notice.
THE REAL VELPAU FEMALE PILL.
[WARRANTED FRENCH.]

THESE PILLS, so celebrated many years ago in Paris for the relief of female irregularities, and afterward so notorious for their criminal employment in the practice of abortion, are now offered for sale for the first time in America. They have been kept in comparative obscurity from the fact that the originator, Dr. Velpau, is a physician in Paris of great wealth and strict conscientious principles, and has withheld them from general use, lest they should be employed for unlawful purposes. In overcoming Female Obstructions, Falling of the Womb, Whites, Green Sickness, Suppression, Retention, or Immoderate Flow of the Monthly Discharges, they seem to be truly omnipotent, bursting open the flood-gates from whatever cause may have stopped them; but they are offered to the public only for legitimate uses, and all agents are forbidden to sell them when it is understood that the object is unlawful. Married ladies should never take them when there is any reason to believe themselves pregnant, for they will be sure to produce a miscarriage.

These pills are entirely safe under all circumstances, being composed entirely of substances from the vegetable kingdom.

Each box has the coat of arms for the City of Paris stamped on the box, with the words "Trade Mark" in French, to counterfeit which is a misdemeanor, and all persons will be dealt with according to law.

☞ Full directions accompany every box.

Ladies can obtain a box sealed from the eyes of the curious, by inclosing One Dollar and six post-office stamps to any respectable druggists, or to O. G. STAPLES, General Agent for the United States, Watertown, N. Y.

Agents,

Staiger & Fausel

PRACTICAL

Watch-Makers, Jewelers,

And Repairers of Clocks &c. &c.

J. D. Robbins' Jewelry Store, Tecumseh, Mich. Give them a call.

Farmers! Farmers!

THE

RAISIN MILLS,

is the place to get good grinding done. I pay particular attention to this branch of business,

CUSTOM GRINDING.

keep the Mill constantly in good repair and the 2nd Adam is always on hand with a pleasant smile to tend to the wants

OF MY NUMEROUS CUSTOMERS!

BRING GOOD CLEAN WHEAT, and I will warrant that Adam will give you satisfaction. SOUND

Wheat taken in store for Bread

Good White and Red Wheat Flour for sale. The highest market price paid

In Greenbacks

for good White and Amber Wheat
Mill Feed of allkinds for Sale.

SAWING DONE

for Customers on short notice. Bills of hard wood lumber sawed, and delivered if wished.

LUMBER FOR SALE

Cash paid for Saw Logs. Good hard wood slabs for sale by the load. &c. &c
I sincerely thank my numerous customers for their very liberal patronage, and shal endeavor to do as good work, and even better if possible in the future.

Woolston Comfort.

18 Pronunciemento. 6

GLOBE MILLS.

This well known and popular Mill is

Now in Good Running Order,

and prepared to do Grinding Grists for the farmers in a satisfactory manner, will endeavor to make a good yield and have the flour suit.

Old Customers

I shall be pleased to retain, and would invite others to try and see

How well we can do For them.

To such as

PREFER EXCHANGING THEIR GRAIN,

to having it ground, I shall be ready to accommodate, having always on hand a

SUPPLY OF FLOUR,

There can usually be found at the Mill for Sale
Best White Wheat Flour,
Best Red Wheat Flour,
2nd best Red Wheat Flour,
At Wholesale or Retail.
Corn Meal, Bolted and Coarse,
Fine Midlings, B. W Flour,
Ship Stuffs, B. w. Bran,
Mixed feed for horses and cattle,
Corn and Oats ground for horse f

This Mill can more often grind, because of its unfailing

SUPPLY OF WATER,

and does more certainly have a supply of Flour and Feed always on hand, than any other mill for miles around.
Farmers are invited to bring their wheat to the Globe Mill and get THE HIGHEST MARKET PRICE.
They will always also ussally find a market at the Mill for their other grains.

Wm. HAYDEN.

THUNDERATION.

Still Ahead!!

CLEAR THE TRACK!!

—FOR THE—

NEW ARRIVAL

OF

SUMMER GOODS

AT

Anderson and Larned's.

We have just returned from New York With a large and well selected stock of

STAPLE AND FANCY DRY GOODS,

consisting of

DRESS GOODS,
YANKEE NOTIONS,
BROWN & BLEECHED SHEETINGS, CLOTHS, TRIMMINGS &c., &c.

A full assortment of HOOP SKIRTS offered at low rates. Also a fine assortment of

Crockery AND Glassware,

All our goods are

BOUGHT FOR CASH

and will be sold as cheap as can be bought in Southern Mich. Call one door east of P. O. and see for yourselves.

OF THE LARGEST

ESTABLISHMENT

In Southern michigan.

One of the best filled Establishments!

Most Varied

tock of Furniture

Is to be found at

G. & H. Smith's

ROOMS IN THE

NEW BUILDING,

South Side Chicago St., Tecumseh,

Great Bargains

Are now offered to wholesale or retail buyers.

Among our assortment of Furniture may be found,

Various Styles and Prices

OF SOFAS,

TETE-A-TETES,

MAHOGANY, EASY,
WOOD SEAT, CANE SEAT

AND ROCKING CHAIRS

FRENCH, COTTAGE,
COMMON AND TRUNDLE,

BEDSTEADS,

MARBLE TOP,
WRITING, CARD AND

TEA TABLES,

What Nots, Cradles, Bureaus, Cribs, Desks, Show Cases, Stands, Book Cases, Cupboards, Washstands, Lounges, &c. &c. &c.

Furniture made to order on short notic by the best of Workmen.

LOOKING GLASSES,

COFFINS,

We keep constantly on hand a large and full assortment of Coffins and will make to order all kinds either Night or Day, and finished and trimmed in the best style,
A Hearse Furnished when Desired.

G. SMITH,
H. SMITH.

Tecumseh, June 11th, 1863.

THE PIONEER HOMŒPATHIC

Life Insurance Company, of the United States.

THE

HAHNEMANN LIFE INS. CO.

CLEVELAND, OHIO.

PAID-UP CASH CAPITAL, $200,000 00.
RESPONSIBLE CAPITAL, $400,000 00.

All invested and secured by U. S. Bonds, Ohio State Bonds, Real Estate, and other first-class obligations.

Of this amount, $100,000 is deposited with the Treasurer of the State of Ohio, as a perpetual deposit for the security of all policy holders.

According to the laws of the State of Ohio, under which this Company is organized, each Stockholder is liable for double the amount of his shares, to secure prompt payment upon every Policy properly presented for liquidation. This Company, therefore, has a Capital of $400,000 liable for and just claim, under any Policy issued by it.

SPECIAL FEATURE INSURANCE on the lives of HOMŒPATHISTS at rates of premium VERY MUCH LESS THAN CHARGED by other first-class COMPANIES.

This Company offers all the advantages and security of a Stock and Mutual Company combined. With the exception of a fund to provide for the final retirement of the Capital Stock, all the profits are divided among the Policy Holders.

POLICIES ARE ISSUED on The Life, Ten Year and Endowment Plan.

H. M. CHAPIN, PRES. WM. HEWITT, VICE PRES. A. S. MILLS, SEC'Y.

DIRECTORS:

H. M. CHAPIN, Mayor of Cleveland.
WM. HEWITT, Superintendent Union Line Ex. Co. Cleveland.
W. A. OTIS, Pres. Commercial Nat. Bank.
S. L. MATHER, Cleveland Iron Mining Co.
D. P. ERLLS, Vice Pres. Com. Nat. Bank.
J. P. DAKE, Pres. Dover Bay Grape and Wine Company.
R. F. PAINE, Paine & Wade Attorneys,
J. G. HUSSEY, Hussey & McBride, Oil Dealers.
GEO. WORTHINGTON, Geo. Worthington & Co. Wholesale Hardware.
H. C. BLOSSOM, Wm. Bingham & Co.
CHAS. WASSON, Wasson, Everett & Co.
H. G. CLEVELAND, Cleveland, Btown & Co. Iron Merchants.
JAMES BARNETT, Geo. Worthington & Co. Wholesale Hardware.
A. S. SANFORD, Pres. French River & North Shore Mining Co's.
H. E. PARSONS, Ashtabula.

A. PELHAM, Agent,
Tecumseh, Mich.

GALLAHER & MORRIS, State Agts.
East Saginaw, Mich.

BARRETT'S

THE

BEST VEGETABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE. BR

ON THIS CONTINENT

AND

THE NE PLUS ULTRA — THE PEOPLE'S CHOICE

IS SO PRONOUNCED BY THE most scientific Analytical Chemists.

It Restores Gray Hair to its Natural Color.
It Promotes the growth of the Hair.
It Prevents Hair Falling Out.
It Changes the Roots to their Original Organic Action.
It Eradicates Dandruff and Humors.
It Keeps the Scalp Healthy.
It Contains no Injurious Ingredient.

And is generally accorded to be

A SPLENDID DRESSING.

ITS MERITS

Are Inside the Bottle.

Every bottle contains MORE LIQUID than any other dollar preparation. NO LARGE REWARDS offered to establish its efficacy, but we DO GUARANTEE to refund the money to any person who will use two bottles and then say that our restorative has failed to do all we claim.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Our J. R. BARRETT is the first and only man who discovered the art of combining a HAIR RESTORATIVE with a DRESSING, of which there are now many imitations in the market, yet none but BARRETT'S are Original.

J. R. BARRETT & CO., Proprietors,
MANCHESTER, N. H.

FARRAND, SHELEY & CO.,
DETROIT.
General Agents for Michigan.

DENTISTRY.

DR. A. PELHAM,

Resident Dentists.

Office over Fisher & Baker's Drug Store, Chicago St.

TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN.

☞ All branches of Dentistry performed in the neatest possible manner and at Reasonable Prices

We would respectfully inform the citizens of Tecumseh and vicinity that we opened a

MEAT MARKET,

at McGee's old stand in Bidwell's warehouse where we shall keep on hand everything in our line that the market affords, of the best quality that can be had.

We have also made arrangements for the manufacture of SOFT SOAP, which will be sold at reasonable rates. Ashes and grease taken in exchange and Soap delivered when requested.

Thankful for past favors, we cordially invite our friends to give us a call. All orders left at the Market will be promptly attended to. W. TAYLOR & CO.

$1,500 PER YEAR. We want agents everywhere to sell our IMPROVED $20 Sewing Machines. Three new kinds. Under and upper feed. Sent on trial. Warranted five years. Above salary or large commissions paid. The only machines sold in the United States for less than $40, which are fully licensed by Howe, Wheeler & Wilson, Grover & Baker, Singer & Co, and Bachelder. All other cheap machines are infringements and the seller or user are liable to arrest, fine and imprisonment. Illustrated circulars sent free. Address, or call upon Shaw & Clark, at Biddeford, Maine, or Chicago, Ill.

ROYAL HAVANA LOTTERY OF CUBA
Conducted by the Spanish Government, $350,000
IN GOL RAWN EVERY 17 DAYS

Prizes cashed and information furnished, the highest rates paid for Doubloons and all kinds of Gold and Silver, also for all government Securities.
TAYLOR & CO., Bankers, 16 wall st. N. Y.
n790lysmp

Ditchers take Notice.

The Drain Commissioners of Lenawee County will meet on the east side of section 12 on the lands of Levi Fowler, in the township of Adrian, on Saturday the 1st day of September next, at 9 o'clock A. M., for the purpose of letting jobs on a drain commencing on section 12 and extending to section 24 of Adrian Township. Said jobs will be let to the lowest bidder in sections to suit contractors.

By order of the Drainage Commissioners.
JUSTUS LOWE, Secretary.

Ridgeway, Aug. 7th, 1866.

THE CONFESSIONS AND EXPERIENCE OF AN INVALID.

Publised for the benefit and as a CAUTION TO YOUNG MEN and others, who suffer from Nervous Debility, Premature Decay of Manhood, &c., supplying at the same time the means of Self-Cure. By one who has cured himself after undergoing considerable quackery. By enclosing a post-paid addressed envelope, single copies, free of charge, mhy be had of the author.
NATHANIEL MAYFAIR, Esq., Brooklyn,
n790lysmp Kings Co, N. Y.

GO TO THE

LONGESTABLISHED

Head Quarters, for

Groceries & Provisions,

A. JAMES

Is happy to inform his patrons and the public in general that he has heavily replenished his stock of Goods, to which he invites the attention of those in search of

Good Articles

AT FAIR PRICES.

His stock embraces about every article known in his line of trade—

CIGARS, SOAP &
SNUFF, SPICES,
SOURS & SWEETS

Confectionery Candles,

FRUIT AND FISH

Stone and Wooden Ware,

&c.

He continuesto pay the highest market price for all kinds of Farmers Produce.
His stock embraces all kinds, uncer the ollowing heads:

MOLASSES,
SOAP, FISH.
SUGAR, SYRUP,
COFFEE, SPICES,
AMMUNITION, CANDIES,
CANDLES, TOBACCO,
FRUITS, SAUCES,
BURNING OILS.

OUR MOTTO IS,

Never to be Undersold.

Sorghum Men Attention!

LOOK AT THE CANE MACHINERY.

At Slayton, Tindall & Co's Warehouse.

New Styles of Mills, Evaporators and Horse Powers, never before introduced in Michigan. Patented by Powers & Stevens, of Wisconsin, and successfully and extensively used in the Western States.

Vertical and Horizontal MILLS,

of all sizes, of great strength and capacity, with patent adjustable rubber springs.

VAPORATORS

divided into sections with instantly movable partitions over fire chamber, which is also divided into sections, and heat regulated by Patent Dampers, at will Also Saccharometers and tools for full setts of Camp Implements for the manufacture of syrup & sugar

KIRBY Mower & Reaper,
BUCK EYE Mower & Reaper,
CAYUGA CHIEF, Mower & Reaper,
" " No. 2 "
EUREKA Mower & Reaper,
EXCELSIOR Mower & Reaper,
NEW YORKER Mower & Reaper,
BALL Mower & Reaper,
HUBBARD Mower, QUAKER Mower,
Any other style Mower or Reaper you want can be had of SLAYTON, TINDALL & CO.

The Buckeye, Riding, Corn and Fallow Cultivator. The Stafford, Riding, Corn and Fallow Cultivator. 1. 2, and 3 shovel, one horse Corn Cultivators. Corn Plows. L. Green's Patent Peekskill Plows. Curtis' Plows, the genuine, from Mr. Curtis' own shop, For Sale by

SLAYTON, TINDALL & Co

CURTIS & PARSONS

(DEALERS IN)

Having become proprietors of the well known establishment in Bidwell's Block on Chicago Street, would respectfully announce to the citizens of Tecumseh and vicinity, that they are prepared to supply them with everything in the line of Hardware, Tin Ware, Iron, Nails, Chains, Cutlery, Bells, Seelf goods Glass, Cradles, Scythes, Forks, Rakes, Carpenter's tools, Doors, Axes, Hoes Cistren Pumps, Putty, Spades and Shovels, Chains, Ropes and every article usually kept in like establishments.

Especial attention is called to the large assortment of Cook and Parlor Stoves & Fixtures, of which they have a large variety, embracing all the latest improvements, We have also a Tin-Shop in opperation, for manufacturing & repairing all kinds of Tin, Copper and Sheet Iron Ware Stove-pipe, Eave Troughs, Milk-Pans, Dippers, Cups, Oil-Cans, and every conceivable article, from a Large Dish Pan down to a Tin whistle. We are sole agents for the Universal Clothes Wringer, for this vicinity.

GEO. CURTIS. WM. A. PARSONS.

THAT'S RIGHT,

We Have It!!

VARIETY.

We would respectfully announce to the good people of Tecumseh and vicinity that

HIALEY & WALTERS

Have now on hand a large and well selected stock of

FAMILY GROCERIE

Which they are offering very low. They have in connection with their Grocery a

BAKERY,

and having secured the services of a first class Baker, are now prepared to furnish all, with Bread, Crackers, Pies, Cakes &c. They have furnished rooms over their store for the sale of

ICE-CREAM, LEMONADE &c

and by strict attention to business, they hope to please all who patronize

L. DREW'S

NEW HARDWARE!!

Having received from New York and other eastern cities a large Stock of the following goods viz:

STOVES IN ENDLESS VARITY!

Iron, Steel Nails, Cutlery, Putty, Glass. Window Sashes,

House Trimmings,

Carpenter's Tools, Farming Tools Coopers Tools and Chain Pumps, Bolts, and a

Variety of SHELF GOODS,

PURCHASED FOR CASH Before THE LATE ADVANCE,

They are offered for sale at prices which defy competition. All kinds of

Tin ware

constantly on hand and made to order of the best material and by experienced workmen, also

Copper, Sheet Iron. and Zinc,

Also the Good Samaritan COOKING STOVE, one of the best stoves in the country.

M. WRIGHT

Keeps constantly on kand, a large and choice assortment of

Drugs and Medicines,

PAINTS, OILS, VARNISHES,
FANCY GLASS WARE,
KEROSENE OIL GROCERY,

WALL PAPER,

PERFUMERY &c.

Also, agent for all the popular

PATENT MEDICINES,

ALCOHOL, Pure WINES, LIQUORS AND SPICES,

Also, a good selection of

FRESH GROCERIES,

Physicians' Prescriptions carefully compounded and all orders answered.

Medicines warranted genuine and of the best quality and sold at the lowest cash prices.

The Southern Michigan

MANUFACTORY!

IN FULL BLAST!

T. Cummins, Proprietor,

Would announce to the citizens of Lenawee Co, that he is still located in the Brick Shop on Railroad Street, Where he is now turning out the Niocest, Best and Strongest, WAGONS, CARRIAGES, SLEIGHS, BUGGIES, CUTTERS, and in fact everything in his line from a baby cart to a large Omnibus. His prices are such as defy competition, So call and leave your orders.

☞ Job Printing in all its various branches neatly and promptly executed at this office.—Our charges are moderate.—Try us.

Dr. Jackson, Herbert & Co.

15 Greatest Medical Circular Ever Published! Fifteen large letter pages for two 3 cent stamps. 15

Prof. EGBERT JACKSON, ROBERT HERBET, M. D. Dr. EUGENE VELPEAU, Jr.
THE NATIONAL DISPENSTRY,
Established 1850.

Six years of unrivalled success in the cure of every form of private disease incident to either sex.

Science and fair dealing victorious over Empiricism and fraud.

We infalliably cure Syphillis, Gleet, Gonorrhœa Impotency Nocturnal and Diurnal Emissions, Complaints peculiar to females, and every form of private disease of whatever name or nature Spermatorrhœa or Self-Abuse, that curse of Modern Manhood easily and speedily cured and every trace of its terrible effects eradicated from the system, without detention from business.—Young men bear this in mind, that we are in possession of the Secret Receipts and methods of practice of Culverwell, Lallemand, Hunter, Velpeau, Sen., Ricord and other great lights in modern medical science; for it is a fact of the very greatest importance, and we would ask any man of average common sense how can the thousand and one shallow pretenders hope to compete with us?

Ye unfortunates, ere trusting your health and money to heartless charlatans, at least write to Drs. Jackson, Herbert & Co., who will at once return you a kind, discreet and explicit answer. Ladies write for our circular.

Dr. Jackson's Female Monthly Pills, for a safe and effectual remedy for all irregularities and obstructions, from whatever cause. Price $1 per box, or four for $5.00.

The Mountain of light or medical protector and Marriage Guide, and an Explicit Ley to Love and Beauty. Containing 300 plates.—☞ This is THE book you want price 50 cents; 3 for $1.

Send for our splendid Circular containing more in quantity and of far superior quality to any of the so called "pamphlets." Remember that we send a written reply to every letter, especially adapted to the particular case under consideration, because in the nature of things each case differs from every other.

DR. JACKSON'S ORIENTAL LINIMENT removes all coldness and disability, and rejuvenates organs which have lain dormant for many years.

DR. JACKSON'S FRENCH PATENT MALE SAFE,

It is perfectly safe and never fails to give satisfaction. It is the only sure and safe preventative against contracting disease ever invented. Price $1 each, per half dozen $4, and per dozen $7, sent by mail.

Inebriates or Moderate Drinkers who desire to reform, but have found it difficult to refrain, can wholly eradicate all desire for any kind of liquor, by using Dr. Herbert's Anti-Alcoholic Compound, an unfailing remedy for intemperance; write for particulars.

Medicine and instructions sent promptly to any part of the country. Consulting Rooms of the Dispensary, No. 167 Sycamore street Cincinnati, O. P. O. Box, 486
Send for a circular.

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the condition of a certain Mortgage made by Thomas Horan and Sarah Horan his wife mortgagors, to Ambrose S. Berry mortgagee, bearing date the fifteenth day June in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and fifty-nine and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the county of Lenawee and State of Michigan, on the 15th day of June 1859 in Liber 28, of mortgages on pages 769 and 770 on which said mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice, fifty-nine dollars and eighty-nine cents and no suit or proceedings at law having been instituted to recover the same or any part thereof. Notice is therefore given that on the 17th day of November 1866, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the front door of the old Methodist Church in the city of Adrian in said county of Lenawee, that being the place for holding the Circuit Court for the county of Lenawee, I shall sell at public auction or vendue to the highest bidder the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof, as may be necessary to satisfy the amount due on said mortgage at the date of this notice with interest and the costs and expenses allowed by law together with the attorneys fee as provided in said mortgage, that is to say—all that tract or parcel of land situate in the city of Adrian, in the county of Lenawee and State of Michigan, described as follows: Village (now city) lots one (1) and two (2) on Block number thirteen (13) for a more particular discription reference being had to the Plat of the village (now city) of Adrian as recorded in the Registers office of Lenawee County aforesaid.

AMBROSE S. BERRY, Mortgagee.
WM. L. GREENLY, Attorney for Mortgagee.
Dated Aug. 14th, 1866.

Executors Sale.

In the matter of the estate of Gamaliel J. Harrington deceased.

By virtue of a license of sale to me granted by the Judge of Probate of the county of Lenawee, I will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, at the dwelling house of the undersigned in the town of Ridgeway in Lenawee County on the 20th day of September 1866 at ten o'clock in the forenoon all those tracts or parcels of land situate in the town of Ridgeway, County of Lenawee and State of Michigan, known, described and bounded viz. Commencing at the South east corner of lands now owned by George W. Jackson in said town of Ridgeway, at a point on the west side of the Ridge Road on the northern boundary line of lands deeded to Gamaliel J. Harrington by Christopher Barrett, on the 11th day of March 1864 running thence westerly along said boundary line north 61° west 11 rods; thence southerly parallel with said Ridge Road 7 rods; thence easterly parallel with first discribed line to the western boundary of said Ridge Road 11 rods; thence northerly along the west side of said Road seven (7) rods to the place of beginning containing 77 rods of land—also, the south east quarter of the north east quarter of section three (3) being 40 acres of land Terms made known on day of sale. CAROLINE HARRINGTON.
Executrix &c.
Dated Ridgeway, July 31st, 1866.

Hear Ye! Hear Ye!!

Do you want the best Card pictures in this section.

Do you want those gems of art, Opatotypes or Porcelains? Do you want work warranted? Do you want to suit yourselves? Do you want the best that Art affords? Then go to Powers rooms over the P. O. Tecumseh, Michigan, and you can find FIRST CLASS WORK, of every description. He is bound not to be out-done in any branch of the business. Pictures of any size done to order in INDIA-INK, WATER or OIL COLORS, on short notice and in the best style

Persons having small Negatives which they like can have pictures made from them life size or smaller as they choose and finished in India-ink water or oil-colors. Give him a call and examine his work. You will find him gentlemanly, courteous and ever ready to oblige. He is bound to give satisfaction to all. No poor work allowed to leave the rooms. He has the best instruments known and acknowledged to be such by all superior Artists. One half of the pictures that took the premium at the last County Fair, over A. J. Hoags name, were of Powers make. Do you want proof, call and examine. Powers has served three years in the army, and deserves the patronage of the public. You will find him prompt, active and always at his place of business.

$90 A MONTH!—Agents wanted for six entirely new articles, just out. Address O. T. GAREY, City Building, Biddeford, Me.

The Tecumseh Herald.

C. M. BURLINGAME, Publisher. "The Constitution, the Union, and the Enforcement of the Laws." Terms per year $2 00 in Advance.

VOL. XVII. NO. 17. TECUMSEH MICHIGAN, THURSDAY EVENING, SEPTEMBER 20, 1866. WHOLE NO. 827.

The Pride of the West

THE TECUMSEH

RED MILLS

J. MILLER & SONS

Have rented the above Mills; thoroughly repaired the same, and are now manufacturing a No. 1 article of

FAMILY FLOUR,

We are also prepared to furnish

CORN MEAL SHIP STUFFS AND

Mill Feed, at all times.

CUSTOM WORK

Done with neatness and Dispatch and

WARRANTED TO GIVE SATISFACTION.

The Highest Market Price in

Cash, for Wheat!

Give us a trial, and we will warraet that you will not go away dissatisfied.

JOHN MILLER & SONS.

WHITNEY'S
Piano, Melodeon, Organ
AND MUSIC STORE.

WHITNEY'S
PALACE OF MUSIC;
173 Summit St. Toledo, Ohio,
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALER IN
Pianos, Melodeons and Organs,
At lower Prices than any other House in the West,
PIANOS, - - - PIANOS,
SOLE AGENT FOR
STEINWAY & SONS, CHICKERING & SONS,
Calenburg & Vaupel and eight other first class Manufacturers.
MUSIC PUBLISHER,
Wholesale Agent for S. D. & H. W. Smith's
CELEBRATED
AMERICAN ORGANS

—These Organs have received SEVENTEEN FIRST PREMIUMS within four weeks. Cash Agents Wanted. A large variety always on hand. A very liberal discount to Churches, Schools &c.

N. B.—All orders filled promptly the same day they are received.

Customers are informed that every item ordered is ALWAYS sent, if to be had in the city.

To those about to purchase a Piano Forte, we would say, consider well before you purchase; do not throw your money away on any of the cheap and worthless instruments that now flood the market; there are hundreds of traveling pedlers now roaming the country and trying to force their worthless instruments on the public at any price: in the end you will find it economy to buy the best.

JUST PUBLISHED.—The American Organ, or Parlor Organists Companion, containing a complete course of instructions for the Melodeon. Price $2,50. Sent postpaid on receipt of price. Address all orders.

WHITNEY'S PALACE OF MUSIC,
173 Summit Street, Toledo, Ohio.

Sole Manufacturer of W. W. WHITNEY'S PATENT IMPROVED
MELODEONS,
MADE ONLY AT TOLEDO, OHIO.

These improved Melodeons have received the FIRST PREMIUM in every case, including the Michigan State Fair at Adrian September 21, 1865, over all other competitors, as being the best Melodeons on exhibition.

Every Instrument Warranted for FIVE YEARS.

$2000 A YEAR made by any one with $15—Stencil Tools. No experience necessary. The Presidents, Cashiers, and Treasurers of 8 Banks indorse the circular. Sent free with samples. Address the American Stencil Tool Works, Springfield, Vermont. n818m3

Now is an excellent and fitting opportunity for subscribing for the HERALD

OLD RELIABLE!

CLOTHIERS

AND

Tailors!

D. W. C. HARDY & CO.

Adrian, - Michigan.

The place to secure unheard of bargains;

MAMMOTH STOCK

Always to select from and Eastern prices will be found here.

ONE PRICED SYSTEM AND
GOOD GOODS.

Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Be sure and find the OLD RELIABLE CLOTHING HOUSE, and for

Custom Work and Cloths

You cannot do better west of New York.

D. W. C. HARDY & Co.
Lathrops Block, Adrian, Mich.

WANTED.
ALL THE TORN
RAGGED
AND MUTILATED
GREENBACKS
AND
POSTAGE CURRENCY
In the County, at par value in exchange for which I offer my
ENTIRE STOCK,
Comprising the largest and finest assortment of
BOOKS & STATIONERY
GOLD PENS, CUTLERY, ALBUMS,
SHEET MUSIC,
BLANK BOOKS, PAPER COLLARS
YANKEE NOTIONS
&c., &c.,
IN NORTHERN LENAWEE

At prices that defy COMPETITION.

Rush in the Rags, no matter how badly torn or soiled. Remember the place, in the Post-Office Building,

G. T. Ketcham.

P. S.—I shall continue taking Greenbacks and Postage Currency not mutilated, as heretofore, until further notice.

J. D. ROBBINS.
(Successor to ROBBINS & DEWOLF
DEALER IN
CLOCKS, WATCHES,
FINE JEWELRY,
SPECTACLES,
WALL PAPER.
SCHOOL BOOKS,
FANCY GOODS,
YANKEE NOTIONS,
TOYS, ETC., &c.

—o—

I will sell any of the above goods as
Cheap or Cheaper than any other dealer in the country, and
WARRANT
all goods sold as good as recommended.

—o—

CASH FOR RAGS!

—o—

J. D. Robbins.
TECUMSEH, - - - - - - MICHIGAN.

NEW GOODS,
PRICES DOWN!
H. C. CONKLING

Would call the attention of the public to his new stock of

CHOICE GROCERIES

Just purchased in New York at the

RECENT DECLINE,

which he offers for sale

CHEAP.

All Goods warranted to give satisfaction. Cash paid for Produce, as usual,

5000 Firkins
Of Butter Wanted!!

Butter firkins to put out to be filled:—Call and see those choice Teas: Don't forget, the old stand of Ketcham & Conkling.

H. C. CONKLING.
Tecumseh, May 7th, 1866.

TECUMSEH TIME TABLE

GOING SOUTH.

Mail and Express,	6:50 A. M.
Day Express,	1:55 P. M.
Freight,	5:05 P. M.

GOING NORTH.

Mail and Express,	2:49 P M.
Evening Express,	9:32 P. M.
Freight,	8:08 A. M.

Business Directory.

TEMPLE & MURRAY
Carpenters and Joiners, Manufacturers of Doors, Sash, Blinds, Gates &c.
S. W. Temple's Shop. Tec. Mich.

A. HOOD & CO.
Dealers in Hats, Caps and Clothing, &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

GEORGE HEESEN,
Dealer in Ready Made Clothing, &c.
One door west of the Bank.
Chicago st Tecumseh, mich

TRIBOU & BIDWELL BRO'S,
Dealers in Dry Goods, Groceries, &c. &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

WARD & STRICKLAND,
Dealers in Dry Goods, Groceries Ready Made Clothing &c. &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

RICHARD C. MOORE.
Dealer in Dry Goods, Fancy Goods &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

MERRITT, MEEKER & CO,
Dealers in Dry Goods and Fancy Goods
Chicago street, Tecumseh, Mich,

ALFRED JAMES,
Dealer in Groceries, Confectionaries, &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

HENRY C. CONKLING.
Dealer in Groceries Provisions, &c., &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, M.

MOSES WRIGHT,
Dealer in Drugs, Medicines, Toilets, &c.
Chicao St. Tecumseh, Mich.

P. N. CURTIS.
Dealer in Drugs, Paints, Oils, & Notions.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

FISHER & BAKER,
Dealers in Drugs, Medicines, Paints &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

GOULD & WALDO,
Dealers in Drugs. Groceries &c.
Chicago St. - - Tecumseh, Mich.

EDWIN B. WOOD.
Attorney, Counsellor, and Notary Public.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

C. A. STACY,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law, &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

BILLS & BAXTER,
Attorney's, Councellor's and Solicitors.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

McNAIR & HEWITT,
Justice's of the Peace, Insurance Agents.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich

CURTIS & PARSONS,
Dealers in Hardware, Tubs, Pails, &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

Hong & Stevens,
Dealer in Boots, Shoes, Leather &c., &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

Henry Nyland,
Dealer in Boots & Shoes & Leather.
One door west of Bank, Tecumseh.

EMLAY & COURTER
Dealers in Saddles, Harness and Leather.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

HORACE BREWER.
Steam Engine and Machine Founder.
Railroad St. Tecumseh, Mach.

SLAYTON, TINDALL & CO.,
Dealers in
Produce and Agricultural Implements.
Railroad St. Tecumseh, Mich.

J. D. ROBBINS,
Dealer in Jewelry, Clocks and Notions.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

G. T. KETCHAM.
Bookseller, Newsdealer and Stationer.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

WOOLSTON COMFORT.
Raisin, Flouring, Grist and Saw Mills
Tecumseh, Michigan

H. B. MATHIAS,
Dealer in Tobacco, Cigars, and Pipes.
Chicago St Tecumseh, Mich,

W. K. POWERS & CO,
Photographs, Ambrotypes and Albums,
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

MRS. C. M. BISSELL,
Photograph and Ambrotype Artist, &c.
Pearl & Chicago St's. Tec. Mich.

G. & H. SMITH,
Dealers in Furniture and Upholstery.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

DR. A. PELHAM,
Surgical and Mechanical Dentist,
Chicago St - - Tecumseh, Mich

DR. E. HAUSE,
Surgical, and Mechanical Dentist.
Chicago St. Opposite P. Office.

NATIONAL HOTEL,
Chicago Street, Tecumseh, Michigan.
MERRITT & BURGHER - Proprietors.

HIRAM WESCOTT,
Paper Hanging, Whitewashing, &c., &c
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

EXCHANGE HOTEL
Railroad St. - - - Tecumseh, Mich.
D. FISH, Proprietor.

The Tecumseh Herald.

C. M. BURLINGAME,
Publisher and Proprietor.

Local and Miscellaneous.

Rates of Advertising.
(One inch of column constitutes a square.)

	1 wk	3 wk	3 m	6 m	1 yr
1 Square	$1 00	$2,00	$6.00	$7.50	$10.00
2 Squares	1,75	3.50	8,00	12,00	15 00
3 Squares	2.75	5.00	11.00	16 00	20.00
¼ Column	5.00	9.00	12,00	18,00	25.00
½ Column	7.50	12.00	18,00	25.00	36.00
Column	12,00	15,00	20,00	35,00	60,00

No advertisement considered less than one square Transcient advertisements must be paid for in advance. Advertisements unaccompanied with directions for the number of insertions, will be continued until ordered out, and charged accordingly. Business cards of five lines, or less, inserted at $3.50 per year.

JOB WORK neatly executed at this office. Charges reasonable

Grand Trunk Railway.
The Cheapest, Quickest, and Safest route
TO THE EAST.

Tickets to all the Eastern cities and intermediate places for sale at this office.

RAIN, RAIN.—This section of the country has been visited with an abundance of rain during the past week—a little too much for this time of the year, when the farmers are busily engaged in seeding.

BASE BALL TOURNAMENT.—The excelsior Base Ball Club of SouthBend Ind. proposes to give a Base Ball Tournament, to be held the first week in October, commencing on Tuesday, the 2d, and continuing the 3d, 4th, and 5th.

Arrangements are being made to offer prizes, which will be inducements for the first class clubs of the North West to enter into competition.

Grass Lake Reporter is the title of a weekly paper just started at Grass Lake, Jackson Co., by J. C. Squires. The paper will be devoted to the "furtherance of the best interests of the place," "eschewing all political and sectaran disputations." The right platform for a country sheet.

It cannot be denied, that the largest and best selected stock of Dry Goods, ever brought to Tecumseh, can be found at Tribou & Bidwell Bro's.

PATENTS TO MICHIGAN INVENTORS.—The following patents were issued from the United States patent office, to Michigan men, for the week ending Aug. 7, 1866: Fishing apparatus, P. H. Perland and W. Larkin, Detroit; clothes dryer, S. L. George, Decatur, bed bottom, J. G. Smith, Battle Creek; devise for gathering fruit, W. H. Stone, St. John's.

"My Policy."

We ought before now to have acknowledged the receipt of a new piece of music, entitled as above, from that enterprising music man, Whitney, of Toledo. The song is an opporture production—just the thing for the times. By-the-by, Whitney's Policy is to sell more and better music and musical instruments, and cheaper, than all other dealers in Ohio and Michigan. See his advertisement.

Tribou & Bidwell Bro's. have all the new and desirable styles of Dress Goods and Trimmings, also Ladies Cloths, Cloakings and under Garments.

CORPULENT.—The Detroit Tribune of yesterday has the following: "A laughable incident occurred at the State Prison a few days since. A large-sized convict, sentenced to solitary confinement, was some months ago put into one of the cells used for that class of prisoners. It is generally supposed that solitary confinement does not agree with the prisoner, but in this case it was different, for the man became so fleshy, that recently, when the authorities wished to remove him from the cell he had been occupying, it was at first thought impossible to get him through the doorway, and preparations were about being made to tear down some of the wall so as to make the egress of the fat convict possible; but by skillful plotting and management the ponderous mass of human flesh was finally transported through the doorway

Cotton Batting, Cotton Yarn, Lamp Wick, Flag Warp and Cotton Twine prepared especially for Carpets, for sale at T. & B. Bro's.

Go to Tribou & Bidwell Bro's. for Plain and Fancy Cassimers, silk mixed Coatings, Cimella Sadin and Castor Beavers.

PASSION.—The man who gets into a passion is said to forget himself; but the fact is, he forgets other people. The man or woman who buys any other Saleratus but Herrick Allen's Gold Medal, not only forgets other people and themselves, but runs the risk of scattering broadcast dyspepsia, and many other evils naturally attending the human system. As you value health and good eating, never buy any other. Have the Gold Medal or none. Most everybody sells it. Depot 112 Liberty Street, New York.

Both Brown Sheetings and Bleached Goods are lower; but only at Tribou & Bidwell Bro's. Cheap Cash store.

New lot of Oil 4-4 and 8-4 just received at Moore's.

Both Sides.

A man in his carriage was riding along,
A gaily dressed wife by his side;
In satins and laces she looked like a queen,
And he like a king in his pride.

A wood-sawyer stood on the street as they passed,
The carriage and couple he eyed;
And said, as he worked with his saw on a log,
"I wish I was rich and could ride."

The man in his carriage remarked to his wife:
"One thing would I give, if I could—
I would give all my wealth for the strength and the health
Of the man who is sawing the wood."

Base Ball.

Another game came off last Friday between the TECUMSEH and CHIEF Clubs, in which the former were again victorious. This will settle the contested superiority, at least until another game is played between them. The CHIEF's however, vow that they will not "give it up so," but are determined to beat the Tecumsehits yet before the season closes.

The following is the score:

TECUMSEH.	O.	R.	CHIEF.	O.	R.
Wright, c.	3	4	Ford, c.	3	3
Cummins, p.	3	4	Stout, p.	2	4
Primrose, s. s.	2	4	Zimerman, s. s.	3	2
Bitley, 1.	3	5	VanTyne, 1.	2	2
Brewer, 2.	4	3	Pencil, 2.	3	2
C. McConnell, c.	2	4	Perry, c.	1	5
W. McConnell, l. f.	2	2	Sadler, l. f.	5	1
Bissell, c. f.	4	1	Pennock, c. f.	5	2
Donnelly, r. f.	4	3	A. Cumins, r. f.	2	2
Total,	27	30		27	23

UMPIRE—Jehiel Davdison.

SCORERS—L. VanTyne, Tecumseh; Comodore Pluck, Chief.

There was some very fine fly catches made, but not so many as usual. The day was anything but agreeable, being the most boisterous we have witnessed this season. Wm. McConnell of the TECUMSEH, made an excellent fly catch, which not only gained the applause of the spectators, but the applause and admiration of the members of both clubs.

The greatest harmony prevailed thro'out the entire game, and had it been pleasant, the game would have been very closely contested.

We cannot close this article without mentioning some incidents; the stealing of the H. B. by Capt. Ford, would have been well executed had he kept his motion from the first start, instead of waiting to be taken by a flank movement.—We admire, very much, the good humor and fine playing of TECUMSEH, but must confess, that as a general rule we would think it far better to be commanded by a smaller corps of Captains. Our memory is far too limited to enable us to mention the time that they have played a match with less than three officers and these all appear to be captains. We believe this is entirely wrong and think as far as we understand the tactics of Base Ball playing, that the Lieutenants and non-commissioned officers should be willing to leave the command with Capt. Charles Augustus. We mention this, not from any ill-feeling toward the men, but we do know that such eminence on the part of the lower officers of rank, entirely upsets the GOOD NATURE of the Captain. That's so, for we know him to be the best natured man on the corporation, and we have seen him slightly ruffled while playing Base Ball, on a fine day.

It is hardly necessary to say that we were in the army. We were not Regimental Quartermaster, Captain, Lieutenant or non-commissioned officer but a "Chief of Staff" that is, we (cooked for a captain) and believe we performed our duty well.

COMODORE.

Half of the fall month has gone already and we are looking forward to the near approach of bleak days, cloudy skies, and nights dismal with the howlings and shriekings of the wind as it blows through the leafless trees. The weather so far through September has been of such sort as to prepare one in a measure for the coming of these dark days, having pertaken of the nature of October, at least, if not of its blustering, disagreeable successor.

But when the days are pleasant they are the most delightful of the year. There is a fullness, a completeness, about them very different from the bustling, active Spring, when it seems as though Dame Nature, like man, was hard at work. But now there appears an air of satisfied repose over her whole face. The fields are loaded with their wealth of crops, or else have commenced their winter repose. Fruit trees groaning under their pendant wealth are slowly ripening in the mellow September sun, and the forest trees one by one are putting on their parti colored Autumn garb, and a rustle is perceptible as the wind sighs through their branches, which unerringly propheses a time when they will shake their naked limbs in the cheerless winter wind.

R. C. Moore is receiving new Goods every week.

STATE FAIR.

ADRIAN, Sept. 18.—The weather is very unfavorable for the fair. Nevertheless the number of exhibitors continue to increase. Up to three o'clock to-day the number of entries reached 1,056, the number in the various divisions being as follows.

Horses	138
Cattle	79
Sheep, Swine and Poultry	132
Farm Implements	136
Field and dairy products	118
Dairy	95
Domestic manufactures	43
Fine Arts	138
Fruits and Flowers	244
Miscellaneous	52

This is nearly as many as the total of entries last year. Articles and stock are coming in constantly, and should the rain cease the exhibition will be one of the most successful of the society, notwithstanding its gloomy opening.

Dexter and Patchen arrived to-day.—Other celebrated horses are also arriving and filling up the stables, and the show of horses will be very fine.

Among the late arrivals of fine blooded cattle may be mentioned those entered by W. Curtis, of Wheatland Centre, who exhibits a number of superior short horns from the herds of E. Warfield, of Kentucky, and Sheldon, of New York. Also fine animals from D. M. Uhl, of Ypsilanti.

The decorations in floral hall are nearly complete, and the effect produced by the rural temple is delightful. Exhibitors are busy getting their articles in position.

Little fruit as yet has made its appearance. The display of mechanical and agricultural implements will be good.

EARLY CLOSING.—It will be seen by the following that the business places o our village are to be closed at 8 o'clock after the 1st of October. This is right.

We the undersigned Business men of Tecumseh, in compliance with the courteous suggestions and wishes of those in our employ, do hereby agree to close our respective places of business at 8 o'clock P. M., Saturdays excepted, from the 1st of Oct. 1866 to the 1st of April, 1867.; provided only the principal business men of the place be attached to this agreement:

A. Hood & Co.,	Ward & Strickland,
Moses Wright,	McNichol & Wilson,
A James,	O. Emlay & Co,
Tribou & Bidwell Bros.,	Merritt, Meeker & Co.
Fisher & Baker	Staiger & Fausel,
J. D. Robbins,	L. Drew,
H. C. Conkling,	Gould & Waldo,
P. N. Curtis,	Anderson & Larned,
E. H. Hoag,	Curtis & Parsons,
R. C. Moore,	G. T. Ketcham,
George Heesen,	C. H. Adam & Co,
S. T. Marsh,	W. K. Powers,
LeBaron & Waring,	Walters & Hialey,
J. S. Hendryx.

T. R. Gahan's Lecture.

The great lecture upon the American Aborigines and what nation they belong to, America before Columbus etc. &c., would undoubtedly have been delivered to a very select audience last Saturday evening had it not been for the fact that there was no audience there. Who this Mr. Gahan of St. Louis is we know not, whether his production was historical poetical or prophetical, whether he was a fluent or boisterous, or sedate or ready or easy or awkward speaker, we have no means of knowing, owing to the unappreciative spirit of our citizens. But of one thing we are perfectly sure to all intents and purposes. He sneaks off without paying his printing bills. To this fact a charge for 100 quarter sheets posters on our day-book will positively testify. We would like to inqure whether he paid his Hotel Bill.

The follwing articles explain themselves.

Tecumseh, Sept. 17th.

To the 2d nine of the C. B. B. C.

The 2d nine of the T. B. B. C., do hereby challenge you for a match game of Base Ball.

C. A. Wright,
Sec T. B. B. C.

Later; same day.

To the 2d nine T. B. B C:

Your challenge to play the 2d nine of the CHIEF, is accepted, said match to be played on Tuesday Sept. 25th 1866 at 2 o'clock P. M: the game to be governed by the rules adopted by the National Association of Base Ball Players.

Batting, Prints, Sheetings, Stripes, Denims, just received at Moore's.

HOME COMFORTS.—A good stock of them on hond—such as Canton Flannels, Wool Flannels. Ladies Merino Wrappers and Drawers, for sale at Moore's.

Cotton Yarn and Wicking at Moor's.

Bleached Sheeting—two yards wide, for sale at Moore's.

At the Senatorial Convention held at Rome Center yestarday, Hon. C. M. Croswell was renominated by acclamation. The choice was unanimous and the business of the convention transacted in a few minutes. Mr. Croswell may well feel proud of the confidence thus expressed in his ability and integrity.—Adrian Times Sept. 14th.

Married.

At the residence of the brides father Sept. 2d, 1866; by the Rev. J. Crabbs, MR. C. G. BRADLEY and MISS MATE T. RICHARDS all of Morenci.

"That their future may be as bright as the dawn of the month in which their lives have mingled into one, and the robes of the bride deck her with the pure loveliness that are worn in the softened pride and glorious beauty of the luxuriant September, is our sincere wish: standing upon the firm foundation of right, looking to the giver of every good and perfect gift, as the author of their being for divine assistance, may they go forth to active life, meeting the storms of adversity with stout hearts and buffiting the clouds of disappointment with calm, unruffled minds.

In this village on the 13th inst., by Rev. S. C. Wishard, Mr. Sam'l Hatchard and Miss Rosa Reed, of Macon.

We say let them "go in."

Among the many modern improvements which have been introduced in the village this summer, the latest is a new Omnibus, which has just been put on the road by the Proprietors of the National Hotel. It is a very comely "bus" in external appearance, and will no doubt prove not only profitable to the owners but highly acceptable to the traveling public.

The Hardware store of C. Fritts & Co. in Hudson, was entered by burglars September 14, their safe broken open and robbed of $150 in money. The entry to the store was made through the back door, and the safe was broken open with picks and crowbars. Quite a collection of tools was found by the safe, consisting of a screw-driver from a wagon shop, some cold-chisels from a blacksmith shop, a crowbar from the depot, and picks from the railrood repair shop, all of which places had been opened, and tools taken after dark or after the hans had retired from labor the evening before. The safe is one of Wilder's patent.

WEALTHY LOCAL EDITOR.—We are glad to know that there is one wealthy local editor in the world. According to his own figures the local editor of the Hannibal Times is the wealthiest newspaper men in the West. He sums up his worldly possessions in this wise. Mrs. Local (par value) $1,000,000; one five year old local $500,000; one seven weeks old local $150,000; cash on hand, 43 cents; due on account, $1; sundries, 12 cents. Total, $1,750,001.55; yearly income, one Local.

"WHERE THERE IS A WILL THERE IS A WAY."—No person who desires need fail to get a business training, and every American youth should desire an education. The Union Buisness Institute, of Oberlin, O., is noted for thoroughness and cheapness. Dont fail to address above before going elsewhere.

It is said of the ladies of France, that, as a class, they are the handsomest in the world. With their rosy cheeks and black hair, who can help but think so. Dr. Velpau's Pills never fail to make the complexion of a healthy rosy hue. Ladies try them. Sold by all Druggists.

The "Boys of Blue" are to have a meeting at Union Hall, in this village, on Saturday next at 2 o'clock P. M.

The Lenawee County Fair will be held at the grounds of the Society, in the city of Adrian, Oct. 11th, 12th and 13th.

A. James, started yesterday for New York, where he inteds laying in a large stock of Groceries. Alf. knows how to do it.

The Republican convention for the first representative district of Lenawee county was held at Hudson on the 15th inst. The Hon. John K. Bois was renominated for representative by acclamation. Mr. Boies made an efficient member of the House and will no doubt be re-elected.

Tecumseh Market.

	Sept. 20th, 1866.
White wheat	$2 25 a $2 40
Red do	2 00 a 2 30
Beans	1 00 a 1 25
Corn	50
Clover seed	8 00 9 00
Apples green	45
Butter per pound	27
Cheese " "	16
Hams " "	16
Lard " "	15
Eggs per doz	12
Potatoes, per bush.	40

Probate Notice.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee s.s.—At a session of the Probate Court, for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate Office, in the City of Adrian on Tuesday the 4th day of September in the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty six.

Present, Robert R. Beecher, Judge of Probate. In the matter of the estate of Jessee Jackson, deceased. On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of Bridget McC. Jackson widow of said deceased praying that the last will of said deceased may be admitted to probate and that she may be appointed Executrix thereof.

Thereupon it is ordered that Monday, the eighth day of October next, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate Office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said Petioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate, of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Tecumseh Herald, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

ROBERT R. BEECHER,
Judge of Probate.
(A true copy) O. C. COATS, Register.

Twenty Thousand Dollars worth of Dry Goods just received at Tribou & Bidwell Bros

Miscellany.

HER NAME.

VICTOR HUGO.

A lily's pure perfume, a hale's light;
The evening's voluous mingling so well above;
The hour's mysterious farewell in flight;
The plaintive story told
By a dear friend who grieves, yet is consoled;
The sweet, soft murmur of a kiss of love;

The scarf, seven tinted, which the hurricane Leaves in the clouds, a trophy to the sun;
The well-remembered tone,
Which scarcely hoped for, meets the ear again;
The pure wish of a virgin heart, the boon
That hovers o'er an infant's earliest dream;

The voices of a distant choir; the sigh
That fabulous Memnon breathed of yore to greet
The coming dawn; the tone whose murmurs rise,
Then, with a cadence tremulous, expire;
These, and all else those fit dreams of sweet,
Are but so sweet as her sweet name, O lyre!

Pronounce it very softly, like a prayer;
Yet be it heard the burden of a song;
Ah! let it be the sacred light to shine
In the dim fane; the secret word which there
Trembles forever on one faithful tongue,
In the lone shadowy silence of the shrine.

But O, or e'er, in words of flame,
My Muse, unmindful, with the meaner crowd
Of names, by worthless pride revealed aloud,
Should dare to blend the dear and honored name,
By fond affection set apart,
And hidden, like a treasure, in my heart;

My strain, soft-syllabled, should meet the ear
Like sea red music heard upon the knees;
The air should vibrate to its harmonies,
As if light hovering in the atmosphere,
An angel, viewless to the mortal eye,
With his fine pinions shook it, rustling nigh.

IRISH BULLS.

Why the Irish, of all people, should be distinguished for bull making, or why there should exist amongst the natives of Ireland such an innate and irresistible propensity to blunder, it is difficult to conjecture or decide. Mr. and Miss Edgeworth, in their inquiry into the etymology of Irish Bulls, endeavor to account for it thus: "That the English, not being the mother tongue of the natives of Ireland, to them it is a foreign language, and, consequently, it is scarcely within the limits of probability that they should avoid making blunders both in speaking and writing." However this may be, an Irish bull is a thing more easily conceived than defined. Perhaps, did we search for its precedent among the long list of bold tropes and figures handed down to us from the old Greek writers and orators, the nearest approach we could find to it would would be under the title of Catachresis—a catachresis being the "boldest of any trope, necessity makes it borrow and employ an expression or term contrary to the thing it means to express." This certainly conveys a just idea of what an Irish bull is or should be.

Many of the following examples we give as original; they occurred within our own personal knowledge, and were never before published. The rest we have selected from a variety of sources, and have been careful always to distinguish between blunders and bulls,—a distinction which is often neglected. Even Mr. and Miss Edgeworth themselves have misapprehended the difference in more instances than that of the renowned Paddy Blake, who perpetrated what they call "a most perfect bull." On hearing an English gentleman speaking in praise of the fine echo of Killarney, which repeats the sound forty times, Pat promptly replied: "Faith, sir, that 's nothing at all to the fine echo in my father's garden in Galway, for if you say to it, 'How do you do, Paddy Blake?' it will immediately make answer, 'Pretty well, I thank you, sir.'"

Now this echo of Paddy Blake's which has "long been the admiration of Christendom," does not at all deserve the name or appellation of an Irish bull. It is rather an exquisite specimen of that wit, quickness of repartee, and good-humored drollery for which the Irish are famous; but it does not present to our mind the double arrangement of thought and expression so absolutely essential to the proper construction of a genuine bull.

One of the richest specimens of a real Irish bull which has ever fallen under our notice was perpetrated by the clever and witty, but blundering Irish knight, Sir Richard Steele, when inviting a certain English nobleman to visit him. "If, sir," said he, "you ever come within a mile of my house, I hope you will stop there!" Another by the same gentleman is well worth recording. Being asked how he accounted for his countrymen making so many bulls, he replied: "I cannot tell, if it 's not the effect of climate. I fancy, if an Englishman was born in Ireland he would just make as many."

This, again, reminds us of that well-known instance of wounded Irish pride related of the porter of a Dublin grocer, who was brought, by his master, before a magistrate on a charge of stealing chocolate, to which he could scarcely plead "not guilty." On being asked to whom he sold it, the pride of Patrick was exceedingly wounded. "To whom did I sell it?" cried Pat. "Now, do you think I was so mane as to take it to sell?" "Pray, then, sir," said the J. P., "what did you do with it?" "Do wid it? Well, then, since you must know, I took it home, and me and my ould 'oman made tay of it."

A rich bull is recorded of an Irishman at cards, who, on inspecting the pool, found it deficient: "Here is a shilling short," said he; "who put it in?"

This bull was actually perpetrated; so also was the following: Two eminent members of the Irish bar, Doyle and Yelverton, quarrelled one day, so violently, that from hard words they came to hard blows. Doyle, the more powerful man of the two (at the fists, at least), knocked down his antagonist twice, vehemently exclaiming: "You scoundrel, I'll make you behave yourself like a gentleman." To which Yelverton, rising, replied with equal indignation: "No, sir, never. I defy you, I defy you! You could not do it."

The next declaration of independence we record occurred to our own knowledge. It was uttered by an exasperated rural lover, whose sweetheart had driven him "beyond the beyonds" with her courtings" and carryings-on" with a rival. "I will never spake to you more!" He exclaimed with exceeding vexation. "Keep your spake to yourself then," said the provoking girl coolly; "I am sure I can live without either it or your company." "I am sure so can I, then," was the wrathful rejoinder.

Most of our readers are familiar, no doubt, with the gallant young Irishman, who declared to his sweetheart that he was in such a way about her he couldn't sleep at night for dreaming of her. A parallel instance to this occurred in our own hearing, when a poor fellow protested to "his girl" in the hayfield, that his two eyes hadn't gone together all night for thinking about her. "Very likely they did not," replied this sweet plague of his life, "for I see your nose is between them!"

The following was perpetrated by a young Irish gentleman, who was exceedingly anxious to meet a certain young Irish lady at the house of a common lady friend, who had expressed her entire readiness (as most ladies would, under similar temptations) to perform the amiable part of "daisy-picker," to the young couple.

"But," said the poor fellow anxiously, "there is nothing in the world so embarrassing, you know, as to meet a girl by appointment. I am sure, under the circumstances, I wouldn't be myself,—neither would she! Suppose, my dear madam, you could manage it so as to let us meet at your house some evening without either of us being aware that the other was present."

Still another pair of lovers claim our attention. The young lady less flustered than her admirer, addressed him in these terms: "I like you exceedingly, but I cannot quit my home. I am a widow's only darling, and no husband could equal my parent in kindness." "She may be kind," replied her wooer enthusiastically, "but be my wife,—we will all live together, and see if I don't beat your mother!"

The next Irishman who comes under our notice is married, but not very happily. Having entered into holy bonds at the youthful age of nineteen, he discovers that it is much easier to get the ceremony performed than afterwards to maintain an establishment. Repenting him that he had procured a wife without the means of supporting her, he declares that he will never marry so young again if he lives to be the age of Methuselah.

The next sight we get into the cares and troubles that married life is heir to is through the mild remonstrance of a Hibernian Paterfamilias, who declares to his wife that he really wishes the children could be kept in the nursery, while he is home, "although," he considerately adds, "I would not object to their noise, if they would only keep quiet"

We shall now proceed to Dublin, where doubtless still resides that old beggar-woman who, whilst soliciting charity, declared she was the mother of six small children and a sick husband.

We wonder if this lady is any relation to the poor Irishman who offered his only old saucepan for sale; his children gathering round him inquired why he did so. "Ah, my honeys," said he, "sure I wouldn't be afther part'n wid it if it wasn't to get some money to buy somethin' to put in it".

It was in Dublin city that our good-humored maid-of-all work, Molly, once related to her young mistress a most marvellous dream she had the night before.

"Pooh, pooh!" cries the latter at its conclusion; "you must have been asleep, Molly, when you dreamed such nonsense."

"Indeed I was not then," replies the indignant Molly; "I was just as wide awake as I am this minute."

We are now going to introduce to you what in drapers' parlance would be called a "choice variety"; and which, we only wish, in displaying our light fantastic stores, we could recommend with half the address with which a draper of my acquaintance once recommended a certain rich material for ladies' dresses to a customer. "Madam," said he, "it will wear forever, and make a petticoat afterwards."

This draper, however, is almost outdone by an enterprising furrier, who intimates to "all such ladies as desire genuine furs, that he will make muffs, boas, &c., out of their own skins."

The next bull that occurs to me was uttered by a poor woman, who, in all the pride and glory of her maternal heart, was declaring to a kind-hearted listener, that since the world was a world there was never such a clever boy as her Bill—he had just made two chairs and a fiddle out of his own head, and had plenty of wood left for another.

A similar mechanical genius had that Irish carpenter in America, who, in sending in his little account to a farmer for whom he had been working, informed him that it was "for hanging two barn-doors and himself, seven hours, one dollar and a half."

In direct contradistinction to this acknowledged attempt at self destruction, we have the story of a certain physician, who, conducting a post mortem examination in a case of infanticide, reported that he was unable to discover whether the child was alive at the time of its death, or not.

"As I was going over the bridge the other day," said a native of Erin, "I met Pat Hewins. 'Hewins,' says I, 'how are you?' 'Pretty well, thank you, Donnelly,' says he. 'Donnelly!' says I, 'that's not my name.' 'Faith, then, no more is mine Hewins.' So with that we looked at nich other agin, and sure enough it was nayther of us. And where is the bull in that now?"

It must have been a twin-sister of this gentleman, who, having been very nearly drowned by falling into a well, committed a very rich bull when she piously and thankfully declared that only for Providence and another woman she never would have got out.

Horace Walpole records in his Walpoliana an Irish bull, which he pronounces to be the best he ever met with. "I hate that woman," said a gentleman, looking at a person who had been his nurse, "I hate her, for when I was a child, she changed me at nurse." This was indeed a perplexing assertion; but we have a similar instance recorded in the autobiography of an Irishman, who gravely informs us that he "ran away early in life from his father, on discovering he was only his uncle."

Again, a poor Irish lad, complaining of the harsh behavior of his father, declares he just treats him as if he were his son by another father and mother.

The next bull we record is redolent of the soil, and proves that in Ireland at least the determination to overcome impossibilities is not yet extinct. An Irishman, having challenged a gentleman to fight a duel, who somehow forgot to attend the appointment, met accidentally that same day the offending party, and thus addressed him: "Well, sir, I met you this morning, but you did not come; however, I am determined to meet you to morrow morning whether you come or not!" We wonder was the gentleman who displayed such a reluctance to be present the same who declared he would not fight a duel, because he was unwilling to leave his old mother an orphan.

The following piece of naivete was uttered in a shop in a market-town in County Cavan by a poor Irishwoman: "What is your tenpenny ribbon a yard?" she inquired. "A shilling, ma'am," was the rather paradoxical reply. "Very well, then," said our simple friend, "nick it at that." To this we may add the daily demand in such establishments for white ha'penny spools, of black women's stockings, yellow girls' gloves, etc., etc.

Here comes to our mind a charming little anecdote, so naive and national in character that though, strictly speaking, it is neither a blunder nor a bull, we cannot refrain from giving it.

An apprentice sailor-boy fell from the "round top" to the deck, stunned, but little hurt. The captain exclaimed in surprise: "Why, where did you come from?" "From the north of Ireland, yer honor!" was the prompt reply, as the poor fellow gathered himself up.

It is only a few months since the London Times perpetrated a most perfect bull. In a review of Tennyson's Enoch Arden, the following sentence occurs relative to the self-denial of Enoch, who keeps his existence a secret from his wife, whom he finds married again and happy: "He died, but not until he died, did he mention to those around him who he was!" Now, who should ever expect, on looking over John Bull's great representative, to meet with such a genuine Irishism as that? We can only account for it by supposing it was perpetrated by an Irishman. We believe a number of them are employed upon the staff of that august publication.

Not to be outdone, however, by its monster cotemporary, an Irish paper announces not many weeks since, the death of a poor deaf man called Gaff. He had been run over by a locomotive, and, adds the paper, "he received a similar injury this time last year."

Another excellent bull of the same kind was perpetrated by a coroner in the County Limerick, this spring. Being asked how he could account for the fearful mortality last winter, he replied: "I do not know; there are a great many people dying this year who never died before."

To this we may add the story of an Irishman that nearly died, according to his own account, through the treatment of his physician, who, he declares, drenched him so with drugs during his illness, that he was sick for a long time after he got well.

In practical bulls, the Irish are even more famous than in those merely logical: the richest one we ever heard was about a poor Irish peasant who was floundering through a bog on a small ragged pony. In its efforts to push on, the animal got one of its feet entangled in the stirrup: "Arrah, my boy," exclaimed the rider, "if you are going to get up, it's time for me to get down."

A good one is related also of a poor Irish servant-maid who was left-handed. Placing the knives and forks upon the dinner-table in the same awkward fashion, her master observed that she had placed them all left-handed. "Ah, true indeed, sir," said she, "and so I have. Would you be pleased to help me to turn the table?"

A very good one occurred in our hearing one evening last winter. An old Irish gentleman, fifty years in "bonds" of holy wedlock, was telling over to his girls the old, old story of his former loves and gay flirtations. "Ah!" exclaimed his daughter Mary, "it is well for you mamma is asleep on the sofa and does not hear you!" "Yes," said the old lady (wide awake, as it proved, and speaking up in the style of "Tragedy rebuking Comedy"), "I am glad I am asleep!"

Amongst mere blunders, we believe we have met with no richer specimen than this one, perpetrated by a bell ringer in Cork. "O yis! O yis! Lost somewhere between twelve o'clock and McKinney's store in Market street, a large brass key. I'll not be after tellin' yees what it is, but it 's the key of the bank, sure."

An English merchant gives us the following: On opening a hogshead of Hardware, and comparing it with the invoice, he found it all right, with the exception of one hammer, which had been omitted. "O, don't be uneasy, my dear sir," cried the Irish porter; "sure the man took it out to open the hogshead."

We shall give just one more rich specimen of Irish obliquity and blundering phraseology, and then shall have done. It is contained in an electioneering bill, literally and truly furnished by an inn keeper, for the regaling of certain free and independent (?) voters during the time of a contested election in Meath. Some forty years ago, Sir Mark Somerville sent orders to the proprietor of the hotel in Trim, to board and lodge all who should vote for him. For this he afterwards received the following, which he got framed, and it still hangs in Somerville House, County Meath. The copy to which we are indebted for this was found among the papers of the late Very Reverend Archdeacon O'Connell, Vicar-General of the diocese of Meath. It ran as follows:

16th April, 1826.

My Bill

To eating 16 freeholders above stairs for Sir Marks at 3s 3d a-head is to me £2 12.

To eating 16 more below stairs and 2 priests after supper is to me £2 15s 6d.

To 6 beds in one room and 4 in a nother at 2 guineas every bed, and not more than four in any bed at any time cheap enough God knows is to me £22 15s.

To 18 horses and 5 mules about my yard all night at 13s every one of them and for a man which was lost on the head of watching them all night is to me £5 5s 0d.

For breakfast on tay in the morning for every one of them and as many more as they brought as near as can I guess is to me £4 12s 0d.

To raw whisky and punch without talking of pipes tobacco as well as for porter and as well as for breaking a pot above stairs and other glasies and delf for the first day and night I am not sure but for the three days and a half of the election as little as I can call it and to be very exact it is in all or thereabouts as near as I can guess and not to be too particular is to me at least £79 15s 9d.

For shaving and crapping off the heads of the 49 freeholders for Ser Marks at 13d for every head of them by my brother had a Wote is to me £2 13s 1d.

For a womit and nurse for poor Tom Kernan in the middle of the night when he was not expected is to me ten hogs.

I don't talk of the piper or for keeping him sober as long as he was sober as to me £0.

The total
2	12	0 0
2	15	0 0
22	15	0 0
5	5	0 0
4	12	0 0
79	15	0 9
2	13	0 1
	10	10
		0 0

Signed in the place Jemmy Cars wife his
Bryan X Garraty
Mark

£110 18 7 you may say £111 0 0 so your Honour Sir Marks send me this eleven hundred by Bryan himself who and I prays for your success always in Trim and no more at present.

An Incident in Arkansas.

Pete Whetstone, of Arkansas, was once traveling on horseback through the interior of the State called one evening to stay all night at a log house near the road, where entertainment and post office was kept. Two other strangers were there, and the mail-rider rode up just about dark. Supper being over the mail carrier and the three gentlemen were invited to a small room furnished with a good fire and two beds, which were to accommodate the four persons for the night. The mail-carrier was a little shabby, dirty looking wretch, with whom none of the gentleman liked the idea of sleeping. Pete Whetstone eyed him closely, as he asked:

"Where do you sleep to-night, my lad?"

"I'll thleep with you I recon," lisped the youth, "or one o'them other fellers, I don't care which."

The other two gentlemen took the hint, and occupied one of the beds together immediately, leaving the other bed and the confab to be enjoyed by Pete and the mail-boy as best they could. Pete and the boy commenced hauling off their duds, and Pete getting into bed first, and wishing to get rid of sleeping with the boy, remarked very earnestly:

"My friend, I'll tell you beforehand, I've got the itch, and you'd better not get in here with me, for the disease is catching."

The boy, who was just getting in bed, too drawled out very cooly:

"Wol, I recon that don't make a bit o' difference—I've had it now nearly these theven years," and into the bed he pitched, along with Pete, who pitched out in as great a hurry as if he had waked up a hornet's nest in the bed.

The other gentleman roared and the mail-boy, who had got peaceable possession of the bed to himself, drawled out:

"Why, you must be a set o' darned fules, mam and dad's got's the catch a heap wurth than I is, and they thlep in that bed latht night when they wath here at the quiltin'.

The other two strangers were now in a worse predicament than Pete, and, bouncing from their nest like the old house had been on fire, stripped, shook their clothes, put them on again, ordered their horses, and though it was nearly 10 o'clock, they all three left and rode several miles to the next town before they slept, leaving the imperturbable mail carrier to the bliss of scratching and sleeping alone.

Railroad Celebration.

The ceremony of breaking ground at the western terminus of the Cedar Rapids & Missouri River railroad, took place at Council Bluffs, on Tuesday last, amid the firing of cannon, the exhibition of flags, and other demonstrations of enjoyment. Notwithstanding the unfavorable character of the weather, the procession was two miles in length, and as many as 5,000 people were estimated to be on the ground. A number of speeches were made, and the crowd adjourned with the liveliest demonstration of satisfaction. The work of grading this road will be prosecuted with great vigor from this point eastward.

Art and Science.

The engines of the large ocean steamers make about 200,000 turns in crossing the Atlantic between Liverpool and New York.

The delicacy of some of the ornamental cast-iron work, known as Berlin iron, is such that it requires of some pieces ten thousand to weigh one pound.

With four weights of respectively one pound, three pounds, nine pounds, and twenty-seven pounds, any number of pounds from one to forty, may be weighed?

A new use of electricity is said to be made in the sewers of Paris—that of killing rats. Wires are run through the sewers, with pieces of meat attached. The rats, by nibbling at the meat, bring down a powerful shock on themselves.

The red color of wine can be proved to be artificial or true by simply dipping a small piece of bread or sponge into the liquid and placing it in a glass of clear water. If the color is artificial, the water will be at once colored, but pure wine will not color it for half an hour or more. The sponge should be well washed beforehand.

The government authorities at Cologne have issued a circular cautioning the public against variegated slate pencils. Schwienfort green, which contains arsenic, is used for the green, chromate of lead for the yellow, and red lead for the red varieties. The circular points out the danger of this practice, especially to children by whom slate pencils are chiefly used.

It will be gratifying to the present generation to know that Prof. Benjamin Pierce, the first of American mathematicians, has demolished the meteoric theory of solar heat and demonstrated that the sun will continue for 30,000,000 years to afford sufficient caloric to sustain human life upon the earth. This is about as long as we are personally interested in the matter. The prospect that our descendants may be frozen to death after the expiration of that time, is too remote to cause serious unhappiness.

At a recent meeting of the French Academy of Science, a diamond, weighing about four grammes, (60 grains,) was exhibited, which, in its ordinary condition, was of a whitish straw-color, but upon being submitted to heat it took a beautiful rose tint. It preserves this tint for eight or ten days, and then completely loses it, and returns precisely to its original color. This question of the color of the diamond has an important influence on its value, for while it is estimated to be worth only 60,000 francs, could the rose color be made permanent, its value would rise to 150,000 or 200,000 francs.

A Powerful Burglar Tool.

The Philadelphia Telegraph describes a tool captured in New York by detectives Geo. H. Smith and Taggart, at the time that the notorious Roberts and Mason were taken into custody in that city:

This machine, the like of which was never before seen in America, consists simply of a bar of iron one inch in thickness, three inches in width, and three or four feet long. By means of wooden trestles placed at either end and secured to the floor with screws, this bar is held in place before the safe. Midway in the length of the iron bar there is a threaded hole through which the drill is worked by means of a crank. The drill itself is very ingenious, and has all the necessary appliances for keeping the bit pressed hard against the safe door. When the outer coating of the safe is once perforated, the bit is replaced by a tap, by which threads are formed around the aperture. At this point the drill is laid aside and a threaded bolt inserted in its place. Blocks of wood are then placed against the trestles to prevent them from being drawn in against the safe, and everything is ready for the final operation. This is not as easily understood as the preliminaries, but its result is the gradual forcing outward of the exterior surface of the safe door. Taken altogether, the whole operation is one of the most ingenious ever devised. There are probably not more than two or three safes in the United States that could resist it successfully.

A Magnificent Race Course.

I had a delightful day yesterday in a drive through the the suburbs of New York for a distance of 10 or 12 miles, the object being to visit an enterprise destined to become not only a New York but a national institution. It is a new race course beyond Harlem river, built on private property and at private expense. Mr. Leonard Jerome, one of the millionaires of the city, has projected a national race course, which, when finished, will cost $500,000. Some idea of the grandeur of the plan may be had from the statement that the principal stand costs $70,000. The form of the track is a novel one. It is in shape something like an hour glass, or a figure 8, the grand stand and the judge's lookout being front of the neck of the figure, so that when the horses are half way round they are almost as near as when starting. A valley swelling at both ends and surrounded by beautiful hills covered with trees and greensward seems to have been made expressly for this shape. The stables are everything in the way of comfort and luxury that horseflesh could desire. The club proper consists of 50 members, Mr. Belmont being the principal or presiding steward. It is in the hands of the first men of fashion and wealth, and will be the rage of the ton of New York. The course will be inaugurated with a four-mile race and a purse of $10,000 on the 23d of September, for which there are 27 entries, among them Asteroid, Kentucky, Fleetwing and their aristocratic compeers of the turf.—New York Letter.

Hints.—The following hints to farmers are applicable to some other people, consequently valuable:

To make your stables warm in winter—Set fire to them.

How to hold the plow—Don't try to hold it at arm's length. You can't do it.

If you hain't a plow of your own, get out an attachment on your neighbor's, who owes you. Any Justice will tell you whether you can hold it or not.

The best time to put in Rye—I asked an old farmer once what was the best time to put in rye. He looked at his watch, and replied:

"This is about my hour."

The rye was immediately put in.

How to keep corn—The best place to keep corn is in a good corn house, though some prefer to keep it in their system—in the juice.

Fences and Fencing—Good fencing is essential on a farm. A rail fence is better than an imaginary one. You can't repair a worm fence by taking vermifuge. Neither can you cut good brushes out of brush fences.

To make a stone fence—Equal parts of whisky and cider. This is the reciprocal fence; the more you lay of it the more it will "lay" you.

Easy way to draw saw logs—Draw them on a piece of paper with a crayon pencil. After a little practice you will be able to "draw" the largest kind of saw logs with ease.

Pork—Packing thread is of no use in packing pork. In curing hams the time varies. Hams that have got trichina can't be cured at all.

—The Columbus (Ohio) Journal says that Mr. M. L. Sullivant formerly of that city, has sold to Mr. Alexander of Kentucky sixteen thousand acres of what he called his home farm in Illinois. The proceeds of the sale amounts to $320,000. This was a part of the farm in Champaign county, and but a small section of Mr. Sullivant's possessions.

SUMMARY OF THE WEEK.

General Intelligence.

President Johnson proposes to release Jeff. Davis on his parole, some time next month.

The amount of gold held by the United States treasury on the 14th, was nearly $80,000,000, $61,500,000 of which belonged to the government. The gold reserve is increasing at the rate of $2,000,000 per week.

The Fenian Congress, recently in session in Troy, N. Y., adjourned sine die on Sunday morning, the 9th. General Sweeney has been deposed as Secretary of War. The hope of soon making a successful raid on Canada is expressed by the members.

A "conscience" package containing sixteen $1,000 7-30 treasury bonds and $755 in legal tenders, was received by the Secretary of the Treasury, a few days since. The package was post-marked Urbana, Ohio, but there was nothing accompanying it to indicate who it was from or for what purpose it was sent.

The new Internal Revenue stamps required to be placed on all malt liquors were issued on the 8th. They are intended to be placed over the spigot hole, and will be canceled by driving in the spigot. The stamps are of the following denomination: For one barrel, one dollar; half-barrel, fifty cents; quarter-barrel, twenty-five cents, etc., etc.

The new revenue law imposes a stamp duty on all canned fruit, "made, prepared and sold, or offered for sale, or removed for consumption in the United States, on and after October 1, 1866." Any person offering for sale such fruit without the stamp attached is liable to a penalty. The question has arisen whether goods sold and delivered before the first of October, having paid the old tax, will be subject to the new tax.

The President and party left Springfield on the 8th, at 9 o'clock, and arrived at St. Louis about 4 in the evening, where a grand reception was given them. Speeches were made by the President and Secretary Seward. In the evening a grand banquet was given to the distinguished party at the Southern Hotel.

The Presidential party left St. Louis on the 10th, having received the most gratifying treatment during their stay in the city.

At Indianapolis the reception was far from hearty. During the procession a riot occurred, which resulted in the killing of one man, and the wounding of others. The President was received with a speech from General Meredith, which was listened to throughout. Upon his attempting to reply, he was saluted with groans and imprecations, prolonged and repeated at every word he uttered.

Before leaving Indianapolis on the morning of the 11th, the President and Mr. Seward made speeches, which were respectfully heard, and greeted with cheering. Their reception at Louisville, was an imposing affair, and apparently the most enthusiastic of all on the route. The President was introduced to the concourse by Hon. James Guthrie, and responded in a long speech, which was cheered throughout. Secretary Seward followed in a lengthy speech. At 8 o'clock the party started for Cincinnati.

The party arrived in Cincinnati on the 12th and remained only three hours. A reception speech was made by Hon. W. S. Groesbeck, and the President made a lengthy reply. At 11 o'clock the party started for Columbus, where the reception was hearty. Speeches were made by the Mayor and the President.

The Presidential party left Pittsburg on the 14th inst., and arrived at Harrisburg at 6 in the evening, where a grand ovation was given to them. At Johnstown a large crowd had assembled on a bridge crossing the old Pennsylvania canal, and just as the train passed over it, it gave way, precipitating nearly 600 persons into the ditch, some 20 feet below, killing thirteen, badly injuring ninety, and slightly wounding about one hundred more.

Foreign News.

The free ports of Sault Ste. Marie and Gaspir have been abolished by the Canadian Government.

Seven of the Fenian prisoners captured at Fort Erie have been released by the Canadian authorities on their own recognizance.

The British government is greatly agitated with fear of another Fenian raid into Canada, and is sending over troops to resist any such undertaking.

Advices from Mexico state that the French Emperor continues to aid Maximilian. He has sent him more money, and is expected to defer the promised withdrawal of his troops.

The proposed canal across the Isthmus of Darien, to connect the Atlantic and Pacific waters, is now in the hands of some American capitalists, who are about beginning the necessary surveys.

A new planet was discovered on the night of August 6th, in the constellation Capricorn by the director of the Marseilles Observatory. This discovery bring the number of asteroids up to eighty-eight.

The Canadian papers are urging that the United States Government is responsible for the Fenian troubles, and demand that England shall declare war if the brotherhood are not suppressed. An attack is hourly expected, and every preparation is being made for defence.

Late Atlantic Cable dispatches say that Russia desires to control the Danubian principalities. A French General has been recalled from Rome, and is to enter the Mexican service, for the reconstruction of the Mexican army after Maximillian's abdication, which is more than intimated.

A dispatch from Heart's Content states that the shore end of the second cable was successfully landed on the 8th inst. at four o'clock, p. m. The electrical conductor of the cable is most perfect, and messages are now being received and sent through it. A second cable will be laid from Port Au Basque to Aspy Bay.

The great reform meeting at Birmingham, England, already briefly noticed by the cable, was one of the greatest political demonstrations of modern times. It is estimated that from two to three hundred thousand persons were present. The principal speaker was John Bright, who, on this occasion, seems to have surpassed all his previous efforts on behalf of an extension of suffrage.

Advices by the Atlantic cable announce the sailing of a regiment of hussars from Liverpool for services in Canada. The St. Leger race was won by "Lord Lyons."

The London Morning Post applauds the non-intervention policy of the United States Government in the Spanish-Chilian war, and cordially approves the moderation evinced by the same in the Mexican imbroglio. Maximilian has signed an agreement to transfer one-half of the receipts from customs throughout his Empire to French agents, for the purpose of paying the liabilities of Mexico to France. The negotiations between Prussia and Saxony progress very slowly, Prussia demanding of the King the oath of allegiance to herself, 10,000,000 thalers war indemnity, and the right to govern the fortress of Koenigsburg, and the cities of Dresden and Leipsic with Prussian troops. A farewell banquet was given on the 14th to the American embassy at St. Petersburg. The French and English governments have jointly made representations to the Sultan of Turkey, protesting against the acquisition, by the United States Government, of an island in Osina. The plenipotentiaries of Austria and Italy have agreed upon all the points but the amount of indemnity, which matter, it is expected, will be settled in a few days. All arrangements having been completed, an interview between Napoleon and Bismark will take place shortly. The army of the Main is on its homeward march. The Turkish army has commenced the invasion of Lebanon.

The South.

A guerrilla leader, Dick Hompsted, was on Monday captured by the regulators, near Little Rock, Ark., who, after trying him and finding him guilty of 11 murders, all of which he confessed, burned him to death by a slow fire.

The official report of General Baird on the New Orleans massacre, just published, declares that there was no hour during the riot when perfect order could not have been restored by a command to the police, from their chief, to put up their pistols.

Another defalcation is reported by the telegraph. A short time since a savings' bank was established in New Orleans. The cashier helped himself to $30,000 and decamped—causing the failure of the bank. No names are given.

Renewed efforts are being made in some of the Southern States to secure a free emigration of the poorly paid farm hands of England, France, Germany and other European countries; and if the plans on foot are successful, the arrival of emigrant vessels at Mobile, New Orleans, Charleston and other points will be quite a common occurrence. In addition to farm hands, the services of nearly every other class of labor are being sought after, and the most tempting inducements in the way of compensation held out. Ordinary cooks at the South now command from $40 to $50 per month; first class cooks, $100 per month; blacksmiths, $120 per month; watchmakers, $100 per month; ship carpenters, $130; tanners, $115 to $130 per month, and other trades in proportion.

The West.

The Cincinnati Council refused, by a vote of 16 to 6, to tender the President the hospitalities of the city.

After 136 ballots, B. F. Hopkins, of Madison, Wisconsin, was nominated as Republican candidate for Congress on the 6th.

The ceremony of breaking ground at the western terminus of the Cedar Rapids and Missouri river railroad took place at Council Bluffs, Iowa, yesterday.

The representatives of the Southern Union Convention at Philadelphia are expected to reach Chicago on the 1st of October, on their way to the tomb of Lincoln.

A terrible accident occurred on the Illinois Central railroad near Du Quoin, Ill., on the 8th, by which the conductor, David Allender, engineer Van Dusen and brakesman Hostetter were killed.

At the Bloomington base ball tournament, the Excelsior, Sr., club, of Chicago, succeeded in carrying off the grand gold ball and gold-mounted bat, after a hard contest of six hours and twenty minutes with the Empires, of St. Louis. The Excelsior Juniors, of Chicago, also won the first prize for junior clubs.

On the 6th, at Indianapolis, the Bates House guests and boarders were visited with a mysterious lacteal poisoning demonstration, exactly similar to one occurring at the Pyle House a short time since. The symptoms (purging and vomiting) are precisely the same, and the sickness is directly traceable to the milk. As usual, it occurred at supper time.

On the afternoon of the 11th, in Chicago, an affray occurred between two gamblers, in front of the Varieties Theatre, which assumed a serious turn, and might have been attended with a fatal result. One Dave Stanley was shot by a James Leary, the ball striking the forehead just above the roof of the nose, and glancing off without even breaking the bone, whereupon the man who had been shot, threw his assailant and jumped upon his face several times, bruising him terribly. Both parties are under arrest.

The Swan House, at Chillicothe, Ill., having been recently robbed of $700 a party of seven gentlemen started out for the purpose of capturing the thief. About twelve o'clock they came upon a man in a lumber yard who looked suspicious, and for whom they went. He started and ran, and the pursuing party fired twenty-eight shots at him, which, according to the rules of arithmetic, was four shots apiece,, allowing that each man had a shooter. The supposed thief got tired of being fired at after the twenty-eighth round, and turned around and fired on the pursuing party, who started and ran from him. He in turn became the pursuer, and chased the posse quite a distance, and then turned about and made good his escape.

The East.

Madame Ristori, the great tragedienne, with a troupe of forty artistes, arrived at New York from Europe on the 11th.

The Fenian Congress at Troy closed its labors on the 8th. The command of the Fenian army will be tendered to General Sheridan.

The sawing and planing mill of S. & G. Rock, in Albany, New York, blew up on the 12th, by which accident twelve persons were killed and eight or ten wounded.

A fire occurred at Sing Sing, N. Y., on the 10th, which destroyed over 20 buildings. Fifty families were rendered houseless. The loss is estimated at $200,000.

On the 13th, two men, while attempting to cross the Niagara river, just above the falls, in a small boat, were driven by a squall into the rapids and over the falls.

Vermont and Maine have gone heavi Republican, the former by 22,000, and the latter 30,000. The Republicans carry the entire Congressional representatives chosen in both States.

Both Houses of the New Jersey Legislature adopted the Constitutional Amendment on the 11th. The Republicans, who have now a slight majority, have united upon Cattell, for U. S. Senator, in place of Stockton.

A most stupendous fraud upon the Government has been recently discovered in connection with the furnishing of supplies for the Brooklyn Navy Yard. The extent of the loss to Government by these transactions is estimated at upwards of one million of dollars.

The New Jersey Legislature met on the 10th, in extra session. The Governor, in his message, recommends the ratification of the Constitutional Amendment, and the election of an United States Senator to fill the vacancy caused by the expulsion of Stockton at the last session of Congress.

The New York Democratic State Convention, in session at Albany, on the 12th, nominated Hon. John T. Hoffman, of New York city, Governor, and Hon. Robert H. Pruyn, of Albany, for Lieutenant Governor. Resolutions were adopted indorsing the action of the Philadelphia Administration Convention.

During August, 17,438 immigrants arrived in New York from Europe, on fifty-three different vessels. The largest number, 8,488, came from Liverpool, whilst Hamburg sent 3,675, Bremen 1,916, Glasgow 1,164, Havre 1,074, London 939, Antwerp 106, Genoa 50, and Rotterdam 26. More than two-thirds of these came on steamers.

All Sorts of Squibs.

.....What are the features of a cannon? Cannon's mouth, cannon-ize, and cannoneers.

.....There is a chap in Philadelphia who says he never minds the hot weather, so long as he is with his wife. She is such an intense scold.

.....It was a very miserly old woman who with her last breath, blew out an inch of candle, "Because," said she, "I can see to die in the dark!"

....."Isaac, my son, let the Good Book be a lamp upon thy path." "Mother," replied the urchin, "I should think that was making light of sacred things."

.....A gentleman presented a lace collar to the object of his adoration, and, in a jocular way, said: "Do not let any one else rumple it." "No, dear," said the lady, "I'll take it off."

.....An exchange gives some fifty ways which Saratoga has been misspelled on letters received at the post office in that town. The following has not yet appeared, but is expected:—Saighreighteauxgay.

....."Married couples resemble a pair of shears," says Sidney Smith, "so joined that they cannot be separated, often moving in opposite directions, yet always punishing any one who comes between them."

.....Some one having lavishly lauded Longfellow's aphorism, "Suffer, and be strong," a matter-of-fact man observed that it was merely a variation of the old English adage, "grin and bear it."

....."Mike," said a bricklayer to his hod man, "if you meet Patrick tell him to make haste as we are waiting for him." "Sure and I will," replied Mike; "but what will I tell him if I don't mate him?"

.....A man about town was lately invited to a sewing party. The next day a friend asked him how the entertainment came off. "Oh, it was very amusing," he replied; "the ladies hemmed and I hawked."

.....At a recent examination of girls in Cheshire, England, for the rite of confirmation, in answer to the question, "What is the outward and visible sign and form in baptism?" the reply was "The baby, sir."

.....A man in Orange connty was found one night climbing an overshot wheel in a fulling mill. He was asked what he was doing. He said he was trying to get up to bed, and somehow or other the stairs would not hold still.

.....Miss Smith asked the pleasure of Captain Jones' company to tea." At the time appointed the Captain, being in command of the —— Rifle Corps, made his appearance with the whole of his company in parade dress.

.....We once heard of a very rich man, who was badly injured by his being run over. "It isn't the accident," said he "that I mind; that isn't the thing; but the idea of being run over by an infernal swill cart makes me mad."

.....Some letter puzzles are made quite curious by a diagramatic arrangement. Such a one is,—

C C
S I

The answer is "The season is backward," (the C's on "is" backward.)

....."My dear boy," said a young lady to a precious youth of eighteen, "does your father design that you should tread the thorny and intricate path of a profession, the straight and narrow way of the ministry, or revel in the flowery fields of literature?" "No, marm; dad says he's gwine to set me to work in the tater patch."

The Mosquito Question.—Josh Billings makes the following remarks appropriate to the season:

We are told that there want enny thing made in vain. This is sum so, but I have thought the time spent in manufaktring musketoze, must have been wasted if the musketoze want. How they were put together, I never could tell, and there is one commershall pecul

CURRENT ITEMS.

Personal and Literary.

THE crown princess of Prussia is losing her reason from grief at the death of her child.

MOLLY MOLASSES, a sweet squaw of 103 summers, is in camp with her tribe in northern Maine.

BEN WOOD has sold his paper, the New York News, and retired, feeling that "with the close of civil war his mission was at an end."

THE Rev. Henry Ward Beecher has written another letter explaining and modifying his position. He declares that he is still with the republican party.

KETCHUM lives well at Sing Sing, keeps a refrigerator, receives calls in the prison parlor, but has to wear the stripes, march lock step, and go to meals with his proper brethren.

MR. LEWIS GIDLEY has lately translated into Latin the whole of Poe's "Raven," as a measure which is described as being a five-line stanza of trochaic tetrameter, with a trochaic dimeter-hypercataletic. "Phœbus, what a name!"

HEENAN and Morrissey have become mutual friends. Morrissey says he is willing to match Heenan to fight any man in the world for $20,000 a side. It is reported that Joe Coburn and Heenan are likely to meet in the prize ring at no distant day for a large stake.

MR. OREN CUMMINGS, of East Montpelier, Vt., has this season cut, cured, and put in the barn, the grass on thirty acres of land. He has done this all himself, without the help of any person in any part of the labor; of course he used a mowing-machine and a horse-rake. He was about three weeks doing his haying.

AUTHORS have occasionally amused themselves by constructing lipprograms, or writings, in which a certain letter is entirely excluded. We are told of a Latin prose work of Fulgentius, in 23 chapters, according to the order of Latin alphabet, in the first of which a was omitted, in the second b, and so on to the last letter.

DR. BUSBY illustrated a sound principle when his school was visited by the King, and the doctor marched into the room before his majesty with his hat on. When reproved for his disrespect to royalty, he apologized by saying: "I could never govern this herd of boys if I allowed them to think there was any man of greater authority than Dr. Busby."

JUDGE NOAH DAVIS, holding the Circuit Court in Warsaw, New York, on Monday last, thus pronounced sentence on a man, arraigned for selling liquor without license, whose lawyer had begged that he might be lightly dealt with: "This court cannot consent that the crime of selling liquor contrary to law shall be reduced to the level of the crime of high treason, in which everybody goes free and nobody is punished. We fine you $25, and you will be committed to jail until it is paid."

"PEOPLE about to marry," who wish to know the proper ages, are referred to the following precedents: Adam and Eve, 0; Shakspeare, 18; Ben Johnson, 21; Franklin, 24; Mozart, 25; Dante, Kepler, Fuller, Johnson, Burke and Scott, 26; Tycho, Brahe, Byron, Washington and Bonaparte, 27; Penn and Sterne, 28; Linnæus and Nelson, 29; Burns, 30; Chaucer, Hogarth and Peel, 32; Woodsworth and Davy, 33; Aristotle, 36; Sir Wm. Jones and Wellington, 37; Wilberforce, 38; Luther, 42; Addison, 44; Wesley and Young, 47; Swift 49; Buffon, 55; Old Parr, last time, 120. If Adam and Eve married before they were a year old, and the veteran Parr buckled with a widow at 120, bachelors and spinsters may wed at any age they like, and find shelter under great names for either early or late marriages.

Foreign Gossip.

—In Paris a drunken man tumbled into a basket containing 3,000 eggs. The effect was naturally disastrous in the eggstream.

—Fisk, the well-known linguist, has translated a play from the Russian language which will be produced next spring in New York. Fifty thousand dollars is required to properly mount it upon the stage.

—A synopsis of President Johnson's speech at Delmonico's, New York, of 478 words, was telegraphed to Reuter's European Press Association by the Atlantic cable, at an expense of $5,019 in gold.

—The Ingersoll cheese factory, in Canada, has manufactured a cheese which measures six feet eight inches in breadth and three feet in thickness, and weighs three and a half tons. It required thirty five tons of milk, the product of eight hundred cows.

—At the hanging of a murderer in England, the rope broke. He alighted on his feet, the rope about his neck and the white cap over his face. While remounting the steps of the gallows, he severely upbraided the executioner, and bade him be more careful another time.

—The wives of English ecclesiastical dignitaries do not partake the sacred titles of their lords. It is rather funny to read in the London papers that "the archbishop of York and Mrs. Thompson arrived at Fulham Palace yesterday, on a visit to the bishop of London and Mrs. Tait."

—The national portrait exhibition, open in London for some time past, is, perhaps, the finest collection of portraits by the most famous masters, ancient and modern, ever brought together. The pictures were contributed from all the public and private galleries of Great Britain.

—A Frenchman for years loved a married lady, and never missed passing an evening at her house. She became a widow. "I wish you joy," cried his friend, "you can marry the woman you have so long adored." "Alas," said the poor Frenchman, profoundly dejected, "and if so, where shall I spend my evenings?"

—A Scottish paper reports that at a fishing village near Aberdeen, a fisherman's daughter, about 16 years of age, recently had a small sore on the back of her hand, and from this spot in succession were discharged 120 broken fish-hooks, pins, fish-bones, etc.; and to one hook was attached eight inches of gut.

—It is told of the late Miss Milford, that she once bought a turban on her way to an evening party and put it on in the carriage before her arrival; but the delight of the guests knew no bounds when she appeared in the drawing-room still carrying on her head-dress the shop ticket, which described her as "Very chaste—only 13s. 6d."

—A negro sculptress, Miss Edmonia Lewis, has taken a studio at Rome, and works at her art in one of the rooms formerly occupied by the great master Canova. "My mother," she says, "was a wild Indian, and was born in Albany. There she made and sold moccasins. My father, who was a negro, and a gentleman's servant, saw her and married her. I was born at Greenhill, Ohio." Whilst says the London Athenæum, her youth, and her color claim our warmest sympathies, Miss Edmonia Lewis has a very engaging appearance and manners.

—It is known to many of our readers that the discovery of the Columbia River, on whose shores the State of Oregon is situated, was made by a Boston ship named Columbia, fitted out in 1788 from this port. A common sailor on board the ship was John Young, who afterwards left the ship and remained at the Sandwich Islands. John, being an active and intelligent fellow, made himself useful to the islanders and rose to great favor, marrying a daughter of the King. From him sprung Queen Emma, who is now on a visit to this country.

Domestic Paragraphs.

—A horse with five feet is said to be in Texas.

—Many Virginia farmers are boiling watermelon juice into molasses.

—A melon rind upon the sidewalk caused the death of a young lady in Norfolk.

—The Richmond Board of Trade have sent a comfortable chair to Jeff. Davis.

—Lowell has 437,200 spindles in operation this year, and Fall River 428,000.

—A rich lady in Nashville, a large real estate owner, has voluntarily reduced her rents 33⅓ per cent. The usual plan is to voluntarily increase them.

—An Irishman in Bennington, Vt., was sent to get some green corn for dinner the other day. He plucked four barrels and sent them in, and then finished the patch, leaving not an ear in the field.

—A tourist at Niagara Falls writes that when he sees the approach of a man, woman, child, or Indian, he puts his hand in his pocket, and inquires, "Well, how much?"

—That was a provident and affectionate father who secured $50,000 policies in an accidental insurance company, upon the lives of his seven small children, and sent the little darlings for a holiday excursion on a New Jersey railroad.

—A wedding was to take place at Nashvire one evening last week, and bride, parson and guests were ready, when it was announced that the unhappy groom was on a jury which was unable to agree, and had been locked up for the night.

—One of the largest bells in the United States has been cast for the city of Pittsburg, Pa. The amount of metal contained in the rough casting is 7,200 pounds. It measures sixty-six inches across the mouth, and sixty-two inches in hight to the top of the crown.

—A Mr. Donglass residing in Hope Township, Wis., saw a large eagle sitting upon the fence. He crept up to it, and grasped it by the legs. After a severe contest in which the eagle with his beak and talons drew blood from Mr. D's shoulder he succeeded in overcoming it.

—The following is a list of "commemorative weddings." Two years after the wedding is the "paper wedding;" the 5th anniversary is the "wooden wedding;" the 10th the "tin wedding;" the 15th the "crystal wedding;" the 20th the "china wedding;" the 25th the "silver wedding;" the 50th the "golden wedding;" the 75th the "diamond wedding."

—A young lady named Mary Dougherty, residing in Charleston, S. C., was killed recently, in a singular manner. She was employed in making up the bed of the proprietor of the house in which she lived, when a loaded pistol which had been left under the pillow, fell upon the floor, and the contents were discharged into her thigh and abdomen.

—The Syracuse, N. Y., Journal relates the particulars of the death of an aged lady, Mrs. Sarah Kiggins, at the communion table, occurred a few day since. She went to the alter with her daughter, and while the pastor was reading the hymn, "Rock of Ages," fell dead from her seat, without a moment's warning that the messenger of death was near. She was 78 years of age.

—A gentleman, resident of Cleveland, became crazy on Monday, on hearing that his brothers, sister and her husband, and their family, had all died of cholera at Cincinnati. He was on Tuesday morning found roaming through the streets, heedless of the tears and entreaties of his wife, who was trying to persuade him to return home. The police took him home, where he has to be gurded and confined to his room.

—A singular and most distressing scene took place, on the 6th, in a graveyard at Edwardsville, Ill., where, during the funeral ceremonies over the body of a child of Mr. John Gaffney, the mourners and attendants were attacked by a swarm of bumble bees. The irate insects lit upon the uncovered heads and faces of those present, who were mostly all stung in a terrible manner. The ladies screamed, and a retreat was absolutely necessary before the ceremony was concluded. One of the ladies stung is confined to her bed from the effects of the virus.

—A singular and melancholy affray took place near Richmond, Missouri, on the 20th ult., between two little boys, aged respectively eleven and thirteen years, sons of William Flourney. They were hunting partridges with their father's revolver, but became engaged in a quarrel, when the elder fired two shots with the pistol at the younger, wounding him in the forehead and the hip; he then handed the weapon to his wounded brother, and told him to shoot him. He did so, firing two shots—one ball entering the right hip, the other the brain, killing him instantly.

—A company are busily engaged at sinking a mine on a small island in South Coventry, Lake Conn., in the hope of finding the treasure which they suppose Capt. Kidd to have buried there. An old man who assisted the pirates in the concealment of their gold, died a few years ago, and the company are working under the direction of his son, to whom he intrusted the information. A similar company are at work at Nova Scotia, and Mr. Marble, an insane old man, has been engaged in the same Quixotic operation for many years, at the ledges on the coast near Salem, Mass.

—Recently, a man at Magnolia, La., put some tar on his pantaloons, and immediately sat down upon the back of a mule which belonged to somebody else. The consequence was, that when he left Magnolia the mule stuck to him. The people up there called it "stealing a mule," and arrested him. Thus the matter stood until Friday night, when it was discovered that the prisoner had left his quarters. He was found a few hours afterwards, dead, underneath the projecting limb of a tree, and marks of a rope were plainly visible around his neck. So says a private telegram. It is supposed that after hanging himself he took the rope from his neck and hid it somewhere.

—The Videette, a sprightly Gentile paper paper published at Salt Lake city, under the eyes of the Mormon leader, has the following: "Sunday afternoon, as the services at the tabernacle were approaching a close, there was a prospect of an immediate shower, which caused several of the females to leave. The prophet took a survey of the heavens, and with due prophetic dignity announced that it would not rain for the space of 30 minutes, which, of course, reassured all. But, in less then five minutes, even before the congregation was fairly outside the walls, the rain was pouring down in torrents, much to the disgust and amazement of the 'faithful,' who incurred a serious loss in the millinery and dry goods line."

—Simple John Chinaman, out in California, is, no doubt, much abused, and deserves sympathy. A letter writer at San Francisco says: "Poor John, ignorant of the language, and without much knowledge of the laws, is liable to be 'cheted' very often. My friends told me that, in the mining districts, a miner out of cash would sometimes make a false by levying a 'tax' on the Celestials for his own benefit. The poor Chinaman can't tell the genuine 'taxes' man from the bogus article, and with a mournful 'heap Melican man, muchee taxes,' hands over his hard earned silver. Even the Indians, I am told, have learned the fashion of blackmailing 'John,' so that, with the tax he is compelled to pay monthly for the privilege of mining, he may well ask himself if this is the Christian land which sends missionaries to convert him from his heathen darkness to the light of the Gospel."

HOME, FARM AND GARDEN.

A BIT of soap rubbed on the hinges of a door will prevent their creaking.

OAT STRAW is best for the filling of beds, and it is well to change it as often as once in a year.

CEDAR CHESTS are the best to keep flannels and clothes, as moths are never found in them. Red cedar chips are good to keep in drawers, closets, wardrobes, trunks, &c., to keep our moths.

HOPS should be picked when they are full grown and begin to be fragrant; by no means let them remain longer, as a strong wind or rain will injure them greatly. Spread them awhile to dry.

SIR JOHN SEBRIGHT strongly opposes continuous and close interbreeding. He tried many experiments on different kinds of animals in all of which injurious results followed protracted in-and-in breeding.

I FEED Indian meal to my young chicks five times a day, and have not had a case of gapes in the last six years. Impure water I am inclined to think, is the principal cause of this disorder. Indian meal is most assuredly innocent of the charge.—Cor. Country Gentleman.

A STEUBEN county correspondent of the Genesee Farmer says that he cured a three-year old heifer of sucking herself by smearing the teats night and morning with soft grease, and then dusting them thoroughly with pulverized cayenne pepper. The applications were continued about a week, and a perfect cure was effected.

A HOP GROWER in New York has made experiments with poles seven feet high, connected with twine, which showed that this was a better method than to use the long poles. He finds it much cheaper, and had a yield one-third greater. The plan is now in now in very general and successful use in Sauk county, Wisconsin.

EVERY farmer should keep on hand a supply of copper wire, and small pieces of sheet copper or copper straps. Copper wire is better than annealed iron wire; it is almost as flexible as twine, and may be bent and twisted as desired; and it will not rust. Copper straps nailed across or around a fracture or split in any wooden article, will strengthen it in a thorough manner.

A CORRESPONDENT of the American Agriculturist suggests as a convenient bag-holder, a barrel with both heads knocked out and a few nails driven in one end. The open end of the bag is hung over these nails. When the bag is filled, the barrel may be lifted off. Many grain bags are too small to be fastened to opposite sides of a barrel. Hooks extending some inches from one side of the barrel would remedy this trouble.

THE oil of pennyroyal will drive off the fleas; but a cheaper method, where the herb flourishes, is to throw your dogs and cats into a decoction of it once a week. Mow the herb and scatter it in the beds of the pigs once a month. I have seen this done for many years in succession. Where the herb cannot be got, the oil may be procured. In this case, saturate strings with it and tie them around the necks of dogs and cats, pour a little on the back and about the ears of hogs, which you can do while they are feeding without touching them.

ACTIVE MANURE.—One of the most active manures, and readily within the reach of most farmers, is a mixture of leached ashes, plaster, and night soil mixed with fine soil. Let them be thoroughly worked over on a smooth spot, and allowed to stand a week before using, working it over every other day, and you have a most valuable manure at a trifling cost of time. A handful of this mixture in a hill is excellent to give corn a start. Potatoes and garden vegetables generally feel it very quick. Hen manure is an excellent ingredient in such manures, but it should be well slacked with water before mixing with other substances. —Maine Farmer.

A HORSE'S HOOF SEVERED FROM HIS LIMB.—Two weeks ago a team belonging to Mr. Eben McGilvra, of Greenfield, took fright, pulled up the post to which it was hitched, and ran. One of the horses caught a hind foot on something, supposed to be the post, as it was dragging, and tore his hoof entirely off. The hoof, as severed, is complete and sound, with the shoe still on. The horse fell down instantly, and the blood spirted freely from the bare stump. Mr. M. bound it up in tar with cloths, and the next day the horse was up and feeding in the pasture. We do not remember to have ever heard of a similar incident.—Baraboo (Wis.) Independent.

Do Animals Require Salt.

We find the following paragraph going the rounds of the press:—

"Is salt necessary for horses and cattle? A writer in the Massachusetts Plowman and the California Rural Home Journal says no. The fine Arab horse won't touch it."

A majority of animals—quadrupeds, at least—seem to have a natural taste for salt, and in a wild state they search eagerly for it. It is not, properly speaking, an acquired taste, for the craving for a saline substance does not grow with the animal, but appears to be as strong when approaching the form of maturity as in after years. In a wild state the animal seeks the marshy places, and what are called salt licks become their favorite haunts. If the taste is a natural one, it seems that it would be prudent to gratify it, to a certain extent, at least. We are well aware that many experienced breeders hesitate about feeding salt in the winter months, presenting argument thus: Salt creates thirst, and cattle should not drink much water in cold weather, as it chills the blood, and requires a greater amount of food to triumph over it and preserve the necessary warmth of body. This, doubtless, is a correct view of the case, but we do not see why the same rule should be enforced in the summer months of our northern latitude. In the tropics salt should be sparingly fed the year round. Milk cows, especially are benefitted by plenty of salt, as water and succulent grasses add to the quantity of milk flowing into the pail morning and night. One of our most experienced breeders recommends rock salt, as the animals lick it and satisfy the natural craving without indulging to excess. In regard to the Arab horse not touching salt, a greater mistake was never committed. The writer has blundered seriously, and this error proves that he is ignorant of the subject of which he pretends to have an intimate knowledge. The Arab horse shows no more aversion to salt than do many other animals. Our race horses, of which he is an ancient progenitor, require salt when undergoing the ordeal of training, and they are benefited by it.—Turf, Field and Farm.

THE COOK.

We may live without friends; we may live without books;
But civilized men cannot live without cooks.
He may live without book,—what is knowledge but grieving?
He may live without hope,—what is hope but deceiving?
He may live without love,—what is passion but pining?
But where is the man that can live without dining?

HE who invites a Christian to a social entertainment, and then censures him for acting like a Christian, has neither manners nor morals.

TWENTY-EIGHT years of observation have convinced Dr. Litchel that few persons can can continue to consume (smoke) daily 20 grammes of tobacco without their vision or memory becoming impaired. There are many smokers, he urges, who may long resist those effects, but the pernicious consequences, though slow in manifesting themselves, are, however, none the less certain.

DICKERING.

Some time or other, if a man enters upon farm life—and it holds true in almost every kind of life—there will come to him a necessity for bargaining. It is a part of the curse, I think, entailed upon mankind, at the expulsion from Eden,—that he should sweat at a bargain. When a French woman with her hand full of gloves,—behind her dainty counter,—asks the double what her goods are worth, you are noway surprised. You accept the enormity, as a symptom of the depravity of her race,—which is balanced by the suavity of her manner.

But when a hard faced, upright, Sabbath-keeping New England bank officer or select man, asks you the double, or offers you the half, of what a thing is really worth, there is a revolution of feeling, which no charm in his manner can drive away. Unlike the case of the French shop woman, I feel like passing him—on the other side of the street.

And yet all this is to be met (and conquered, I suppose) by whoever has butter, eggs, or hay, or fat cattle to sell. I ventured once to express my surprise to a shrewd foreman who had charge of this business—for I manage it by proxy as much as I can—that a staid gentleman with his ten thousand a year of income, should have insisted upon a deduction of two cents a bushel in the price of his potatoes, in view of a quart of small ones, that had insinuated themselves in the interstices; I think I hear his horse-laugh now, as he replied—"Why, sir, it's the way he grew rich."

The idea struck me as novel; but upon reflection I am inclined to think it is well based. As I said,—often as possible, I accomplish this business by proxy; and, in consequence, have made some bad debts by proxy. But proxy is not always available. There are customers who insist upon chaffering with the "boss." Such a one has dropped in, on a morning in which you happen to be deeply engaged. He wishes to "take a look" at a horse, which he has seen advertised for sale. The stable is free to his observation, and the attentive Pat is at hand; but the customer wants to talk with the "Squire."

It is a staunch Canadian horse, for which you have no further use. You paid for him, six months gone, a hundred and fifty dollars, and you now name a hundred dollars as his price. I never yet met a man who sold a horse for as much as he gave—unless he was a jockey; I never expect to.

"Mornin', Squire."

"Good morning."

"Bin a lookin' at y'er hoss."

"Ah!"

"Middlin' lump of a-hoss."

"Yes, a nice horse."

"D'n know as you know it, but sich hosses an't so salable as they was a spell back."

"Ah!"

"They're gittin' a fancy for bigger hosses."

Silence.

"Put that pony to a heavy cart, and he wouldn't do nothin'."

"You are mistaken; he's a capital cart horse."

"Well, I don't say but what he'd be handy with a litish load. Don't call him spavined, do ye?"

"No, perfectly sound."

"That looks kinder like a spavin"—rubbing his off hind leg.

"An't much of a hoss doctor, be ye?"

"Not much."

"Don't kick, dooz he?"

"No."

"Them little Kanucks is apt to kick."

Silence, and an impatient movement, which I work off by pulling out my watch.

"What time o' day's got to be?"

"Eleven."

"Thunder! I must be agoin';—should like to trade, Squire, but I guess we can't agree. I s'pose you'd be askin' as much as—sixty—or—seventy dollars for that are hoss—wouldn't ye?"

"A hundred dollars is the price, and I gave fifty more."

"Don't say! Gave a thundering sight too much, Squire."

"Pat, you may put up the horse; I don't think the gentleman wants him."

"Look o' here, Squire;—ef you was to say—something—like—seventy, or—seventy-five dollars, now,—there might be some use in talkin'."

"Not one bit of use," (impatiently,)—turning on my heel.

"——Say, Squire,—ever had him to a plough?"

"Yes."

"Work well?"

"Perfectly well."

"Fractious any? Them Kanucks is contrary critters when they've a mind to be."

"He is quite gentle."

"That's a good pint; but them that's worked till they get quiet, kinder gits the spirit lost on 'em—an't so brisk when you put 'em to a waggin. Don't you find it so, Squire?"

"Not at all."

"How old, Squire, did ye say he was?" (looking in his mouth again).

"Seven."

"Well—I guess he is; a good many figgers nigher that, than he is to tew—any way."

"Patrick, you had better put this horse up."

"Hold on, Squire," and taking out his purse, he counts out, "seventy, eighty, and a five, and two, and a' fifty—there, Squire, 'tant worth talkin' about; I'll split the difference with ye, and take the hoss."

"Patrick, put him up."

At which the customer is puzzled, hesitates, and the horse is entering the stable again, when he breaks out explosively:

"——Well, Squire, here's your money; but you're the most thunderin' oneasy man for a dicker that I ever traded with; I'll say that for ye."

And the horse is transferred to his keeping.

"S'pose you throw in the halter and blanket, Squire, don't ye?"

"Give him the halter and blanket, Patrick."

"And, Patrick, you 'ant nary old curry-comb, you don't use, you could let me have?"

"Give him a curry-comb, Pat."

"Squire, you're a clever man. Got most through y'r hayin'?"

"Nearly."

"Well, I'm glad on't. Had kinder ketchin' weather up our way."

And with this return to general and polite conversation, the bargaining is over. It may be amusing, but it is not inspiring or elevating. Yet very much of the country trade is full of this miserable chaffering. If I have a few acres of woodland to sell, the purchaser spends an hour in pressing upon me his "idea"—that it is scattered and mangy, and has been pirated upon, and that wood is "dull," with no prospect of its rising; if it is a cow that I venture in the market, the proposed purchaser is equally valuable in descriptive epithets, far from complimentary; she is "pooty well on in years," rather scrawny, "not much for a bag;" and this, although she may be the identical Devon of my Short-horn friend. If it is a pig that I would convert into greenbacks—he is "flabby," "scruffy,"—his "pork will waste in bilin'." In short, if I were to take the opinions of my excellent friends the purchasers—for truth, I should be painfully conscious of having possessed the most mangy hogs, the most aged cows, the scrubbiest veal, and the most diseased and stunted growth of chestnuts, and oaks, with which a country liver was ever afflicted.

For a time, in the early period of my novitiate, I was a little disturbed by these damaging statements; but have been relieved on learning, by farther experience, that the urgence of such lively falsehoods is only an ingenious mercenary device for the sharpening of a bargain. But while this knowledge puts me in good temper again with my own possessions, it sadly weakens my respect for humanity.

Amateur farmers are fine subjects for these chafferers; they yield to them without serious struggle. The extent and manner of their losses, under the engineering ability of those wiry old gentlemen who drive sharp bargains, is something quite beyond their comprehension. It would be well if harm stopped here. But this huckstering spirit is very leprous to character. It bestializes; it breaks down the trader's own respect for himself, as much as ours. The man who will school himself into the adoption of all manner of disguisements about the cow he has to sell, will adopt the same artifices and quibbles about the opinions he wishes to force upon your acceptance. Let him mend by showing all the spavins in the next horse he has for sale (there will be some, or he would never sell); and his reformation is not altogether hopeless.

Apropos to the above is the following:

"When I goes a shoppin'," said an old lady, "I allers asks for what I wants, and if they have it, and it's suitable, and I feel inclined to buy it, and it's cheap, and can't be got for less, I most allers takes it without chappering about it all day, as some people do."

☞ Invite your friends to take this paper. You can save three or four cents a week by "borry"-ing it, instead of subscribing for it. Besides, it's more genteel.

Always Ready.—"About four years ago," says Mrs. G. V. Coombs, of Easton, West Virginia, "I purchased a Wilcox & Gibbs Sewing Machine. It has more than met my expectations. I have done the principal sewing for eighteen persons since that time, and a great deal for my neighbors. It is always ready—always in order. Have broken two needles in four years."

THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK,		Sept. 15.
COTTON—Middling	$ .33	@ .35¼
FLOUR—Extra Round Hoop Ohio	8 90	@ 11.10
WHEAT—No. 1 Milwaukee New	2.20	@ 2.27
BARLEY		@ .90
CORN—Sound Western Mixed	.83	@ .84
OATS—New Western	.46	@ .50
PETROLEUM—Crude	.27	@ .27½
PORK—Mess new	33.00	@ 33.25
BEEF CATTLE—Common to good	12 50	@ 17.00
DRY GOODS—Merrimacs	.20	@ .21
Bleached Sheetings—Masonville		@ .55
Brown Sheetings—Stark		@ .22½
Delaines—Manchester		@ .27½
Denims—Manchester		@ .31½
GOLD—Closed 145⅞

CHICAGO, Sept. 17, 1866.
BEEVES—Stock to prime	7.00	@$ 7.50
BEANS	.50	@ 1.00
BRAN	10.00	@ 10.50
BUTTER—Good Tub	.22	@ .24
CHEESE—Western States	.13	@ .15
COFFEE—Rio	.26	@ .30
Java	.39	@ .40
EGGS	.18	@ .19
FRUITS—Green Apples—New	3.00	@ 5.00
Peaches—box	1.00	@ 3 50
FLOUR—Winter White	11.00	@ 13.75
Spring Extra	9 00	@ 11 00
FISH—Mackerel, No. 1, half bbl	12.25	@ 12 50
Whitefish, " "	7.25	@ 7.50
Codfish, per hundred	9 00	@ 9 50
GRAIN—Corn, No. 1	.54	@ .56
Oats "	.29	@ .29½
Rye	.69	@ .70
Wheat—Spring No. 1 New	2 05	@ 2 09
Barley Western—new	.75	@ .85
HIGHWINES	2.23	@ 2.24
LARD	.19	@ .20
LUMBER—Common flooring, rough	32.00	@ 35.00
PORK—Mess	33.50	@ 33.75
POTATOES, per bushel	.50	@ .60
SHEEP—Good	3.00	@ 4.75½
SUGARS—Cuba	.12¾	@ .14¾
New York Refined	.17	@ .17¾
White B	.16	@ .16½
SALT—Fine		@ 2.60
Coarse		@ 2.50
WOOL—Medium washed	.43	@ .47
SEEDS—Timothy	2.75	@ 3.00
Flax	2.62	@ 2.75

The Laws of Health.

It is useless for State Legislatures to pass laws for the preservation of the public health, if the great law of self preservation, which depends for its enforcement upon the will of the individual, is suffered to remain a dead letter.

There is scarcely an adult member of the community, of either sex, in this country, who has not seen the testimony in favor of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, furnished over their own signatures by persons of acknowledged eminence in science, literature, art, commerce, and every department of business and professional life. These witnesses have declared in the most explicit terms that the preparation is a safeguard against epidemics, a sovereign remedy for dyspepsia, a valuable anti-bilious medicine, a promoter of appetite, a genial and harmless stimulant, a good acclimating medicine, a strengthener of the nerves, a general invigorant, a protection against the deleterious effects of malaria and impure water, and that it imparts a degree of vigor and activity to the vital forces which is not communicated by any other of the tonics and stomachics in use. Under these circumstances the self-preservative law of nature should teach every rational person who, either by reason of inherent debility or in consequence of exposure to unwholesome influences, is in peril of losing the greatest of all temporal blessings, HEALTH, the importance of using the BITTERS as a defensive medicine. Dyspeptics who neglect to give it a trial are simply their own enemies. It is guaranteed to cure Indigestion in all its forms, and the bilious and nervous will find nothing in the whole range of official and proprietary medicines which will afford them the same relief.

GO TO THE BEST.

BRYANT & STRATTON'S CHICAGO BUSINESS UNIVERSITY is the largest and most thorough Institution of the kind in the country, and young men going to Chicago should consult their own best interests by attending this College, where every department of a Business Education is thoroughly taught—Bryant, Stratton & Co's. Scholarships are good during life in forty-eight different Colleges—Address for College Paper, Circular, College Currency and Specimens of Penmanship. BRYANT & STRATTON, Chicago, Ill.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS,

WHOSE TIMELY USE, UNDER PROVIDENCE, HAS OFTEN SAVED LIFE.

These celebrated Vegetable Pills are now, untried remedy; they have been used and tested in the United States for thirty years, and are relied upon by hundreds of thousands of families as almost their sole medicine when sick. No cure or expense is spared in their preparation, and it is certainly true when I assert that no King can have a medicine safer or surer than Brandreth's Pills.

They produce a good effect upon disease almost immediately they are taken. By some wonderful power, perhaps electric or nervous influence, the progress of diseased action is arrested; where watchfulness and pain have been present, the system becomes quieter, and the patient soon obtains refreshing sleep.

The genuine BRANDRETH PILL BOX has upon it a UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT STAMP with B. BRANDRETH in White Letters in the same.

A Household Necessity Exists for the use of Durno's Celebrated Catarrh Snuff.

The best known remedy for "a Cold in the Head," Headache, Snuffles, Sore Eyes, Deafness, and the worst forms of that loathsome disease, CATARRH.

It cleanses the entire head. Its effects are pleasant and wonderful, contains no tobacco, nor injurious ingredient. It has the highest professional testimonials Sold by all Druggists for 25 cents per Box. Can be sent by mail on receipt of 30 cents for one Box, or $1 for four Boxes. Address JAS. DURNO, Postoffice Box 1235, New York City. Wholesale by D. BARNES & CO., 21 Park Row New York.

ARMY AND NAVY GAZETTE, OF Chicago. Published quarterly, and contains the New Bounty Law and New Pension Law and all Laws and instructions necessary to collect claims against the United States. Published at fifty cents per annum, in advance, by ISAAC R. HITT & CO., Licensed Government Claim Agents and Attorneys, 65 South Clark Street, Chicago, Ill. Every Soldier and Sailor should subscribe for it.

Wilcox & Gibbs Sewing Machine.

"Its seam is stronger and less liable to rip in use or wear than the Lock Stitch." ["Judges Report," at the "Grand Trial."]

Send for the "Report" and samples of Work, containing both kinds of stitches, on the same piece of goods. Agents wanted.

L. CORNELL & CO., General Agents, 1138 Lake Street, Chicago, Ill.

MAGNETISM is the vital principal of life. When by transgressing the laws of nature we impair the workings of that beautiful mechanism which God made perfect, nature, through her great Electrical Battery, makes a powerful effort to remove the impediment which clogs the circulation of the magnetic forces. To assist Nature, use the "Electro Magnetic Fluid," prepared by the Swain Manufacturing Company, which is nothing less than Electricity in liquid form, and is undoubtedly the most wonderful as well as most useful chemical discovery of this age of fruitful research. It is composed of the most powerful ingredients known to chemistry, and when combined by this, the only known process, and applied to the human form, it supplies the deficiency of magnetic power, needed to banish disease.

Palsy of long standing, Scrofula, and Epileptic fits have been cured in a few minutes, while Rheumatism and Neuralgia, those giant diseases which have for ages baffled medical skill, and caused untold suffering, yield at once to the healing influence of this powerful fluid. It is warranted to heal the following diseases when used according to directions, as a bathing lotion: Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Palsy, Fits, Swelled Joints, Scrofula, Stiff Limbs, Spasms, Deafness, Cancer, White Swelling, Salt Rheum, Sore Eyes, Female Weak Back, Spinal Affections, Prolapsus, and other Female Diseases.

Remember that its use involves no long tedious, uncertain, and costly experiment, but its good effects will be seen almost instantly while in no case can it possibly do harm.

Send to the proprietors for circular containing certificates from well known citizens of remarkable cures, effected by this medicine after all other remedies had failed to relieve.

One bottle will be sent to any part of the United States on receipt of one dollar.

DR. C. H. SWAIN & CO.,
Successors to DR. JAS. MORRELL, Proprietors.
34 South Water Street, Chicago.
Sold by leading druggists everywhere.

DR. TOBIAS' VENETIAN HORSE LINIMENT

Pint Bottles at One Dollar, for the cure of lameness, scratches, wind galls, sprains, bruises, splints, cuts, colic, slipping stifle, over-heating, sore throat, nail in the foot, etc. It is warranted cheaper and better than any other article ever offered to the public. Thousands of animals have been cured of the colic and overheating, by this Liniment, and hundreds that were crippled and lame have been restored to their former vigor. It is used by all the first horsemen throughout the States. Orders are constantly received from the racing stables of England for fresh supplies of this invaluable article. Over 2,500 testimonials have been received. Remember, one dollar laid out in time may save the life of your horse. Sold by all druggists. Office, 56 Cortlandt street, New York.

THE MOON'S VOLCANOES

are engaging the attention of astronomers, but the world of Beauty and Fashion is less interested in human discoveries than in the great question of

TURNING THE HEADS

that have been whitened by age or sickness to a glorious black or brown hue. Nobody now is such as not to admit that the finest and most harmless hair darkener in existence is

A LUNATIC

CRISTADORO'S HAIR DYE,

which nourishes the fibres as well as changes their hue. Manufactured by J. CRISTADORO, 6 Astor House New York. Sold by all Druggists. Applied by all Hair Dressers.

AGENTS WANTED

For the best selling and most useful work of the day. Our Agents are making from $100 to $300 per month, in selling "Mackenzie's Universal Encyclopædia," or 10,000 receipts in all the useful arts, such as Medicine, Cookery, Farriery, Agriculture, &c., &c. New and special articles upon Cholera, and the Rinderpest and Trichinæ have just been added. All new, reliable and useful discoveries added to each edition, making it the most complete book of the kind ever issued. The whole compiled and arranged by a corps of the best scientific men of the country. Apply for circular giving full description and terms to agents. Copies of letters, showing what other agents are doing, &c., sent free by the publishers.

T. ELLWOOD ZELL & COMPANY,
Nos. 17 and 19 S. Sixth street, Philadelphia.

Root & Cady,

NO. 67 WASHINGTON ST.,
CHICAGO,

MUSIC PUBLISHERS!

WHOLESALE AGENTS FOR

THE "STECK"

—AND—

Mason & Hamlin

CABINET ORGANS.

Importers and Dealers in all kinds of

Band and Orchestral Instruments,

STRINGS,

—AND—

GENERAL MUSICAL MERCHANDISE.

Publishers of "The Curriculum,"

Mr. Geo. F. Root's great work for the aid of all capable and energetic Piano and Music Teachers and their Pupils, more than ten thousand of whom already have it in use. Price, $4.50.

"The Coronet," by Geo. F. Root. New and admirable for the Convention, Singing Class and Social Circle. $12 per dozen.

"Our Song Birds," a quarterly-issued Music Book, for Day and Sabbath Schools. The fourth number, "The Dove," will be issued on the 15th instant. Price, 18 cents; $2 per dozen. Send and get a copy.

"The Song Messenger," (Musical Paper) we started over four years ago, simply as a medium of communication between us and the public, and with but little expectation of ever paying its way. Now we have over six thousand paying subscribers, and the list constantly increasing; and we invite subscriptions from all who, for sixty cents a year, would like to keep posted in regard to general musical progress, who would get more than their money's worth in new and good music, and especially all who are interested in ROOT & CADY enough to wish to know what new enterprises we are entering upon, what new Music we are issuing, what good we are trying to do, and what of success is crowning our efforts. We are told our paper is good now, but we intend to introduce some sterling improvements ere long; in fact, to make it so good that no lover of Music within our reach (and that means in the country) can afford to do without it.

ROOT & CADY.

GEO. F. ROOT. E. T. ROOT. C. M. CADY.

The Little Corporal,

Is acknowledged by the leading papers to be the Best Children's Paper in America!

Published Monthly, at One Dollar a year, (ten cents for sample copy) by

ALFRED L. SEWELL,
Circulars sent free. Chicago, Illinois

Circular Saws,

WITH EMERSON'S

Patent Movable Teeth,

REQUIRE LESS POWER,

less skill, less files—saw smoother and better—cut less kerf. The saw always retains its original size. Send for descriptive pamphlet, containing information of value to all interested in lumber, and sawing of any description.

Address, AMERIC

Glorious News,

Not from Mexico, but from the establishment of

MERRITT, MEEKER & Co

The people are just finding out that they can save from five to ten per cent in buying their Goods at the

CHEAP CASH STORE.

They have received and are still receiving every week additions to their

STOCK OF GOODS,

And are now prepared to supply the wants of all who wish to purchase anything in the line of

DRY GOODS,

YANKEE NOTIONS,
BOOTS & SHOES, HATS, CAPS
AND GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS.

Particular attention is called to their stock

Of Boots and Shoes

which they are selling at from 10 to 20 per cent lower than any other establishment this side of sunrise. All who are in doubt can be convinced by calling and examining for themselves.

You will find Wm VanCamp on hand and ready at all times to show you any goods you may please to see, and who esteems it a pleasure to wait upon customers, and he will sell for our motto is "quick sales and small profits." Remember the place one door west of Drews Hardware Store

EUREKA.

NOT CALIFORNIA WITH ALL ITS GOLD,

BUT THE PLACE TO BUY

Boots & Shoes at

Prices that suit the times, at

MC NICHOL & WILSON'S

EMPIRE

Boot & Shoe Store.

We shall keep constantly on hand a full assortment of the BEST

Work to be Found in the CALF, GOAT AND KID LASTERS, BRIGANDALS, SLIPS, And an endless variety of everything usually found in a First Class Boot & Shoe Store. Our manufacturing department will be ably conducted and all work done by us warranted to give satisfaction. Those in want of Boots or Shoes will save money by calling, and will be sure to buy, for they can't fail to "see it."

☞ Remember the place—one door east of Curtis Drug Store,

Yes, 'Tis So!--Fact.

The subscriber would respectfully inform the citizens of Tecumseh and vicinity, that they have purchased the

On Railroad st. opposite Slayton & Co's. Warehouse where they will keep constantly on hand a supply of good things people may want, such as

BEEF, PORK, MUTTON

Lamb, Veal, Corned Beef, Salt Fish of all kinds, Smoked Hams &c. &c. We intend to keep the best market ever kept in this village, and sell as reasonable as the times will allow. Call and see me,

A. S. Mathews.

Tecumseh, July, 1866.

DR. VELPAU'S FRENCH PILLS.

Ladies, take Particular Notice.

THE REAL VELPAU FEMALE PILL.

[WARRANTED FRENCH.]

THESE PILLS, so celebrated many years ago in Paris for the relief of female irregularities, and afterward so notorious for their criminal employment in the practice of abortion, are now offered for sale for the first time in America. They have been kept in comparative obscurity from the fact that the originator, Dr. Velpau, is a physician in Paris of great wealth and strict conscientious principles, and has withheld them from general use, lest they should be employed for unlawful purposes. In overcoming Female Obstructions, Falling of the Womb, Whites, Green Sickness, Suppression, Retention, or Immoderate Flow of the Monthly Discharges, they seem to be truly omnipotent, bursting open the flood-gates from whatever cause may have obstructed them; but they are offered to the public only for legitimate uses, and all agents are forbidden to sell them when it is understood that the object is unlawful. Married ladies should never take them when there is any reason to believe themselves pregnant, for they will be sure to produce a miscarriage.

These pills are entirely safe under all circumstances, being composed entirely of substances from the vegetable kingdom.

Each box has the coat of arms for the City of Paris stamped on the box, with the words "Trade Mark" in French, to counterfeit which is a misdemeanor, and all persons will be dealt with according to law.

☞ Full directions accompany every box.

Ladies can obtain a box sealed from the eyes of the curious by inclosing One Dollar and six post-office stamps to any respectable druggists, or to G. G. STAPLES, General Agent for the United States, Watertown, N. Y.

Agents,

Staiger & Pausel

PRACTICAL

Watch-Makers, Jewelers,

And Repairers of Clocks &c. &c.

J. D. Robbins' Jewelry Store, Tecumseh, Mich. Give them a call.

Farmers! Farmers!

THE

RAISIN MILLS,

is the place to get good grinding done. I pay particular attention to this branch of business,

CUSTOM GRINDING,

keep the Mill constantly in good repair and the 2nd Adam is always on hand with a pleasant smile to tend to the wants

OF MY NUMEROUS CUSTOMERS!

BRING GOOD CLEAN WHEAT, and I will warrant that Adam will give you satisfaction. SOUND

Wheat taken in store for Bread

Good White and Red Wheat Flour for sale. The highest market price paid

In Greenbacks

for good White and Amber Wheat
Mill Feed of all kinds for Sale.

SAWING DONE

for Customers on short notice. Bills of hard wood lumber sawed, and delivered if wished.

LUMBER FOR ALE

Cash paid for Saw Logs. Good hard wood slabs for sale by the load. &c. &c

I sincerely thank my numerous customers for their very liberal patronage, and shall endeavor to do as good work, and even better if possible in the future.

Woolston Comfort.

18 Pronunciemento. 66

GLOBE MILLS.

This well known and popular Mill is

Now in Good Running Order,

and prepared to do Grinding Grists for the farmers in a satisfactory manner, will endeavor to make a good yield and have the flour suit.

Old Customers

I shall be pleased to retain, and would invite others to try and see

How well we can do For them.

To such as

PREFER EXCHANGING THEIR GRAIN,

to having it ground, I shall be ready to accommodate, having always on hand a

SUPPLY OF FLOUR,

There can usually be found at the Mill for Sale
Best White Wheat Flour,
Best Red Wheat Flour,
2nd best Red Wheat Flour,
At Wholesale or Retail.
Corn Meal, Bolted and Coarse,
Fine Midlings, B. W Flour,
Ship Stuffs, B. W. Bran,
Mixed feed for horses and cattle,
Corn and Oats ground for horse f e

This Mill can more often grind, because of its unfailing

SUPPLY OF WATER,

and does more certainly have a supply of Flour and Feed always on hand, than any other mill for miles around.

Farmers are invited to bring their wheat to the Globe Mill and get THE HIGHEST MARKET PRICE.

They will always also usually find a market at the Mill for their other grains.

Wm. HAYDEN.

THUNDERATION.

Still Ahead!!

CLEAR THE TRACK!!

—FOR THE—

NEW ARRIVAL

OF

SUMMER GOODS

AT

Anderson and Larned's.

We have just returned from New York With a large and well selected stock of

STAPLE AND FANCY DRY GOODS,

consisting of

DRESS GOODS,
YANKEE NOTIONS,
BROWN & BLEECHED SHEETINGS, CLOTHS,
TRIMMINGS &c., &c.

A full assortment of HOOP SKIRTS offered at low rates. Also a fine assortment of

Crockery AND Glassware,

All our goods are

BOUGHT FOR CASH

and will be sold as cheap as can be bought in Southern Mich. Call one door east of P. O. and see for yourselves.

OF THE LARGEST

ESTABLISHMENT

In Southern michigan.

One of the best filled Establishments!

A LARGE STOCK,

Most Varied tock of Furniture

Is to be found at

G. & H. Smiths

ROOMS IN THE

NEW BUILDING,

South Side Chicago St., Tecumseh,

Great Bargains

Are now offered to wholesale or retail buyers.

Among our assortment of Furniture may be found,

Various Styles and Prices

OF SOFAS,

TETE-A-TETES,

MAHOGANY, EASY,
WOOD SEAT, CANE SEAT

AND ROCKING CHAIRS

FRENCH, COTTAGE,
COMMON AND TRUNDLE,

BEDSTEADS,

MARBLE TOP,
WRITING, CARD AND

TEA TABLES,

Wha Nots, Cradles, Bureaus, Cribs, Desks, Show Cases, Stands, Book Cases, Cupboards, Washstands, Lounges, &c. &c. &c.

Furniture made to order on short notic by the best of Workmen.

LOOKING GLASSES,

COFFINS,

We keep constantly on hand a large and full assortment of Coffins and will make to order all kinds either Night or Day, and finished and trimmed in the best style,

A Hearse Furnished when Desired.

G. SMITH,
H. SMITH.

Tecumseh, June 11th, 1863.

THE PIONEER HOMŒPATHIC

Life Insurance Company, of the United States.

THE

HAHNEMANN LIFE INS. CO.

CLEVELAND, OHIO.

PAID-UP CASH CAPITAL, $200,000 00.
RESPONSIBLE CAPITAL, $400,000 00.

All invested and secured by U. S. Bonds, Ohio State Bonds, Real Estate, and other first-class obligations.

Of this amount, $100,000 is deposited with the Treasurer of the State of Ohio, as a perpetual deposit for the security of all policy holders.

According to the laws of the State of Ohio, under which this Company is organized, each Stockholder is liable for double the amount of his shares, to secure prompt payment upon every Policy properly presented for liquidation. This Company, therefore, has a Capital of $400,000 liable for and just claim, under any Policy issued by it.

SPECIAL FEATURE { INSURANCE on the lives of HOMŒPATHISTS at rates of premium VERY MUCH LESS THAN CHARGED by other first-class COMPANIES.

This Company offers all the advantages and security of a Stock and Mutual Company combined. With the exception of a fund to provide for the final retirement of the Capital Stock, all the profits are divided among the Policy Holders.

POLICIES ARE ISSUED on The Life, Ten Year and Endowment Plan.

H. M. CHAPIN, PRES. WM. HEWITT, VICE PRES. A. S. MILLS, SEC'Y.

DIRECTORS:

H. M. CHAPIN, Mayor of Cleveland.
WM. HEWITT, Superintendent Union Line Ex. Co. Cleveland.
W. A. OTIS, Pres. Commercial Nat. Bank.
S. L. MATHER, Cleveland Iron Mining Co.
D. P. ELLS, Vice Pres. Com. Nat. Bank.
J. P. DAKE, Pres. Dover Bay Grape and Wine Company.
R. F. PAINE, Paine & Wade Attorneys,
J. G. HUSSEY, Hussey & McBride, Oil Dealers.
GEO. WORTHINGTON, Geo. Worthington & Co. Wholesale Hardware.
H. C. BLOSSOM, Wm. Bingham & Co.
CHAS. WASSON, Wasson, Everett & Co.
H. G. CLEVELAND, Cleveland, Brown & Co. Iron Merchants.
JAMES BARNETT, Geo. Worthington & Co. Wholesale Hardware.
A. S. SANFORD, Pres. French River & North Shore Mining Co's.
H. E. PARSONS, Ashtabula.

A. PELHAM, Agent, Tecumseh, Mich.

GALLAHER & MORRIS, State Agts. East Saginaw, Mich.

BARRETT'S

THE

BEST VEGETABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE BR

ON THIS CONTINENT

AND

THE NE PLUS ULTRA — THE PEOPLE'S CHOICE

IS SO PRONOUNCED BY THE most scientific Analytical Chemists.

It Restores Gray Hair to its Natural Color.
It Promotes the growth of the Hair.
It Prevents Hair Falling Out.
It Changes the Roots to their Original Organic Action.
It Eradicates Dandruff and Humors.
It Keeps the Scalp Healthy.
It Contains no Injurious Ingredient.

And is generally accorded to be

A SPLENDID DRESSING.

ITS MERITS

Are Inside the Bottle.

Every bottle contains MORE LIQUID than any other dollar preparation. NO LARGE REWARDS offered to establish its efficacy, but we DO GUARANTEE to refund the money to any person who will use two bottles and then say that our restorative has failed to do all we claim.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Our J. R. BARRETT is the first and only man who discovered the art of combining a HAIR RESTORATIVE with a DRESSING, of which there are now many imitations in the market, yet none but BARRETT'S are Original.

J. R. BARRETT & CO., Proprietors,
MANCHESTER, N. H.

FARRAND, SHELEY & CO.,

DETROIT.

General Agents for Michigan.

DENTISTRY

DR. A. PELHAM,

Resident Dentists.

Office over Fisher & Baker's Drug Store, Chicago St.

TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN.

☞ All branches of Dentistry performed in the neatest possible manner and at Reasonable Prices

We would respectfully inform the citizens of Tecumseh and vicinity that we opened a

MEAT MARKET,

at McGee's old stand in Bidwell's warehouse where we shall keep on hand everything in our line that the market affords, of the best quality that can be had.

We have also made arrangements for the manufacture of SOFT SOAP, which will be sold at reasonable rates. Ashes and grease taken in exchange and Soap delivered when requested.

Thankful for past favors, we cordially invite our friends to give us a call. All orders left at the Market will be promptly attended to. W. TAYLOR & CO.

$1,500 PER YEAR. We want agents everywhere to sell our IMPROVED $20 Sewing Machines. Three new kinds. Under and upper feed. Sent on trial. Warranted five years. Above salary or large commissions paid. The only machines sold in the United States for less than $40, which are fully licensed by Howe, Wheeler & Wilson, Grover & Baker, Singer & Co, and Bachelder. All other cheap machines are infringements and the seller or user are liable to arrest, fine and imprisonment. Illustrated circulars sent free. Address, or call upon Shaw & Clark, at Biddeford, Maine, or Chicago, Ill.

ROYAL HAVANA LOTTERY OF CUBA

Conducted by the Spanish Government,

$350,000

IN GOL RAWN EVERY 17 DAYS

Prizes cashed and information furnished, the highest rates paid for Doubloons and all kinds of Gold and Silver, also for all government Securities.

TAYLOR & CO., Bankers, 16 wall st. N. Y.
n790lysmp

Ditchers take Notice.

The Drain Commissioners of Lenawee County will meet on the east side of section 12 on the lands of Levi Fowler, in the township of Adrian, on Saturday the 1st day of September next, at 9 o'clock A. M., for the purpose of letting jobs on a drain commencing on section 12 and extending to section 24 of Adrian Township. Said jobs will be let to the lowest bidder in sections to suit contractors.

By order of the Drainage Commissioners.

JUSTUS LOWE, Secretary.

Ridgeway, Aug. 7th, 1866.

THE CONFESSIONS AND EXPERIENCE OF AN INVALID.

Published for the benefit and as a CAUTION TO YOUNG MEN and others, who suffer from Nervous Debility, Premature Decay of Manhood, &c., supposing at the same time the means of Self-Cure. By one who has cured himself after undergoing considerable quackery. By enclosing a post-paid, addressed envelope, single copies, free of charge, may be had of the author.

NATHANIEL MAYFAIR, Esq., Brooklyn,
n790lysmp Kings Co, N. Y.

THAT'S RIGHT,

We Have It!!

VARIETY.

We would respectfully announce to the good people of Tecumseh and vicinity that

HIALEY & WALTERS

Have now on hand a large and well selected stock of

FAMILY GROCERIE

Which they are offering very low. They have in connection with their Grocery a

BAKERY,

and having secured the services of a first class Baker, are now prepared to furnish all, with Bread, Crackers, Pies, Cakes &c. They have furnished rooms over their store for the sale of

ICE-CREAM, LEMONADE &c

and by strict attention to business, they hope to please all who patronize

L. DREW'S

NEW HARDWARE!!

Having received from New York and other eastern cities a large Stock of the following goods viz:

STOVES IN ENDLESS VARITY!

Iron, Steel Nails, Cutlery, Putty, Glass. Window Sashes,

House Trimmings,

Carpenter's Tools, Farming Tools Coopers Tools and Chain Pumps, Bolts, and a Variety of SHELF GOODS,

PURCHASED FOR CASH Before THE LATE ADVANCE,

They are offered for sale at prices which defy competition. All kinds of

Tin ware

constantly on hand and made to order of the best material and by experienced workmen, also

Copper, Sheet Iron, and Zinc,

Also the Good Samaritan COOKING STOVE, one of the best stoves in the country.

M. WRIGHT

Keeps constantly on kand, a large and choice assortment of

Drugs and Medicines,

PAINTS, OILS, VARNISHES,
FANCY GLASS WARE,
KEROSENE OIL GROCERY,

WALL PAPER,

PERFUMERY &c.

Also, agent for all the popular

PATENT MEDICINES,

ALCOHOL, Pure WINES, LIQUORS AND SPICES,

Also, a good selection of

FREH GROCERIES,

Physicians' Prescriptions carefully compounded and all orders answered.

Medicines warranted genuine and of the best quality and sold at the lowest cash prices.

The Southern Michigan

MANUFACTORY!

IN FULL BLAST!

T. Cummins, Proprietor,

Would announce to the citizens of Lenawee Co, that he is still located in the Brick Shop on Railroad Street, Where he is now turning out the

Nicest, Best and Strongest,

WAGONS, CARRIAGES, SLEIGHS, BUGGIES, CUTTERS,

and in fact everything in his line from a baby cart to a large Omnibus. His prices are such as defy competition. So call and leave your orders.

☞ Job Printing in all its various branches neatly and promptly executed at this office.—Our charges are moderate.—Try us.

GO TO THE

LONGESTABLISHED

Head Quarters, for

Groceries & Provisions,

A. JAMES

Is happy to inform his patrons and the public in general that he has heavily replenished his stock of Goods, to which he invites the attention of those in search of

Good Articles

AT FAIR PRICES.

His stock embraces about every article known in his line of trade—

SWEETS, SOURS & SPICES, SNUFF, SOAP & CIGARS,

Confectionery Candles,

FRUIT AND FISH

Stone and Wooden Ware,

&c.

He continues to pay the highest market price for all kinds of Farmers Produce.

His stock embraces all kinds, under the ollowing heads:

MOLASSES,
SOAP, FISH,
SUGAR, SYRUP,
COFFEE, SPICES,
AMMUNITION, CANDIES,
CANDLES, TOBACCO,
FRUITS, SAUCES,
BURNING OILS.

OUR MOTTO IS,

Never to be Undersold.

Sorghum Men Attention!

LOOK AT THE CANE MACHINERY.

At Slayton, Tindall & Co's Warehouse.

New Styles of Mills, Evaporators and Horse Powers, never before introduced in Michigan. Patented by Powers & Stevens, of Wisconsin, and successfully and extensively used in the Western States.

Vertical and Horizontal MILLS,

of all sizes, of great strength and capacity, with patent adjustable rubber springs.

VAPORATORS

divided into sections with instantly movable partitions over fire chamber, which is also divided into sections, and heat regulated by Patent Dampers, at will Also Saccharometers and tools for full setts of Camp Implements for the manufacture of syrup & sugar

KIRBY Mower & Reaper,
BUCK EYE Mower & Reaper
CAYUGA CHIEF, Mower & Reaper,
" " No. 2 "
EUREKA Mower & Reaper,
EXCELSIOR Mower & Reaper,
NEW YORKER Mower & Reaper,
BALL Mower & Reaper,
HUBBARD Mower, QUAKER Mower,

Any other style Mower or Reaper you want can be had of SLAYTON, TINDALL & CO

The Buckeye, Riding, Corn and Fallow Cultivator. The Stafford, Riding, Corn and Fallow Cultivator. 1, 2, and 3 shovel, one horse Corn Cultivators. Corn Plows. L. Green's Patent Peekskill Plows. Curtis' Plows, the genuine, from Mr. Curtis' own shop, For Sale by

SLAYTON, TINDALL & Co

CURTIS & PARSONS

(DEALERS IN)

Having become proprietors of the well known establishment in Bidwell's Block on Chicago Street, would respectfully announce to the citizens of Tecumseh and vicinity, that they are prepared to supply them with everything in the line of Hardware, Tin ware, Iron, Nails, Chains, Cutlery, Bells, Seelf goods Glass, Cradles, Scythes, Forks, Rakes, Carpenter's tools, Doors, Axes, Hoes Cistren Pumps, Putty, Spades and Shovels, Chains, Ropes and every article usually kept in like establishments.

Especial attention is called to the large assortment of Cook and Parlor Stoves & Fixtures, which they have a large variety, embracing all the latest improvements, We have also a Tin-Shop in opperation, for manufacturing & repairing all kinds of Tin, Copper and Sheet Iron Ware Stove-pipe, Eave Troughs, Milk-Pans, Dippers, Cups, Oil-Cans, and every conceivable article, from a Large Dish Pan down to a Tin whistle. We are sole agents for the Universal Clothes Wringer, for this vicinity.

GEO. CURTIS. WM. A. PARSONS.

Drs Jackson, Herbert & co.

15 Greatest Medical Circular Ever Published! Fifteen cents in large letter pages for two 3 cent stamps. 15

Prof. ROBERT JACKSON, ROBERT HERBET, M. D. DR EUGENE VELPEAU, JR.
THE NATIONAL DISPENSTRY,
Established 1859.

Six years of unrivalled success in the cure of every form of private disease incident to either sex.

Science and fair dealing victorious over Empiricism and fraud.

We infallibly cure Syphillis, Gleet, Gonorrhœa Impotency Nocturnal and Diurnal Emissions, Complaints peculiar to females, and every form of private disease of whatever name or nature Spermatorrhoa or Self-Abuse, that curse of Modern Manhood easily and speedily cured and every trace of its terrible effects eradicated from the system, without detention from business.—Young men bear this in mind, that we are in possession of the Secret Receipts and methods of practice of Culverwell, Lallemand, Hunter, Velpeau, Sen., Ricord and other great lights in modern medical science; for it is a fact of the very greatest importance, and we would ask any man of average common sense how can the thousand and one shallow pretenders hope to compete with us?

Ye unfortunates, ere trusting your health and money to heartless charlatans, at least write to Drs. Jackson, Herbert & Co., who will at once return you a kind, discreet and explicit answer. Ladies write for our circular.

Dr. Jackson's Female Monthly Pills, for a safe and effectual remedy for all irregularities and obstructions, from whatever cause. Price $1 per box, or four for $5 00.

The Mountain of light or medical protector and Marriage Guide, and an Explicit Key to Love and Beauty. Containing 300 plates.—☞ This is THE book you want price 50 cents: 3 for $1.

Send for our splendid Circular containing more in quantity and of far superior quality to any of the so called "pamphlets." Remember that we send a written reply to every letter, especially adapted to the particular case under consideration, because in the nature of things each case differs from every other.

DR JACKSON'S ORIENTAL LINIMENT removes all coldness and disability, and rejuvenates organs which have lain dormant for many years.

DR. JACKSON'S FRENCH PATENT MALE SAFE,

It is perfectly safe and never fails to give satisfaction. It is the only sure and safe preventative against contracting disease ever invented. Price $1 each, per half dozen $4, and per dozen $7, sent by mail.

Inebriates or Moderate Drinkers who desire to reform, but have found it difficult to refrain, can wholly eradicate all desire for any kind of liquor, by using Dr Herbert's Anti-Alcoholic Compound, an unfailing remedy for intemperance; write for articulars.

Medicine and instructions sent promptly to any part of the country; consulting Rooms of the Dispensary, No. 167 Vine street Cincinnati, O. P. O. Box, 4365

Send for a circular.

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the condition of a certain Mortgage made by Thomas Horan and Sarah Horan his wife mortgagors, to Ambrose S. Berry mortgagee, bearing date the fifteenth day June in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and fifty-nine and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the county of Lenawee and State of Michigan, on the 15th day of June 1859 in Liber 28, of mortgages on pages 769 and 770 on which said mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice, fifty-nine dollars and eighty-nine cents and no suit or proceedings at law having been instituted to recover the same or any part thereof. Notice is therefore given that on the 17th day of November 1866, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the front door of the old Methodist Church in the city of Adrian in said county of Lenawee, that being the place for holding the Circuit Court for the county of Lenawee, I shall sell at public auction or vendue to the highest bidder the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof, as may be necessary to satisfy the amount due on said mortgage at the date of this notice with interest and the costs and expenses allowed by law together with the attorneys fee as provided in said mortgage, that is to say—all that tract or parcel of land situate in the city of Adrian, in the county of Lenawee and State of Michigan, described as follows: Village (now city) lots one (1) and two (2) on Block number thirteen (13) for a more particular discription reference being had to the Plat of the village (now city) of Adrian as recorded in the Registers office of Lenawee County aforesaid.

AMBROSE S. BERRY, Mortgagee.

WM. L. GREENLY, Attorney for Mortgagee.

Dated Aug. 14th, 1866.

Executors Sale.

In the matter of the estate of Gamaliel J. Harrington deceased.

By virtue of a license of sale to me granted by the Judge of Probate of the county of Lenawee I will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, at the dwelling house of the undersigned in the town of Ridgeway in Lenawee County on the 20th day of September 1866 at ten o'clock in the forenoon all those tracts or parcels of land situate in the town of Ridgeway, County of Lenawee and State of Michigan, known, described and bounded viz. Commencing at the South east corner of lands now owned by George W. Jackson in said town of Ridgeway, at a point on the west side of the Ridge Road on the northern boundary line of lands deeded to Gamaliel J. Harrington by Christopher Barrett, on the 11th day of March 1864 running thence westerly along said boundary line north 61° west 11 rods; thence southerly parallel with said Ridge Road 7 rods; thence easterly parallel with first discribed line to the western boundary of said Ridge Road 11 rods; thence northerly along the west side of said Road seven (7) rods to the place of beginning containing 77 rods of land—also, the south east quarter of the north east quarter of section three (3) being 40 acres of land Terms made knewn on day of sale. CAROLINE HARRINGTON.

Executrix &c.

Dated Ridgeway, July 31st, 1866.

Hear Ye! Hear Ye!!

Do you want the best Card pictures in this section.

Do you want those gems of art, Opatotypes or Porcelains? Do you want work warranted? Do you want to suit yourselves? Do you want the best that Art affords? Then go to Powers rooms over the P. O. Tecumseh, Michigan, and you can find FIRST CLASS WORK, of every description. He is bound not to be out-done in any branch of the business. Pictures of any size done to order in INDIA-INK, WATER or OIL COLORS, on short notice and in the best style

Persons having small Negatives which they like can have pictures made from them life size or smaller as they choose and finished in India-ink water or oil colors. Give him a call and examine his work. You will find him gentlemanly, courteous and ever ready to oblige. He is bound to give satisfaction to all. No poor work allowed to leave the rooms. He has the best instruments known and acknowledged to be such by all superior Artists. One half of the pictures that took the premium at the last County Fair, over A. J. Hoags name, were of Powers make. Do you want proof, call and examine. Powers has served three years in the army, and deserves the patronage of the public. You will find him prompt, active and always at his place of business.

$90 A MONTH!—Agents wanted for six entirely new articles, just out. Address O. T. GAREY, City Building, Biddeford, Me.

The Tecumseh Herald.

C. M. BURLINGAME, Publisher. "The Constitution, the Union, and the Enforcement of the Laws." Terms per year $2 00 in Advance.

VOL. XVII. NO. 18. TECUMSEH MICHIGAN, THURSDAY EVENING, SEPTEMBER 27, 1866. WHOLE NO. 828.

Now Ready!
New Fall and Winter Goods!

MERRITT, MEEKER & Co
North side Chicago St

Mr. Wm. Van Camp having just returned from the City of New York, we are now prepared to submit to the inspection, the largest and best ever offered in the Village of Tecumseh.

SELECTED STOCK OF GOODS

Having purchased the same from first hands for cash. We are thereby enabled to offer special Inducements to our patrons. And not only be able to maintain but largely increase our reputation for having the largest, best assortment and cheapest stock of Goods west of New York City.

CONSISTING OF

Foreign & Domestic Dry Goods
FANCY DRESS GOODS.
Yankee Notions and Hosiery!
HATS & CAPS,
GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS,
Broadcloths, Cassimeres, Over Coatings, Vestings and Cloakings, Plain and Fancy Flannels, Ladies' and Gents' Furs, Hoods, Nubias,
Breakfast Shawls, Buffalo Robes, Gloves, Mittens, &c. &c.

Special atten is called to our CLOTH DEPARTMENT. As we have a large assortment of Eastern Cloths, and having the exclusive sale of Cloths manufactured at the Ypsilanti Woolen Mills, we are prepared to sell as low as any one in Southern Michigan.

WANTED.
ALL THE TORN
RAGGED
AND MUTILATED
GREENBACKS
AND
POSTAGE CURRENCY
In the County, at par value in exchange for which I offer my
ENTIRE STOCK,
Comprising the largest and finest assortment of
BOOKS & STATIONERY
GOLD PENS, CUTLERY, ALBUMS,
SHEET MUSIC,
BLANK BOOKS, PAPER COLLARS
YANKEE NOTIONS
&c., &c.,
IN NORTHERN LENAWEE

At prices that defy COMPETITION.

Rush in the Rags, no matter how badly torn or soiled. Remember the place, in the Post-Office Building.
G. T. Ketcham.

P. S.—I shall continue taking Greenbacks and Postage Currency not mutilated, as heretofore, until further notice.

J. D. ROBBINS
(Successor to ROBBINS & DEWOLF
DEALER IN
CLOCKS, WATCHES,
FINE JEWELRY,
SPECTACLES,
WALL PAPER.
SCHOOL BOOKS,
FANCY GOODS,
YANKEE NOTIONS,
TOYS, ETC., &c.

I will sell any of the above goods as
Cheap or Cheaper than any other dealer in the country, and
WARRANT
all goods sold as good as recommended.

CASH FOR RAGS!

J. D. Robbins.
TECUMSEH, - - - - - - - MICHIGAN.

NEW GOODS,
PRICES DOWN!
H. C. CONKLING
Would call the attention of the public to his new stock of
CHOICE GROCERIES
Just purchased in New York at the
RECENT DECLINE,
which he offers for sale
CHEAP.

All Goods warranted to give satisfaction. Cash paid for Produce, as usual,
5000 Firkins
Of Butter Wanted!!

Butter firkins to put out to be filled:—☞ Call and see those choice Teas: Don't forget, the old stand of Ketcham & Conkling.
H. C. CONKLING.
Tecumseh, May 7th, 1866.

$90 A MONTH!—Agents wanted for six entirely new articles, just out. Address O. T. GAREY, City Building, Biddeford, Me.

TECUMSEH TIME TABLE

GOING SOUTH.

Mail and Express,	6:50 A. M.
Day Express,	1:55 P. M.
Freight,	5:05 P. M.

GOING NORTH.

Mail and Express,	2:49 P M.
Evening Express,	9:32 P. M.
Freight,	8:08 A. M.

Business Directory.

TEMPLE & MURRAY
Carpenters and Joiners, Manufacturers of Doors, Sash, Blinds, Gates &c.
S. W. Temple's Shop, Tec. Mich.

A. HOOD & CO.
Dealers in Hats, Caps and Clothing, &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

GEORGE HEESEN,
Dealer in Ready Made Clothing, &c.
One door west of the Bank.
Chicago st. Tecumseh. mich

TRIBOU & BIDWELL BRO'S.
Dealers in Dry Goods, Groceries, &c. &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh. Mich.

WARD & STRICKLAND,
Dealers in Dry Goods, Groceries Ready Made Clothing &c. &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

RICHARD C. MOORE.
Dealer in Dry Goods, Fancy Goods &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

MERRITT, MEEKER & CO,
Dealers in Dry Goods and Fancy Goods
Chicago street, Tecumseh, Mich,

ALFRED JAMES,
Dealer in Groceries, Confectionaries, &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

HENRY C. CONKLING.
Dealer in Groceries Provisions, &c., &c
Chicago St. Tecumseh, M.

MOSES WRIGHT,
Dealer in Drugs, Medicines, Toilets, &c.
Chicao St: Tecumseh, Mich.

P. N. CURTIS.
Dealer in Drugs, Paints, Oils, & Notions.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

FISHER & BAKER,
Dealers in Drugs, Medicines, Paints &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

GOULD & WALDO,
Dealers in Drugs, Groceries &c.
Chicago St, - - Tecumseh, Mich.

EDWIN B. WOOD.
Attorney, Counsellor, and Notary Public.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

C. A. STACY,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law, &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

BILLS & BAXTER,
Attorney's, Councellor's and Solicitors.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

McNAIR & HEWITT,
Justice's of the Peace, Ihsurance Agents.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

CURTIS & PARSONS,
Dealers in Hardware, Tubs, Pails, &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich:

Hong & Stevens,
Dealer in Boots, Shoes, Leather &c., &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

Henry Nyland,
Dealer in Boots & Shoes & Leather.
One door west of Bank, Tecumsch.

EMLAY & COURTER
Dealers in Saddles, Harness and Leather.
Chicago St Tecumseh, Mich.

HORACE BREWER.
Steam Engine and Machine Founder.
Railroad St. Tecumseh, Mach.

SLAYTON, TINDALL & CO.,
Dealers in
Produce and Agricultural Implements.
Railroad St. Tecumseh, Mich.

J. D. ROBBINS,
Dealer in Jewelry, Clocks and Notions.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

G. T. KETCHAM.
Bookseller, Newsdealer and Stationer.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

WOOLSTON COMFORT.
Raisin, Flouring, Grist and Saw Mills
Tecumseh, Michigaa

H. B. MATHIAS,
Dealer in Tobacco, Cigars, and Pipes.
Chicago St Tecumseh, Mich,

W. K. POWERS & CO,
Photographs, Ambrotypes and Albums,
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

MRS. C. M. BISSELL,
Photograph and Ambrotype Artist, &c.
Pearl & Chicago St's. Tec. Mich.

G. & H. SMITH,
Dealers in Furniture and Upholstery.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

DR. A. PELHAM,
Surgical and Mechanical Dentist,
Chicago St - - Tecumseh, Mich.

DR. E. HAUSE,
Surgical, and Mechanical Dentist,
Chicago St. Opposite P. Office.

NATIONAL HOTEL,
Chicago Street, Tecumseh, Michigan,
MERRITT & BURGHER - Proprietors.

HIRAM WESCOTT,
Paper Hanging, Whitewashing, &c., &c
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

EXCHANGE HOTEL
Railroad St. - - - Tecumseh, Mich.
D. FISH, Proprietor.

The Tecumseh Herald.

C. M. BURLINGAME,
Publisher and Proprietor.

Local and Miscellaneous.

Rates of Advertising.
(One inch of column constitutes a square,)

	1 wk	3 wk	3 m	6 m	1 yr
1 Square	$1 00	$ 2.00	$ 6.00	$ 7.50	$10,00
2 Squares	1,75	3.50	8,00	12,00	15 00
3 Squares	2.75	5.00	11.00	16 00	20.00
¼ Column	5.00	9.00	12.00	18.00	25.00
½ Column	7.50	12.00	18,00	25.00	36.00
Column	12,00	15,00	20,00	35,00	60,00

☞ No advertisement considered less than one square. Transcient advertisements must be paid for in advance. Advertisements unaccompanied with directions for tiffe number of insertions, will be continued until ordered out, and charged accordingly. Business cards of five lines, or less, inserted on 3.50 per year.

☞ Work neatly executed at this office. Charges reasonable

Grand Trunk Railway.
The Cheapest, Quickest, and Safest route
TO THE EAST.

Tickets to all the Eastern cities and intermediate places for sale at this office.

☞ Alf. James and Hinley & Walters are now receiving fresh Oysters.

☞ See the new advertisement of D. W. C. Hardy & Co. in another column.

☞ Hon. F. C. Beaman will address the "Boys in Blue" at Bidwell's Hall, this evening.

☞ There will be preaching, as usual, at the Universalist Church, next Sabbath at one o'clock p. m.

FAIR POSTPONED.—The Wasntenaw county fair has been postponed and will be held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 9, 10 and 11.

☞ Cotton Batting, Cotton Yarn, Lamp Wick, Flag Warp and Cotton Twine prepared especialy for Carpets, for sale at Tribou & Bidwell Bro's.

☞ Go to Tribou & Bidwell Bro's. for Plain and Fancy Cassimers, silk mixed Coatings, Cimella Sadin and Castor Beavers.

☞ It cannot be denied, that the largest and best selected stock of Dry Goods, ever brought to Tecumseh, can be found at Tribou & Bidwell Bro's.

☞ The M. E. Conference, lately in session at Hudson, resolved "that the only Scriptural and reasonable safeguard against premeditated murder is the capital punishment of the perpetrator.

☞ Both Brown Sheeting and Bleeched Goods are lower; but only at Tribou & Bidwell Bro's. Cheap Cash Store.

☞ A. Hood has just returned from New York, bringing with him a large stock of Ready Made Clothing which will be sold at very low figures. If you are in want of anything in the line of Gents' Furnishing Goods call on Hood and he will sell to you as cheap as you can buy it east of New York. Advertisement next week.

☞ For the purpose of making an examination of all persons who may offer themselves as candidates for Teachers of the Primary schools of this township, the board of School Inspectors, thereof, will meet at Union School Hall, in this village on Saturday afternoon, Oct. 6th 1866, at 3 o'clock.

☞ The 17th Annual Fair of the Lenawee Co. Agricultural Society commences on Thursday, Oct. 11th and lasts three days. A larger list of Premiums is offered this year than ever before, and every arrangements for a successful exhibition has been made by the officers. All that now remains is for the Farmers and Mechanics of the county to turn out and bring whatever of merit they have to show.

Ann Arbor.

The autumn term of the department of science, literature and the arts of the University of Michigan commenced on Wednesday, Sept. 19th. The number of new students is much larger than in any previous year.

The term in the law and medical departments commences October 1st. The students in these departments are already coming in, and the prospect is, that the number of students in all the departments will be much larger than ever before.

The regular meeting of the board of regents of the university wil be held in Ann Arbor this week, commencing Tuesday, September 25.

Public Lectures.

We are pleased to learn that the subject of having lectures here during the coming winter is being discussed by our citizens generally, and that the feeling is quite unanimous in favor of it. This is a good move—we second the motion.

THE STATE FAIR.

The Michigan State Fair in Adrian last week, was, on account of the rains a partial failure, although as a whole the show of articles was much better than might reasonably have been anticipated. Never, within the memory of the oldest inhabitant has there been such a storm as has visited Michigan during the past two weeks. Tuesday, the first day of the fair, it rained hard all day: Wednesday, it cleared up about the middle of the forenoon, and the grounds and buildings were well filled with articles for exhibition, and if the Clerk of the weather had then only postponed his next rainy day until Saturday, the fair would have been a decided success. But the fates had otherwise decreed; for Thursday proved to be the worst day of the week, and gave the whole exhibition such a complete drenching, that it could not recover from its effects. Friday and Saturday were both pleasant days but it was too late. The crowd did not attend. The numbers however were very respectable on the two last days. An estimate of the comparative numbers in attendance last year and this can be gathered from this fact. Last year on the two final days, the trains on the Jackson Branch numbered from 25 to 30 heavily loaded cars; while on the same days this year, but six or eight were needed to carry all visitors to the fair. The same comparison will hold good with reference to other portions of the Southern Railroad. We would wish, did time and space permit to give our readers an extended notice of the Exhibition, but we must satisfy ourselves with a very brief sketch of its most prominent attractions. And first in order will be Floral Hall. This had been enlarged by the officers of the Society and very handsomely decorated by the ladies of Adrian, in a manner, which reflected great credit upon their taste and ingenuity. In fact the interior of the Floral Hall was the finest that we have ever seen at any State fair. Within the Hall were exhibited all the different kinds and styles of musical instruments, brought there from Detroit, Jackson, Toledo and other firms, Sewing machines in endless variety—flowers of nnmberless hues and color, fancy and ornamental work of all kinds—specimens of penmanship from the different Business Colleges—a large number of paintings and specimens of Photographs, among which we saw a fine collection from the Gallery of C. H. Hopkins of this place, who by the received a premium for the best large-sized photograph finished in oil color—and various other fancy and costly articles too numerous to mention. In the Hall of Demestic Manufactories, the display was good, though not equal to last year. What attracted the most attention was a patent Cow Milking machine, invented by some Yankee of course—there was the usual number of patent churns. Some fine specimens of Sorghum sugar and several chesses from the Fairfield Cheese Factory. The show of fruit was as a whole, in advance of that last season. The cattle sheds contained some fine stock, although the show in this line was inferior to that of last year, while the show of poultry, sheep and hogs was very meagre. Still there were some good specimens exhibited in each of these classes.

Among the cattle we noticed some fine ones exhibited by Ed Smith, of Clinton, who has so long furnished such a large share of the attractions of agricultural exibition in this department. Mr. Curtis, of Addison, exhibited some splendid short-horns, from his celebrated herd, some of which were recent additions from mr. Alexander's Kentucky herds. Col. Wood exhibited the peer-cows Zenobia and Princes, whose reputation among herdsmen equals that of Dexter and Butler on the turf. Various other notables of the herd were entered, but we did not see them on the ground.

But the greatest attraction of the fair was the trot on the last day between the celebrated trotting horses Dexter and Patchen. The race came off as announced and Dexter was victorious, winning the two straight heats in 2 35, 2:27 1-2 and 2:31 1-2 respectively. The time was not as good as was expected, but owing to the rains, the track was very heavy.

Old Lenawee fully maintained her reputation as an Agricultural County, as can be easily proved by referring to the books of the Secretary of the Society, and did her full share towards rendering the exhibition a success.

We have collected a few of the names of exhibitors from this county in some of the departments, as follows:

Among the exhibitors of horses we find the names of G. L. Bidwell, Isaac Hayward, Walter Wright, J. Henderson, H Sickles, P. L. Bailey, George R. Armstead, S. J. Bailey, P. L, Brown, H. H. Taber, T. P. Randall, H. M. Purinton, W. S. Wilcox, Charles Basset, C. Bidwell, S. A. Todd, J. A. Foster, A. Ehle, E. Young, Ira Buck, N. Sparhawk, C. Mitchell, A. S. Berry, A. Maxwell, W. Morris, C. E. Weaver, H. B. Rice, W. Owen, and Messrs Mace & Kennedy, all from Adrian, town and city. From the balance of the county we notice the names of D. C. Blair, Tecumseh, C. C. Croger, Cambribge, John Whitbeck, Hudson, H. P. Combs, and David Sharer, Rome Center, B. C Mabee, Fairfield U. Smith, Cambridge, E and John Gray, C Bidwell, C H. Adam, Merritt & Burgher, and B. J. Ridwell, Tecumseh, J. H G. Mead and G. W. Bliven, Blissfield, and J. C. Phillips, Fairfield.

In neat cattle a considerable proportion of the exhibitors are from Adrian and this county, among which we note Messrs, A. W. Bradish, H. L. Brown, H. H. Tabor, S. A. Todd, J. G. McClenathah, Mace and Kenney, J. A. Foster, and J. W. Helme from Adrian, and Messrs. B. J. Bidwell and B. Kelly from Tecumseh.

In the exibition of sheep the county is represented by S. H. Todd, of Adrian, A. J. Hunter and B. J. Bidwell, Tecumseh,

In poultry the exhibitors are nearly all from this county. We no i e mong the names those of Messrs. J. W. Helme, A. S. Berry, W. M. Jones, L. G. Bird, L. Frank, G. R. Armstead and S. M. Babcock, of Adrian, Messrs. B. J. Bidwell, J. page and H. M. Blair, Tecumseh, and Mr. Scott Mason, of Fairfield.

Manufacturing.

Upon factories and manufacturing depends much of the success and prosperity of villages. We have often urged the importance of such institutions in this place, believing that their location here would do much to aid the prosperity of our flourishing village it is not trade alone that builds up and sustains a town. Manufactures aid it very much. We have a railroad and are blessed with a good location, a very large trade, and all the elements that go to make a large and thriving village. All we lack is manufacturing establishments. These we can obtain easily, if a move is made in the matter. A little enterprise will bring about establishments of this kind. All that is wanted here to start the thing is, for some of our citizens to take hold of the matter and lead off. The people wo'd be ready to unite their means and efforts in an undertaking that is perfectly safe and of so much advantage to our village The advance of property on the erection of such establishments in this place wou'd be more than cost. We ask our property holders and business men to be wise in time, and not wait until every village in the State has such institutions.

Weddings.

The following list of "commemorate wedding" is interesting to both old and young: The wedding is the "love wedding" at the end of the first month; the end of the honeymoon is the "sugar wedding;" two years after marriage is the "paper wedding"; the fifth anniversary is the "wooden wedding;" the tenth the "tin wedding;" the fifteenth the "crystal wedding;" the twentieth the "china wedding;" the twenty-fifth the "silver wedding;" the fiftieth the "golden wedding;" the seventy-fifth the "diamond wedding." These various anniversary celebrations are becomming very common in America, and they are very pleasant occasions.

Married.

In this village on Wednesday, Sept. 26th, by Rev. J. H. Burnham, Mr. Silas W. Saddler and Miss Maggie E. Aker, both of this village.

In the Presbyterian Church, in this village on Wednesday Sept. 26th, at one o'clock p. m., by Rev. S Ellis Wishard, Prof. E. J. WILBUR, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y. and Miss ANNA BELL, daughter of Wm Graves, of Franklin.

At the National Hotel, in this village on the 23d inst, by Rev. J. H. Burnham Mr. Jacob Rapp and Miss Hulda S. Smalley, both of Fairfield.

In this village, on Sept. 21st, by C. Hewitt, Esq., Mr. Asahel Hubbard, of Hope, Barry Co, and Miss Mary Jones, of this village.

In East Saginaw, Sept. 11th, at the residence of the bride's father, by Rev. H. L. Merehouse, Mr. Wilbur F. Sharpe, formerly of Ridgeway, and Miss Lizzie English.

Song of Moore.

In the same old quarters;
Where so many years I've stood,
Where you will find me, now as ever,
With a large New Stock of Goods;
Every style, and every pattern,
That, the seasons can demand,
Silks and Cotton goods and Notions,
For the folks of Michigan.

Every style of Ladies' Dress Goods,
Sure to please our lady friends,
Cloaks, Mantles, Sacques and Basquines,
Also Cloths, for gentlemen.
Mourning Goods for Fall and Winter,
Shawls, to keep the ladies warm,
Won't you call and see our Flannels?
The best assortment in this town.

Towels, Napkins, Gloves, and Hosiery,
Every style, and every price,
Table Spreads, and Table Linen,
And you'll find them very nice.
Then just look! Our terms and prices,
Both of which are easily read,
Selling Dry Goods is our business,
And by this we earn our bread.

New Prints and new Sheetings,
Batts and Wicks, in great store,
Are for sale at low figures,
By Richard C. Moore.
Cash invariably on delivery,
That's our motto! And you'll find,
That you'll buy your goods much cheaper,
Than you would, if bought on TIME.

A Stupendous Project.

Chicago is becoming celebrated for its great public works, greatest of all of which is the lake tunnel, now in course of construction. The latest proposition is to extend a park around the three land sides of the city. The land to be taken will include sufficient for a park, a drive on both sides of it and also enough for building lots on both sides of the park. The magnitude of this project will be seen at once. It would afford the finest drives park and building sites on the continent.

☞ Tribou & Bidwell Bro's. have all the new and desirable styles of Dress Goods and Trimmings, also Ladies Cloths, Cloakings and under Garments.

TECUMSEH, Mich.
RECORDER'S OFFICE, Sept. 24, 1866.

At this special session the Council convened at the usual hour—present the entire Council except Mr. Ames.

The Record of last meeting was read and approved as correct.

The street Committee to whom had been referred the inspection of the bridge over Evans Creek near Cemetery and the location of a crosswalk across Pottawatamie street, asked that further time be allowed them to report on same. Time extended accordingly.

Two propositions for building brick "Lock Up" were read by the Recorder and on motion laid on the table until next regular meeting of this Council.

The Marshall reported that the necessary lumber having been obtained he would forthwith proceed to repair sidewalks as required by resolution of this Board, Aug. 6th, 1866.

The following accounts were presented and referred to the Committee on claims and accounts:

For services as Policmen, on the night of 3d, and day and night of the 4th of July last:—Ira Pennock, $5,00; James Warren, $5,00; A. L. Chapman, $5,00; A. Hyde, $5,00.

Whereupon said Committee reported, recommending said accounts be allowed, and upon motion, the Recorder was instructed to draw orders on Treasury for same.

The following was adopted by this Council:

Whereas, Peter R. Adams, Esq., has proposed to execute a Quit Claim Deed to the People of the village of Tecumseh, of all his claim and interest to the Public Ground, described on the original Plat as lot No. 2, and usually known as the Court House Square, on the acceptance of the following conditions, viz:

1. The land shall always remain an unobstructed public square—a place for the recreation and amusement of the people—under such regulations for its preservation in good order, and for its ornamentation as the Common Council shall from time to time order and ordain.

2. The Common Council shall advertise, giving thirty or more days notice in the newspapers, to sell at auction, the Court House, to be removed from the Square, to the highest and best bidder; the purchase money to be secured payable when needed for the purpose herein mentioned.

3. The proceeds shall be applied in planting this square, properly laid out with suitable forest trees, in ornate style; which shall be done by letting the contract at auction on sufficient notice, to the lowest bidder, guaranteeing the work to be well done, and that the trees shall live and flourish for two years.

4. The surplus funds, if any, shall be used to further ornament this grsund, or other adjacent public grounds, as the Council shall see fit.

5. The Square shall be enclosed at the public expense, with a substantial fence, and styles to make it accessible and protect the trees, &c.

6. All this shall be done by the Common Council within one year, and the Square forever after be protected and cared for by them for the uses aforesaid.

7. When the Square is so enclosed and planted, the Common Council then in office, shall distinguish it, and so record it—by some appropriate name.

8. The posession of the property subject to these conditions and the rights of occupant to remain a few weeks, may be taken at any time; and the conveyance to vest the property on the performance of these conditions may be made at any time.

Therefore, in consideration of the execution of such deed by said Peter R. Adams, be it resolved, that by the President and Common Council of the village of Tecumseh, Michigan, that such proposition is accepted and the obligation to improve as therein stated, assumed by this Council and its successors so far as the same can legally do.

On motion, the Committee appointed to converse with Mr. Adams, were instructed to wait on him with a copy of this resolution, and obtain from him a Quit Claim Deed of the grounds hereinbefore alluded to.

The Council then adjourned.

CHAS. BURRIDGE,
Recorder.

In Love.—An editor out West has fallen in love. Just hear what he says:

"We love to see the blooming rose in its beauty dressed: we love to hear our friends disclose the emotion of the breast. We love to see the cars arrive, well laden, at our door; we love to see our neighbors thrive, and love to bless the poor.—We love to see domestic life's uninterrupted joys; we love to see a happy wife with lots of girls and boys. We love all these, yet far above all that we ever said, we we love—what every printer loves—to have subscriptions paid.

Grand Concert.

Prof. J. H. Pixley, assisted by S. M. Grannis, will give a grand Concert at the Baptist Church, in this village, on Tuesday evening, Oct. 2d, for the benefit of the Sabbath School. The selection for the Concert are admirably adapted by their variety of style, to please and entertain, while the execution of them will be of the highest order of excellence. Give them a full house.

New Paper.

We have received a copy of a new paper, published at Coldwater, with the familiar name of our old friend and former partner, D. E. EASTON as Editor and proprietor. Dave is an excellent printer, gets up a live paper and we hope the patrons of the Republican will give him a hearty support.

A Good Invention.

We noticed at Dr. Hause's Dental office, an apparatus for producing local Anaesthesia by the use of the spray of Ether, to extract teeth without pain. This will be a great relief to those dreading to have teeth extracted.

☞ On the 20th inst. an eligible lot was secured by the trustees of the M. E. Church, in Ridgeway, whereon to erect their new church. The materials are being delivered on the spot and should the weather prove favorable the foundation will be laid this fall.

☞ See the new advertisements of Merritt Meeker & Co., C. H. Adams & Co., and George Heesen.

Tecumseh Market.

	Sept. 27th, 1866.
White wheat	$2 40 a $2 50
Red do	2 00 a 2 40
Beans	1 00 a 1 25
Corn	50
Clover seed	8 00 9 00
Apples green	45
Butter per pound	27
Cheese " "	16
Hams " "	16
Lard " "	15
Eggs per doz	12
Potatoes, per bush.	40

List of Letters

REMAINING in the Post Office at Tecumseh, Mich., Sept. 27, 1866.

Bowen, Mrs. A.	Doty, Edward J.
Holden, Caroline	Hollister, R. O.
Hunn, Mrs. Clara	Kraft, Charles H. F
Larned, James E.	Morehouse, F. B
Miller, Mary T.	Priest, Miss Mary
Parks, G. G.	Rix, Charles
Smith, Parthena	Smith, O. D.
Smith, S. Fannie	Thompson, Albert
Washington, George

W. ANDERSON, P. M.

KNOW THY DESTINY!

Madame R. F. Thornton, the great English Astrologist, Clairvoyant and Psychometrician, who has astonished the scientific classes of the Old World, has now located herself at Hudson, N. Y. Madame Thornton posses such wonderful powers of second sight, as to enable her to impart knowledge of the greatest importance to the single or married of either sex. While in a state of trance, she delineates the very features of the person you are to marry, and by the aid of an instrument of intense power, known as the Pyschomotrope, guarantees to produce a life-like picture of the future husband or wife of the applicant, together with date of marriage, position in life, leading traits of character, &c. This is no humbug, as thousands of testimonials can assert. She will send, when desired a certified certificate, or written guarantee, that the picture is what it purports to be. By enclosing a small lock of hair, and stating place of birth, age, disposition and complexion, and enclosing 50 cents and stamped envelope addressed to yourself, you will receive the picture and desired information by return mail. All communications sacredly confidential. Address in confidence, MADAME E. F. THORNTON, P. O. Box 223 Hudson, N. Y.

Very little wheat has been sown in this vicinity as yet. Most farmers were ready to sow when the wet weather commenced. The next ten days will see most of the wheat in this vicinity sown if the weather continues fine. Fall crops have not been materially damaged by the frost as yet.

J. S. Hendryx, has sold out his stock of groceries, to Harvey Estes.

"PROCRASTINATION IS THE THIEF OF TIME."—By delaying and forgetting to have a supply of Coe's Dyspepsia Cure in the house, ready for immediate use, you may have to suffer, for many hours, pain and distress in the stomach, which would be immediately cured if you already had one hand, ready for immediate use. It is immediate in its action, and cures permanently Dyspepsia and all its kindred troubles.

Coe's Cough Balsam may also always be relied on in cases of Croup, Whooping Cough Colds, Coughs, and all throat and all pulmonary complaints.

REMEMBER the time, September 26, 1866; when the new Business College at Hillsdale, Mich., will be opened to receive students.

This Institution will at once—as a matter of course when we consider the unparalleled arrangements which have been made—force into the back ground all the superficial Business Schools now in operation in many parts of the country. For particulars before day of opening, address,

BUSINESS COLLEGE,
Oberlin, Ohio.

No more puny children, decayed teeth, or yellow bread, if you will use Herric't Allen's Gold Medal Saleratus. There is nothing equal to it. It is far superior to soda to use with cream tartar. Bread or Biscuit raised by it is more easily digested than by any other. Try one paper, and you will not fail to use it ever after. Have the Gold Medal or none. Grocers and Druggists keep it.

LADIES can receive a box of Dr. Velpan's Pills by mail, sealed from the eyes of the public, by enclosing one dollar and six postage stamps to O. G. Staples, General Agent for us at Watertown, N. Y.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that on the 22d day of August, 1866, a Bill of Divorce was granted out of the Circuit Court, held in Marshall, to Mary F. White. Said bill also gave to Mary F. White, the care, custody and education of her two minor children, John Richard White and William E. White, until they shall attain the age of 14 years.

CLOTHING!
AT THE
UNION HALL CLOTHING STORE.

JUST RECEIVED
$10,000 Worth of Clothing
For FALL AND WINTER!!
For
MEN AND BOYS WEAR.

Gents' Furnishing Goods,
HATS, CAPS AND CLOTHS
Of all descriptions which I will sell at very low prices at the
UNION HALL CLOTHING STORE.

Come One, Come All,
And judge for yourselves.

Clothing made to Order
IN THE LATEST STYLES.

And I will give you a good fit,
But be sure and give me a call,
For all who love the Union and flag,
Are welcome at Union Hall.

REMEMBER THE PLACE!
GEORGE HEESEN.

C. H. ADAM & CO.,
DEALERS IN
DRY GOODS,
Yankee Notions, &c.
No. 2 Mechanics' Block,
oct 2tf TECUMSEH, MICH.

Twenty Thousand Dollars worth of Dry Goods just received at Tribou & Bidwell Bros.

Miscellany.

WEIGHING THE BABY.

How many pounds does the baby weigh;
Baby who came but a month ago?
How many pounds from the growing curl
To the rosy point of the restless toe?

Grandfather ties the kerchief knot,
Tenderly guides the swinging weight,
And carefully over his glasses peers
To read the record "only eight"

Softly the echo goes around,
The father laughs at the tiny girl;
The fair young mother sings the words,
While gravely she smooths the golden curl

And stooping above the precious thing,
Nestles a kiss within a prayer;
Murmuring—Baby, "little one,
Grandfather did not weigh you fair."

Nobody weighed the baby's smile,
Or the love that came with the helpless one;
Nobody weighed the threads of care
From which a woman's life is spun.

No index tells the mighty worth
Of a little baby's quiet breath,
A soft unceasing metronome,
Patient and faithful unto death.

Nobody weighed the baby's soul,
For here on earth no weights there be
That could avail. God only knows
Its value in eternity.

Only eight pounds to hold a soul
That seeks noange l's silver wing,
But shrouds it in this human guise
Within so fair and small a thing.

Oh, mother, laugh your merry note,
Be gay and glad, but don't forget
From baby's eyes looks out a soul
That claims a home in Eden yet.

THE STORY OF A HERO.

BY GEORGE MANNVILLE FENN.

And I don't think I ever shall get to take it as a matter of course, sir—taking it coolly's out of the question. Here we are living about as exciting a life as men can lead—always on duty, and ready at a moment to have a set-to with the worst fire that ever broke out. No; I shall never get to take it as a matter of course; for it's all dark, rush and excitement; and I love it, sir. Flash comes the news to us by telegraph, most likely; out comes the horses: there's a light put to the ready trimmed fire and then with a train of sparks flying out behind us, as the fire roars, and the steam's getting up, away gallop the horses. Ay, it's "Ho! hoi! hollo!" and they clear the road for us; and away we go full gallop down the streets, with the horses' hoofs striking fire, the crowd shouting, and the running mob increasing at every step. There's something in it as warms one's blood; and as to the danger—well of course, its dangerous; but when we feel that we are doing our duty, and know what's before us, why, somehow we don't remember the danger but go at it in earnest.

Now there was only last week, sitting as I was waiting for a call, there it was at last, late on in the night, when the streets were clear; and away we tore at something like a pace. Oxford street, Holborn, down the Hill, up Skinner and Newgate street—whoop! and away at full gallop, with the horses enjoying it, bless you, and lashing out till it's hard to say whether they didn't fly more sparks than the fire under the boiler. We wanted no more instructions, for there was the red glow on ahead; and as we got nearer we could almost see the sparks; and at last we did see them come pouring and rolling along with the smoke, and being a heavy, hot night, hanging like a thick star-spangled cloud just over our heads.

Two engines were there and as it happened so late, there were not so many people as might have been expected; but as soon as I got there I saw as something particular was the matter, and this is what it was. The fire was in quite a narrow court where they couldn't get the escapes, and there were people burning to death; while above the shouting of the mob and clanking of the engines hard at work, you could hear their awful cries for help.

Now, don't you suppose that I'm proud of all this I'm going to tell you, because I'm not. Now, if you were to dash in and save any one's life, why no doubt it would be brave and gallant, because you would have done it out of true compassion for a suffering fellow-creature; but then with me it's quite different. I'm paid so much a week to save life and property from fire; consequently I only do what's my duty to do.

I runs up the court, axe in hand, and soon sees the state of affairs. One house was in a blaze from top to bottom, and the flames had worked through into the next, and were attacking the one opposite, while, with their escape regularly cut off, there were about half a dozen people at the upper windows of the same house, and no way of getting to them. There was no back door to the place, being in one of those crowded city places; while the door in front and stair case were now fast getting into a state of glow, off which the water sputtered and steamed without making any impression.

There was no time for ladders or anything else but the sheets, and them we got stretched out for the people to jump into, but, poor things! they dared not, and what to do I could not tell. There was the fire blazing up higher and higher, and lighting up two of them old city churches that you see lost down those old courts, and looking as if they'd been put there out o' the way because people didn't have any use for them now. There they were lit up and glowing, and the pigeons that lived up there scared and flying round and round the fire; there was the rush and roar of the wind along the court as it set towards the fire; and there were the flames leaping up, the clouds of sparks rising, the clouds of smoke rolling away, and the crackling sputter of the slates as they flew with heat, and then slid rattling off into the court beneath, smash upon the pavement. Every now and then came a louder roar and crash as a rafter or beam fell in, and sent the sparks up in a whirlwind. And there all the time were these poor creatures uttering the wildest piercing shrieks for help that you ever heard. Now, I've heard so much of that sort of thing that you'd expect I shouldn't mind it; but I do, though; and as I said about the fires, I don't think I shall ever get to take it as a matter of course; for there is something very awful in seeing fellow creatures strong and hearty, and yet dying before your eyes, and you not able to save them.

But I wasn't idle all this time—not a bit of it for every minute's worth something at a fire, and if you give it too much time it will beat you. Under the circumstances the first thing was to save life, and whilst them as had the branches did their best to keep the fire back from them at the third floor window, I got hold of a rope, and in at the house opposite, and made my way up stairs to the third floor, which, like the rest of the place, was used as a warehouse and crammed full of packages.

Being a strange house it wasn't easy to find your way, but I got up at last, and opposite to the room where the poor things were all now huddled together at one window, for the fire was gaining on them, so that unless they were soon helped they wouldn't want it.

"Crash! crash!" Didn't I let my little axe play round the sashes of that window, and soon have a clearance, for it was nailed up, and then when the poor things heard me, and saw the light shining on my helmet, how they did shriek for help.

Just then I looked down at the depth, and I caught sight of one fellow standing below with a short ladder in his hand, which might have been of use if the poor things had been in the first floor; and then I made ready to throw my rope across, when just as I was ready to let go, and then going to try and catch it, a thought struck me, and I let the coil of rope fall down into the court, and but one end as I kept hold of, and then when the poor things saw it let down they shrieked again, and one of them fell back from the window.

"Tie on the ladder," I shouted, "and some of you come up," and one of my mates soon tied the rope to one of the rounds, and then with two or three more run into the house, while I hauled away till I got hold of the bottom of the ladder, for they sent the heaviest end up first, and then dragged it in at the window, and balancing the other end up continued to push it across and into the window of the other house across the court, and so made a sort of bridge, only it was all askew for the houses were not quite opposite to one another.

Just as I'd done this, in comes my mate with two more men, and I sets them to work to hold the ladder while I took hold of the rope, and then made ready to crawl across on the thin bridge I'd rigged up. It was for life and death, or I would'nt have ventured on the slight, bending wood; for though a ladder set nearly upright may be strong enough, it makes it a deal weaker to lay it down level and then go and crawl along it. I knew how it would be, though, so I tied the rope round my body, and made my mate hitch the other end round a big hook in the wall, used for a pulley, so that in the event of a fall, if the rope held good, I shouldn't have gone all the way. They tied one end of the ladder, too, for to keep it steady, and then there I was scrambling across, with the ladder bending and quivering, and the crowd underneath hurraing and clapping their hands just as if I was doing a bit of Blondin to please them.

How that ladder did bend; so that I thought it must give way, and me go crash into the court; but it didn't; and the next moment I was in the window of the burning house, with the trembling women clinging to me.

"Now, then," I says to one man, "you can creep across," and I pointed to the ladder.

"I can't leave my wife," he says, holding a half fainting woman against the window, where the smoke wasn't quite so dense.

"You're a trump, you are," I thinks; and then I hauls more of the rope over, and makes it fast around the poor woman's waist, and then we laid her on the ladder, and the three on the other side hauled, and we held on to the rope this end, and so we got her half across, when she slipped off the ladder, and hung right over the court, while there arose a regular shriek of horror. But there was people, you see, at each end of the rope, and we loosened as the other hauled, and so they soon had her in at the other window, though the rope was so tight that it must have hurt the poor thing terribly.

Then they loosened the rope again, we sent another woman over, and she was insensible with fear, and we got her over all right, though she, too, slipped off the ladder. Then there were two little girls, one after the other, and it was sad to see how they trembled and shook—too much frightened to cry, as well they might be, for the heat was awful; and I knew that another quarter of an hour would find the room we were in red hot.

We got another over—a young man—and he was dragged over, too, for he dare not try to crawl across, and I suppose to a man as ain't used to such things, to creep over a place like that, all those feet over the pavement, and when you've been frightened to death nearly by waking out of your sleep to find the next place on fire, is rather trying; and now there was only that chap whose wife had been sent over first, and who had worked all he could to help me and another terrible cowardly chap, whom I'd had quite a set-to with to keep back, so as to save women and children first.

And now this chap as I've just spoke about made a rush to get at the ladder, and he was in such a horrid fright that I don't believe he'd got over safe, and besides I knew there was time for us all to get away if things were done quietly; so, considering as it wasn't his turn, I held him back for the married man to go first to his wife, when the other one almost shrieked out with rage and fear.

"Let him go first," says the married man, "I'll wait."

"'Tain't his turn," I says, rather obstinate like. "Over you go!" and at such a time one can't be interfered with, and having made my plans so far I didn't want them altered. So, "Over you go!" I says.

"I think I can crawl," he says, and he got out on the ladder; but instead of crawling he sat astride of it and worked himself along, with the crowd hurrahing and cheering him tremendous.

And up came the flame and smoke, and the roar and crackle and falling in of timbers was getting terrible. Every place was light as day, while as to the heat, I declared it seemed to scorch you fearfully.

"The sooner you're across and me with you, the better I shall like it," I says, and then I took a look round to see how matters were, when there came a crash and puff, and in a moment the flames came wreathing and twirling up from underneath where I stood, and just as the last chap had his leg on the window-sill and I was going to tip the rope round him, he gave a yell and fell back, or rather I pulled him back into the smoky room, and he fainted dead away.

He must have gone down crash into the court if I hadn't have dragged at him; but there was no time to lose. I made the rope fast and got him on to the ladder, with the flames darting up through the rounds and burning his hair; and then I shouted to them to haul, and haul they did, with me trying to steady him with my end of the rope; but before he was quite across something went snap, and I staggered back in the room, holding on to the piece of burnt-through rope, and with my heart sinking as I felt that my own salvation was partly gone.

Just then the flames were wafted on one side, and I saw that they were dragging in the last of the seven, and I felt now as if I had done a good night's work, and it was time to save myself. I'm not ashamed to own it. I did feel frightened as I threw down that piece of rope, and it must have been something like a cry of horror I gave when I got hold of the ladder and felt it burn my hands; and then as I tried to bear upon it, felt it crumble away, and that I was without a way to escape.

Far above the noise of the fire and water came the shriek of the crowd as the burned ladder fell away and hung blazing by one end against the opposite house, while there came up such a rush of flame past the window that I could not look out; but directly after I heard the fierce rush of water, and could see that four branches were deluging the window, and all beneath; for my mates knew what danger I was in.

I ran to the window, and was beaten back by the water, while the smoke that came up was quite blinding. Then I tried through the hot vapor in the room to see if I could get out of the door and reach the roof; but just at that moment there came a dull flash through the smoke, and I could see that the back of the house was on fire, while from the way the flames rushed up again in front and filled the court, I knew that there was no help to be had from opposite, for they must be beaten from the window.

I'd been in some dangers in my time, but till now there had always seemed a road out; and as I tore furiously around the place with the sweat dripping off me, and the horrible fear of death so close at hand, I seemed to be regularly unnerved, and fell to shrieking and crying out that my mates had deserted me, when they were on the roof and had let down a rope to me, but I could not see it; and then at last one of them was let down, and tried to get in at the window, but the flames beat him back; and a groan came from the people as they saw all that had been done.

As I told you, I seemed quite to lose my nerve, and ran about shrieking for a few minutes, and then I fell down on my face upon the hot floor; but, directly after, my mind seemed to come again, and I felt that if I must die I should have done my duty, and I had saved seven poor creatures; and as I thought that, I rose to my knees, and some words came to my lips—words that came to my heart as I thought of those who were once saved from the burning, fiery furnace; and I prayed that I too, might be saved.

And ah! it was hard to pray there—to keep your thoughts in the midst of that fierce, suffocating heat of smoke and steam from the water pouring into the room. And how everything else but the words of prayer came into one's mind; and it was as if the devils—despairing, blaspheming devils were hissing in my ear to curse and shriek oaths. Then, too, came the thought of those at home, and the little golden curls I should play with no more; and how I could now understand the dread my wife always had of what she called my frightful business. Yes; I had saved seven that night; but it was hard to die—hard to give up life at eight and twenty, and suffer the death from which I had saved so many.

I couldn't help it just then, for a grim smile came over my face as I thought it was my old enemy, the fire, being revenged upon me; but directly after I tried to pray once more, and then in the midst of the smoke I gave a wild cry, dashed off my helmet, dragged my belt undone, and kicked off my heavy boots, half suffocated, and had off my thick coat too; and then with my heart beating with hope, I thanked God for the thought, and the next moment I was over the grate bars and in the big chimney of the old house.

It was full of smoke, and I could hardly breathe; but it was a sure way of escape to the roof; and though I could feel that I was tearing the skin from my elbows and knees, I managed to climb higher and higher, slowly and painfully, but soon I could feel a current of sweet, refreshing air setting down to me, and every breath gave me fresh strength till I reached the top, when my heart sank, as I found it would be impossible to get any farther on account of the chimney-pot.

To shout was useless, and for a while I was in deep despair; but at last I got my hands well above me, and tried to move the pot. I tried again and again, and then to force myself through, till I was so wedged in that I could not get back, but I found that I had loosened the pot, and at last completely forced it off, and raised myself panting to a sitting position on the chimney stack, but afraid to move, for my head was wedged in the pot, which was fixed down upon my shoulders.

I knew that I could not stay where I was for long, and tried once more to get rid of my awkward helmet; and now having both hands at liberty, I loosened it, and it fell with a crash into the court beneath.

Just then there rose a cheer, for some one had made me out from below; but sick and faint as I was, I managed to wave my hand and cheer; but it stuck in my throat and I could not get down without help. And I suppose Eglish people are fond of cheering, for how they did shout when I got down through another house, and was there amongst them; and after all it was only one's duty.

The Late Great Battle in South America.

Advices from Rio Janeiro of the 20th, give the following particulars of the great battle between the Paraguayans and the Allies, on the Plata, the 16th and 18th of July:

The affair arose from a determination of the Allies to dislodge the Paraguayans from the position they were fortifying on a hill, which would have enabled them to endanger the Allied left and rear. The Paraguayans were surprised and driven out at daybreak, on the 16th, by a brigade of Brazilians. After a short fight the victors then advanced to the assault of the Paraguayan works, but were met with such a heavy fire that they were forced to abandon the attempt, and confine themselves to the defence of the works they had taken. This was successfully done, notwithstanding two fierce attacks were made by the Paraguayans, and a storm of missiles were poured on the ground.

The Allies suffered considerable loss, and the troops under fire were relieved several times during the day. The next day passed without fighting, but a reconnoisance, made to uncover the Paraguayan movements and works, was changed into a general assault of the next line of the Paraguayan fortification, which was carried, but recovered, and again retaken; but finally, after very heavy fighting, which involved most of the forces on both sides, the Allies recognized that success in that direction would be too dearly bought, and their troops were recalled, retreating in good order without being pursued. The Paraguayans, however, made a dash with cavalry on the Argentine flank on the right, but were repulsed, and fighting ceased on both sides.

The works captured on the 10th remain in possession of the Allies. They were strengthened with cannon and mortars, and are likely to be of great service to the Allies.

The Paraguayans continued up to the 18th to send down torpedoes, and on the 14th and 15th two explosions occurred so near the leading vessel of the Allied fleet as to shake her severely. A boat was blown up and eight persons killed.

The second Brazilian army, 9,000 strong, under Ponto Allegre, had been incorporated with the allied forces. Two or three thousand convalescents had also joined. More reinforcements had also been demanded and expected from Brazil and the Argentine Provinces.

Over the Falls.

This afternoon while a terrible wind was blowing up the gulf, two men were discovered in a small boat in the rapids south of the Three Sisters. They were struggling desperately with the waves, but human power was utterly unavailing. Hundreds of persons were on Goat Island and saw them, but of coarse were unable to render them any assistance. The terror-stricken men rowed with frantic efforts to the very verge of the precipice and finally went over, still clinging to the oars.

It seems Mr. Cooper, the postmaster at the town of Chippewa, on the Canada side, two miles above the falls, started with Frank Leutze, the ferryman, to cross the river in a small boat. Usually the course is to pull about two miles up the river before attempting to cross; but on this occasion the unfortunate men seem to have imagined that the heavy wind blowing up stream would counteract the force of the current, and consequently attempted to cross in a direct line.

The result was the same as it has been on three former occasions, when similar attempts have been made, and their lives paid the forfeit of this mistake. The sad ending of the last mad attempt should teach a lesson of carefulness to all who live along the river's bank. The rapids of the Niagara are too awful to be trifled with. It is singular that Leutze, the ferryman, who had crossed and recrossed a hundred times in all kinds of weather, should have so sadly misjudged the force of the current, and overestimated to such a degree the strength of the wind.—Buffalo Express, Sept. 12.

THE Alexandria (La.,) Gazette says that Rufus King Cutler of New Orleans, aggravated by Gen. Sheridan's dispatches and remarks, sent to the commander of the Department of the Gulf to inquire if that great military personage would accept a challenge, and that the General said if Cutler or any of his friends called on him for any such purpose he would kick them out of his quarters.

SUMMARY OF THE WEEK.

General Intelligence.

There are now nearly $86,000,000 in gold in the United States treasury.

General Grant is out with a letter deprecating the habit of army officers taking a prominent part in political affairs.

The receipts from internal revenue since the 1st of July amount to $88,086,000, and from customs, $42,000,000, making a total of $130,036,000,

Secretary Seward is dangerously ill, and fears are entertained as to his recovery. His articulation is very imperfect, and it is thought that he cannot live long.

A portion of the delegates of Southern loyalists from the Philadelphia Convention had an enthusiastic reception at Buffalo on the 19th inst. Speeches were made by Governor Brownlow and General Thomas of Tennessee.

The Nebraska City News of the 7th inst. says: The first installment of grasshoppers—about 10,000,000 to the square foot—arrived in town this morning. We are of the opinion that they won't remain with us long as the feed in this propinquity is rather scarce. Mothers can't be too careful of their children during their stay.

A Washington correspondent states on what he calls good authority, that President Johnson intends to release Jeff. Davis on parole or bail if the Supreme Court fails to try him at the October term. It is also reported that Jeff. Davis has indignantly declined an offer for his immediate release on condition that he would leave the country never to return.

The Presidential party reached Washington on Saturday, the 15th; Secretary Seward having, however, taken a special train and arriving in a very exhausted condition. Many of his friends fear that his constitution is being rapidly weakened, and that his failing health will ere long compel him to retire from public life. The party left Harrisburg early in the morning, traveling by way of Baltimore. At York, Pa., and at Baltimore, complimentary welcomes were given them, though the council of the latter city had refused to vote him a reception.

Foreign News.

The would-be assassin of the Emperor of Russia, has been executed amidst great rejoicing on the part of the people.

Bismark has sent a letter to the United States Minister thanking Americans for their donation of ice to wounded Prussian soldiers.

The gallant hearts who struck for freedom from Turkish rule, in the island of Candia, have been defeated by the Turks in a great battle.

Advices from Canada state that military preparations are increasing. New companies of militia are organizing, and an ammunition factory is being constructed by the government.

Napoleon has great respect for the United States. He has refused permission to French officers to hold office in Mexico, because the United States did not wish it to be permitted.

The London News, reasoning from its fears, and permitting its hopes to guide it to a conclusion, thinks that an alliance between Russia and the United States is impracticable.

The Atlantic Cable dispatches again give us warlike news. The disputed clause in the negotiations between Austria and Italy are given. Prussia takes sides with Italy, and threatens war, and has gone so far as to suspend the reduction of her army. North Schleswig has voted to be incorporated with Prussia.

South America advices from the Plata report a most stubborn and sanguinary battle on the 16th and 17th of July, causing a loss of 4,200 kiled and wounded in the allied armies, and an approximate number of the Paraguayan army. The latter fought chiefly within intrenchments, and consequently were less exposed.

Four thousand dollars in New Orleans city bonds of the issue of 1835 were recently discovered in an old secretary in Paris. Thirty-one years' interest is due on them. All measures to discover the real owner have proved fruitless, and the honest man who found them will soon be put in possession of them, and get the whole amount due, $11,440.

A Montreal telegram of the 18th says a raft, on Friday night, during the storm and darkness, with thirty men on it, was driven into the Cedar Rapids from its anchorage, and the logs were dashed in every direction. It might be supposed that there would be no hope for any one on board, but four Indians escaped, having reached an island, from which they were rescued next day. Ten of the crew were Canadians, ten Irish and Scotch, and ten Indians.

A case of fatal child flogging occurred at Sarnia, a few miles from Kingston, Canada West, on Wednesday last, the victim being a little girl five years of age, named Kate Sibley, the illegitimate daughter of Schuyler Sibley and a Miss Kate Davis, and the alleged provocation being the refusal of the child to say its prayers. The murderess, on being examined, confessed that a few days previous to the fatal act the father of the child had administered to it a most unmerciful beating for not saying its prayers, and ordered her to do the same when it refused. The jury returned a verdict criminating both parents, whereupon they were both committed to prison to await trial for murder.

The South.

Herschel V. Johnson, who was the candidate on the Douglas ticket in 1860 for Vice President has written a long letter to the Augusta Chronicle, in which he fully endorses the action of the National Union Convention, at Philadelphia.

A street fight occurred in Memphis on the 18th, in which an alderman killed a grocery merchant. The difficulty was caused by certain articles in a local paper reflecting upon the alderman's official integrity.

The negro who, several days ago applied to the military in Macon, Georgia, for permission to hold property, which privilege was denied him by the civil authorities, was foully murdered on the night of the 13th inst. by unknown parties, who covered him with numerous slabs, and then cut his remains into pieces.

It is estimated that one thousand people have arrived at Galveston and Houston, Texas, to escape the persecution of guerrilas in the interior, who rob and murder on both sides indiscriminately, for plunder. Affairs throughout the State are daily becoming worse, instead of better, and innumerable outrages are hourly recorded.

The competition of Charleston, South Carolina, has seriously affected the cotton trade of New Orleans, and factors in the latter city are discussing some scheme to enlarge their foreign exports. Unusually favorable prices will shortly be offered to planters, it is anticipated, and efforts will be made to confine selling rates to favorable prices.

There is great activity among the Fenians in New Orleans, and several companies are being equipped for some service, probably with the intention of again invading Canada. There is the highest authority for stating that Sheridan has no idea of taking command of the Fenian army, neither has there been any authority for the use of his name in that or any other connection.

A Herald Fort Monroe correspondent says: Mr. Chandler, the United States District Attorney for Fortress Monroe, and the prosecutor of Jeff. Davis in his coming trial, will soon commence arranging his programme of the trial, on behalf of the government. The health of the prisoner is improving, and he is said to desire no Executive clemency beyond a fair and impartial trial.

The South Carolina Legislature has passed a bill which permits all parties to testify in their own behalf in civil causes, and gives permission to defendants in criminal cases to testify as to facts, but does not require that they should give any evidence tending to criminate themselves. The "Fire Loan Bill," to authorize the City Council of Charleston to issue two millions of bonds, as proposed in their recent ordinance, to aid in rebuilding the city, has also been passed.

The West.

Young Stretcher, who shot Mr. Stewart at the President's reception at Indianapolis, has been indicted for murder.

The Ohio State Fair has been postponed till October 16th, in consequence of the flood and the derangement of railroads.

The organization known as the Grand Army of the Republic is rapidly growing in Illinois, there being already one hundred and seventeen posts established in the State.

John E. Bowen, of the Du Quoin (Ill.,) Progress, contracted the cholera while in Chicago attending the Douglas Monument ceremonies, and died at Mattoon, on his way home.

The frost on the morning of the 21st proved severe upon the corn crop nearly all over the West, and on that day corn advanced five cents per bushel in the leading markets.

On the first day of October next, the representatives of the Southern loyalists who have made a tour through the Eastern States from Philadelphia, will be received in Chicago by the Governor of Illinois.

Gills Hotel, corner of North Wells and North Water streets, Chicago, caught fire at two o'clock A. M. of the 18th. Egrees being cut off by the flames, a woman saved herself by jumping from a third story window. Her child perished in the flames.

At Indianapolis, on the 15th, a young man by the name of Leonidas Johnson, was shot and instantly killed by his room-mate. Johnson had risen during the night and gone out, and on returning in opening the door was mistaken for a burglar by his room-mate, who drew a pistol and fired.

The very bad weather that is being experienced throughout the Northwest is having a damaging effect upon the State and County Fairs. Many of them have been postponed, while others are struggling against the tide and exhibiting under difficulties the most discouraging.

Indianapolis is under the weather. A little creek known as Pogue's Run, overrun its banks, yesterday, and flooded three or four squares in the city, damaging property to the extent of a hundred thousand dollars or more, and causing some loss of life. The Union Railroad depot was inundated, and travel by rail was impeded.

Theron E. Dryden, who was shot in the town of Blue Mound, Wisconsin, at a charivari, died a few days after, on the 14th. The wound was given by a man named Holten, whose grand-daughter had married a man more than double her own age, named Williams. Holten is under bonds to appear for trial. Williams is charged with bigamy, and has left the country. The affair has caused much excitement in the neighborhood where it occurred.

In Chicago, on Saturday night, the 15th, about eight o'clock, a Prussian tailor named Rosenkrist, residing at No. 144 Burnside street, in the West Division, and employed at No. 169½ South Clark street, was accused by one of his neighbors of having stolen a small sum of money. The accused denied the fact, and said he hoped his head would fall off, his tongue drop out, and that God would strike him dead if he had the money. Scarcely had the words passed his lips ere he fell to the ground, a corpse, as suddenly as if struck by lightning. The parties in the room ran to raise him, supposing that he had simply fainted from the excitement, but they found that life had fled. On searching him the next morning the money was found in his pockets.

The incessant rains of last week extending over a great extent of western territory, has proved especially disastrous in Ohio and Indiana, where the rain-fall reached the extraordinary figure of ten inches, the greatest for the season ever known. On Friday all the railroads leading from Cincinnati except one, were interrupted. The long and costly bridge over the Big Miami river on the Ohio & Mississippi Railroad was swept off, including the solid abutments of stone. The Indianapolis & Cincinnati Road lost three bridges. The Indiana Central lost three bridges between Cambridge City & Indianapolis. The Columbus, Piqua & Indianapolis Road lost its great bridge at Piqua. The damage done to the corn crop in Central Indiana is estimated at four millions of dollars. Towns have been submerged, fences swept away and lives lost.

The East.

Major General Couch is to succeed Hon. Hannibal Hamlin, as collector of the port of Boston.

It is understood that Samuel J. Tilden is to be elected Chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee of New York, the position formerly occupied by the late Dean Richmond.

In Huntington county, Pennsylvania, there were three deaths from burning last week—two children who were playing with matches, and a woman who attempted to revive a fire by pouring coal oil on it.

A woman named Korwan committed suicide in New York a few days ago. Before committing the act, she made mourning dresses for her children, bound her husband's hat with crape, and laid out her own burial clothes.

Among the prominent officers who have signified their intention to be present at the Pittsburgh Soldiers' Convention are Generals Burnside, Logan, Butler, Banks, Geary, Schurz, Governors Oglesby, Cox, Fairchild, and many others. A wigwam is being constructed at Pittsburgh for the occasion, which will hold 10,000 persons.

A man named De Canine was accidentally run over by a train of cars at the Elizabeth (N. J.) depot, on Wednesday last, and was mangled in so shocking a manner that his heartrending solicitations to be put out of world were complied with, and he was shot through the head. The injuries he had received were past surgical aid.

Stephen H. Phillips, of Salem, Massachusetts, formerly Attorney General of that State, who went out to California last spring, has received and accepted an appointment as Attorney General in the Government of the Sandwich Islands. The salary of the office is $5,000 a year, in gold, with the privilege, also, of practicing in the Admiralty Courts of the Islands.

Eminent Catholic clergymen are already arriving in New York from the Pacific coast, to attend the second Catholic council, which is to be held in Baltimore during October, and over which Archbishop Spalding has been delegated by the Pope to preside. The object of the council is to regulate the discipline of the church in this country, and to arrange some systematic plan for the education of the Catholic youth. Forty-one bishops and other prelates, and one hundred priests, will take part in the deliberations.

A shocking murder was perpetrated in Worcester, Massachusetts, on the 17th. Shortly after that hour an alarm of fire was given, and it was found that a barn near the house of one Thomas Fallon was on fire. The man Fallon helped to put out the fire, and while engaged with others in doing so some one went into his house and found his wife lying insensible and covered with blood, which had proceeded from wounds in her head. The cry of "murder" was raised, and on hearing it Fallon attempted to escape, but was arrested. He did not deny the crime, and said that he had used a brickbat in making the murderous attack. Mrs. Fallon died about five o'clock the same morning.

The pall of gloom hangs over Johnstown. Almost every house is a hospital, and those of the inhabitants uninjured are busily engaged attending the wounded. The ten or twelve surgeons of the place are worn down with their labors, and are to be relieved by surgeons from Pittsburgh and neighborhood. There have been seventeen deaths in all, and fifty amputations. The number of wounded is three hundred and seven, four-fifths of them having fractured limbs and internal injuries. A citizens' meeting, to furnish relief to the sufferers, was held on Saturday evening, the 15th, at which the following donations were announced: President Johnson, $500; Maj. Gen. John W. Geary, $200; D. J. Morrell, Union candidate for Congress in the district, $200; Cambria Iron Works Company, $1,000. The platform which caused the accident was supported by a "Howe Truss," and is reported to have been sufficiently strong for ordinary purposes.

The Cleveland Convention.

The Soldiers' and Sailors' Convention met at Cleveland on the 17th, and after a temporary organization adjourned till next day. On the 18th the Convention, after electing General Gordon Granger permanent chairman, passed resolutions indorsing the Philadelphia Johnson Convention, and stating that their object in enlisting in the late war was for the purpose of sustaining the Constitution and the Union. Dispatches were received from various quarters expressive of sympathy with the objects of the Convention after which the body adjourned sine die. The following is the platform adopted:

The union soldiers and sailors who served in the army and navy of the United States in the recent war for the suppression of the insurrection, the maintainance of the constitution, the government and the flag of the union, grateful to Almighty God for His preservation of them through the perils of war and for His mercy in crowning their efforts with victory, freedom and peace; deploring the absence from their midst of many brave and faithful comrades who have sealed with their life blood their devotion to the sacred cause of American nationality, and determined now as heretofore, to stand by the principles for which their glorious dead have fallen and by which the survivors have triumphed, being assembled in national mass convention in the city of Cleveland, Ohio, this the 17th day of Sept. 1866, do resolve and declare:

1 That we heartily approve the resolutions adopted by the national union convention held in the city of Philadelphia on the 14th day of August last composed of delegates representing all the states and territories of the United States.

2 That our object in taking up arms to suppress the late rebellion, was to defend and maintain the supremacy of the constitution, and to preserve the union with all the dignity, equality and rights of the several states unimpaired, and not in any spirit of oppression, and not for conquest or subjugation; and when there shall be any armed resistance to the lawfully constituted authorities of our national constitution, either in the north, the south, the east or west, emulating the self-sacrificing example of our revolutionary forefathers, we will again pledge to its support our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor.

A POLITE ELEPHANT.—There is an anecdote told of an elephant in the Jardin des Plantes in Paris which amusingly illustrates the exquisite sense of smell with which elephants are endowed:

The interior of an elephant's trunk is lined with an immense olfactory nerve, by which the animal is able to detect the faintest odors at a distance. He finds that the orange flower yields the most delicious of all perfumes, and travelers state that in Japan elephants may frequently be seen, burying their trunks in the foliage of the orange trees to enjoy the fragrance. The other day, the large elephant in the Jardin des Plantes suddenly ceased picking up the bread and cake offered to him by the visitors of the garden, drew in his trunk, and continued to follow along the railings of his inclosure a lady who was carrying in hand a boquet of orange flowers. The lady's attention was called to his movement, and she at once held the bouquet within his reach. The animal seized the flowers, inhaled the perfume with great delight for several moments, and—here comes the least credible portion of the story—again put forth his trunk and restored the bouquet to the lady. One understands an elephant's passion for sweet smells, but hardly comprehends his manifestation of gallantry and good breeding.

The Disaster at Johnstown.

At Johnstown a very large concourse of people awaited the train bearing the President, and, on its approach, began the most vociferous and genuine cheering possible.

But their joy at welcoming the party was suddenly cut short, and the whole place converted into a house of mourning, by one of the most calamitous accidents that ever befel the community. The railroad at this place runs on the north bank of the old canal (now dry), about thirty feet from its channel. The canal was bridged over for several rods in front of where the train stopped, and was used as a platform for business. A bridge for crossing one of the streets, and two raised sidewalks were improvised. In consequence of being slightly elevated above the ground between the bank of the canal and the cars, the audience could obtain a tolerably fair view of the rear platform of the train on which the President and others were standing, and therefore crowded on it in a mass so dense, that there was no standing room left unoccupied.

Just as the train was about to move away, and those on the bridge and around the depot were rending the air with cheers for Johnson, Grant and Farragut, an awful crash rose above the roar of the huzzas, that startled all within hearing and silenced many voices forever. The timbers in the center of the bridge, fully a foot square, suddenly snapped in twain, precipitating every soul on it to the bottom of the canal, a distance of at least fifteen feet. The balance of the sidewalks and platforms over the canal came down with the bridge, and filled the bottom of the canal with timbers, planks and the struggling mass of men, women and children, all hurled together in an inextricable confusion. Those on the bank between the new yawning gulf and the railroad track were frightened into a stampede, and added to the confusion by screaming, yelling, and trampling each other into the mud in their frantic efforts to escape. A more frightful scene was scarcely ever witnessed. A few moments sufficed to reveal what had actually transpired. Men, women, children, fathers, mothers, husbands, wives, sons and daughters were now rushing in every direction seeking relatives and friends, and crying alound with grief and terror.

As soon as the sinking, falling debris had settled to the bottom, those in the neighborhood sprang to the bed of the canal by scores, and commenced assisting those least hurt to extricate themselves, and to pull away the rubbish and timber that had covered and confined the others. As the bridge broke in the centre, its two halves formed an inclined plane, along which all were slid with lightning speed and pitched on top of those who stood on the middle and went down first. Probably not less than 400 persons were on the main bridge, and 1,000 on the whole structure. Several members of the Presidential party assisted actively in removing the dead and wounded; among those who thus aided were Marshal O'Beirne, Mr. B. C. Truman, Mr. Murphy, and your correspondent.

Thirteen persons were killed outright, and 92 badly wounded. The killed were mainly crushed to death by those who fell upon them; but few were hurt by the timbers or planks. Splinters darkened the air in every direction, and caused a large proportion of the flesh cuts and contusions.

From the manner in which the mass of the people was precipitated, struggling, clutching, and grasping to the ground beneath a great many arms and legs were broken. The women generally fell head foremost, owing to their inflated style of clothing; and their contusions were chiefly confined to the head, face, and shoulders. One remarkable fact was, that no infants or small children were known to be hurt in the slightest, although many infants in arms were among those who fell to the bottom, and a still larger number of both sexes, ranging from eight to ten years of age.

As soon as partial order could be restored, lines were formed to protect the sufferers from the outside pressure of the crowd, and to extricate them from the wreck of the bridge and platform. One man was found dead, with a huge beam resting across his neck and his eyes protruding from their sockets.

Mr. Meltzger, proprietor of the Mansion house, was among the first taken dead from the ruins. Miss Letitia Cannon was at first supposed to be slightly stunned, but never recovered from the shock, and expired immediately. She was a young lady of rare promise, graceful and accomplished in mind and manners; had graduated within a few weeks past, and was confessedly the belle of the place. The sight that met the eye as the injured were taken out was horrifying even to a war correspondent.

An Irish widow was carried away, suffering from pain and lamenting the condition her unfortunate family of four little ones would now be in on account of her disability. A young fellow in the first flush of manhood scrambled out of the rubbish, and managed to hobble away a few rods, when he fell from pain and exhaustion, and on examination found that his thigh bone was badly fractured. The tears rolled down his cheeks, and when asked how he was hurt, replied that his leg was ruined for life. A little girl who went down on the top of the crowd scrambled out and stood staring with fright as one petrified, and could not be aroused for several minutes, when she burst into tears and begged to be taken to her mother. A young miss extricated herself and took flight as one fleeing from destruction, and never slackened her speed until out of sight. The young wife of a man who had a leg broken was sitting by his side on the ground, weeping freely, but on being questioned smiled though her tears and said she was only crying for joy that she had found him alive and hurt no worse. The news soon spread through the village, and those who remained away at first were soon congregated around the depot, wild with excitement and searching everywhere for relatives and friends whom they feared were among the killed or wounded. Planks were at first taken from the broken bridge to carry away the living and dead, and mattresses were soon brought into requisition from the neighboring houses for the purpose.

The most unfortunate feature of the affair was, that both the prominent physicians of the place were among the severely injured, and the community was deprived of their services in the hour of their greatest need.

The agent of the railroad telegraphed each way along the line, urging forward all assistance, and in less than two hours twenty physicians arrived by the regular and special trains. Few calamities of this kind have been so widespread or carried desolation and mourning into so many different families. Half the households in Johnstown were in mourning to-night, and the list of casualties has probably been swelled from the 105 names reported to at least 200. The Presidential party was detained by the deplorable occurrence [illegible] affected to silence for several hours.—N. Y. Herald Cor.

THE Emperor of Brazil is expected in this country soon after the establishment of peace with Paraguay, which, according to latest accounts, is to take place speedily. The Emperor is not much over forty, and a very handsome man, of high scientific attainments and great social accomplishments. His wife is a daughter of the late King of the Two Sicilies. His Majesty takes a great interest in the United States, and is expected to spend some time in Washington and in Boston—in the latter place as the guest of Professor Agassiz of Cambridge, in whose recent explorations in Brazil he took a vivid interest.

ON the road to ruin, every traveler pays his own fare.

Artemus Ward in London.

MR. PUNCH—My Dear Sir: You prob'ly didn't meet my uncle Wilyim when he was on these shores. I jedge so from the fack that his pursoots wasn't litrary. Commerce, which it has been trooly observed by a statesman, or sombody, is the foundation stone onto which a nation's greatness rests—glorious Commerce was Uncle Wilyim's fort. He sold soap. It smelt pretty, and redily commanded two pents a cake. I'm the only litrary man in our family. It is troo, I once had a dear cuzzen who wrote 22 versis onto "a Child who nearly died of the Measles, O!" but as he injoodiciously introjuced a chorius at the end of each stanzy, the parients didn't like it at all. The father in particlar, wept afresh, assaulted my cuzzen, and said he never felt so ridicklus in his intire life. The onhappy result was that my cuzzen abandind poetry forever, and went back to shoemakin, a shattered man.

My Uncle Wilyim disposed of his soap and returned to his nativ land with a very exolted opinyin of the British public. "It is a edycated community," said he; "they are a intellectooal people. In one small village alone I sold 50 cakes of soap, incloodin barronial halls, where they offered me a ducal coronet, but I said no—give it to the poor." This was the way Uncle Wilyim went on. He told us, however, some stories that was rather too much to be easily swallerd. In fack, my Uncle Wilyim was not a emblem of troth. He retired some years ago on a hansum comptency derived from the insurance money he received on a rather shaky skoonor he owned, and which burned up while lyin at a wharf one night, the cargo havin fortnitly been remooved the day afore the disastriss calamty occurd. Uncle Wilyim said it was one of the most singlest things he ever heard of; and, after collectin the insurance money, he bust into a flood of tears, and retired to his farm in Pennsylvany. He was my uncle by marriage only. I do not say that he wasn't a honest man. I simply say that if you have a uncle and bitter experience tells you it is more profitable, in a pecoonery pint of view to put pewter spoons instid of silver ones onto the table when that uncle dines with you in a frenly way—I simply say, there is sumthin' wrong in our social systim, which calls loudly for reform.

I rived on these shores at Liverpool, and proceeded at once to London. I stopt at the Washington Hotel in Liverpool, because it was named in honor of a countryman of mine who didn't get his living by making mistakes, and whose mem'ry is dear to civilized peple all over the world, because he was gentle and good as well as trooly great. We read in Histry of any number of great individools, but how few of 'em, alas! should we want to take home to supper with us? Among others, I would call your attention to Alexander the Grea', who conkerd the world, and wept because he couldn't do it sum more, and then took to gin-and-seltzer, gettin' tight every day afore dinner with the most disgusting regularity, causin' his parunts to regret they hadn't 'prenticed him in his early youth to a biskit baker, or some occupation of a peaceful and quiet character. I say, therefore, to the great men now livin' (you could put 'em in Hyde Park, by the way, and still leave room for a large and respectable concourse of rioters)—be good. I say to that gifted but bald-headed Prooshan, Bismarck, be good and gentel in yoor hour of triumph. I always am. I admit that our lines is different—Bismarck's and mine—but the same glorious principle is involved. I am a exhibiter of startlin curiostys, wax works, snaix, etsetry, ("either of whom," as a American statesman whose name I ain't at liberty to mention for political reins, as he expecks to be a candidate for a prom'nent offiss, and hence doesn't wish to excite the rage and jelisy of other showmen—"either of whom is wuth dubble the price of admission"); I say I am a exhibiter of startlin' curiosityes, and I have also had my hours of triumph, but I try to be good in 'em. If you say, "Ah, yes, but also your hours of grief and misfortin';" I answer, it is troo, and you prob'ly refer to the circumstans of my hirin' a young man of dissypated habits to fix hisself up as A real Cannibal from New Zealan, and when I was simply tellin' the aujience that he was the most foroshus Cannibal of his tribe, and that, alone and unassisted, he had et sev'ril of our fellow-countrymen, and that he had at one time even contemplated eatin his Uncle Thomas on his mother's side, as well as other near and dear relatives—when I was makin' these simple statements, the mis'ble young man said I was a lyar, and knockt me orff the platform. Not quite satisfied with this, he cum and trod hevily on me, and as he was a very musculer person, and wore remarkably thick boots, I knew at once that a canary bird wasn't walkin' over me.

I admit that my ambition over slept herself in this instuns, and I've been very careful ever since to deal square with the public. If I was the public I should insist on squareness, tho' I shouldn't do as a portion of my audience did on the occasion jest mentioned, which they was employed in sum naberin' coal mines.

"As you hain't got no more Cannibals, to show us old man," said one of 'em,—who seemed to be a kind of a leader among them 'em,—a tall dis'greeble skoundril—"as you seem to be out of Cannibals, we'll sorter look round here and fix things. Them wax figgers of yours want washin'. There's Napoleon Bonaparte and Julius Cæsar—they must heve a bath," with which coarse and brutal remark he imitated the shrill war hoop of the western savige, and, assisted by his infamus coal heavin companyins, he threw all my wax work into the river, and let my wild bears loose to pray on a peaceful and inoffensive agricultural community.

Leavin Liverpool (I'm goin' back there, the—I want to see the Docks, which I heard spoken of at least once while I was there) I cum to London in a 1st class car, passin' the time very agreeable in discussin', with a countryman of mine, the celebrated Schleswig-Holstein question. We took that interesting question up and carefully traced it from the time it commenced being so, down to the present day, when my countryman, at the close of the four hours' annymated debate, said he didn't know anything about it himself, and wanted to know if I did. I told him that I didn't. He's at Ramsgate now, and I am to write him when I feel like givin him two days in which to discuss the question of negro slavery in America. But now I do not feel like it.

London at last, and I'm stoppin at the Grecthlion tavern. I like the landlord very much indeed. He has fallen into a few trifling errors in regard to America—he was under the impression, for instance, that we at hay over there, and had horns growin out of the back part of our heads—but his chops and beer is ekal to any I ever partook. You must cum and see me, and bring the boys. I'm told that Garrick used to cum here, but I'm growing skeptycal about Garrick's favorit taverns. I've had over 500 public houses pinted out to me where Garrick went. I was indooced one night, by a seleck comp'ny of Britons, to visit some 25 public houses, and they confidentially told me that Garrick used to go to each of 'em. Also, Dr. Johnson. This won't do, you know.

May be I've rambled a bit in this communycation—I'll try and be more collected in my next, meanwhile, b'lieve me

Trooly Yours,

ARTEMUS WARD.

MAX. "Is a man and his wife one?" asked the wife of a man in a state of stupefaction, as she was holding his aching head in both hands. "Yes, I suppose so," was the reply. "Well, then," said she, "I came home very drunk last night, and I ought to be ashamed of myself."

CURRENT ITEMS.

Personal and Literary.

GUSTAVE DORE, at last accounts, was busily studying a cage of twenty rats to help his illustrations.

GENERAL GRANT is expected to assist in the reinauguration of Washington's statue at Lexington, Virginia, next week.

DR. HORATIO STONE, the sculptor, has gone to Rome to execute, under an order of Congress, a statue of Alexander Hamilton.

MISS SPURGEON, who accompanied Queen Emma to this country, is a daughter of the Rev. Mr. Spurgeon, the celebrated London preacher.

JAMES STEVENS, C. O. I. R., is now in New York. He is in constant receipt of invitations from all parts of the country, but says his next trip will be to Ireland.

THE Vicksburg Clarion of the 7th, says: "Joseph E. Davis, the venerable brother of our ex-Confederate President, has been pardoned by President Johnson."

A REPORT in a California paper states that Edwin Forrest will become a resident of California and procure a divorce from his wife under the accommodating laws of that State

IT is rumored that Hon. Charles Sumner is about to be married to a young, handsome and accomplished widow, the daughter-in-law of a Member of Congress from Massachusetts. Mr. Sumner has been traveling in the White Mountains on horseback during the summer, accompanied by Judge Clifford.

A NEW YORK letter says: "Ben. Wood has been brought to grief. He has lost his fortune at the gaming table, and John Morrissey was the winner. He has sold out his News office, but at a heavy sacrifice. A few days ago he walked into the office, and finding a batch of letters for his assistants in the letter box of the office, deliberately set down and read them through. When asked for an explanation, it was impossible to understand him or make him understand that they were not his letters."

MR. MADISON is said to have had an aversion to riding in a carriage, complaining especially of the great elevation from the ground of the seats, in those days of tremendous barouches. He would have been delighted at our modern "rockaways." Frequently on the street Mrs. Madison would be in the carriage, while he would be on foot along the sidewalk, or out in the roadway, alongside, keeping up a conversation. Once he had stepped into a store to make some purchases, or the like, and after a long detention he returned, but, not observing that his carriage had passed, and was waiting a few doors on, he entered one which stood opposite, with his customary downcast look, without seeing who were its passengers. The famous British orders in council were an anxious and gloomy subject, and news which had just arrived absorbed his attention. A lady who occupied the carriage, knowing his person, was too much embarrassed to speak, and he sat down entirely unconscious of her presence. He is known to have talked freely to Mrs. Madison, whose worth and talents are believed to have often aided his counsels. Suddenly from his meditations, he exclaimed: "O, Dolly, what shall be done about those orders in council?" Here the lady at his side spoke, upon which Mr. Madison started with painful agitation, and after a speechless moment left the carriage. He immediately returned, and, with his blandest courtesy and good humor, apologised, to the great relief of the lady.

Domestic Paragraphs.

—A lady in San Francisco has been fined and imprisoned for wearing the bloomer costume.

—A noted courtesan of Cincinnati, Mrs. Thomas, died on the 7th, and left $50,000 to charitable institutions.

—Rochester, N. Y., is to be made the seat of a new Catholic Diocese—so Bishop Timon announces in a late discourse in that city.

—It is reported that the reason why Bernard Friery died so easy was because the cap which covered his face was saturated in chloroform.

—The census of Mobile recently taken, shows a population of 40,962. Of this number, 28,000 are negroes—showing an increase of 6,000 in six years.

—The New York Herald, September 8th, publishes a schedule of a claim preferred against an insurance company for a lady's wardrobe, destroyed by fire in that city, which foots up $21,000!

—At Detroit a great iron ferry boat has been launched to ply at the railroad crossing. Her tonnage is 1,800 tons. Upon the two tracks running the length of the steamer can be placed fourteen cars.

—The citizens of St. Peter, Minn., have subscribed and paid in the sum of $7,000 required for the purchase of the Dornington farm for presentation to the State of Minnesota for Insane Asylum purposes.

—It is stated that New Haven is the only place in the United States where fishhooks, needles, and steel-bowed spectacles are manufactured. Needles, however, are now manufactured in Bridgeport and other places.

—Dr. Potter, of Tionesta, Venango county, Pa., recently drove a pair of horses 100 miles, on an ordinary country road, in 9 hours and 13 minutes, stopping once to feed and twice to water. He afterwards refused $10,000 for his team.

—At a Hebrew temple in Cincinnati, pews were sold for $1,000, and premiums were bid as high as $3,500. Two hundred thousand dollars was realized, the most liberal renting in the history of edifices for divine worship in this or any other country.

—A commission firm in Atlanta, Georgia, on the 15th inst., received thirty bales of cotton for sale, which, when opened, were found to consist of fifty per cent of heavy logs, with several chunks of rusty iron, which were neatly stowed away in the centre of the bales and artfully concealed from view.

—In a lead mine, in Tennessee, recently, some specimens of red sandstone were broken open, and one was found to contain a petrified human hand, in a perfect state of preservation. In other cases, parts of animals were found, and one black snake, some five feet long, was found, of the consistency and weight of the stone.

—It is the duty of each member of the Mt. Holyoke Female Seminary to write an annual letter, stating whether she is married or single, how many children she has, and other particulars concerning her status and progress. A young lady of the class of 1861, has just written to the class secretary that she is not married, but that she thinks she can see a little cloud that arises out of the sky of the future, like a man's hand.

—Some individuals, slightly disgusted with faro, keno, and games of that description, are now playing a game in which they stand just as good a sight as the bank does. Half a dozen or more get together, and each man writes his name on a slip of paper. The slips are laid on a counter, and the money put up. On each slip, and covering each name, a lump of sugar is placed, and the lump of sugar upon which a fly first lights is the winner, the party whose name the lump covers sweeping the board.

—A terrible catastrophe occurred in San Francisco, Cal., on the 18th of August. A building known as the Summer Street House, in Summer street, a few doors west of Montgomery, used as a boarding house, fell to the ground about 2 o'clock in the morning, burying in the ruins nearly all the occupants. The exact number in the establishment at the time is not correctly known, but it is thought to be between 30 and 40. Already eight persons have been taken out dead, and from fifteen to twenty wounded.

—A Massachusetts paper company is dividing one hundred per cent. out of the profits made from newspaper publishers. The price of paper is too high. The Boston Transcript is now printed on paper imported from England. It is a significant comment on the manufacturers in this country that paper can be imported at a saving to consumers. The proprietor of Lloyd's Newspaper, in London, has just imported two hundred and seventy tons of Esparto grass from Algeria for the manufacture of paper for that journal. The cost of this kind of paper is one-half that of linen fabric.

—There was recently quite a lively scene in the New Haven depot. The 10:30 A. M. mail train had just arrived from New York, and while the trunks were being taken from the baggage car, Master Searles discovered that one of them was on fire. Very fortunately he had a key about his person, which fitted the lock. When the trunk was opened, the clothes were found to be burning rapidly, and after searching for the cause of this singular accident, a bottle of phosphorus was found among the clothing, which had ignited. The trunk proved to be the property of a newly married couple on their wedding trip.

Foreign Gossip.

—An exchange accounts for the rapid disintegration of the Austrian Empire during the present European war, by a consideration of the great dissolving power of Prussic acid.

—When Brazil was first discovered, gold was in such common use that the inhabitants made fish hooks of that metal, no iron being used, although the country abounded with it.

—The great European chess match between Steinitz and Anderssen has resulted in the victory of the former. Score: Anderssen, 6; Steinitz, 8. A return match will be played.

—A horse belonging to the Street Railway Company, of Toronto, which had been taken to the island opposite the city in order to recruit, swam three miles with a determination to get to the city again.

—It is stated that nearly every German prince has at least $100,000 invested in American securities, and the King of Hanover, who has been notified that he cannot return to his throne, has a half million in our loans. So there is little danger of their actual starvation if they do become private citizens.

—During the past few weeks numbers of families have left the iron and coal districts of South Wales for the United States, and, it is reported, this mania for emigration has taken such a permanent hold of the miners and iron workers that the exodus is expected to continue for some time, notwithstanding the improved prospects of the staple trades of the district.

—Queen Victoria has five daughters. The oldest is the wife of the Crown Prince of Prussia. She is destined to become the future Queen of Prussia. The second, Alice, is the wife of the Prince of Hesse-Darmstadt, whose principality has been lately absorbed by Prussia. The third, Helena, became recently the wife of the Prince of Teck, who is a Prince without a principality. Two remain unmarried—Louise, who is in her 18th year, and Beatrice, who is in her 9th year. What is to be done with Louise, now that the most of the Protestant German princes have been ousted from their petty thrones by Prussia? There is only one Protestant prince now available for royal conjugal purposes, and he is the brother of the Princess of Wales, King George of Greece. Mr. Gladstone is, consequently, to proceed to Athens to enter upon this delicate negotiation.

—Every one has heard of the great stone face, the profile in the Franconia mountains, which stands out from a rocky precipice towering 1,000 feet above the beautiful lake near the Profile house. The sharp-cut features of this wonderful statue could scarcely be improved by human art. The forehead, nose, mouth, chin, and even Adam's apple on the neck, all are perfect. Many a man can be seen whose face resembles it. The strange fact about this profile, however, not generally known, is that the effect is produced, not by the edge of one rock, but simply by the accidental grouping of various rocks, some more distant than others. In fact, the front of the top of the precipice is a group of rocks about 80 feet high by 100 in breadth. The nose is 40 feet west of the forehead. The mouth, which seems a mere opening of two thin lips, is a sidelong chasm or break of 50 feet in extent. Viewed from the front, the face vanishes, while the rocks seem inaccessible as they hang in the air over the precipitous descent below them.

A Disinfectant.

The "local" of the Cincinnati Times was lately presented with a sample of somebody's "patent deodorizing compound and instantaneous cholera disinfectant," accompanied with a request to favorably notice. He noticed it the moment he smelt it, and thus relates the result on taking it home, and the laughter it has raised has probably done more good than the deodorizer spoken of:

Didn't wish to terrify the family by the ostentatious display of cholera precautions of an extraordinary nature, so we took our patent deodorizer home secretly concealed under our coat. Terrible commotion in the street car. The windows were thrown up hastily, handkerchiefs applied furiously to noses, and a general application of camphor gum, of which each one had a supply in his pocket. Profane fellows swore at the Board of Health for not cleaning the streets. One was sure it was in the gutters; another thought it was in the air; a toper, half drunk, said he was satisfied it was "in the (hic) water."

"I'll tell you what it is in," said a gloomy man, eyeing us suspiciously.

"What?" the passengers shrieked with one voice.

"It's in the car!"

With a wild yell they jumped up at once and tumbled out, leaving us all alone, and monarch of all we deodorized.

Got into the house unperceived and deposited the disinfectant in the cellar, then hurried back to the office. There was a good deal of it about our clothes; so much so that one or two men who owed us borrowed money, avoided us altogether. Felt emotions in the region of the stomach that were disagreeably suggestive. Got a little alarmed, and concluded to deodorize the disinfectant, which we did with a glass of brandy. Felt a little better ourself, but began to feel alarmed about the effect of that disinfecting compound upon the family. Hurried home—found house shut up and nobody in. Terrible smell about the house—neighbors all terrified. Asked one of them where my family was, and he said they had gone down to the bone-boiling district to get out of the smell!

Opened the door, but had to close it again, the smell was so bad. Went around to the back yard and saw the rats leaving with great precipitation. A neighbor suggested that a candle be lowered down the chimney to test the foulness of the air before the house was opened. Saloons in the neighborhood doing an immense business in the sale of brandy and whisky. Flannel belts in demand. A countrywoman with a load of watermelons mobbed and driven back. Arrival of a police officer, who arrests us for keeping a nuisance on the premises. Explanation made, and we are paroled until the house can be opened. Burnt some pitch on the front door-step, and were then enabled to get in to throw up the windows. Whew! Neighbors said they preferred the cholera.

The disinfectant is nearly abolished now, and family back again enjoying their usual good health. They say they don't wish to be disinfected any more.

Scientific Farming.

As Solomon condenses the whole duty of man into two precepts—"Fear God and keep his commandments," so the whole business and purpose of farming may be embraced in two maxims, as follows:

1st. To raise the largest possible crops with the least possible labor; and

2d. To maintain the fertility of the soil with the least possible exhaustion.

The first of these maxims has commanded very general attention throughout the United States, and a rage for large crops at whatever expense of future fertility, has become almost a mania in many parts of the country. The present system of giving prizes at our agricultural Fairs, if it does not tend to produce this state of indifference to the future productiveness of our fields, certainly does nothing to counteract it. Who ever heard of a society offering a premium for the best series of crops on the same field for five or ten years? To maintain the fertility of the soil is not only one of the principal interests of the farmer, but it is a duty he owes to those who are to succeed him in his business. Fortunately, the two maxims above stated in no way conflict with each other.

The largest possible crop may be produced this year, without materially impairing the capacity of the soil to repeat the same next year, and each succeeding year indefinitely.

A good soil can be worn only by criminal neglect and carelessness in its cultivation. In England, fields that have been cultivated a thousand years, are now producing forty bushels of wheat to the acre, and each year marks a slow but certain increase in the crop. The average per acre in the agricultural counties of England have advanced twenty per cent. since the beginning of the present century. The same is true of Sweden, and of portions of France, Germany and Belgium. This is to be attributed to the application of scientific principles pointed out by Sir Humphrey Davy in England, Sheele in Sweden, Bousingault in France, and Leibig in Germany. While this is true of the old world, how have we fared in this country? If we take the census of 1840, and compare it with that of 1860, we shall discover that while the aggregate production has greatly increased, the average per acre has been constantly diminishing. Between 1840 and 1850 this was true of all the States in all the principal crops cultivated; but between 1850 and 1860 several of the States nearly maintained their average, while one of them (Mass.,) and several counties in others, show a small advance.—Prof. R. T. Brown, in Northwestern Farmer.

A NEW AGRICULTURAL THEORY.—The Texas correspondent of the New York Tribune, writing from Castorville, tells the following singular story about planting watermelons: "When we had stopped to feed ourselves and water our horses, about noon on the first, and about five miles from Austin, a superannuated negro man old enough to be mossy, came down to the fence, and after regarding us over the top rail for a minute, inquired if we would buy some millions (watermelons). Several of us went with him to his 'patch,' which was about half an acre in extent. His melons were the largest I had ever seen, but there was one monster that loomed up above its fellows like an elephant among oxen. Some one asked him the price of it. 'All I want is the price of the chicken, sah!' Seeing no chickens about, an explanation was asked. 'Why, you see, sah, early in the spring, before plantin' time comes I takes a young chicken, as soon as his throat gets big enough, and feeds that chicken with seven dry watermelon seeds—just seven—and just as soon as he got dem seven seeds down his throat, I kills him, and sah, I plants dat dar chicken in de middle ob de patch.' 'What,' asked one of the party, 'do you mean to say that this is the way you raise melons?' 'Dat is de way I raised dat one, sah,' replied the old man, 'and I'se done dat same thing dis forty year, and long affore I was into Texas.' We satisfied ourselves with some twenty smaller ones, whose parent vines had originated in a less objectionable place." Who says negroes have no ideas of their own?

BLEEDING FROM THE NOSE.—Some two years ago, while going down Broadway, in New York, blood commenced running from my nose quite freely. I stepped aside and applied my handkerchief, intending to repair to the nearest hotel, when a gentleman accosted me, saying, "Just put a piece of paper in your mouth, chew it rapidly, and it will stop your nose bleeding." Thanking him rather doubtfully, I did as he suggested, and the flow of blood ceased almost immediately. I have seen the remedy tried since quite frequently, and always with success. Doubtless any substance would answer the same purpose as paper, the stoppage of the flow of blood being caused doubtless by the rapid motion of the jaws, and the counter action of muscles and arteries connecting the jaws and nose. Physicians state that placing a small roll of paper or muslin above the front teeth, under the upper lip, and pressing hard on the same, will arrest bleeding from the nose—checking the passage of blood through the arteries leading to the nose.—H. C. K. in Scientific American.

THE Board of Trade of Milwaukee have adopted the following new rules for the inspection of Wheat:

No. 1 Spring strictly by the present standard.

No. 2 by the present standard, as to weight, and to be free from grown and sprouted Wheat.

No. 3 shall comprise all Wheat fit for warehousing, weighing not less than fifty-four pounds to the measured bushels, which, under the established rules of inspection, may be unfit to go into the higher grades.

Rejected shall comprise all Wheat fit for warehousing, but too low in weight or otherwise unfit to pass into No. 3.

A FARMER who was looking at some fine sheep, said: "When we were boys and worked with the hired hands, and it cost ten years of hard, honest toil to accumulate it, a thousand dollars was something; but now and here, it is nothing but a crimped and ruffled Spanish ewe, or a wrinkled spring lamb with a dozen or more pounds of wool on him!"

THE Commissioner of Agriculture gives notice that he is prepared to distribute specimens of superior Mediterranean white wheat, which will be put up in quart packages, and delivered free upon receipt of application.

A farmer returning home in his wagon after delivering a load of corn, is a more certain sign of national prosperity than a nobleman riding in his chariot to the opera.

.....A warning needed at all fashionable assmblages—Look out for the paint.

.....Why is a beefsteak like a locomotive? It's not of much account without it's tender.

.....A sermon in four words on the vanity of earthly possession: "Shrouds have no pockets."

.....Prentice says that a patient is in a bad way when his disease is acute and his doctor isn't.

.....Mr. Quilp writes us that eating ground glass is sure death. It gives one a permanent pane in the stomach.

.....A young wife remonstrated with her husband, a dissipated spendthrift, on his conduct. "My love," said he, "I am only like the prodigal son; I shall return by and by." "And I will be like the prodigal son, too," she replied, "for I will arise and go to my father.," and accordingly off she went.

A Wealthy Vagrant.

Ask your friend if he knows Joseph Epstein, and very likely he will say no. Ask him if he has ever met in his journeyings to and fro through the city a man apparently about 35 or 40 years of age, with a bright eye and intelligent face, shorn of his fair proportions, having lost both legs just above the knee, making a seemingly painful and tedious progress through the streets in a sort of a sitting position, using his arms as stilts, his hands protected by leather gloves, wearing a short, dirty-looking jacket and a little round skull-cap with a small peak. Ten to one, if he resides in the city, he will say he has met such a figure frequently, and if inclined to speak of his own charitable deeds may add that his sympathy being excited by the old man's appearance, he has frequently bestowed a gratuity upon the, as he supposes, deserving object, but somebody was telling him the other day that the fellow was rich. That "fellow" is Joseph Epstein. Strangers visiting the city and meeting Joseph, who in his perigrinations does not avoid the places where they congregate, generally have their hearts moved to pity and their pursestrings loosened at sight of so much, as they think, suffering. It is different with policemen. An experience among the criminals and mendicants of a city like this rather dulls the sense of unadvised commiseration. Consequently when officer 398, of the Nineteenth precinct, saw Joseph on Fifth avenue on Sunday, about 1 o'clock, with his hat in his hand soliciting alms, No 398 recollected that there was a law against begging, and arrested Joseph. Yesterday morning Joseph was brought before Justice Kelley. No. 398 testified that he had known him as a beggar for the last six years, and Joseph was consequently committed "as an idle person without any visible means of support," and as a person "wandering abroad and placing himself in the public highway to beg." Being a notorious offender, and as such, in the language of the statute, "an improper person to be sent to the poor house," he was, pursuant to the provisions of the statute, committed to the penitentiary for 60 days. After the commitment, counsel for Joseph moved his discharge, on the ground of not being "without means of support," and submitted to the court deeds and other documents showing that he was possessed of real property to the amount of $25,000. Justice Kelley denied the motion, and counsel stated his intention to ceritorari the case.—New York Herald.

A TAME LEOPARD'S FIRST BLOOD.—Many years ago an English officer, stationed at Samarang, during our occupation of the Dutch colonies, had a tame leopard. The animal had its liberty, and used to run all over the house of his master, to whom he was much attached. One morning, after breakfast, the officer was sitting smoking his hookah, with a book in his right hand and the hookah snake in his left, when he felt a slight pain in his left hand, and on attempting to raise it was checked by a low, angry growl from his pet animal. On looking down, he saw the leopard had been licking the back of his hand, and had by degrees drawn a little blood from it. The leopard would not allow the removal of the hand, but continued to lick it with apparent relish, which did not much please his master, who, with great presence of mind, without attempting to disturb his pet in his proceedings, called to his servant to bring him a pistol loaded, with which he shot the animal dead on the spot. This was probably the first time the leopard had tasted blood.—E. Jesse, in Once a Week.

—"La Califerrie" is the monster restaurant of Paris and the world. It will accommodate 1,800 people. Thirty butchers are constantly employed to supply the establishment with meats. A regiment of waiters answer calls for wine alone. The proprietor has purchased 800,000 wine glasses, 100,000 forks, and 150,000 knives for the use of this restaurant. It is frequented by all classes, every person going direct to the kitchen, where the dish delivered is selected and paid for. Three thousand pounds of meat and two casks of wine are consumed daily.

Important Decision.—"Single-Thread vs. Double Thread."—At the "Grand Trial of Sewing Machines" at Island Park, the contest being between "Single-Thread" and "Double-Thread" Machines, and the latter claiming an "advantage" because of its using "two" threads instead of "one," the result was a unanimous "DECISION" of the "judges," after a "protracted and severely contested trial," that "the advantage is not on the side of a 'DOUBLE-THREAD' but on that of a 'SINGLE-THREAD' as used by the Wilcox & Gibbs Machine."—See "Report of Grand Trial."

THE MARKETS.

	New York,		Sept. 22.
COTTON—Middling	$ .83	@	.83¼
FLOUR—Extra Round Hoop Ohio	9.75	@	11.50
WHEAT—No. 1 Milwaukee New	2.20	@	2.26
BARLEY	.88	@	.90
CORN—Sound Western Mixed	.86	@	.90
OATS—New Western	.46	@	.49
PETROLEUM—Crude	.27	@	.27½
PORK—Mess new	33.00	@	33.12
BEEF CATTLE—Common to good	13.00	@	17.50
DRY GOODS—Merrimacs	.20	@	.21
Bleached Sheetings—Masonville		@	.35
Brown Sheetings—Stark		@	.22½
Delaines—Manchester		@	.27½
Denims—Manchester		@	.34½
GOLD—Closed 1.45.

	Chicago, Sept. 24, 1866.
BEEVES—Stock to prime	4.00	@	$5.75
BEANS	.50	@	1.00
BUTTER—Good Tub	.22	@	.24
CHEESE—Western States	.13	@	.15
COFFEE—Rio	.26	@	.30
Java	.39	@	.40
EGGS	.22	@	.25
FRUITS—Green Apples—New	1.75	@	2.75
Grapes—per lb	.18	@	.21
Cranberries—per bbl	8.00	@	12.00
FLOUR—Winter White	11.00	@	13.75
Spring Extra	9.50	@	11.75
FISH—Mackerel, No. 1, half bbl	12.25	@	12.50
Whitefish, " "	7.25	@	7.50
Codfish, per hundred	9.00	@	9.50
GRAIN—Corn, No. 1	.00	@	.68
Oats "	.30	@	.31
Rye "	.72	@	.75
Wheat—Spring No. 1 New	2.05	@	2.09
Barley Western—new	1.05	@	1.07
HIGHWINES	2.23	@	2.24
HOPS	.50	@	.65
LARD	.18	@	.19
LUMBER—Common flooring, rough	32.00	@	35.00
PORK—Mess	33.50	@	33.75
POTATOES, per bushel	.50	@	.60
SHEEP—Good	3.00	@	4.75
SUGARS—Cuba	.12¾	@	.14½
New York Refined	.17¾	@	.17¾
White B	.16⅝	@	.16¾
SALT—Fine		@	2.60
Coarse		@	2.50
WOOL—Medium washed	.43	@	.47
SEEDS—Timothy	2.75	@	3.00
Flax	2.62	@	2.75

BRANDRETH'S PILLS,

WHOSE TIMELY USE, UNDER PROVIDENCE, HAS OFTEN SAVED LIFE.

These celebrated Vegetable Pills are no new, untried remedy; they have been used and tested in the United States for thirty years, and are relied upon by hundreds of thousands of families as almost their sole medicine when sick. No cure or expense is spared in their preparation, and it is certainly true when I assert that no King can have a medicine safer or surer than Brandreth's Pills.

They produce a good effect upon disease almost immediately they are taken. By some wonderful power, perhaps electric or nervous influence, the progress of diseased action is arrested; where watchfulness and pain have been present, the system becomes quieter, and the patient soon obtains refreshing sleep.

The genuine BRANDRETH PILL BOX has upon it a UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT STAMP with B. BRANDRETH in White Letters in the same.

DR. TOBIAS'

VENETIAN HORSE LINIMENT

Flat Bottles at One Dollar, for the cure of lameness, scratches, wind galls, sprains, bruises, splints, cuts, colic, slipping stifle, over-heating, sore throat, nail in the foot, etc. It is warranted cheaper and better than any other article ever offered to the public. Thousands of animals have been cured of the colic and over-heating, by this Liniment, and hundreds that were crippled and lame have been restored to their former vigor. It is used by all the first horsemen throughout the States. Orders are constantly received from the racing stables of England for fresh supplies of this invaluable article. Over 2,500 testimonials have been received. Remember, one dollar laid out in time may save the life of your horse. Sold by all druggists. Office, 60 Cortlandt street, New York.

CHAMBERLAIN'S IMMEDIATE RELIEF—A Toothache and Pain Killer is the most valuable and cheapest family medicine in the world, and certainly cure, and if used in time will prevent, the following diseases, as can be proved by nearly one thousand letters from persons who have used the medicine: Cholera Morbus, Acute Colic, Cramps, Colic, Coughs, Croup, Catarrh, Congestion, Colds, Cuts, Dysentery, Diarrhœa, Diphtheria, Fever, Rheumatism, Fever and Ague, Neuralgia, Inflammation, Spasms, Sprains, Toothache, Earache, Headache, Backache, in short, wherever pain or soreness exists, either internal or external, there apply the medicine, and the patient will receive immediate relief.

It is the best! In 1849 and in 1854 this medicine cured many thousands seized with cholera, and its timely use as a preventative saved millions of lives.

It is the cheapest! One thirty-five cent bottle of this medicine will cure more complaints than one hundred dollars spent in employing doctors. The thirty-five cent bottle is as large as a fifty cent bottle of any other medicine.

It is warranted! A sad bottle of this medicine can be had of all agents, and the privilege given the purchaser of using one half the contents on trial, and if it does not prove satisfactory the money will be refunded.

No family should be without it!

Dealers may tell you they have something c'se as good, but do not be deceived—ask for Chamberlain's Relief and take no other.

Sold by all the leading wholesale and retail druggists everywhere.

SWAIN MANUFACTURING COMPANY, 34 S. Water Street, Chicago, Sole Proprietors.

SWAIN'S HAIR BALM Restores Gray Hair.

Spread the Truth.

Some medical men insist that it is undignified to advertise a remedy, however valuable it may be. Queer reasoning this. It is like saying that an article which the world needs should be hid in a corner—that benefits and blessings may be too widely diffused—that the means of protecting and restoring health should be a close monopoly, and not accessible to all. The argument is bad. It is worse than that; it is inhuman. Suppose HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS—an absolute specific for dyspepsia, biliousness and nervous debility—had never been known beyond the repertoire of the faculty, what would have been the consequence? Instead of curing and invigorating millions, the good effect of the preparation would have been confined to a comparative few. There is the highest authority for saying that light should not be hid under a bushel; that whatever is excellent should be placed as a city on a hill, where all men can take cognizance of it. It is upon this principle that the BITTERS have been advertised and continue to be advertised in every newspaper of any prominence in the western hemisphere, and that the spontaneous testimonials in its favor have been translated into all written languages. Thousands enjoy perfect health to-day who would be languishing on beds of sickness if the newspapers had not spread the truth in regard to this unequaled invigorant and corrective far and wide. Suppose profit has been reaped by this publicity. Is that any argument against it? If the public health had been protected; if lives have been saved; if the feeble have been strengthened, and the sick restored, great good has been accomplished; and who so mean as to grudge to exertions thus directed their fair reward?

GO TO THE BEST.

BRYANT & STRATTON'S CHICAGO BUSINESS UNIVERSITY is the largest and most thorough Institution of the kind in the country, and young men going to Chicago should consult their own best interests by attending this College, where every department of a Business Education is thoroughly taught—Bryant, Stratton & Co's. Scholarships are good during life in forty-eight different Colleges—Address for College Paper, Circular, College Currency and Specimens of Penmanship, BRYANT & STRATTON, Chicago, Ill.

A Household Necessity Exists for the use of Durno's Celebrated Catarrh Snuff.

The best known remedy for "a Cold in the Head," Headache, Snuffles, Sore Eyes, Deafness, and the worst forms of that loathsome disease, CATARRH.

It cleanses the entire head. Its effects are speedy and wonderful, contains no tobacco, nor injurious ingredient. It has the highest professional testimonials. Sold by all Druggists for 25 cents per Box. Can be sent by mail on receipt of 30 cents for one Box, or $1 for four Boxes. Address JAS. DURNO, Postoffice Box 1235, New York City. Wholesale by D. BARNES & CO., 21 Park Row New York.

AGENTS WANTED

For the best selling and most useful work of the day. Our Agents are making from $100 to $300 per month, in selling "Mackenzie's Universal Encyclopedia," or 10,000 receipts in all the useful arts, such as Medicine, Cookery, Farriery, Agriculture, &c., &c. New and special articles upon Cholera, and the Rinderpest and Trichinæ have just been added. All new, reliable and useful discoveries added to each edition, making it the most complete book of the kind ever issued. The whole compiled and arranged by a corps of the best scientific men of the country. Apply for circular giving full description and terms to agents. Copies of letters, showing what other agents are doing, &c., sent free by the publishers.

T. ELLWOOD ZELL & COMPANY, Nos. 17 and 19 S. Sixth street, Philadelphia.

THE MOON'S VOLCANOES

are engaging the attention of astronomers, but the world of Beauty and Fashion is less interested in human discoveries than in the great question of

TURNING THE HEADS

that have been whitened by age or sickness to a glorious black or brown hue. Nobody now is such as not to admit that the finest and most harmless hair darkener in existence is

A LUNATIC

ORISTADORO'S HAIR DYE,

which nourishes the fibres as well as changes their hue. Manufactured by J. CRISTADORO, 6 Astor House New York. Sold by all Druggists. Applied by all Hair Dressers.

Circular Saws,

WITH EMERSON'S

Patent Movable Teeth,

REQUIRE LESS POWER,

less skill, less files—saw smoother and better—cut less kerf. The saw always retains its original size. Send for descriptive pamphlet, containing information of value to all interested in lumber, and sawing of any description,

Address, AMERICAN SAW COMPANY, No. 2 Jacob st., near Ferry st., N. Y.

FAIRBANKS'

STANDAR

OLD RELIABLE!

CLOTHIERS

AND

Tailors!

D. W. C. HARDY & CO.

Adrian, - Michigan.

The place to secure unheard of bargains;

MAMMOTH STOCK

Always to select from and Eastern prices will be found here.

ONE PRICED SYSTEM AND

GOOD GOODS.

Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Be sure and find the OLD RELIABLE CLOTHING HOUSE, and for

Custom Work and Cloths

You cannot do better west of New York.

D. W. C. HARDY & Co.

Lathrop Block, Adrian, Mich.

EUREKA.

NOT CALIFORNIA WITH ALL ITS GOLD, BUT THE PLACE TO BUY

Boots & Shoes at

Prices that suit the times, at

MC'NICHOL & WILSON'S

EMPIRE

Boot & Shoe Store.

We shall keep constantly on hand a full assortment of the BEST

Eastern Work to be Found

Consisting of

LADIES, MEN'S, BOY'S AND KID GAITERS, BALMORALS, SLIPS, And a endless variety of EVERYTHING usually found in a first Class Boot & Shoe Store. Our manufacturing department will be ably conducted and all work done by us warranted to give satisfaction. Those in want of Boots or Shoes will save money by calling, and will be sure to buy, for they can't fail to "see it."

☞ Remember the place—one door east of Curtis Drug Store,

Yes, 'Tis So!--Fact.

The subscriber would respectfully inform the citizens of Tecumseh and vicinity, that they have purchased the

On Railroad st. opposite Slayton, Tindall & Co's. Warehouse, where they will keep constantly on hand a good supply of everythings people may want, such as

BEEF, PORK, MUTTON

Lamb, Veal, Corned Beef, Salt Fish of all kinds, Smoked Hams &c. &c. We intend to keep the best market ever kept in this village, and sell as reasonable as the times will allow. Call and see me,

A. S. Mathews.

Tecumseh, July, 1866

DR. VELPAU'S FRENCH PILLS.

Ladies, take Particular Notice.

THE REAL VELPAU FEMALE PILL.

[WARRANTED FRENCH.]

THESE PILLS, so celebrated many years ago in Paris for the relief of female irregularities, and afterward so notorious for their criminal employment in the practice of abortion, are now offered for sale for the first time in America. They have been kept in comparative obscurity from the fact that the inventor, Dr. Velpau, is a physician in Paris of great wealth and strict conscientious principle, and has withheld them from general use lest they should be employed for unlawful purposes. In overcoming Female Obstructions, Pain of the Womb, Whites, Green Sickness, Suppression, Retention, or Immoderate Flow of the Monthly Discharges, they seem to be truly omnipotent, bursting open the fleshy gates from whatever cause may have stopped them; but they are offered to the public only for legitimate uses, and all agents are forbidden to sell them when it is understood that the object is unlawful. Married ladies should never take them when there is any reason to believe themselves pregnant, for they will be sure to produce a miscarriage.

These pills are entirely safe under all circumstances, being composed entirely of substances from the vegetable kingdom.

Each box has the coat of arms for the City of Paris stamped on the box, with the words "Trade Mark" in French, to counterfeit which is a misdemeanor, and all persons will be dealt with according to law.

☞ Full directions accompany every box.

Ladies can obtain a box sealed from the eyes of the curious, by inclosing One Dollar and six post-office stamps to any respectable druggists, or to O. G. STAPLES, General Agent for the United States, Watertown, N. Y.

Agents, -

Staiger & Fausel

PRACTICAL

Watch-Makers, Jewelers,

And Repairers of Clocks &c. &c.

J. D. Robbins' Jewelry Store, Tecumseh, Mich. Give them a call.

Farmers! Farmers!

THE

RAISIN MILLS,

is the place to get good grinding done. I pay particular attention to this branch of business,

CUSTOM GRINDING.

keep the Mill constantly in good repair and the 2nd Adam is always on hand with a pleasant smile to tend to the wants

OF MY NUMEROUS CUSTOMERS!

BRING GOOD CLEAN WHEAT, and I will warrant that Adam will give you satisfaction. SOUND

Wheat taken in store for Bread

Good White and Red Wheat Flour for sale. The highest market price paid

In Greenbacks

for good White and Amber Wheat

Mill Feed of allkinds for Sale.

SAWING DONE

for Customers on short notice. Bills of hard wood lumber sawed, and delivered if wished.

LUMBER FOR SALE

Cash paid for Saw Logs. Good hard wood slabs for sale by the load. &c. &c

I sincerely thank my numerous customers for their very liberal patronage, and shal endeavor to do as good work, and even better if possible in the future.

Woolston Comfort.

---

18 Pronunciemento. 66

GLOBE MILLS.

This well known and popular Mill is

Now in Good Running Order,

and prepared to do Grinding Grists for the farmers in a satisfactory manner, will endeavor to make a good yield and have the flour suit.

Old Customers

I shall be pleased to retain, and would invite others to try and see

How well we can do For them.

To such as

PREFER EXCHANGING THEIR GRAIN,

to having it ground, I shall be ready to accommodate, having always on hand a

SUPPLY OF FLOUR,

There can usually be found at the Mill for Sale

Best White Wheat Flour,
Best Red Wheat Flour,
2nd best Red Wheat Flour,
At Wholesale or Retail.
Corn Meal, Bolted and Coarse,
Fine Midlings, B. W Flour,
Ship Stuffs, B. w. Bran,
Mixed feed for horses and cattle,
Corn and Oats ground for horse feed.

This Mill can more often grind, because of its unfailing

SUPPLY OF WATER,

and does more certainly have a supply of Flour and Feed always on hand, than any other mill for miles around.

Farmers are invited to bring their wheat to the Globe Mill and get THE HIGHEST MARKET PRICE.

They will always also usually find a market at the Mill for their other grains.

Wm. HAYDEN.

THUNDERATION.

Still Ahead!!

CLEAR THE TRACK!!

—FOR THE—

NEW ARRIVAL

OF

SUMMER GOODS

AT

Anderson and Larned's.

We have just returned from New York With a large and well selected stock of

STAPLE AND FANCY DRY GOODS,

consisting of

DRESS GOODS,
YANKEE NOTIONS,
BROWN & BLEECHED
SHEETINGS, CLOTHS,
TRIMMINGS &c., &c.

A full assortment of HOOP SKIRTS offered at low rates. Also a fine assortment of

Crockery AND Glassware,

All our goods are

BOUGHT FOR CASH

and will be sold as cheap as can be bought in Southern Mich. Call one door east of P. O. and see for yourselves.

ONE OF THE LARGEST

ESTABLISHMENT

In Southern michigan.

One of the best filled Establishments!

A LARGE STOCK,

Most Varied

Stock of Furniture

Is to be found at

G. & H. Smiths'

ROOMS IN THE

NEW BUILDING,

South Side Chicago St., Tecumseh,

Great Bargains

Are now offered to wholesale or retail buyers.

Among our assortment of Furniture may be found,

Various Styles and Prices

OF SOFAS,

TETE-A-TETES,

MAHOGANY, EASY,
WOOD SEAT, CANE SEAT

AND ROCKING CHAIRS

FRENCH, COTTAGE,
COMMON AND TRUNDLE,

BEDSTEADS,

MARBLE TOP,
WRITING, CARD AND

TEA TABLES,

Nots, Cradles, Bureaus, Cribs, Desks, Show Cases, Stands, Book Cases, Cupboards, Washstands, Lounges, &c. &c. &c.

Furniture made to order on short no c by the best of Workmen.

LOOKING GLASSES,

COFFINS,

We keep constantly on hand a large and full assortment of Coffins and will make to order all kinds either Night or Day, and finished and trimmed in the best style,

A Hearse Furnished when Desired.

G. SMITH,
H. SMITH.

Tecumseh, June 11th, 1863.

Great Chance for Bargains.

CHAS. H. ADAM & CO.

BEING ABOUT TO RETIRE FROM THE DRY GOODS IN TECUMSEH, OFFER FOR SALE AT

GREATLY REDUCED RATES

THEIR ENTIRE STOCK OF DRY GOODS,

Consisting of Staple and Fancy Goods, Yankee Notions

And everything usually kept in a Dry Goods Store.
This will afford the best opportunity
EVER OFFERED IN TECUMSEH TO OBTAIN BARGAINS IN DRY GOODS, FOR CASH.

GOODS SOLD BY THE PIECE
OR QUANTITY AT WHOLESALE PRICES.

All outstanding accounts must be settled within thirty days to save interest and cost.

C. H. ADAM & CO.

TECUMSEH, SEPT. 27th, 1866.

BARRETT'S

THE BEST VEGETABLE — BR — HAIR RESTORATIVE.

ON THIS CONTINENT

AND

THE NE PLUS ULTRA — THE PEOPLE'S CHOICE

IS SO PRONOUNCED BY THE most scientific Analytical Chemists.

It Restores Gray Hair to its Natural Color.
It Promotes the growth of the Hair.
It Prevents Hair Falling Out.
It Changes the Roots to their Original Organic Action.
It Eradicates Dandruff and Humors.
It Keeps the Scalp Healthy.
It Contains no Injurious Ingredient.

And is generally accorded to be

A SPLENDID DRESSING.

ITS MERITS

Are Inside the Bottle.

Every bottle contains MORE LIQUID than any other dollar preparation. NO LARGE REWARDS offered to establish its efficacy, but we DO GUARANTEE to refund the money to any person who will use two bottles and then say that our restorative has failed to do all we claim.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Our J. R. BARRETT is the first and only man who discovered the art of combining a HAIR RESTORATIVE with a DRESSING, of which there are now many imitations in the market, yet none but BARRETT'S are Original.

J. R. BARRETT & CO., Proprietors,
MANCHESTER, N. H.

FARRAND, SHELEY & CO.,
DETROIT.
General Agents for Michigan.

DENTISTRY.

DR. A. PELHAM,

Resident Dentists.

Office over Fisher & Baker's Drug Store, Chicago St.

TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN.

☞ All branches of Dentistry performed in the neatest possible manner and at Reasonable Prices

---

We would respectfully inform the citizens of Tecumseh and vicinity that we opened a

MEAT MARKET,

at McGee's old stand in Bidwell's warehouse where we shall keep on hand everything in our line that the market affords, of the best quality that can be had.

We have also made arrangements for the manufacture of SOFT SOAP, which will be sold at reasonable rates. Ashes and grease taken in exchange and Soap delivered when requested.

Thankful for past favors, we cordially invite our friends to give us a call. All orders left at the Market will be promptly attended to. W. TAYLOR & CO.

$1,500 PER YEAR. We want agents everywhere to sell our IMPROVED $20 Sewing Machines. Three new kinds. Under and upper feed. Sent on trial. Warranted five years. Above salary or large commissions paid. The only machines sold in the United States for less than $40, which are fully licensed by Howe, Wheeler & Wilson, Grover & Baker, Singer & Co, and Bachelder. All other cheap machines are infringements and the seller or user are liable to arrest, fine and imprisonment. Illustrated circulars sent free. Address, or call upon Shaw & Clark, at Biddeford, Maine, or Chicago, Ill.

ROYAL HAVANA LOTTERY OF CUBA

Conducted by the Spanish Government,

$350,000

IN GOLD DRAWN EVERY 17 DAYS

Prizes cashed and information furnished, the highest rates paid for Doubloons and all kinds of Gold and Silver, also for all government Securities.

TAYLOR & CO., Bankers, 16 wall st. N. Y.

n790lysmp

Ditchers take Notice.

The Drain Commissioners of Lenawee County will meet on the east side of section 12 on the lands of Levi Fowler, in the township of Adrian, on Saturday the 1st day of September next, at 9 o'clock A. M., for the purpose of letting jobs on a drain commencing on section 12 and extending to section 24 of Adrian Township. Said jobs will be let to the lowest bidder in sections to suit contractors.

By order of the Drainage Commissioners.

JUSTUS LOWE, Secretary.

Ridgeway, Aug. 7th, 1866.

THE CONFESSIONS AND EXPERIENCE OF AN INVALID.

Published for the benefit and as a CAUTION TO YOUNG MEN and others, who suffer from Nervous Debility, Premature Decay of Manhood, &c., supplying at the same time the means of Self-Cure. By one who has cured himself after undergoing considerable quackery.—By enclosing a post-paid addressed envelope, single copies, free of charge, may be had of the author.

NATHANIEL MAYFAIR, Esq., Brooklyn, Kings Co, N. Y.

n790lysmp

THAT'S RIGHT,

We Have It!!

VARIETY.

We would respectfully announce to the good people of Tecumseh and vicinity that

HIALEY & WALTERS

Have now on hand a large and well selected stock of

FAMILY GROCERIE

Which they are offering very low. They have in connection with their Grocery a

BAKERY,

and having secured the services of a first class Baker, are now prepared to furnish all, with Bread, Crackers, Pies, Cakes &c. They have furnished rooms over their store for the sale of

ICE-CREAM, LEMONADE &c

and by strict attention to business, they hope to please all who patronize

---

L. DREW'S

NEW HARDWARE!!

Having received from New York and other eastern cities a large Stock of the following goods viz:

STOVES IN ENDLESS VARITY!

Iron, Steel Nails, Cutlery, Putty, Glass. Window Sashes,

House Trimmings,

Carpenter's Tools, Farming Tools Coopers Tools and Chain Pumps, Bolts, and a

Variety of SHELF GOODS,

PURCHASED FOR CASH Before THE LATE ADVANCE,

They are offered for sale at prices which defy competition. All kinds of

Tin ware

constantly on hand and made to order of the best material and by experienced workmen, also

Copper, Sheet Iron, and Zinc,

Also the

Good Samaritan COOKING STOVE, one of the best stoves in the country.

M. WRIGHT

Keeps constantly on kand, a large and choice assortment of

Drugs and Medicines,

PAINTS, OILS, VARNISHES,

FANCY GLASS WARE,

KEROSENE OIL GROCERY,

WALL PAPER,

PERFUMERY &c.

Also, agent for all the popular

PATENT MEDICINES,

ALCOHOL, Pure WINES, LIQUORS AND SPICES,

Also, a good selection of

FRESH GROCERIES,

Physicians' Prescriptions carefully compounded and all orders answered.

Medicines warranted genuine and of the best quality and sold at the lowest cash prices.

The Southern Michigan

MANUFACTORY!

IN FULL BLAST!

T. Cummins, Proprietor,

Would announce to the citizens of Lenawee Co, that he is still located in the Brick Shop on Railroad Street, Where he is now turning out the

Nicest, Best and Strongest,

WAGONS, CARRIAGES, SLEIGHS, BUGGIES, CUTTERS,

and in fact everything in his line from a baby cart to a large Omnibus. His prices are such as defy competition. So call and leave your orders.

☞ Job Printing in all its various branches neatly and promptly executed at this office.—Our charges are moderate.—Try us.

GO TO THE

LONG ESTABLISHED

Head Quarters, for

Groceries & Provisions,

A. JAMES

Is happy to inform his patrons and the public in general that he has heavily replenished his stock of Goods, to which he invites the attention of those in search of

Good Articles

AT FAIR PRICES.

His stock embraces about every article known in his line of trade—

CIGARS, SOAP & SNUFF, SPICES, SOURS & SWEETS

Confectionery Candles,

FRUIT AND FISH

Stone and Wooden Ware,

&c.

He continues to pay the highest market price for all kinds of Farmers Produce.

His stock embraces all kinds, under the ollowing heads:

MOLASSES,
SOAP, FISH,
SUGAR, SYRUP,
COFFEE, SPICES,
AMMUNITION, CANDIES,
CANDLES, TOBACCO,
FRUITS, SAUCES,
BURNING OILS.

OUR MOTTO IS,

Never to be Undersold.

Sorghum Men Attention!

LOOK AT THE CANE MACHINERY.

At Slayton, Tindall & Co's Warehouse.

New Styles of Mills, Evaporators and Horse Powers, never before introduced in Michigan. Patented by Powers & Stevens, of Wisconsin, and successfully and extensively used in the Western States.

Vertical and Horizontal MILLS,

of all sizes, of great strength and capacity, with patent adjustable rubber springs.

OVAPORATORS

divided into sections with instantly movable partitions over fire chamber, which is also divided into sections, and heat regulated by Patent Dampers, at will. Also Saccharometers and tools for full setts of Camp Implements for the manufacture of syrup & sugar

KIRBY Mower & Reaper,
BUCK EYE Mower & Reaper
CAYUGA CHIEF, Mower & Reaper,
" " No. 2 "
EUREKA Mower & Reaper,
EXCELSIOR Mower & Reaper,
NEW YORKER Mower & Reaper,
BALL Mower & Reaper,
HUBBARD Mower, QUAKER Mower,

Any other style Mower or Reaper you want can be had of SLAYTON, TINDALL & CO

The Buckeye, Riding, Corn and Fallow Cultivator. The Stafford, Riding, Corn and Fallow Cultivator. 1, 2, and 3 shovel, one horse Corn Cultivators. Corn Plows. L. Green's Patent Peekskill Plows. Curtis' Plows, the genuine, from Mr. Curtis' own shop. For Sale by

SLAYTON, TINDALL & Co

CURTIS & PARSONS

(DEALERS IN)

Having become proprietors of the well known establishment in Bidwell's Block on Chicago Street, would respectfully announce to the citizens of Tecumseh and vicinity, that they are prepared to supply them with everything in the line of Hardware, Tin ware, Iron, Nails, Chains, Cutlery, Bells, Seelf goods Glass, Cradles, Scythes, Forks, Rakes, Carpenter's tools, Doors, Axes, Hoes Cistren Pumps, Putty, Spades and Shovels, Chains, Ropes and every article usually kept in like establishments.

Especial attention is called to the large assortment of Cook and Parlor Stoves & Fixtures, of which they have a large variety, embracing all the latest improvements, We have also a Tin-Shop in opperation, for manufacturing & repairing all kinds of Tin, Copper and Sheet Iron Ware Stove-pipe, Eave Troughs, Milk Pans, Dippers, Cups, Oil-Cans, and every conceivable article, from a Large Dish Pan down to a Tin, whistle, We are sole agents for the Universal Clothes Wringer, for this vicinity.

GEO. CURTIS. WM. A. PARSONS.

The Pride of the West

THE TECUMSEH

RED MILLS

J. MILLER & SONS

Have rented the above Mills; thorougly repaired the same, and are now manufacturing a No. 1 article of

FAMILY FLOUR,

We are also prepared to furnish

CORN MEAL, SHIP STUFFS AND

Mill Feed, at all times.

CUSTOM WORK

Done with neatness and Dispatch and

WARRANTED TO GIVE SATISFACTION.

The Highest Market Price in

Cash, for Wheat!

Give us a trial, and we will warrant that you will not go away dissatisfied.

JOHN MILLER & SONS.

Probate Notice.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss.—At a session of the Probate Court, for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate Office, in the City of Adrian on Tuesday the 4th day of September in the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty six.

Present, Robert R. Beecher, Judge of Probate. In the matter of the estate of Jessee Jackson, deceased. On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of Bridget McC. Jackson widow of said deceased praying that the last will of said deceased may be admitted to probate and that she may be appointed Executrix thereof

Thereupon it is ordered that Monday, the eighth day of October next, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate Office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said Petioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate, of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Tecumseh Herald, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

ROBERT R. BEECHER,
Judge of Probate.

(A true copy) C. C. COATS, Register.

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the condition of a certain Mortgage made by Thomas Horan and Sarah Horan his wife mortgagors, to Ambrose S. Berry mortgagee, bearing date the fifteenth day June in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and fifty-nine and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the county of Lenawee and State of Michigan, on the 15th day of June 1859 in Liber 28, of mortgages on pages 769 and 770 on which said mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice, fifty-nine dollars and eighty-nine cents and no suit or proceedings at law having been instituted to recover the same or any part thereof. Notice is therefore given that on the 17th day of November 1866, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the front door of the Methodist Church in the city of Adrian in said county of Lenawee, that being the place for holding the Circuit Court for the county of Lenawee, I shall sell at public auction or vendue to the highest bidder the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof, as may be necessary to satisfy the amount due on said mortgage at the date of this notice with interest and the costs and expenses allowed by law together with the attorneys fee as provided in said mortgage, that is to say—all that tract or parcel of land situate in the city of Adrian, in the county of Lenawee and State of Michigan, described as follows: Village (now city) lots one (1) and two (2) on Block number thirteen (13) for a more particular discription reference being had to the Plat of the village (now city) of Adrian as recorded in the Registers office of Lenawee County aforesaid.

AMBROSE S. BERRY, Mortgagee.

WM. L. GREENLY, Attorney for Mortgagee.

Dated Aug. 14th, 1866.

Hear Ye! Hear Ye!!

Do you want the best Card pictures in this section.

Do you want those gems of art, Opatotypes or Porcelains? Do you want work warranted? Do you want to suit yourselves? Do you want the best that Art affords? Then go to Powers rooms over the P. O. Tecumseh, Michigan, and you can find FIRST CLASS WORK, of every description. He is bound not to be out-done in any branch of the business. Pictures of any size done to order in INDIA-INK, WATER or OIL COLORS, on short notice and in the best style

Persons having small Negatives which they like can have pictures made from them life size or smaller as they choose and finished in India-ink water or oil colors. Give him a call and examine his work. You will find him gentlemanly, courteous and ever ready to oblige. He is bound to give satisfaction to all. No poor work allowed to leave the rooms. He has the best instruments known and acknowledged to be such by all superior Artists. One half of the pictures that took the premium at the last County Fair, over A. J. Hosga name, were of Powers make. Do you want proof, call and examine. Powers has served three years in the army, and deserves the patronage of the public. You will find him prompt, active and always at his place of business.

The Tecumseh Herald.

C. M. BURLINGAME, Publisher. "The Constitution, the Union, and the Enforcement of the Laws." Terms per year $2 00 in Advance.

VOL. XVII. NO. 20. TECUMSEH MICHIGAN, THURSDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 11, 1866. WHOLE NO. 830.

Now Ready!
New Fall and Winter Goods!

MERRITT, MEEKER & Co
North side Chicago St

Mr. Wm. Van Camp having just returned from the City of New York, we are now prepared to submit to the inspection, the largest and best ever offered in the Village of Tecumseh.

SELECTED STOCK OF GOODS

Having purchased the same from first hands for cash. We are thereby enabled to offer special Inducements to our patrons. And not only be able to maintain but largely increase our reputation for having the largest, best assortment and cheapest stock of Goods west of New York City.

CONSISTING OF

Foreign & Domestic Dry Goods
FANCY DRESS GOODS.
Yankee Notions and Hosiery!
HATS & CAPS,
GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS,
Broadcloths, Cassimeres, Over Coatings, Vestings and Cloakings, Plain and Fanch Flannels, Ladies' and Gents' Furs, Hoods, Nubias,
Breakfast Shawls, Buffalo Robes, Gloves, Mittens, &c. &c.

Special atten is called to our CLOTH DEPARTMENT. As we have a large assortment of Eastern Cloths, and having the exclusive sale of Cloths manufactured at the Ypsilanti Woolen Mills, we are prepared to sell as low as any one in Southern Michigan.

E. H. ESTES,

Having purchased the interest of

J. S HENDRYX, in the
THE GROCERY BUSINESS,

Will keep constantly on hand
SALT BY THE BARREL,
Sack or by the pound.

CHOICE TEA,

COFFEE, TOBACCO,
FISH, &C.

Also a good assortment of
KEROSENE OIL,
LAMP CHIMNIES.

SBRGENT'S PAT. LANTERN,
And all things belonging to the business.

CALL AND SEE HIM.

WANTED.
ALL THE TORN
RAGGED
AND MUTILATED
GREENBACKS
AND
POSTAGE CURRENCY
In the County, at par value
in exchange for which I offer my
ENTIRE STOCK,
Comprising the largest and finest assortment of
BOOKS & STATIONERY
GOLD PENS, CUTLERY, ALBUMS,
SHEET MUSIC,
BLANK BOOKS, PAPER COLLARS
YANKEE NOTIONS
&c., &c.,
IN NORTHERN LENAWEE
At prices that defy COMPETITION
Rush in the Rags, no matter how badly torn or soiled. Remember the place, in the Post-Office Building.
G. T. Ketcham.
P. S.—I shall continue taking Greenbacks and Postage Currency not mutilated, as heretofore, until further notice.

J. D. ROBBINS
(Successor to ROBBINS & DEWOLF
DEALER IN
CLOCKS, WATCHES,
FINE JEWELRY,
SPECTACLES,
WALL PAPER,
SCHOOL BOOKS,
FANCY GOODS,
YANKEE NOTIONS,
TOYS, ETC., &c.
—o—
I will sell any of the above goods as
Cheap or Cheaper than any other dealer in the country, and
WARRANT
all goods sold as good as recommended.
—o—
CASH FOR RAGS!
—o—
J. D. Robbins.
TECUMSEH, ... MICHIGAN.

TECUMSEH TIME TABLE

GOING SOUTH.

Mail and Express,	6:50 A. M.
Day Express,	1:12 P. M.
Freight,	4:40 P. M.

GOING NORTH.

Mail and Express,	3:42 P M.
Evening Express,	9:30 P. M.
Freight,	8:05 A. M.

Business Directory.

TEMPLE & MURRAY
Carpenters and Joiners, Manufacturers of Doors, Sash, Blinds, Gates &c.
S. W. Temple's Shop, Tec. Mich.

A. HOOD & CO.
Dealers in Hats, Caps and Clothing, &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

GEORGE HEESEN,
Dealer in Ready Made Clothing, &c.
One door west of the Bank.
Chicago st. Tecumseh. Mich

TRIBOU & BIDWELL BRO'S,
Dealers in Dry Goods, Groceries, &c. &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh. Mich.

WARD & STRICKLAND,
Dealers in Dry Goods, Groceries Ready Made Clothing &c. &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

RICHARD C. MOORE.
Dealer in Dry Goods, Fancy Goods &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

MERRITT, MEEKER & CO,
Dealers in Dry Goods and Fancy Goods
Chicago street, Tecumseh, Mich.

ALFRED JAMES,
Dealer in Groceries, Confectionaries, &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

HENRY C. CONKLING.
Dealer in Groceries Provisions, &c., &c
Chicago St. Tecumseh, M.

MOSES WRIGHT,
Dealer in Drugs, Medicines, Toilets, &c.
Chicao St: Tecumseh, Mich.

P. N. CURTIS.
Dealer in Drugs, Paints, Oils, & Notions.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

FISHER & BAKER,
Dealers in Drugs, Medicines, Paints &c.
Chicago St: Tecumseh, Mich.

GOULD & WALDO,
Dealers in Drugs, Groceries &c.
Chicago St, - - Tecumseh, Mich.

EDWIN B. WOOD,
Attorney, Counsellor, and Notary Public.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

C. A. STACY,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law, &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

BILLS & BAXTER.
Attorney's, Councellor's and Solicitors.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

McNAIR & HEWITT,
Justice's of the Peace, Insurance Agents.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich

CURTIS & PARSONS,
Dealers in Hardware, Tubs, Pails, &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

Hoag & Stevens,
Dealer in Boots, Shoes, Leather &c., &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

Henry Nyland,
Dealer in Boots & Shoes & Leather.
One door west of Bank, Tecumseh.

EMLAY & COURTER
Dealers in Saddles, Harness and Leather.
Chicago St Tecumseh, Mich.

HORACE BREWER.
Steam Engine and Machine Founder.
Railroad St. Tecumseh, Mach.

SLAYTON, TINDALL & CO.,
Dealers in
Produce and Agricultural Implements.
Railroad St. Tecumseh, Mich.

J. D. ROBBINS.
Dealer in Jewelry, Clocks and Notions.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

G. T. KETCHAM.
Bookseller, Newsdealer and Stationer.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

WOOLSTON COMFORT.
Raisin, Flouring, Grist and Saw Mills
Tecumseh, Michigan

H. B. MATHIAS,
Dealer in Tobacco, Cigars, and Pipes.
Chicago St Tecumseh, Mich,

W. K. POWERS & CO,
Photographs, Ambrotypes and Albums,
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

MRS. C. M. BISSELL,
Photograph and Ambrotype Artist, &c.
Pearl & Chicago St's. Tec. Mich.

G. & H. SMITH,
Dealers in Furniture and Upholstery.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

DR. A. PELHAM,
Surgical and Mechanical Dentist,
Chicago St - - Tecumseh, Mich

DR. E. HAUSE,
Surgical, and Mechanical Dentist.
Chicago St. Opposite P. Office.

NATIONAL HOTEL,
Chicago Street, Tecumseh, Michigan.
MERRITT & BUTCHER - Proprietors.

HIRAM WESCOTT,
Paper Hanging, Whitewashing, &c., &c
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

EXCHANGE HOTEL
Railroad St. - - - Tecumseh, Mich.
D. FISH, Proprietor.

The Tecumseh Herald,
C. M. BURLINGAME,
Publisher and Proprietor.

Local and Miscellaneous.

Rates of Advertising.
(One inch of column constitutes a square,)

	1 wk	3 wk	3 m	6 m	1 yr
1 Square	$1 00	$2.00	$6.00	$7.00	$10.00
2 Squares	1.75	3.50	8.00	12.00	15 00
3 Squares	2.75	5.00	11.00	16 00	20.00
¼ Column	5.00	9.00	12,00	18.00	25.00
½ Column	7.50	12.00	18.00	25.00	36.00
Column	12,00	15.00	20,00	35,00	60,00

☞ No advertisement considered less than one square Transcient advertisements must be paid for in advance. Advertisements unaccompanied with directions for the number of insertions, will be continued until ordered out, and charged accordingly. Business cards of five lines, or less, inserted on $3.50 per year.

Job Work neatly executed at this office. Charges reasonable

Grand Trunk Railway.
The Cheapest, Quickest, and Safest route
TO THE EAST.
Tickets to all the Eastern cities and intermediate places for sale at this office.

LETTER LISTS.—The advertising of letter lists was discontinued, except in the large cities, on the 1st inst.

☞ E. B. Fairfield, President of Hillsdale College will speak at Bidwell's Hall in this village next Monday at one o'clock P. M. on the political questions of the day.

☞ With the last Saturday's edition of the Adrian Expositor, Messrs. Page & Bonner closed their connection with that paper. It is now under the management of Messrs. Ragan, Mayall & Co., who are experienced editors and newspaper men.

☞ P. N. Curtis has a very choice selection of Family Groceries. Great care is taken to keep Butter in good order for families in town. You can be assured that all goods sold at this store are of the very best quality.

☞ The Democratic Representative Convention for the 2nd District, was held in this village on Tuesday, 2 P. M. S. Davidson, of this township, received the unanimous nomination as Representative.

☞ The Eagle B. B. Club of this village will play a match game on Saturday afternoon next on Military Square, with the 2d nine of the Western City Club of Adrian.

☞ J. Logan Chipman the Democratic nominee for Congress, addressed the citizens of this township at Bidwell's Hall last evening.

☞ We would advise all our readers and the rest of mankind to avail themselves forthwith of the grand and unequalled opportunity of securing great bargains in Dry Goods, Yankee Notions and other fixings, at the closing out sale of C. H. ADAM & Co., which commenced last week. Now is the time for bargains.

"Merchants' Union Express."

A new Express Company has been organized and commenced operation on this route last Monday. It was much needed, as the old Companies have become regular swindling institutions, by charging most outlandish prices. We advise everybody to try the new Company, and if it doesn't do better than the others, to discard all of them and send by freight. H C. Conkling is agent for the new company in this place. Office at his grocery.

Election Returns.

The returns received by us up to the hour of going to press, indicates the following result:

In Pennsylvania, the Republicans have carried the State by about 18,000, and elected 18 out of the 24 Congressmen.

In Indiana the Republicans carry the State by about 15,000 majority.

In Ohio, the Republicans have made large gains, carrying all the close districts.

G. T.'s, Attention!

Here is a beverage fit for the gods, and its name metheglin. This ancestral drink is made as follows: After pressing honey from the comb, take the residue and pour over it boiling water; after stirring it well, draining and skimming it till clear, boil it until it is strong enough to almost raise an egg. Then it should be bottled and placed away. Its excellence is increased by age, although it is fit for drinking any time after it is a year old. Any Good Templar can use it, as a beverage without sin, but it may produce giddiness.

Thanksgiving Proclamation.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8th, 1866.

Almighty God our Heavenly Father, has been pleased to vouchsafe to us as a people another year of that national life which is an indispensable condition of peace, security and progress. That year, moreover, has been crowned with many peculiar blessings. The civil war that was so recently among us has not been anywhere reopened; foreign intervention has ceased to excite alarm or apprehension; intrusive pestilence has been benignly mitigated; domestic tranquility has improved; sentiments of conciliation have largely prevailed, and affections of loyalty and patriotism have been widely renewed. Our fields have yielded quite abundantly, our mining industry has been richly rewarded, and we have been allowed to extend our railroad system far into the interior recesses of the country, while our commerce has resumed its customary activity in foreign seas. These great national blessings demand a national acknowledgement. Now, therefore,

I, ANDREW JOHNSON, President of the United States, do hereby recommend that Thursday, the 29th day of November next be set apart and be observed everywhere in the several States and territories of the United States by the people thereof as a day of thanksgiving and praise to Almighty God, with due remembrance that in his temple doth every man speak of his honor. I recommend also that on the same solemn occasion we do humbly and devoutly implore him to grant to our national councils and to our whole people that divine wisdom which alone can lead any nation into the ways of all good. In offering these national thanksgiving praises and supplications, we have the divine assurance that the Lord remaineth a King forever; them that are meek shall he guide in judgment, and such as are gentle shall he learn his way. The Lord shall give strength to his people and the Lord shall give to his people the blessings of peace.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington this eighth day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-six, and of the independence of the United State, the ninety-first.

ANDREW JOHNSON.

By the President:
WM. H. SEWARD, Secretary of State

New Postmaster.

We see by yesterday's paper, that Geo. T. Ketcham has been appointed postmaster for this place. W. Anderson the old incumbent decided sometime since to resign his position and hence he recently purchased an interest in Anderson & Larned's Dry Goods Store, and it gives us pleasure to be able to state that Mr. Ketcham has been assigned to the vacancy.—George has been brought up in this village from childhood, has had to look out for himself, and unassisted by any one, through his own individual efforts, he has established himself in a fine business here. We believe in helping those who help themselves. The people of Tecumseh can rest assured that the duties of the office will be performed in a business like and creditable manner. Aside from mere political consideration no one, it seems to us can have any objections to his appointment.

Sunday School Teachers' Institute.

Ralph Wells, the great Sunday School worker and teacher of this country, has been secured to hold a Sunday School Teachers' Institute in Dr. Daffield's church at Detroit, on Tuesday and Wednesday, 23d and 24th days of this month. The Sunday School workers and teachers of this State are cordially invited and earnestly solicited to be present. The good people of Detroit extend the hospitalities of their families to all who will go. Shall not Tecumseh be well represented! What say you, teachers?

Married.

In Jackson, on the 8th inst., at the residence of the bride's father, by Rev. D. T. Grinnell, D. D., Mr OLIVER EMLAY, of Tecumseh, and Miss MARION L. FOSTER, of Jackson.

In Ridgeway, on the 4th inst., by Rev. Donnelson, Mr. W. WATTS, of Jackson, and Mrs. MARY F. WHITE, daughter of R. F. Deaves, of this village.

In Tecumseh, on the 7th inst., by Rev. H. L. Hayward, Mr. WILLIAM COUNT, and Miss ABIGAIL BLOWERS, both of Cambridge.

☞ Alf. James has gone and done it—that is, he has been to New York and bought one of the largest stocks of Groceries ever brought to this country. He has everything you can think of in the grocery line; by the pound, quart or wagon load. If is worth something to trade with his gentlemanly clerks, they are very attentive and always give good weights. If you want any thing, call at Alf.'s and procure it at the lowest price.

☞ A. B. Ward. is now in New York City, and will soon return, to be welcomed by all, for we know that he will bring with him the latest Fall Goods and choice selections of household necessaries. Look out for him.

☞ Tribou & Bidwell Bros. wish to call particular attention to their large stock of Broad Cloths, Beavers, Cassimers, Water Proof and Ladies' Cloths.

☞ In our issue of last week, we stated that Web Anderson had purchased an interest in the Dry Goods Store of Anderson & Larned, and that he would devote part of his time to that business. We wish now to correct the same and state that he will in future devote his entire time to that business.

The new firm are now receiving a large stock of Staple and Fancy Dry Goods, Crockery, Glass Ware &c., which they are offering at reduced prices.

Give him a call.

☞ The Large Packages carried from Tribou & Bidwell Bros'. store, prove positively that they are selling goods very cheap.

THE MEDINA TRAGEDY.

It appears that on the morning of the 5th inst., Robert Sims, Esq., left his home to go to Canandaigua on business.—Shortly after his departure, his wife sent the children, two boys, aged respectively 15 and 13 years, and a girl about 11 yrs. old, to the barn—where they had a swing—to play. The youngest child, a little girl of about two years of age remained in the house with her mother. The hired girl also about the house attending to her duties. After the children had gone out, Mrs. Sims wrote a letter, which occupied her time for about half an hour. This finished, she went to the bureau drawer, and took therefrom her husband's razor. With this in her hand, she left the house, accompanied by her little girl, and proceeded to the barn, which is situated on the opposite side of the road. The facts as thus stated, are from the lips of the hired girl.

Upon reaching the barn, Mrs. Sims closed the double doors from the outside, fastening them there. She then entered the barn and locked all the doors on the inside. Leaving her youngest child in a close stall, she next went out into the open space where the children were playing. She first attacked the oldest boy who rushed to the double door and attempted to make his exit by that way. While endeavoring to force the door open, she caught him and drew the razor across his throat, cutting it from ear to ear, while the blood rushed forth dyeing the door and floor of the barn with its crimson flood. The other son was the next object of her fury. She found him in the middle of the room, and almost accomplished her purpose without a struggle, leaving him weltering in his gore.

The elder daughter stupefied with horror at the sight of the murder of her brothers, was unable to escape until the demoniac mother had drawn the razor reeking in blood across her throat, when with an almost superhuman effort, she pushed back the bolt from the door, and rushed to the house, leaving a bloody track as she passed along. At the house she told the story to the hired girl, who immediately gave the alarm. The neighbors gathered at once, and a scene of the wildest excitement ensued. The little girl, with her throat laid open, the windpipe being completely severed—as endeavoring by inarticulate words and signs to make herself understood in her recital of the horrible tale, while the country people, with faces blanched with terror, stood listening in breathless suspense. In a short time she had made herself understood sufficiently to enable the bystanders to know that the deed had been done in the stable, and they immediately repaired thither.

At the barn, Mrs. Sims was discovered lying with her own throat cut, and near her, on one side, was the little form of her baby girl, murdered, like the others; while on the other side, lay the razor all clotted with gore. A more horrible sight can hardly be imagined, and Dr. Walker speaks of it as having been revolting in the extreme.

A coroner's inquest was held upon the bodies yesterday. We did not learn the verdict officially, but, of course, there can be but one decision of the jury, and, in fact we question whether an inquest is at all necessary in a case where the circumstances are so well known as this. The letter, written by Mrs. Sims, was not opened at the time of the inquest, the coroner, for some inexplicable reason, refusing to have it read until to-day.

Mr. Robert Sims, the husband of the murderess, is a farmer in very good circumstances, owning 200 acres as fine land as is in the county, and having most excellent buildings. He has also money at interest. Mrs. Sims is spoken of by those who knew her as a woman of rare worth, a devoted mother, and faithful wife. She is known to have been subject to attacks of temporary insanity for a long time, but was never considered dangerous.

Upon arriving at the scene, Dr. Walker of Adrian, found three or four physicians in attendance upon the little girl, whose wind-pipe was severed, altho' the arteries had not been cut. He saw at once that there was but one chance for her life, and that a very slim one, and proposed to the attending physicians that an operation be at once performed. They objected to this, probably fearing that some blame might attach to them. The Doctor finding himself in the minority, was therefore obliged to give up, although feeling that there was a possibility of saving her life. She was not dead at four o'clock, Friday afternoon; but we believe, no hopes were entertained of her recovery.

Auctions.

C. H. Conklin sells at Auction, Oct. 20th, his entire stock, consisting of horses, carriages, harness &c.

W. H. Bunker has a sale at his residence, 2 miles north of Clinton, Oct. 13. He offers for sale a valuable lot of property for sale.

J. Hause, of Napoleon, sells at Auction, on the 16th inst., horses, sheep, farming utensils, &c.

For Auction bills, go to the Herald Office.

Departures.

E. Gray and family started on Tuesday last for Ireland, where they intend staying the coming year. Mind your P's and Q's, Ell, or they will take you for a Finnegan.

Arrest.

Last Sunday eve'ng, Mr. Philip S. De Puy who resides in the north-eastern part of Tecumseh, had some money to the amount of sixty dollars taken from his house, while the family were away to meeting. Upon returning home he found his desk had been broken into, and the money was gone. His suspicion fastened upon two young men, named Charles Keysor and George Sutfin, who had been working for him previously and who saw him take money from this desk and pay them. He immediately got out a warrant for their arrest, and they were brought before S. C. Stacy for examination last Monday at 2 o'clock. The examination proved quite lengthy, it not being closed until near ten o'clock in the evening. The evidence against the prisoners was entirely circumstantial and although it would have been insufficient to have convicted them on a trial, still in the opinion of the justice, it was abundantly sufficient to show a "reasonable cause for believing them guilty."—Accordingly they were bound over to appear for trial at the next term of the Circuit Court. and ordered to give bail in the sum of one hundred dollars each for their appearance. The bail was readily procured and they were discharged.

Change of Time.

We would call the attention of our readers to the change of time on the afternoon passenger trains, which took effect on Monday last. They now connect at Adrian with trains to and from the West, as well as from the East; the freight train in the morning also waits at Lenawee Junction for the passenger train from Chicago. These changes will be duly appreciated by those traveling by rail to or from points west of Adrian, and has been a change much desired and called for.

Arm in Arm.

Not Massachusetts and South Carolina—but old and young men, little and big men, youths and women of all ages and sizes, are seen, at all hours of the day walking out of Merritt, Meeker & Co's. with a large bundle under each arm, containing Dry Goods, Hats, Caps, Boots, Shoes and Cloths of all descriptions to keep a person warm these cold mornings. It is a cause for laughter more than tears.

The Lenawee Co. Fair

Commences in Adrian to-day. Owing to the bad weather at the time of the State Fair, the County fair will undoubtedly prove an excellent one. We advise all our readers to attend one day at least. The fair will continue three days or until Saturday night.

☞ Bob Stretch, Hank Fisher and George Merritt left town Monday last, for a trip to Muskegon. Each of the boys were well armed with guns and revolvers, and we venture the assertion, that something or somebody will get shot.

☞ Miss. Meb Lowe will please accept our thanks for a basket of peaches and pears. We know what is good, and they were delicious.

Mr. S. Worth has opened a Store, for the sale of Boots and Shoes, one door west of the National Hotel. Give him a call.

☞ M. Aten has placed us under obligations to him for some of the largest and finest cabbages we ever saw.

☞ The best Teas for the money, can be found at Wright's Drug Store.

PATRONIZE HOME INSTITUTIONS, especially when by so doing, you patronize the best. We advise our readers not to fail to inquire into the merits of the new Business College which was opened at Hillsdale, Mich., Sept. 26, 1866, under the auspices of the distinguished and popular proprietors of the Business Institute at Oberlin, Ohio. It is to be an Actual Business College in the truest sense.

☞ All efforts to rival the J. Monroe Taylor Gold Medal Soap have signally failed; we do not hesitate to pronounce it the cheapest and best Soap in existence, it will take out grease, spots, or paint, will make nice soft soap, and make clothes of all grades look better after washing than any other article of the kind in the market; it will not injure the finest fabric. Try it, their Depot is at 112 Liberty street, New York. Most of the grocers sell it.

DITCHERS TAKE NOTICE.

The Drain Commissioners of Lenawee County will meet at the residence of Thomas Gafney's, Palmyra, on Thursday, Oct. 25th, 1866, for the purpose of letting jobs on drain No. 34. Said jobs will be let to the lowest bidder in sections to soil contractors.

By order of the Drainage Commissioners.
JUSTUS LOWE,
Ridgeway, Oct. 9, 1866. Secretary.

☞ Messrs G. & H. Smith have a new and very useful article of furniture for sale at their rooms. It is the most convenient article of the kind that we have yet seen, and no household should be with one of Montignania Patent Portable Wardrobe or Clothes and Hat Rack. They can be procured at Smith's Furniture Rooms.

☞ Empress Hoods, in various colors, mentioned in Godley's as the "most stylish covering for the head," just received at Tribou & Bidwell Bros.

☞ R. C. Moore will soon be home from New York with lots of nice new goods.

DISSOLUTION.

Notice is hereby given that the firm of Van Tine & Smith was dissolved on May 7th by mutual consent. All accounts due the above firm must be paid at the Cabinet rooms of G. H Smith immediately, and save costs. Tecumseh, Oct. 9, 1866.
830w4 GEORGE SMITH,
DAVID VAN TINE.

Boots and Shoes
FOR SALE!

The subscriber offers for sale, a small stock of Boots and Shoes of my own Manufacture, cheap for cash, one door West of National Hotel. S. WORTH.

☞ An Accident Policy of Insurance has become a necessity in every well regulated household, but there are few who are aware that the present rates of premium in Accident Companies are much too high. All who desire this kind of Insurance should take a Policy in the National Life and Health Ins. Co., of Kalamazoo. This Company is the oldest Accident Company in the country—excepting the Travelers of Hartford alone—has a solid cash foundation, four General Agency offices, and is doing a very large and lucrative business. Its Travelers tickets are superior to all others, and its rates of premium on general Accident Policies are from 25 to 40 per cent lower than those of any other accident company on the continent. In every respect it is worthy the public patronage. Patronize home institutions. S. C. Stacy, Agent.

Tecumseh Market.

	Oct. 11th, 1866.
White wheat	$2 60 a $2 65
Red do	2 40 a 2 50
Beans	1 00 a 1 25
Corn	50
Clover seed	8 00 9 00
Apples green	40
Butter per pound	30
Cheese " "	16
Hams " "	16
Lard " "	15
Eggs per doz	15
Potatoes, per bush.	40

FOR SALE.

HOUSE and LOT within five minutes' walk of the Post Office. The house is in good repair—conveniently arranged, and well provided with water. There is a barn on the premises, also plenty of good fruit.

The above described property will be sold at a bargain. Inquire at this office.

THE NEW HARNESS SHOP!

J. D. SHOLES
Having opened a shop in the old
NEW YORK STORE,
Would respectfully invite the attention of his old friends to his very superior stock of
HARNESS, SADDLES, &c.,
Manufactured from the best materials by experienced workmen.
Repairing neatly and promptly done.

KNOW THY DESTINY!

Madame E. F. Thornton, the great English Astrologist, Clairvoyant and Psychometrician, who has astonished the scientific classes of the Old World, has now located herself at Hudson, N. Y. Madame Thornton posses such wonderful powers of second sight, as to enable her to impart knowledge of the greatest importance to the single or married of either sex. While in a state of trance, she delineates the very features of the person you are to marry, and by the aid of an instrument of intense power, known as the Pyschomotrope, guarantees to produce a life-like picture of the future husband or wife of the applicant, together with date of marriage, position in life, leading traits of character, &c. This is no humbug, as thousands of testimonials can assert. She will send, when desired a certified certificate, or written guarantee, that the picture is what it purports to be. By enclosing a small lock of hair, and stating place of birth, age, disposition and complexion, and enclosing 50 cents and stamped envelope addressed to yourself, you will receive the picture and desired information by return mail. All communications sacredly confidential. Address in confidence, MADAME E. F. THORNTON, P. O. Box 223 Hudson, N. Y.

CLOTHING!
AT THE
UNION HALL CLOTHING STORE.
JUST RECEIVED
$10,000 Worth of Clothing
For FALL AND WINTER!!
For
MEN AND BOYS' WEAR.
Gents' Furnishing Goods,
HATS, CAPS AND CLOTHS
Of all descriptions which I will sell at very low prices at the
UNION HALL CLOTHING STORE.
Come One, Come All,
And judge for yourselves.
Clothing made to Order
IN THE LATEST STYLES.

And I will give you a good fit,
But be sure and give me a call,
For all who love the Union and flag,
Are welcome at Union Hall.

REMEMBER THE PLACE!
GEORGE HEESEN.

C. H. ADAM & CO.,
DEALERS IN
DRY GOODS,
Yankee Notions, &c.,
No. 2 Mechanics' Block,
oct 2tf TECUMSEH, MICH.

Twenty Thousand Dollars worth of Dry Goods just received at Tribou & Bidwell Bros.

Miscellany.

AFTER

After the shower, the tranquil sun,
After the snow, the emerald leaves;
Silver stars when the day is done,
After the harvest, golden sheaves.

After the clouds, the violet sky;
After the tempest, the lull of waves;
Quiet woods when the winds go by;
After the battle, peaceful graves.

After the knell, the wedding bells;
After the bud, the radiant rose;
Joyful greetings from sad farewells;
After our weeping, sweet repose.

After the burden, the blissful meed;
After the flight, the downy nest;
After the furrow, the waking seed;
After the shadowy river—rest.

What the Engineer Told.

I am an engineer. Ever since ——— road was laid, I've traveled over it every day, or nearly every day, of my life.

For a good while I've had the same engine in charge—the San Francisco—the prettiest engine on the road, and as well managed, if I say it, as the best.

It was a Southwestern road, running, we will say, from A. to Z. At A. my good old mother lived; at Z. I had the sweetest little wife under the sun, and a baby; and I always had a dollar or two put by for a rainy day. I was an odd kind of a man. Being shut up with the engine, watching with all your eyes and heart and soul, inside and out, don't make a man talkative.

My wife's name was Josephine, and I called her Jo. Some people called me unsociable, and couldn't understand how a man could feel friendly without saying ten words an hour. So, though I had a few old friends—dear ones, too—I did not have so many acquaintances as most people, and did not care to have. The house which held my wife and baby was the dearest place on earth to me, except the old house that held my mother, up at A.

I never belonged to a club, or mixed myself up with strangers in any such way, and never should, if it hadn't been for Granby. You see Granby was one of the shareholders, a handsome, showy fellow. I liked to talk to him, and we were friends. He often rode from Z. to A, and back again, and once he said:

"You ought to belong to the Scientific Club, Guelden."

"Never heard of it," said I.

"I am a member," said he, "We meet once a fortnight, and have a jolly good time. We want thinking men like you. We have some among us now. I'll propose you, if you like."

I was fond of such things, and I had ideas that I fancied might be worth something. But then an engineer don't have nights and days to himself, and the club would have one evening a fortnight from Jo. I said:

"I'll ask her. If she likes it, yes."

"Ask whom?" said he.

"Jo," said I.

"If every man had asked his wife, every man's wife would have said, 'Can't spare you, my dear,' and we should have had no club at all," said Granby.

But I made no answer. At home I told Jo. She said:

"I shall miss you, Ned; but you love such things, and then if Granby belongs to it, they must be superior men."

"No doubt," said I.

"It isn't everybody who could be made a member," said Jo. "Why of course you must say yes."

So I said yes, and Granby proposed me. Thursday fortnight I went with him to the rooms. There was some men with brains there, and some without. The real business of the evening was the supper, and so it was every evening.

I'd always been a temperate man. I actually did not know what effect wine would have upon me; but coming to drink more of it than I ever had before at the club table, I found it put the steam on. After so many glasses I wanted to talk; after so many more I did.

I seemed like somebody else, the words were so ready. My little ideas came out and were listened to, I made sharp hits; I indulged in repartee; I told stories; I even came to puns. I heard somebody say to Granby: "By George, that's a man worth knowing. I thought him dull at first." Yet I knew it was better to be quiet Ned Guelden, with his ten words an hour, than the wine-made wit I was.

I was sure of it when, three hours after, I stumbled up stairs to find Jo. waiting for me, with her babe on her breast.

"You've been deceiving me," said Jo. "I suspected it, but I wasn't sure. A scientific club couldn't smell like a bar room.

"Which means I do," said I, waving in the middle of the room like a signal flag at a station, and seeing two Jo's.

"And look like one," said Jo.; and she went and locked herself and the baby up in the spare bed-room.

One club night, as I was dressed to go, Jo. stood before me.

"Ned," said she, "I never had a fault to find with you before. You've been kind, and good, and loving, always; but I should be sorry we ever met if you are to go on in this way. Don't ask me what I mean. You know."

"Jo.," said I, "it's only on club night."

"It will grow," said she.

Then she put her arms around my neck.

"Ned," said she, "do you think a thing so much like a bottled up and strapped down demon as steam is, is fit to be put into the hands of a drunken man? And some day, mark my words, the time will come when not only Thursday night but all the days of the week will be the same. I've often heard you wonder what the feelings of an engineer who has about the same as murdered a train full of people must be, and you'll know if you don't stop where you are. A steady hand and a clear head have been your blessings all these years. Don't throw them away, Ned. If you don't care for my love, don't ruin yourself."

My little Jo. She spoke from her heart, and I bent over and kissed her.

"Don't be afraid, child. I'll never pain you again."

And I mean it; but at twelve o'clock that night I felt that I had forgotten my promise and my resolution.

I couldn't go home to Jo. I made up my mind to sleep on the club sofa and leave the place for good next day. Already I felt my brain reel as it never had before. In an hour I was in a kind of stupor.

It was morning. A waiter stood ready to brush my coat. I saw a grin on his face. My head seemed ready to burst; my hand trembled; I looked at my watch; I had only just five minutes to reach the depot!

Jo.'s words came to my mind. Was I fit to take charge of an engine? I was not fit to answer. I ought to have asked some sober man. As it was, I only caught up my hat and rushed away. I was just in time.

The San Francisco glittered in the morning sun. The cars were filling rapidly. From my post I could hear the people talking—bidding each other good bye, promising to write and come again. Among them was an old gentleman I knew by sight—one of the shareholders; he was bidding two timid girls adieu.

"Good bye, Kitty—good bye Lue," I heard him say; "don't be nervous. The San Francisco is the safest engine on the line and Guelden the most careful engineer. I wouldn't by afraid to trust every mortal I love in the batch to their keeping. Nothing could happen wrong with the two together."

I said, "I'll get through it somehow, and Jo. shall never talk to me again." After all it was easy enough. I reeled as I spoke. I heard the signal. We were off.

Five hours from L. to D; five hours back. On the last I should be myself again, I knew now. I saw a red flutter, and never guessed what it was until we were past the down train at a wrong place. Two minutes more and we should have had a collision. Somebody told me. I laughed. I heard him say respectfully:

"Of course, Mr. Guelden, you know what you are about?"

Then I was alone and wondering whether I should go slower or faster. I did something, and the cars rushed on at a fearful rate.

The same man who had spoken to me before was standing near me. I heard some question.

How many miles an hour were we making? I didn't know.

Rattle, rattle, rattle! I was trying now to slacken the speed of the San Francisco. I could not remember what I should do. Was it this or that? Faster—only faster. I was playing with the engine like a child.

Suddenly there was a horrible roar—a crash; I was flung somewhere. I was into the water. By a miracle I was only sobered, not hurt. I gained the shore. I stood upon the ground between the track and the river's edge and there gazed at my own work.

The engine was in fragments, the cars in splinters; dead and dying and wounded were strewn around—men and women and women and children—old age and tender youth. There were groans and shrieks of despair. The maimed cried out in pain; the uninjured bewailed their dead; and a voice, unheard by any other, was in my ear, whispering "Murderer!"

The news had gone back to A., and people came thronging down to find their friends. The dead were stretched on the grass. I went with some of the distracted to find their lost ones. Searching for an old man's daughter, I came to a place under the trees, and five bodies were lying there in all their rigid horror—an old woman, a young one, a baby and two tiny children. It was fancy—it was pure fancy, born of my anguish—they looked like—oh! great Heaven! they were my old mother, my wife, my children! all cold and dead.

How did they come on the train? What chance had brought this about? No one could answer. I groaned, I screamed, I clasped my hands, I tore my hair. I gazed on the good old face of her who had given me birth, on the lovely features of my wife, on the innocent children. I called them by name; there was no answer. There never could be—never would be. And as I comprehended this, onward up the track thundered another train. Its red eye glared on me; I flung myself before it; I felt it crush me to atoms!

"His head is extremely hot," said somebody.

I opened my eyes and saw my wife.

"How do you feel?" she said; "a little better?"

I was so rejoiced and so astonished by the sight of her, that I could not speak at first. She repeated the question.

"I must be crushed to pieces," said I, "for the train went over me; but I feel no pain."

"There he goes about the train again," said my wife. "Why, Ned."

I tried to move—there was nothing the matter with me; I sat up. I was in my own room; opposite me a crib in which two children were asleep, beside me a tiny bald baby head. My wife and children were safe! Was I delirious, or could it be?

"Jo.," cried I, "tell me what has happened?"

"It's nine o'clock," said Jo. "You came home in such a dreadful state from the club that I couldn't wake you. You were'nt fit to manage steam and risk people's lives. The San Francisco is half way to A., I suppose, and yon have been frightening me to death with your dreadful talk."

And Jo. began to cry.

It was a dream—only an awful dream. But I had lived through it as though it were reality.

"Is there a Bible in the house, Jo.?" said I.

"Are we heathens?" said Jo.

"Give it to me this moment, Jo."

She brought it, and I put my hand on it and took an oath (too solemn to be repeated here) that what had happened never should occur again. It never has. And if the San Francisco ever comes to grief, the verdict will not be, as it ought to be so often—the engineer was drunk.

Artemus Ward in London.

From Punch, Sept. 8.

MR. PUNCH—You'll be glad to learn that I've made a good impression on the mind of the landlord of the Greenlion tavern. He made a speech about me last night. Risin' in the bar, he spoke as follers, there bein over 20 individooals present: "This North American has been an inmate of my 'ouse over two weeks, yit he hasn't made no attempt to scalp any member of my family. He hasn't broke no cups or sassers, or furniture of any kind. [Hear, hear.] I find I can trust him with lighted candles. He eats his wittles with a knife and fork. People of this kind should be encuraidged. I propose 'is 'elth!" [Loud 'plaws.]

What could I do but modestly get up and express a fevint hope that the Atlantic cable would bind the two countries still more closely together? The lan'lord said my speech was full of orig'nality, but his idee was the old stage coach was more safer, and he tho't the people would indors the opinyin in doo time.

I'm gettin' on exceedin' well in London. I see now, however, that I made a mistake in orderin' my close after I left home. The trooth is the taler in my little village owed me a pig and I didn't see any other way of gettin' my pay. Ten years ago these close would no doubt have been fash'n'ble, and perhaps they would be ekally sim'lar ten years hens. But now they're diff'rently. The taler said he know'd they was all right, because he had a brother in Wales who kept him informed about London fashins reg'lar. This was a infamus falsehood. But as the ballud says (which I heard a gentleman in a new soot of black close and white kid gloves sing t'other night,) Never don't let us despise a man because he wears a raggid coat! I don't know as we do, by the way, tho' we gen'rally get out of his way pretty rapid; prob'ly on account of the pity which tears our bossums for his unhappy condition.

This last remark is a sarkastic and witherin' thrust at them bloted people who live in gilded saloons. I tho't I'd explain the the meanin' to you. I frekently have to explain the meanin' of remarks. I know one man—he's a man of varid complishments—who often reads my articles over 20 times afore he can make anything of 'em at all. Our skoolmaster says this is a pecoolearity of geneyus. My wife says it is a pecooliarity of infernal nonsens. She's a exceedin' practycal woman. I luv her muchly however, and humer her little ways. It's a recklis falsehood that she henpecks me, and the young man in the naberhood who said to me one evenin', as I was mistenin my diafram with a gentle cock-tail at the village tavun—who said to me in this very langwidge, "Go home, old man, onless you desires to have another teapot throwd at you by B. J.," probly regrets havin' said so. I said, "Betsy Jane is my wive's front name, gentle yooth, and I permits no person to alood to her as B. J., outside of the family circle, ov which I am principally it myself. Your other observations I scorn and disgust, and I must pollish you off." He was a able-bodied young man, and removin' his coat, he inquired if I wanted to be ground to powder? I said yes; if there was a powder-grindist handy, nothin' would afford me greater pleasure, when he struck me a painful blow into my right eye, causin' me to make a rapid retreat into the fire-place. I hadn't no idee that the enemy was so well organized. But I rallied, and went for him, in a rayther vigris stile for my time of life. His parunts lived near by, and I will simply state 15 minits had only elapst after the first act, when he was carrid home on a shutter. His mamma met the sollum procession at the door, and after keerfully looking her offspring over, she said, "My son, I see it is distinctually. You've been foolin' round a thrashin' masheen. You went in at the place where they put the grain in, cum out with the straw, and you got up into the thingamyjig, and let the horses trod on you, didn't you, my son?" The pen of no living orther could describe that disfornit young man's sitty-wation more clearer. But I was sorry for him, and I went and nussed him till he got well. His reg'lar original father being absent to the war, I told him I'd be a father to him myself. He smilt a sickly smile, and said I'd already been wuss than two fathers to him.

I will here observe that fitin orter be allus avoided, excep' in extreem cases. My principle is if a man smites on the right cheek I'll turn left to him, prob'ly; but if he insinoates that my gran' mother wasn't all right, I'll punch his hed. But fitin' is mis'ble bisness, gen'rally speaking, and whenever any enterprising countryman of mine cums over here to scoop up a Briton in the prize ring, I'm allus excessively tickled when he gets scooped hisself, which it is a sad fack thus far been the case—my only sorrer bein' that t'other feller wasn't scooped likewise. It's diff'rently with sculling boats, which is a manly sport, and I can only explain Mr. Hammill's recent defeat in this country on the grounds that he wasn't used to British water. I hope this explanation will be entirely satisfact'ry to all.

As I remarked afore, I'm getting on well. I'm aware that I'm in the great metropolis of the world, and it doesn't make me unhappy to admit the fack. A man is a ass who dispoots it. That's all that ails him. I know there is sum people who cum over here and snap and snarl about this and that. I know one man who says it is a shame and disgrace that St. Paul's church isn't a older edifice; he says it should be years and even ages older than it is; but I decline to hold myself responsible for the conduct of this idyit simply because he's my countryman. I spose every civilized country is endowed with its full share gibberin' idyits, and it can't be helpt—leastwise I can't think of any effectoual plan of helpin' it.

I'm a little sorry you've got politics over here, but I shall not diskuss 'em with nobody. Tear me to pieces with wild omnibus hosses, and I won't diskuss 'em. I've had quite enuff of 'em at home, thank you. I was at Birmingham t'other night, and went to the great meetin' for a few minits. I hadn't been in the hall long when a stern-looking artizan said to me,

"You ar from Wales?"

No, I told him I didn't think I was. A hidgyis thot flashed over me. I was of that onprincipled taler, and I said—"Has my clothin' a Welchy uppearance?"

"Not by no means," he answered, and then he said, "And what is your opinyin of the present crisis?"

I said, "I don't zackly know. Have you got it very bad?"

He replied, "Sir, it is sweepin' over England like the Cymoon of the desert!"

"Wall," I said, let it sweep!"

He ceased me by the arm, and said, "Let us glance at hist'ry. It is now some 2,000 year——"

"Is it, indeed?" I replied.

"Listen!" he fiercely cried; "it is only a little over 2,000 years since——"

"Oh, bother!" I remarked, "let us go out and get some beer?"

"No, sir. I want no gross and sensual beer. I'll not move from this spot till I can vote. Who ar you?"

I handed him my card, which, in addition to my name, contains a elabrit description of my show. "Now, sir," I proudly said, "you know me?"

"I sollumly swear," he sternly replied, "that I never heard of you, or your show, in my life!"

"And this man," I oried bitterly, "calls hisself a intelligent mnn, and thinks he orter be allowed to vote! What a holler mockery!"

I've no objection to eve'ry intelligent man votin' if he wants to. It's a pleasantamoosement, no doubt; but there is those who igrance is so dense and loathsum that they shouldn't be trusted with a ballit any more than my trained serpunts should be trusted with a child to play with.

I went to the station, with a view of returnin' to town on the cars. "This way, sir," said the guard; "here you ar," and he pinted to a first-class carrige, the sole ockepant of which was a rayther prepossessin' female of about 30 summers.

"No, I thank you," I ernestly replied, "I prefer to walk.

I am, dear sir,
Very respectively, yours,
ARTEMUS WARD.

From the Herald of Health.

Sugar Candy.

One of the evil results of perverted tastes is seen in the great demand for sugar candy. We have often pointed out the evils resulting from feeding it to children, but it will be a hundred years or more before all parents will learn that candies are poisonous, and should not be allowed to the dear little ones they love and wish to bring up with fine health and perfect physical systems. To such parents as feed their children on confectionary, the following, by a well posted writer, will be found instructive:

"The adulteration of sugars, candies and spices is a trade largely and regularly carried on in this city. Instead of plaster, which till lately entered so largely into the manufacture of confectionery, in place of sugars, a new article has been discovered called terra alba, or white earth. It comes from Ireland, and costs by the barrel about two and a half cents a pound, while loaf sugar costs seventeen cents. The body of candies, the coating of almonds and lozenges are made from this earthly material. It is whiter than plaster, and is much used in the adulteration of flour sold in this market. A glue, paint and oil manufacturer of New York has sent round his annual circular, which I have seen, to the principal confectioners, calling attention to a fresh arrival of this white earth. I have seen an ounce of lozenges dissolved in water, in which two-thirds of an ounce was of terra alba, and not a particle of sugar in the lot. The common method of flavoring candies, almonds, sugar plums, etc, is with deleterious substances. The pineapple flavor, the banana and the peach are made from fusil oils, which are very poisonous. Bitter almond flavor is made from prussic acid unadulterated. Pincapple flavor is also obtained from rotten cheese—very rotten—and nitric acid. Gum arabic for pure gum drops is costly. An article has been invented of the most beautiful appearance, that is used instead of the gum. It is very cheap and very poisonous. In pure candy cochineal is used to color red and saffron for yellow. But in the common candies poisonous coloring is put, the same that is used to color wines and liquors. One of the most common is called 'carlot,' into which arsenic largely enters. A few grains of the substance will color a cask of wine. Liquorice drops for the 'trade' are made of poor brown sugar, glue and lampblack, flavored with liquorice. And for the Western trade much of the vile stuff is packed in barrels, and sent West to be put up in boxes to suit the market, of which from seventy-five to ninety per cent. is terra alba. This material also enters largely into the common chocolates and spices. Much of the cream of tartar used for bread is made of terra alba and tartaric acid."

SUMMARY OF THE WEEK.

General Intelligence.

General John A. Dix, it is announced by telegraph, has really accepted the mission to France, and will depart on the 21st inst.

Rear Admiral Dahlgren has been ordered to take passage from New York on the first of December, to take command of the South Pacific Squadron.

The national debt now amounts to $2,573,337,000. During the month of September the public indebtedness was reduced $22,346,326.51.

Hon. Isaac N. Arnold, of Chicago, has resigned his office of the Auditor of the Treasury for the Postoffice Department, on political grounds which he sets forth in a letter to the President.

A collision lately occurred on the Mobile and Ohio Railroad, between De Sota and Quitman, resulting in the killing of seven and the wounding of seventeen persons, and the destruction of two locomotives and several cars.

Jno. F. Potter, of Wisconsin, Consul General to Canada, has resigned because of his opposition to the Administration. General Averill, a well known cavalry officer, succeeds him. The position is worth $4,000 a year in gold.

Assistant Secretary of State F. W. Seward has been appointed Secretary of State ad interim, owing to the sickness of his father, who, without waiting to recover fully from his previous attack, devoted himself too closely, and for many hours a day, to his official duties.

Some unknown scoundrel removed a rail from the track of the Illinois Central Railroad, near Centralia on the 3d inst., whereby a passenger train was thrown off the track. The engineer, Long George, was instantly killed, and the fireman severely injured.

Gen. Dix is known to entertain very positive views on the Mexican question, and his appointment as Minister to France is considered as initiating a more decided policy on the part of our government. His bonds as naval agent had already been filed in New York when he was summoned to Washington for a personal conference with the President on the subject of the French mission.

The Merchants' Union Express opened its direct lines to the public on Monday, October 1, and the company will soon be prepared to do a general express business, with the East, West, Southwest and Northwest. With a capital of $20,000,000, the company is amply responsible for any and all losses and damages, and the gentlemen who have been intrusted with its business management will do all in their power to render the new organization popular, and secure the confidence and patronage of the public. The connections of the company will be rapidly extended to all parts of the country.

A Herald Washington special says the President, it is understood, is devoting every moment he can spare to the preparation of his annual message. It is believed that he will adhere rigidly to his present line of policy, end will take the ground that in the preparation of new amendments to the constitution all the states that claim and are willing to exercise the right shall be represented. He will also suggest to Congress a proposition for an amendment to the proportion of representation among the states according to the number of qualified male voters, as prescribed by each state amendment, to take effect when the census of 1870 has been taken.

Foreign News.

The peace treaty between Austria and Italy has been finally signed.

Don Jose Joaquin has been re-elected President of Chili. Free trade is about to be established between Chili and Peru.

The rumored illness of Louis Napoleon caused gold to go up three per cent. It is thought that his death would cause it to rise at least ten per cent.

Advices from South America indicate a feeling of bitter hostility by the Chilians against Spain. So far from being desirous for peace, they demand that their navy may be sent to the Spanish coast, thus carrying the war into their enemy's country.

The fact that the Committee of Deputies of the Island of Candia, now in revolt against Turkey, have petitioned the United States Government for assistance, coupled with the arrival of three United States war ships there, excites some attention.

The Pope appears to be preparing for his departure from Rome. His Holiness has dispatched a special messenger with an autograph letter addressed by himself to Queen Victoria, and during the last few days repeated interviews have taken place between Mr. O. Russell and the French Ambassador at the Papal Court.

By Atlantic cable we learn that the illness of Count Bismark is considered serious. Further large shipments of specie have taken place at Liverpool. Spain has consented to accept the mediation of France and England in the war between herself and Chili. It is said to be the intention of the Atlantic Cable Company to make a reduction in rates very soon.

We have Indian intelligence to the 24th of August. The famine is still decimating the native population of Bengal. Seventy miles of railway have been flooded in Scinde, and in another district whole villages have been destroyed by a cyclone.

In the famine districts in India, the natives are reduced to feed on roots and mango stone, which they grind into a kind of flour. This miserable sustenance is wholly insufficient to keep a large number of them from starving, and the fearful spectacle is presented of numerous corpses lying on the highways. They remain unburied, and, probably as a consequence, cholera has broken out, and is carrying off large numbers of persons. In their utter distress, mothers are offering their children for sale in order to buy bread.

Late Mexican advices, by way of Havana, state that Maximilian made a speech on the day of the anniversary of Mexican Independence, in which he announced that he was still firm in his seat, notwithstanding the difficulties which surrounded him. He further assured the people that it was not in troublous times that a true Hapsburgh would abandon his post. Per contra, the office of Gen. Santa Anna is now overrun by parties who are anxious to enter the service of Mexico. It is reported that a firm in New York has been commissioned to buy up six steamers for the Liberals. The loan of five million dollars, which Santa Anna was negotiating, has been concluded with three banking houses in that city.

The South.

A claim agent in New Orleans has swindled the Government out of half a million dollars by means of forged bounty claims. The worst of it is, the scamp is still at large.

General Sheridan has written a letter to Governor Throckmorton, of Texas, in relation to the Brenham riot, informing him that he will not permit the arrest of Maj. Smith, U. S. A., or any of his men.

The New Orleans Picayune, one of the leading political journals of that city, has recently come out in favor of the acceptance of the pending reconstruction constitutional amendment by the South.

During the last two weeks in September, there were 554 deaths from cholera in Nashville, Tennessee. This is a frightful percentage in a city with a population but little exceeding 20,000.

The result of the trials of heavy ordnance against solid masonry, iron-clad, just concluded at Fortress Monroe, establishes the fact that masonry eight feet thick, faced with four-inch plate, iron, offers but faint resistance to twelve-inch rifled and fifteen-inch smooth-bore guns. What will the proprietors of the warrior and La Gloire say now?

The West.

The Kansas State Fair opened at Lawrence on the 3d inst.

The official majority in Maine for Chamberlain for Governor, is 27,258—a little less than previously reported.

The Assessors list show that there have been nine thousand buildings erected in Chicago the present year.

The Rev. Dr. Hawks, the distinguished Episcopalian clergyman of New York, died in that city on the 26th ult.

"Old Abe," the Wisconsin eagle, has been invited to attend the Paris Exposition, but the distance is thought too great.

A destructive fire occurred at Mariposa California, recently, by which property to the amount of $177,250 was destroyed.

The Leavenworth Bulletin of the 24th ult. says: Eight million four hundred and ten thousand grasshoppers arrived in the city this afternoon.

McCool, who recently won a prize fight in St. Louis, has challenged Joe Coburn, who whipped him in Maryland three years ago, for from $1,000 to $5,000. Coburn accepts the challenge.

In one of the races at Kalamazoo on the 3d, a fine horse six years old, owned by a gentleman of Lawrence, Michigan, fell dead at the score on the completion of the fourth heat.

Emma, Queen of the Sandwich Islands, met with a very courteous reception at San Francisco, General Halleck acting as her escort on a tour of inspection of the fortifications.

General McDowell, commanding in California, has issued an order authorizing the enlisting and employment of one hundred Indian scouts to operate against the Indians in Arizona.

A raft containing some 2,000,000 feet of choice pine lumber was lost on lake Huron during the recent gale. It was on the way from Saginaw to Toledo, and was owned by Mitchell & Rowland of Cincinnati.

Oil was struck on the 2d, at Terre Haute, in an Artesian well being dug by Chauncey N. Rose, at the depth of thirteen hundred and thirteen feet. Great excitement has resulted in consequence. Several barrels have already been pumped. When first struck the oil spouted thirty feet in the air.

The great tunnel at Chicago under Lake Michigan is nearly completed, and will probably be finished by November 5th. On September 29th, with 778 feet between the workmen, and a mile and a half from shore, the experiment was made of striking blows upon the earth, which were distinctly heard by the other party.

The "Southern Loyalists" reached Chicago on the evening of the 1st inst., and were received with fireworks and illuminations. On the 2d, speaking took place from several stands to large concourses of people, and a torchlight procession took place in the evening. Governor Brownlow of Tennessee, Governor Hamilton of Texas, and Governor Hahn of Louisiana, were the leading notabilities.

The National Horse Fair at Kalamazoo closed on the 5th. A $1,000 premium for the best trotting horse was competed for by Dexter and Patchen, and was won by the former in three straight heats. Time, 2:27, 2:21¾, and 2:21¼,—the last being the best time Dexter ever made in harness. He failed to obtain the additional prize of $1,000 offered to any horse beating Flora Temple's time of 2:19¾, though he came within one second and a half.

The East.

Fernando Wood announces himself as an independent candidate for Congress in the Ninth New York District.

Gangs of river pirates, long noted for their cunning in New York city, are extending their depredations up the Hudson river, robbing and pilfering promiscuously.

Ship building is very dull at Boston at this season, owing to foreign competition and rates of freight. Less than a dozen vessels, and those all of small size, are now in process of construction at the yards in Boston and vicinity.

An inquest upon the body of Walker, the horse tamer, was held on the 4th, at Centreville, Long Island. No parties have yet been arrested, but it is reported that suspicion seem to point to some person nearly related to the deceased.

A balloon ascension took place at Albion, New York, on the 2d, the occupant of which intended to alight at Syracuse. The empty balloon was picked up on Lake Ontario the same day, and it is feared that the aerial traveler has perished.

The volume of immigration continues to increase at the great port of immigrant arrivals. There arrived 128,000 immigrants at New York up to September 9, 1865. There arrived 179,234 at the same port for the same time this year, an increase of 50,334.

At a private dinner in New York on the 4th, Mr. A. T. Stewart, the merchant prince, intimated his readiness to give one million dollars for the erection of tenement houses for the deserving poor of that city, the condition being that the land required should be provided.

Rear Admiral Francis H. Gregory, of the United States Navy, died very suddenly in Brooklyn on the 4th. He was one of the most distinguished officers of the navy, and was at the time of his death Superintendent of the iron-clads and steam vessels constructing in New York. He died of inflammation of the bowels.

The missionary vessel, Morning Star was launched at East Boston, Saturday, the 29th, in the presence of three thousand spectators. The vessel, which cost $20,000, was paid for by the children of about two thousand Sunday schools throughout the globe. This vessel is to be wholly outfitted by the missionary board at Honolulu, and engaged wholly in missionary work.

On Thursday, the 27th, Norman Burton, residing in Fairfield, Conn., went deliberately to a chopping-block and cut off his right hand at the wrist. He struck two or three blows before accomplishing his object. He had been insane for some years, and on being asked why he committed the deed, replied: "The Bible says, 'If thy hand offend thee, cut it off, and cast it from thee.'"

The New York Herald publishes an article showing how utterly inadequate are the fortifications along the sound and lower bay to a successful resistance against the newly invented engines of war. Before the rebellion, New York was impregnable; but it would now be entirely at the mercy of a fleet armed with the heavy ordnance brought into requisition by the exigencies of our late civil war.

Long Island furnishes a parallel to the Chicago Driving Park murder. On the 2d, Robert Walker, well known to turfites as a trotting trainer, who kept a hotel adjoining the Centerville Course, Long Island, was found dead on the track of the course, with a hole in his head made by a pistol ball. He is supposed to have been killed by two well dressed young men, who were afterwards seen leaving the grounds. The bullet penetrated the right side of the head, just above the ear, and went through to the left temple. The object of Walker's murder is supposed to have been revenge. The watch and money of the deceased were untouched.

An inauguration race was held last week at Jerome Park, near Fordham, above New York city, under the auspices of the American Jockey Club. Sixty horses were entered, and the races lasted four days. The Club has been got up by Mr. Leonard W. Jerome. It is to own an elegant club house in the city, as well as the beautiful grounds recently laid out near Fordham. The grand stand at the race track is 450 feet in length by 45 in width, and will accommodate 8,000 persons. It is divided into three sections. The centre is devoted to the members of the club and their families, the others to the public. The whole is elegantly arranged with ticket office and refreshment room, and with every convenience. There is also another club house on the grounds. This park is under the control of gentlemen of respectability. It is expected that it will be so managed that evils attending races may be remedied. The "sports" will not be permitted to control Jerome Park, but the races that take place there will be under the management of men with whom the improvement of stock and the healthy excitement and amusement of the competition of noble animals is the first object.

Personal and Literary.

WILKIE COLLINS, the author, is said to be dying of consumption.

THE New York Tribune has offered Dickens $8,000 to write a novel for its columns.

THE second volume of Mr. Greeley's "American Conflict," which completes the work, has just been issued.

DR. LIVINGSTONE writes, July 11, from somewhere in the middle of Africa, that he is well and "pushing along."

HARRIET BEECHER STOWE thinks billiard tables, nine pin alleys, ball playing, etc., under certain conditions, better than Sunday Schools.

DAVID CLARK, of Hartford, has given $5,000 to each of his five nephews who served honorably in the war to suppress the rebellion.

ROBERT BONNER has written an indignant letter to the Milwaukee Wisconsin denying charges of gambling made against him in that journal.

THE Independent has stopped printing Mr. Beecher's sermons, but the World gives them in in full, although they do not now contain any politics.

IT is said in Providence, Rhode Island, that MRS. Kate Sprague, daughter of Chief Justice Chase and wife of Senator Sprague, is about to apply for a divorce.

LOUIS NAPOLEON is over sixty years of age; his death, therefore, ought not to be considered as an event unlikely to occur before many more years have passed.

MISS MARIA S. CUMMINS, authoress of the "Lamplighter," "Mabel Vaughan," and other well known works, died at Dorchester, Mass., on the 18th inst.

MR. WALTER, late M. P. for Berks, and the proprietor of more than half the shares of the London Times, started with his son in September for a tour in the United States.

THE portrait of the late Joshua R. Giddings, painted by Miss Ransom, of Cleveland, and purchased by Congress for $1,000, is to be placed in the rotunda of the Capitol at Washington.

REV. DR. CHAPIN recently said in a sermon: "The resurrection of Christ transformed the interrogation point of the philosopher into the exclamation point of the Christian."

THE King of the Sandwich islands is breaking down. He manifests a constant desire to sleep, and fears of his brain softening are felt. If he dies, Queen Emma will succeed to the throne.

MRS. FORD of Monroe county, Ky., gave birth, on the 16th ult., to three children, all boys, weighing 7½ pounds each. All are living and healthy. Names, G. D. Prentice, Gen. Lee, and Jeff. Davis.

GEN. GRANT'S pay is $18,678 per year, and Lieut. Gen. Sherman's $13,518. Each is allowed fifty horses. A Major General gets $5,800 per year, and is allotted five horses. The pay of a Brigadier is $3,910,50.

CHARLES BEADER, of Philadelphia, who, years ago, compromised with his creditors, and received a legal discharge, recently invited them to a dinner at the Continental, and paid each creditor the full amount of his indebtedness.

"EOCE HOMO" has reached its twelfth thousand in England, and the demand still continues. The author's name is not yet known; but if he prefers profit to fame, he is probably satisfied, for it is announced that his publishers have already paid him $30,000.

COL. LEASE, who has been appointed United States Marshal for the State of California, settled at Los Angeles, California, in 1863. He erected the first house in Yebra Buena (now San Francisco), and raised the first American flag that was displayed in that city.

THE Boston Transcript announces that a new magazine, edited in Boston, but published in New York, is about to appear. "All its articles will be anonymous; it will aim to develop new authors," and its to be under the editorial control of a lady and gentleman very widely known in literature,—namely, Mrs. Julia Ward Howe and "Edmund Kirke," (J. R. Gilmore.)

DAN. RICE is serious about his candidacy for Congress in the 19th Pennsylvania district—indeed, Dan. never was more serious in his life. He gives at Girard, and erected there last year a conspicuous monument to the memory of our fallen brave. He has been the soldiers' friend, and the friend of the soldier's widow and orphan. He has been a public-spirited citizen; has got rich enough; is tired of being a clown, and wants to be a Congressman.

THE report that Miss Spurgin, who traveled in company of Queen Emma of the Sandwich Islands, is a daughter of the famous London preacher, is not correct. The Rev. Mr. Spurgeon has not been married sufficiently long to have a daughter of the age of the lady in question. Poor Queen Emma came to this country to collect funds for the Hawaiian Episcopalian churches. She was the recipient of many kind attentions, but of little cash.

A CORRESPONDENT says of Kit Carson, the famous frontiersman: "I was presented to Kit Carson a few days since. He is a very mild, quiet-talking old soldier, not of the bushwhacking style that I had expected. He is a great pet here, and, indeed, throughout the territory, for he has done more valuable service in killing and capturing bodies of Indians than any other man in it. He is a colonel of a regiment at Fort Garland, a brigadier by brevet. I heard one of his modest remarks a day or two ago that was characteristic. A friend of mine asked him his knowledge of the popular notion that Indians lash themselves to their horses when going into a fight. 'Well, I have seen a good many Indians killed—he had never killed any, oh, no!—in their saddles, and I have always seen them fall from their horses. I think when an Indian is shot properly, he will fall as quickly as any man.' 'Properly' is good.

AUGUSTUS N. DICKENS, a gentleman who has been well known for several years in Chicago as connected with the land department of the Illinois Central Railroad, died in that city on the 4th inst. He was the younger brother of Charles Dickens, the illustrious author—the "pet child" whom the latter more than once alludes to with a peculiar tenderness in his prefaces as the one from whom he derived the sobriquet of "Boz," a name famous in literature. In his preface to the "Sketches," Charles relates how he came to adopt the name of "Boz," which was a familiar nickname given in childhood to this younger brother; and again, in a recent edition of the Pickwick Papers, he recurs to the subject. "Boz, my signature in the Morning Chronicle, appended to the monthly cover of this book, and retained long afterwards, was the nickname of a pet child, a younger brother, whom I had dubbed 'Moses,' in honor of the Vicar of Wakefield, which being facetiously pronounced through the nose, became Boses, and being shortened became Boz. "Boz" was a very familiar household word to me long before I was an author, so I came to adopt it."

JOHN RUSKIN, in the Crown of Wild Olives, characterizes in his trenchant style those who live to make money as imitators of Judas: We do great injustice to Iscariot, in thinking him wicked above all common wickedness. He was only a common money lover, and like all money lovers, didn't understand Christ; couldn't make out the worth of Him, or meaning of Him. He didn't wan't Him to be killed. He was horror struck when he found that Christ would be killed; threw his money away instantly, and hanged himself. How many of our present money seekers, think you, would have the grace to hang themselves, whoever was killed? But Judas was a common, selfish, muddle headed, pilfering fellow; his hand always in the bag of the poor, not caring for them. He didn't understand Christ, yet believed in Him, much more than most of us do; had seen Him do miracles, thought he was quite strong enough to shift for Himself, and he, Judas, might as well make his own little by-perquisites out of the affair. Christ would come out of it well enough, and he have the thirty pieces. Now, that is the money seeker's idea, all over the world.

Sense and Nonsense.

.....Gratitude: A lively appreciation of favors to come.

.....Cholera cigars — preventives — are sold in London.

.....When is a man thinner than a lath? When he's a shaving.

.....Who is the first person mentioned in the Bible? Jenny Sis.

.....If your neighbor's offence is rank, don't let yours be rancour.

.....The worst organ grinder—a hollow tooth that plays the deuce.

....."How are you, hired man?" is the cant phrase of Philadelphia.

.....Without a liberal use of the rod it is impossible to make boys smart.

.....When is a sick man a contradiction? When he is an impatient patient.

....."This can't be beet!" as the farmer said when he pulled up a large carrot.

.....We like a black eye. We like a blue one. We don't like a black and blue one.

.....Why is an arm chair like the Marseilles Hymn? Because it has "To arms."

..... A pin has as much head as a great many authors, and a great deal more point.

..... The tobacco-chewer is said to be like a goose in a Dutch oven—always on the spit.

.....Josh Billings says. "Thare is more chastity and buty among the fair sex than thare is good sense.

.....The difference between an odd person and a pig is, that one's kink is in his head, and the other's is in his tail.

.....What is the difference between accepted and rejected lovers? The accepted kisses the misses, and the rejected misses the kisses.

—Jerome, the millionaire, his pedigree
Don't waste his time to trace,
But rather seeks to prove that he can be
The Founder of a Race.

.....As people sprinkle the floors before they sweep them, so some ladies sprinkle their husbands with tears in order to sweep cash out of their pockets.

.....At a banquet this toast was given: "Woman—without her, man is a brute." The reporter had it printed: "Woman—without her man, is a brute."

.....Gardeners mind their peas; actors mind their cues; but church wardens, instead of minding their "p's" and "q's," very often give all their attention to their pews and keys.

.....A celebrated wit was asked why he did not marry a young lady to whom he was much attached. "I know not," he replied, "except the great regard we have for each other."

....."How do you like Shakspeare?" said a blue stocking young lady to an old river captain. "Don't like her at all madam; she burns too much wood and carries too little freight.

.....Mark Tw

CURRENT ITEMS.

Domestic Paragraphs.

—The New York Tribune claims to have gained 56,000 new subscribers since the 1st of August.

—A man in South Carolina sends a boy every day 30 miles on horseback to get his daily paper.

—The Civil Engineer of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad has arrived at Quincy with a corps of assistants to take observations for the site of the proposed bridge across the Mississippi at that point.

—The New York papers, with one exception, wish to raise the price of their journals from four to six cents for single copies. Bennett alone obstinately blocks the movement, and it is hoped even he will soon yield.

—A Maryland farmer tried to start a balky horse attached to a wagon filled with wheat, by firing a sheaf under him. The horse kicked the blazing sheaf into the wagon, which was consumed with its contents, the horse being narrowly rescued from a like fate.

—Martha Grinder, the incarnate fiend who killed the young and beautiful Mrs. Caruthers (and it is believed others) at Pittsburg, Pa., by slow poison, subjected the victim's husband to the same terrible treatment, with even a worse result. He is now a raving maniac.

—The Episcopalians of New York are seriously debating the extension of the Episcopate, particularly with reference to the erection of one or more new Dioceses under the jurisdiction of the present Bishop of New York, whom, in such case, some of the clergy and laity would favor creating Archbishop.

—Underground traveling increases at a surprising rate in London. In the first six months of 1863 the number of passengers carried on the Metropolitan line was 4,823,437; in 1864 for the same period, it was 5,207,335; in 1865, it was 7,462,823, but in the first half of the present year it rose to 10,303,395.

—At the sinking of the Linnie Drown, a planter from Kentucky, bound to Washington county, Ark., when awakened, seized his carpet sack containing eight thousand dollars and rushed into the cabin, where he saw a lady struggling in the water. He threw away his carpet sack and money, and, seizing the lady, carried her to a place of safety.

—The city editor of the Cleveland Plaindealer has received the present of a "little stranger," snugly packed in a basket, with a note attached requesting that "the child be taught to be an editor." The Plaindealer man doesn't consider such thing as properly belonging to the perquisites of his office, and, to place the child beyond the corrupting influences of the dead-head gang, has turned him over to the infirmary.

—In addition to samples of fractional currency, the Treasurer of the United States, Gen. Spinner, is now prepared to furnish sets of perforated postage currency (first issue). The cost of a set of the perforated currency is ninety cents, making the total cost of a specimen of each issue of postage and fractional six dollars and sixty-five cents. There is scarcely a mail in which there are not a number of letters applying for specimens, from all sections of the country.

—A verdict was recently given in the Circuit Court in Jefferson county, Wisconsin, by which the administrators of Francis L. Bishop recovered $3,000 from the Chicago & Northwestern Railroad company as damages for killing the little girl of the deceased, aged eleven years. The train did not stop long enough for her to get from the car, and she was crushed to death in making the attempt. The accident happened at Fort Atkinson, in March, 1865.

—It is quite probable that an effort will ere long be made for the consolidation of New York and Brooklyn. The two cities are now practically united, not only by their contiguity, the unity of their interests, and the commingling of their populations, but also by their local governments, so far as the Police, Health, and other departments are concerned. They will doubtless continue to be drawn closer together by the extension of other branches of local government over both, until finally they will be merged into one city.

—The Turf, a New York sporting paper, says the famous horse Kentucky horse Asteroid has broken down, and will never more appear on the course. He journeyed more than a thousand miles to meet his rivals at the inauguration of Mr. Jerome's park, near New York, recently, but seems to have been injured on the way so that he showed signs of lameness on his arrival. The next day he was pulled up from a short brush with the power of one limb destroyed. He sprung the tendon of the right fore leg so severely that he will never be able to stand the preparation for another race.

—The Macon Telegraph says an old lady named Martha Carson died lately in Bibb county, Ga., aged 103 years, 6 months and 3 days. She had cut three sets of teeth, the last being small and like a squirrel's. She never took an active dose of medicine in her life. Up to within six years she would walk two or three miles with the greatest ease. About eight years ago her sight failed, but when she cut her last set of teeth, about two years since, it improved very much. She was born in North Carolina, but has lived in Georgia for 60 years. Her oldest son, William, died in Louisiana a few months ago, at the age of 81 or 82 years. She had 11 children, 5 of whom are now living.

—On Saturday evening, the 22d inst., says the Rochester Union, a box containing a human body came to this city by the United States Express. It arrived late in the evening, and bore an address—it being the name of a lady in this city, but did not bear the name of the deceased. The express agent did not desire to retain the body over Sunday, particularly as it bore evidences of decomposition, and he therefore sought for the party to whom it was addressed, and inquired among the undertakers, but could get no information. The body was placed in the dead-house, and on Sunday the lady was found. She knew nothing of a death among her friends, not having been apprised by letter or otherwise of such an occurrence. She went to the dead-house, the box was opened in her presence, when lo! a coffin was revealed which contained the body of her mother!

—Miss Hetty H. Robinson, the aged spinster with five millions, who last year instituted proceedings to break her aunt Howland's will, and get two millions more at the expense of certain charities named therein, has got herself into trouble, and won't get out of it easy. The affair is being examined by a commissioner at New Bedford, Mass., and not much information has leaked out as yet, but the Standard says there's a bad forgery involved. Miss Robinson claims to break the will under an alleged "contract" with her aunt that neither should marry, and that the survivor should be the sole heir to the other. The contestant has recently put into the case a duplicate copy of the contract, it is supposed to create the impression that both copies were executed at the same time, and one retained by each of the parties. Experts stated on oath, last week, that the signatures of Sylvia Ann Howland to the two "contracts" were traced through the paper from that on the will, and a series of careful measurements show the three signatures to be identical to the nicest particular. Rumor further has it that Miss Hetty has attempted to bribe the commissioner, and that overtures were even extended to one of the Justices of the Supreme Court of Massachusetts. If Hetty doesn't serve a term in the State prison she will come short of her deserts.

—A Utica paper furnishes some reminiscences of the recent Sabbath School Convention in that city, and says that one reverend delegate spoke strongly against the awful practice of playing ball. He saw nothing but ruin to young men who engaged in the practice. We hardly think he obtained the sympathy of half a dozen delegates. Certain it is that this enemy of base ball was most completely snuffed out in the evening by Rev. Mr. Scoville, of Norwich, Chenango county. Mr. S. is a son-in-law of Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, and on this occasion he did honor to even H. W. B. He not only defended the lovers of the game but declared himself one of its votaries. Speaking of playing, he said: "I regret that I cannot remain longer in the Convention, but our club and the Hill boys have a match game on the tapis, and I must go. We licked those Hill boys once, and, thank the Lord, we can do it again."

Foreign Gossip.

—It is said that there is scarcely a member of the French Court who does not owe more than he can by any sacrifice possibly pay. Dissipation and extravagance.

—The Mont Cenis Railway is nearly done. It will be open for travel by winter. The incline sometimes attains eight and a half feet in the one hundred, and some of the turnings have a radius of only one hundred and thirty-three feet.

—A spurious Tennyson has appeared in London. Bearing a close resemblance to the Poet Laureate, he was able to deceive many persons, and is said to have parted with several locks of hair, in deference to the wishes of enthusiastic women.

—A Canadian newspaper contains the following plaintive advertisement: "Will the gentlemen who stole my melons on last Sabbath night be generous enough to return me a few of the seeds, as the melons are a rare variety?"

—Mr. Spurgeon, says the London Press, has just notified, on smart pink paper, to a member of his flock, that he discourages as much as possible the practice of returning thanks to God after childbirth by any of his congregation, since in most cases it is an absurd superstitious practice.

—The advertisement of a schoolmaster in a Viennese paper informs the public that at his establishment the pupils are taught "all the languages spoken in the Austrian empire, viz: Bohemian, Polish, Russian, Magyar, Croat, Servian, Sclave, Rouman, Italian, and German—in all ten."

—A number of men and women have lately tried to impose on the London Hospital with a pretense of choleraic symptoms. Some whose acting was of a superior order, were admitted, but they soon fell into the fault of most amateurs. They overrated the cramps, and exaggerated the pains. This led to discovery and instant expulsion.

—Amsterdam has been thrown into consternation by the stoppage of the fair by the authorities on account of the cholera. Fairs are to the Dutch even more sacred than the carnivals to Neapolitans. At these annual fairs, which last several days, the phlegm of the Dutch gives way to the most frantic excitement, and the masses of the people carouse in the streets and taverns all day and night, singing popular songs, and demeaning themselves like infuriated bacchante. No wonder that riots broke out in Amsterdam consequent upon the prohibition of the present fair. Indeed, nothing could have roused the Amsterdam Dutchmen from their apathy more effectually than this ruthless intermeddling with their annual jollifications.

Art and Science.

—It is stated by a wandering paragraph that the records of the Patent Office at Washington show that no woman has ever applied for a patent. This we know to be a mistake. Mrs. Sarah S. Baldwin, of Waterbury, Conn., has taken out three patents.

—M. Pertuiset, a French lion hunter, has invented an explosive bullet, which, in passing through the object fired at, blows it to atoms. After the explosion, what remains of the bullet will continue its flight, with sufficient impetus to cause the death of any living creature in its way.

—At a late meeting of the Paris Academy of Sciences, M. Delarne sent in a paper in which he contended that the cause of cholera lies in the formation of nitrous compounds in the human body, through the action of the elements of the air. The remedy he proposes is bicarbonate of soda, which would neutralize these compounds.

—A method has been discovered in England for securing the perfect insulation of submerged electric cables, by substituting India rubber for gutta percha as an insulating material. The wire is first covered with a layer of pure rubber, and then by thick alternate coatings of vulcanized rubber and felt, by which electrical insulation is perfectly secured.

—Among recent inventions is a button which is fastened to cloth without thread It consists solely of a button with a wire, to be inserted into the cloth like a cork screw, and then pressed down flat, so as to form a ring to hold the button to its place. As this invention will enable every man to keep the buttons on his shirt himself, it is calculated to do away with wives altogether.

—A lady says: Some ten years ago I went to my closet to get a sponge cake, and found it covered with those little pests the red ants. Not knowing what to do with it, I laid it down on an old black walnut table close by, and in less time than it has taken me to write this, the ants left the cake and table. I immediately took the hint, and put walnut shelves in my closets, and since that time there has not been an insect seen."

—Mr. Barber, an American astronomer, contributes some valuable observations in regard to the variable star Clotona. The star has been observed gradually to increase to a star of the second magnitude, and then again decrease. The chief assistant at the Royal observatory, Greenwich, considers the gradually increasing and decreasing of the star a most curious and rare phenomenon. Many conjectures are entertained as to what matter forms the star, some being of opinion that the star is a burning world.

—On Monday, October 8, there will be a partial eclipse of the sun, which will be visible in New England, and in that part of the State of New York which is northeast of a line drawn on a map from the city of Rochester to the lighthouse on Fire Island, Long Island. The eclipse will be the last of the sun visible in the United States, until the magnificent one of August 7, 1869, when the shadow of the moon will pass over and produce a total eclipse, in part of seven States.

—The peculiarity of magnesium lamps is that they burn magnesium in the form of powder, instead of ribbon or wire, and do not depend on clock-work or any similar extraneous motive power for their action. The stream of the metal powder is mixed with a small portion of gas and fine sand in its progress through the tube; they escape together at its mouth, where they are ignited, and continue burning with a brilliant flame.

—The number of black lead pencils made in Kerwick, England, is twenty-five thousand per week; that is about thirteen millions per annum. At an average length of seven inches, this would give an average of fourteen hundred and thirty-six and one-quarter miles of black lead and cedar. The cedar annually consumed amounts to twelve thousand cubic feet, and the yellow pine in due proportion. The plumbago is partly the produce of the Borrowdale mine and partly from Mexico and Peru. The number of hands employed is two hundred, and their highest wages vary from 15s to 20s per week.

—Engraving upon glass has hitherto been, not unfrequently, effected by the use of fluoric acid, which often produced dangerous wounds, when by accident it came into contact with the skin of the workmen. Mr. Henrie Sainte-Claire Deville has recently exhibited to the Academy of Sciences of Paris some very fine examples of glass engraving executed by means of a solution of the fluoride of calcium in hydrochloric acid, with which there is no such danger. The results obtained by this method are said to be exceedingly satisfactory.

—A French engineer, named Desen, is exhibiting in London a bathing apparatus, which is also a life preserver. It is of simple construction, resembling a child's cradle, the upper part having a cylindrical cork-float, canvased over, nearly surrounding the machine, which keeps the bather afloat with the greatest ease and safety. The body consists of a net, with light iron tubular pipes for support; and the bottom of bed, a piece of twilled tick, at the foot of which there is a screw copper rudder, which turns upon a swivel, with a pair of cork soles the shape of the foot. Against this the bather places his feet, and is thus enabled to guide or steer himself in any direction, while, by the use of a handle attached to the left side of the apparatus below the cylinder, he is enabled to propel himself or recede. This invention can be used in open sea, as well as on a river or lake.

—That extensively employed material known as amber, used for the mouth pieces of meerschaum pipes and cigar holders, is believed to be a fossilized vegetable gem. It is singularly electrical when rubbed, developing negative electricity to such a degree that in manufacturing it into the forms in which it is sold, the workmen are sometimes affected with nervous tremors, and they are obliged frequently to change the pieces they handle. Amber is found on the Baltic coast of Prussia, entangled in masses of sea-weed. It is always obtained in greater quantities after a sea storm, which leads to the belief that it is washed ashore. It is found in this country at Amboy, New Jersey, at Gay Head, Martha's Vineyard, and at Cape Sable, Maryland. Leaves of fossil plants and tropical insects are sometimes found imbedded in it, a fact that has given rise to some pretty poetical conceits. In the East it is highly valued, and has been used as a form of concentrated wealth, as are diamonds and other precious stones.

—Geologists have advanced another proof of the great antiquity of the world. In the year 1819, if we are to believe Dr. Joulin, Admiral Sir David Milne visited a sea grotto in the Bermudas, and cut down and carried away as a trophy a stalagmite, or natural crystalized pillar. This stalagmite was taken to Edinburgh and deposited among other natural curiosities, in an academy of science. It measured over ten feet, and is a fine specimen of natural crystalization. The son of Admiral Milne adopted his father's profession, and, in his wanderings over the mighty deep he often found himself in the presence of the scenes that had attracted the attention of his father. In 1863, 44 years after the old admiral had secured the crystalized pillar as a trophy, David Milne, Jr., visited the famous grotto in the Bermudas, and on examination found that another stalagmite had begun to grow in the place of the one cut down and carried away. This fact attracted the attention of geologists, and led to a scientific investigation into the peculiarities and natural formation of the grotto. Two drops of water fall four times a minute upon the spot where what Dr. Joulin indignantly denounces as a theft was committed. By careful measurement of the young stalagmite, and an elaborate computation, it is ascertained that the pillar now in Edinburgh was the growth of 600,000 years.

—A French professor casts this lugubrious horoscope of earth: "Our earth will become a moon. Once the earth was a soft and diffused substance; it then became an incandescent and luminous sphere, next a very solid globe, liquid within; it is now an obscure planet, thick and gradually cooling, with fire in its bosom, but bathed on its surface by water and ambient vapors. One of these days its inner fires will be extinguished, its atmosphere and oceans will have evaporated and earth will revolve through space an inert and icy mass. It will then be like the moon, where organic life is extinguished, where silence reigns, where extraordinary cold weather is followed without transition by excessively hot weather. The moon once had its atmosphere, its volcanos, its inner fires and its humid belt. The same law governs the destinies of all the sun's satellites. Each of them upon breaking from the common mass began to cool so much the more rapidly as its volume was smaller. The earth being 49 times larger than the moon, cools 49 times slower than it; but, like it, does cool. Already the oceans have lost the 50th part of their original volume, and they will have entirely disappeared before the solid crust of the earth is 75 miles thick. When this day comes there will be no animated creatures, no trace of animal or vegetable life on this globe. Icy nights will follow torrid days. In the course of time this will be the fate of the sun and all the solar system. But it will be thousands of millions of years before the earth reaches this state."

From the Herald of Health.

Female Dress.

BY DIO LEWIS, M. D.

This subject is vitally important. Beside it, diet, exercise and baths sink into insignificance. My pale-faced countrywomen are dying for lack of room, freedom; they are being stifled.

Dress Reformers proclaim short skirts as the remedy. This is well. The short skirt is an improvement—a movement upward, but of no consequence compared with the readjustment of the dress about the middle of the body. The part contains the vital organs. Is a man strong? it is because the middle of his body is strong. Is a woman vigorous? it is because the middle of her body is developed and active.

The changes needed in woman's dress are the following, and I believe their importance is in the order named:

1. The dress about the waist is to be very loose, without whalebones or other stiffening, and the skirts carried with suspenders over the shoulders.
2. The arms and legs are to be so warmly dressed as to maintain a healthy circulation.
3. The skirts to fall to the knee.

I have said that the importance of these several changes is in the order named. The lungs, heart, liver and stomach, which together make up the fountain of life, must have room, or the vital forces must halt. With the corset and tight lacing, these organs are reduced one-third in size and two-thirds in motion.

Health and equilibrium of circulation are interchangeable terms. Whoever, whatever living thing, either animal or vegetable, has a perfect circulation has perfect health. Whoever, whatever living thing has defective circulation has defective health. Flannels, cotton padding, thick shawls, cloaks and furs piled upon the chest, while the legs are covered with a single thickness of cotton cloth surrounded by a balloon in the shape of a hoop, steams the chest and freezes the legs. The legs and arms, separated so far from the center of the body, surrounded by the cold air, need, to say the least, as much clothing as the body, and ought to have one or, in cold weather in this climate, two thicknesses of knit woolen. Women complain to me of headache, tell me their blood is all in their head and chest, while their feet are as cold as ice. With the fashionable dress how can it be otherwise? Let them cover the limbs with one or two thicknesses of warm flannel, and the feet with a warm dress, and the head and chest will be immediately relieved.

Suggestions to Farmers.

Paint all tools exposed to the weather, and if with a light-colored paint they will heat, warp and crack least in the sun.

Dip the tips of nails in grease, and they will easily drive into any hard wood where otherwise they would double and break.

Dip well-seasoned shingles in lime, wash and dry them before laying, and they will last much longer, and not become covered with moss.

Always keep a supply of copper wire on hand, of different sizes, for repairing tools—it is greatly superior to either twine or iron wire.

Plant a patch of osier willows on every farm. A rod square will furnish as many bands for binding cornstalks, straw, etc., as an acre of rye straw.

In laying out gardens for fruits and vegetables, place everything in drills or rows, so that they may be cultivated by a horse, and thus save the expense of hand labor.

Always set a post fence over a ditch or near good drainage, and the posts, always remaining dry, will last many years longer than those standing in wet sub-soil.

Always tie a halter by making first a single loop and then thrusting the end of the halter through this loop. This is quickly untied, and will never become untied of itself.

In writing on wooden labels or marking sticks with a common pencil, if the wood is first wet the mark will last two years; if written on dry, one or two rains will wash it all away.

Oil paint applied to houses and barns, outbuildings and fences, will last much longer and harden better if put on as late as the middle of autumn, instead of during the heat of summer.

In plowing or teaming on the road in hot weather, always rest the horses on an eminence where they may receive the cool breeze, and where one minute will be worth two in a warm valley.

In screwing nuts into any part of machinery in cold weather, be careful not to heat them first with the hands, or they will contract after being screwed on tight, and become immovable afterwards.

When board fences become old, and the boards begin to come off, nail upright facing strips upon them against each post, and the boards will be held to their place, and the fence will last several years longer.

Remove every stone from the track in the highway. A single projection, which might have been removed in one minute, has battered and damaged a thousand wagons, at a damage equal to a hundred days' labor.

In setting out young orchards, always register the varieties immediately in a book where they may be referred to in a few years when the trees commence bearing and after the labels are lost and the names forgotten.

In hitching a horse to a common rail or worm fence, always select the inside corner, which will be more secure by its bracing position, and the halter will not become tangled among the projecting ends of the rails, as when hitched to an outside corner.

Every farmer should have a neat tool room, against the smooth walls of which a suitable place should be provided for hanging up every tool. An accurate outline of each tool should be painted on the wall, to remind every man of its absence, when left out of place.

Every bin and granary should have a scale or upright row of figures marked inside, showing accurately the number of bushels to fill it to each figure. This will enable the farmer to know at a glance how much grain he has raised, or has on hand. —Rural Affairs.

Horse Stables.

It is a fault with most stables that they are built for men rather than horses. We wish to point out two common errors into which not a few builders are liable to fall in constructing stables, especially those upon farms. The first is in having the doors and upper floors so low as they generally are. On account of these low doors, horses instinctively learn to fear them, and they shy, rear or prance whenever led toward them They are, also, among the most frequent causes of poll-evil. The horse when passing through them, is either surprised by something it beholds outside the building, or checked by the voice or gesture of the person leading him, when up goes the head and crash comes the poll against the beam of the doorway. A violent bruise often results therefrom, and a deep-seated abscess follows. Low hay-floors also produce the same trouble. The sudden elevation of the head is in the horse, expressive of very unexpected emotion. The effect is always noticed whenever you enter the stable rapidly or at an unusual hour. A sudden noise will also cause the same upward motion of the head. With low stables an injury to the horse is almost invariably sure to follow.

Again, the easiest position in which the horse can stand, is when the hind feet are the highest portion of the body, or when the floor of the stall slants in exactly the opposite direction from what it does in most stables. This is the other error in constructing stables, to which we alluded. Horses at liberty in a pasture invariably stand, when at ease, with their hind feet elevated somewhat, and it is almost a wonder that builders of stables have not improved upon this fact before, and adapted floors to the wants of the horse. The moisture from the horse, if the floor slanted toward the forward feet, would help to keep the forward feet moist, cool and healthy, whereas they are now generally hot, full of fever, and require washing with cool soap suds at least once a day, in order to be kept in a healthy condition. This is not all. Where a floor slants back, the horse not unfrequently attemps to ease the heavy strain upon the flexor tendons of the hind legs by hanging back upon the halter. The pressure upon the seat of the poll stops natural circulation, and in time it develops itself into a deep-seated abscess. We would like to see a stable in which these two errors did not occur. If the builder was not satisfied with it we are sure the occupant would be, and would repay him by long years of good service with unstrained limbs and a healthy system.—Maine Farmer.

WELCOME.—"Papa will soon be here," said mamma to her two-year old boy. "What can Gregory do to welcome him?" And the mother glanced at the child's playthings, which lay scattered in wild confusion on the carpet.

"Make the room neat," replied the bright little one, understanding the look and at once beginning to gather his toys into a basket.

"What more can we do to welcome papa?" asked mamma, when nothing was wanting to the neatness of the room.

"Be happy to him when he comes!" cried the dear little fellow, jumping up and down with eagerness, as he watched at the window for his father's coming.

Now, as all the dictionary-makers will testify, it is very hard to give good definitions; but did not little Gregory give the substance of a welcome? "Be happy to him when he comes."

He who leaves duty undone, will soon find himself undone.

Would Accept no Other as a Gift.—Yours is a machine that needs only to be seen to be appreciated; and once appreciated, it does not, I find, take an intelligent mind long to decide upon its superiority to all others for family use. My wife would not accept one of another patent as a gift, if she must receive it on condition of giving up yours.—[Letter from the Rev. Oliver Crane, Carbondale, Pa., Nov. 27th, 1865, to Wilcox & Gibbs Sewing Machine Co.

THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6

COTTON—Middling	$ 39	@	.40
FLOUR—Extra Round Hoop Ohio	11 05	@	12 25
WHEAT—No. 1 Milwaukee New	2 52	@	2 54
BARLEY	1 25	@	1 34
CORN—Sound Western Mixed	94	@	95
OATS—New Western	56	@	61
PORK—Mess new	33 00	@	33 25
BEEF CATTLE—Common to good	13 00	@	16 50
DRY GOODS—Merrimacs	.21	@	.22
Bleached Sheetings—Masonville		@	.26
Brown Sheetings—Stark		@	.22½
Delaines—Manchester		@	.27½
Denims—Manchester		@	.34½
GOLD—Closed 149¼.

CHICAGO, Oct. 8, 1866.

BEEVES—Stock to prime	4 50	@	7 30
BEANS	.50	@	1.00
BUTTER—Good Tub	.22	@	.24
CHEESE—Western States	.13	@	.15
COFFEE—Rio	.26	@	.30
Java	.39	@	.40
EGGS	.23	@	.22
FRUITS—Green Apples—New	2 50	@	5.00
Grapes—per lb	.18	@	.25
Cranberries—per bbl	10 00	@	15.00
FLOUR—Winter White	12 70	@	14 75
Spring Extra	9 40	@	12 00
FISH—Mackerel, No. 1, half bbl	12 00	@	1. 25
Whitefish, " "	7 00	@	7 25
Codfish, per hundred	9 00	@	9 50
GRAIN—Corn, No. 1	.64	@	64¼
Oats "	.36	@	.37
Rye	.80	@	.81
Wheat—Spring No. 1 New	2 19	@	2 13
Barley Western—new	1.00	@	1 15
HOPS—Western	.45	@	.45
LARD	.17	@	.17¼
LUMBER—Common flooring, rough	32 00	@	35.00
PORK—Mess	32 50	@	33 00
POTATOES, per bushel	.50	@	.65
SHREP—Good	3.00	@	4.50
SUGARS—Cuba	.12½	@	.14½
New York Refined	.17½	@	.17¾
White B	.16½	@	.16⅝
SALT—Fine		@	2.65
Coarse		@	2.65
WOOL—Medium washed	.43	@	46
SEEDS—Timothy	2.75	@	2.85
Flax	2.62	@	3.00

DR. SWAIN'S VEGETABLE HAIR BALM invariably restores grey hair to its original color, without staining the skin or clothing. It leaves the most dry, dead and crisp hair, soft, moist and glossy, causes it to curl, and keeps it in its place, while it promotes its growth and prevents its falling off.

It contains neither oil or alcohol.

Numerous preparations of oil, alcohol and sulphur have been palmed upon the public, and having totally failed to give satisfaction, the manufacturers have deservedly come to grief.

Dr. Swain warrants his Vegetable Balm to accomplish all that he claims for it, and authorizes his agent to refund the money wherever it fails to give satisfaction.

It is an entirely new and scientific preparation, produced by the distilation of rare and fragrant flowers, which renders it not only the best renewer in the world, but makes it particularly agreeable as a hair dressing to both old and young, while its liquid purity and floral odor are in striking contrast with the nasty mixtures usually sold.

The proprietor has letters from many of the most distinguished as well as fashionable people, judges, clergymen, lawyers, physicians, opera singers, actresses, &c, certifying to the remarkable virtues of the Balm.

Don't let any dealer urge upon you a different article, but if your tradesman does not keep this, send one dollar for a trial bottle to the nearest agent, or the proprietor.

If for grey hair, send for No. 1.
If for hair dressing, send for No. 2.
C. H. Swain, proprietor, No. 34 South Water street, Chicago.
For sale by all the wholesale druggists in Chicago.

Invigorate the Responsible Organ.

The stomach is the responsible organ of the system. If the digestion is imperfect, every member, every gland, every muscle, every nuscle and fibre is more or less out of order. All the fluids are depraved. The brain is clouded. The spirits are depressed. All dyspeptics know this to be the truth. It is not, however, half the truth. Columns would be required to enumerate the pains and penalties of dyspepsia, nor could any pen do them justice. Tens of thousands feel them; no man can describe them.

Can they be prevented? Can they be relieved? Can they be banished at once and forever? UNQUESTIONABLY THEY CAN. No dyspeptic has ever taken HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS in vain. Believe no one who says the complaint is incurable. This great vegetable stomachic will eradicate it—is eradicating it in thousands of cases over which medical practitioners have shaken their heads ominously, saying, "Nothing can be done."

The faculty has its fallacies. One of them is that Indigestion is the most difficult of all the ordinary ailments of mankind to combat and subdue. This is a mistake. Nothing can be easier than to conquer it if the true specific be administered. The vegetable combination which has become famous throughout the civilized world as HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS as an antidote to the disease which has never been known to fail, and fortunately it is everywhe e procurable. If you want to root it out and prevent its recurrence, take the Bitters daily. There is no discount on the testimony in its favor. If there is a man or woman who has ever tried it for Indigestion without being benefitted the fact has not transpired. Universal, uncontradicted praise avouches its wonderful tonic virtues.

IN passing down Randolph street, we could not but stop and gaze upon, and into, the mammoth Lamp and Glassware store of our old friend N. F. Merrill, who, although making a great effort to give light to the loyal American world, made last night a light worthy the calling and true patriotism which his house has ever sustained. Long may he live.—Chicago Tribune.

AGENTS WANTED

For the best selling and most useful work of the day. Our Agents are making from $100 to $300 per month, in selling "Mackenzie's Universal Encyclopædia," or 10,000 receipts in all the useful arts, such as Medicine, Cookery, Farriery, Agriculture, &c., &c. New and special articles upon Cholera, and the Rinderpest and Trichinæ have just been added. All new, reliable and useful discoveries added to each edition, making it the most complete book of the kind ever issued. The whole compiled and arranged by a corps of the best scientific men of the country. Apply for circular giving full description and terms to agents. Copies of letters, showing what other agents are doing, &c., sent free by the publishers.

T. ELLWOOD ZELL & COMPANY,
Nos. 17 and 19 S. Sixth street, Philadelphia

GO TO THE BEST.

BRYANT & STRATTON'S CHICAGO BUSINESS UNIVERSITY is the largest and most thorough Institution of the kind in the country, and young men going to Chicago should consult their own best interests by attending this College, where every department of a Business Education is thoroughly taught—Bryant, Stratton & Co's. Scholarships are good during life in forty-eight different Colleges—Address College Paper, Circular, College Currency and Specimens of Penmanship. BRYANT & STRATTON.
Chicago, Ill.

MARCHING ON!

Constantly advancing in public favor throughout the United States, the British Colonies, and Spanish America, and needing

No Flourish of Trumpets

to proclaim the success, that standard article,

CRISTADORO'S HAIR DYE.

is now far ahead of any preparation of its class. People of Fashion at length thoroughly understand the terrible consequences entailed by the use of metallic and caustic preparations, and admit the superiority of this celebrated Dye. Manufactured by J. CRISTADORO, No. 6 Astor House, New York. Sold by all Druggists. Applied by all Hair Dressers.

ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS.—A druggist said the other day, you have no need to advertise your Porous Plasters, for every one sold certainly causes a dozen to be sold, and a dozen sells a gross and so on. You will not be able to supply the demand soon. But we can supply a thousand yards a day.

AFFECTION OF THE SPINE CURED.

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 11th, 1861.

Messrs. THOS. ALLCOCK & Co.—Please send, with dispatch, twelve dozen Allcock's Porous Plasters. Our daily experience confirms their very superior excellence. At this moment of writing, a man applies for one, who, by entanglement in the shaft of machinery, had both his legs broken, spine severely injured, and was for nearly a year entirely helpless. This man found relief very soon by application of a plaster to his spine. He was soon enabled to work, and now he labors as well as ever. He would cheerfully pay $5 for a single plaster if they could not be had at a lower rate. I am surprised that surgeons do not make use of these perforated plasters, to the exclusion of all others, as their flexibility and adhesiveness are greatly in advance of all other plasters with which I am acquainted; while the perforations peculiar to them rendered them greatly superior to all others for ordinary surgical uses. Knowing the plasters to be so useful, I have no scruples that my sentiments should be known.

J. W. JOHNSON, M. D.
Principal Agency, Brandreth House, New York.
Sold by all Dealers in Medicine.

DR. TOBIAS'

VENETIAN LINIMENT.

An instantaneous remedy for chronic rheumatism, headache, toothache, croup, colic, quinsy, sore throat and pains in any part of the body. Remember, this article is a sure as—not an experiment, for 19 years it has been tested. No medicine has ever had such a reputation as this; silently it has worked its way before the public, and all a cloud in its praise. "Chronic Rheumatism" Thousands who laid for weeks on a bed of agony, and one or walked for months without the aid of crutches, with this complaint, can testify to the magical effects of this liniment. They are cured and practical its virtues throughout the land. Remember, relief is certain, and a positive cure is sure to follow. Headache of all kinds we warrant to cure. Putrid sore throat, quinsy, and diphtheria are robbed of their terrors by a timely use of the Venetian Liniment. It has saved hundreds the past three months. Price 40 and 80 cents a bottle, office, 56 Cortlandt street, New York. Sold by all druggists.

A Household Necessity Exists for the use of Durno's Celebrated Catarrh Snuff.

The best known remedy for "a Cold in the Head." Headache, Snuffles, Sore Eyes, Deafness, and the worst forms of that loathsome disease, CATARRH.

It cleanses the entire head. Its effects are pleasant and wonderful, contains no tobacco, nor injurious ingredient. It has the highest professional testimonials Sold by all Druggists for 25 cents per Box. Can be sent by mail on receipt of 30 cents for one Box, or $1 for four Boxes. Address JAS. DURNO, Postoffice Box 1235, New York City. Wholesale by D. BARNES & CO., 21 Park Row New York.

Crosby Opera House

ART ASSOCIATION.

Subscription Books Still Open.

CERTIFICATES, FIVE DOLLARS.

Application for Certificates Should be Made Immediately.

Subscribers are requested to make their remittances by Draft, Certificate of Deposit, or Postoffice Order, where it is possible to do so. Greenbacks should be sent in Registered Letters only.

The Engravings given to Subscribers are the most popular prints ever issued in this country. With one certificate the purchaser receives "The Little Wanderer," or "Gathering Apples." With two certificates, "Washington Irving and his Friends," a splendid engraving—portraits from life of American authors. With three certificates, "Mercy's Dream." With four certificates, the chromo-engraving in colors of Cropsey's "Autumn." This work is not yet quite finished, but will soon be ready for delivery. Artists' proofs of either the chromo, the "Dream," or of "Irving" with en certificates.

CARD.

The Chromo from Cropsey's Autumn.

OFFICE OF THOMAS SINCLAIR,
LITHOGRAPHIC ESTABLISHMENT, 311 CHESTNUT ST.,
PHILADELPHIA, September 20, 1866.

Dear Sir: It is impossible to hurry a Chromo Lithograph of Mr. Cropsey's "American Autumn." It will be printed in nineteen colors, from nineteen different stones, and requires in its execution the greatest care and labor.

I might have finished it sooner, but thought it best to take a little more time, that I might present a finer specimen of the art.

Believe me when I say that I will use ever possible exertion to complete the picture by October 1st.

I have the honor to be,
Very respectfully yours,
THOS. SINCLAIR.

U. H. CROSBY, Esq., Chicago, Illinois.

To secure the safety of the engraving, enclose nine cents for tube. The express charges on tubes containing one or two engravings, are, by special arrangement with the American, United States, and Adams Express Companies, twenty-five cents on any one line of Express. When ordered to be forwarded by mail, inclose twenty-five cents for tube and postage. Orders and communications should be addressed to

U. H. CROSBY, Actuary,
No. 28 Opera House, Chicago

WEED

AMONG THE ADVANTAGES CLAIMED for the WEED SEWING MACHINE, please note the following:

It can make but one Stitch, and that the Lock—this it never fails to do.

The Needle is straight—therefore sure and powerful.

The Blade of the Needle is SHORTER than that of any other Shuttle Machine in use.

Its speed is superior to most—thus producing more effect with the same effort.

It is not Noiseless, but few are more so.

They not only run quietly but easily

The Tension is the most simple and effective of any.

The feed is perfect. Admirably arranged for examination, cleaning, oiling, &c.

With its shuttle and straight SHORT needle—simple yet perfect feed and tension—speed and easy motion, it produces the best stitch, with the least trouble, in the shortest time, without destroying the life and elasticity of the thread or silk.

Special attention is called to the fact that the arrangements of the Weed Sewing Machine are such that a firm and elastic seam can be made with light tension, and retain the pliability of the silk or thread equally with hand sewing.

Prices correspond with those of other first-class Machines. Every Machine is Warranted to give perfect satisfaction.

Agents wanted. Extra inducements offered.
Northwestern Office, 102 Washington St., Chicago.

Weed Sewing Machine Co.
PAYSON E. MAYHEW, Agent.

Circular Saws,

WITH EMERSON'S

Patent Movable Teeth,

REQUIRE LESS POWER,

less skill, less files—saw smoother and better—cut less kerf. The saw always retains its original size. Send for descriptive pamphlet, containing information of value to all interested in lumber, and sawing of any description.

Address, AMERICAN SAW COMPANY,
No. 2 Jacob-st., near Ferry-st., N. Y.

The Little Corporal,

Is acknowledged by the leading papers to be the Best Children's Paper in America!

Published Monthly, at One Dollar a year, (ten cents for sample copy) by

ALFRED L. SEWELL,
Circulars sent free Chicago, Illinois.

FARMERS, COUNTRYMEN, AND COUNTRY MERCHANTS

CAN SEND THEIR

Tobacco, Butter, Cheese, Eggs, Lard, Tallow, Beans, Hops, Flax, Cotton, Dried Fruit, Grain, Meal, Green and Dried Fruits, Furs, Skins, Poultry, Game, Provisions, Seeds, Sorghum, Wool, Potash, Oils,

AND OTHER PRODUCE TO

JOSIAH CARPENTER,

General Commission Merchant,

323 Washington St., New York,

To be sold at the

OLD RELIABLE!

CLOTHIERS

AND

Tailors!

D. W. C. HARDY & CO.

Adrian, - Michigan.

The place to secure unheard of bargains;

MAMMOTH STOCK

Always to select from and Eastern prices will be found here.

ONE PRICED SYSTEM AND

GOOD GOODS.

Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Be sure and find the OLD RELIABLE CLOTHING HOUSE, and for

Custom Work and Cloths

You cannot do better west of New York.

D. W. C. HARDY & Co.

Lathrops Block, Adrian, Mich.

EUREKA.

NOT CALIFORNIA WITH ALL ITS GOLD, BUT THE PLACE TO BUY

Boots & Shoes at

Prices that suit the times, at

MC'NICHOL & WILSON'S

EMPIRE

Boot & Shoe Store.

We shall keep constantly on hand a full assortment of the BEST

Eastern Work to be Found

Consisting of

MEN'S CALF, GOAT AND KID BOOTS, BALMORALS, SLIPS, and endless variety of EVERYTAING found in a First Class Boot and Shoe Store. Our manufacturing department will be ably conducted and all work done by us warranted to give satisfaction. Those in want of Boots or Shoes will save money by calling, and be sure to buy, for they can't fail to suit.

Remember the place—one door east of Curtis Drug Store,

Yes "This is So!--Fact.

We would respectfully invite the citizens of Tecumseh and vicinity, to call and see us.

On Railroad st. opposite Slayton, Tindall & Co's. Warehouse, where they will keep constantly on hand a good supply of everythings people may want, such as

BEEF, PORK, MUTTON

Lamb, Veal, Corned Beef, Salt Fish of all kinds, Smoked Hams &c. &c. We intend to keep the best market ever kept in this village, and sell as reasonable as the times will allow. Call and see me,

A. S. Mathews.

Tecumseh, July, 1866.

DR. VELPAU'S FRENCH PILLS.

Ladies, take Particular Notice.

THE REAL VELPAU FEMALE PILL.

[WARRANTED FRENCH.]

THESE PILLS, so celebrated many years ago in Paris for the relief of female irregularities, and afterward so notorious for their criminal employment in the practice of abortion, are now offered for sale for the first time in America. They have been kept in comparative obscurity from the fact that the originator, Dr. Velpau, is a physician in Paris of great wealth and strict conscientious principles, and has withheld them from general use, lest they should be employed for unlawful purposes. In overcoming Female Obstructions, Falling of the Womb, Whites, Green Sickness, Suppression, Retention, or Immoderate Flow of the Monthly Discharges, they seem to be truly omnipotent, bursting open the flood-gates from whatever cause may have stopped them; but they are offered to the public only for legitimate uses, and all agents are forbidden to sell them when it is understood that the object is unlawful. Married ladies should never take them when there is any reason to believe themselves pregnant, for they will be sure to produce a miscarriage.

These pills are entirely safe under all circumstances, being composed entirely of substances from the vegetable kingdom.

Each box has the coat of arms for the City of Paris stamped on the box, with the words "Trade Mark" in French, to counterfeit which is a misdemeanor, and all persons will be dealt with according to law.

☞ Full directions accompany every box.

Ladies can obtain a box sealed from the eyes of the curious, by inclosing One Dollar and six post office stamps to any respectable druggists, or to O. G. STAPLES, General Agent for the United States, Watertown, N. Y.

Agents,

Staiger & Fausel

PRACTICAL

Watch-Makers, Jewelers,

And Repairers of Clocks &c. &c.

J. D. Robbins' Jewelry Store, Tecumseh, Mich. Give them a call.

Farmers! Farmers!

THE

RAISIN MILLS,

is the place to get good grinding done. I pay particular attention to this branch of business,

CUSTOM GRINDING.

keep the Mill constantly in good repair and the 2nd Adam is always on hand with a pleasant smile to tend to the wants

OF MY NUMEROUS CUSTOMERS!

BRING GOOD CLEAN WHEAT, and I will warrant that Adam will give you satisfaction. SOUND

Wheat taken in store for Bread

Good White and Red Wheat Flour for sale. The highest market price paid

In Greenbacks

for good White and Amber Wheat

Mill Feed of all kinds for Sale.

SAWING DONE

for Customers on short notice. Bills of hard wood lumber sawed, and delivered if wished.

LUMBER FOR SALE

Cash paid for Saw Logs. Good hard wood slabs for sale by the load. &c. &c

I sincerely thank my numerous customers for their very liberal patronage, and shall endeavor to do as good work, and even better if possible in the future.

Woolston Comfort.

---

18 Pronunciemento. 66

GLOBE MILLS.

This well known and popular Mill is

Now in Good Running Order,

and prepared to do Grinding Grists for the farmers in a satisfactory manner, will endeavor to make a good yield and have the flour suit.

Old Customers

I shall be pleased to retain, and would invite others to try and see

How well we can do For them.

To such as

PREFER EXCHANGING THEIR GRAIN,

to having it ground, I shall be ready to accommodate, having always on hand a

SUPPLY OF FLOUR,

There can usually be found at the Mill for Sale

Best White Wheat Flour,
Best Red Wheat Flour,
2nd best Red Wheat Flour,
At Wholesale or Retail.
Corn Meal, Bolted and Coarse,
Fine Middlings, B. W. Flour,
Ship Stuffs, B. W. Bran,
Mixed feed for horses and cattle,
Corn and Oats ground for horse feed.

This Mill can more often grind, because of its unfailing

SUPPLY OF WATER,

and does more certainly have a supply of Flour and Feed always on hand, than any other mill for miles around.

Farmers are invited to bring their wheat to the Globe Mill and get THE HIGHEST MARKET PRICE. They will always also usually find a market at the Mill for their other grains.

Wm. HAYDEN.

A. HOOD & CO.,

Are receiving a large stock of

CLOTHS, CLOTHING, HATS AND CAPS.

And all kinds of Furnishing Goods pertaining to Gentlemen's wear.

A splendid assortment of Cassimeres and Vestings At A. HOOD & CO.

CHINCHILLA BEAVERS, and all other varieties of Over Coatings At A. HOOD & CO.

A good assortment of Broadcloths for Gentlemen's SUITS, or Ladies' CLOAKS At A. HOOD & CO.

A large stock of HATS & CAPS of all styles FUR, FELT, CASSIMERE & SILK At A. HOOD & CO.

A great variety of WOOLEN SHIRTS At A. HOOD & CO.

Lots of YPSILANTI CLOTHS at the lowest figures, at A. HOOD & CO.

UNDER SHIRTS & DRAWERS The largest stock ever brought to this town for sale at A. HOOD & CO.

ALL KINDS OF GLOVES At A. HOOD & CO.

A nice stock of NECK TIES, new styles At A. HOOD & CO.

TRUNKS, TRAVELING BAGS of all kinds, at A. HOOD & CO.

If you want a Coat, Pants or Vest TRIMMED Go to A. HOOD & CO

Lots of Ready Made Clothing At A. HOOD & CO.

A choice lot of ENGLISH MELTONS for Ladies' Cloaking for sale at cost, At A. HOOD & CO.

We still continue the Tailoring Business in all its branches, and are prepared to get up Garments on short notice, on as liberal terms as any other establishment. Cutting done on short notice.

We cordially invite our old customers to examine our Stock before purchasing.

A. HOOD & CO.

ONE OF THE LARGEST

ESTABLISHMENT

In Southern michigan.

One of the best filled Establishments!

A LARGE STOCK,

Most Varied

Stock of Furniture

Is to be found at

G. & H. Smiths'

ROOMS IN THE

NEW BUILDING,

South Side Chicago St., Tecumseh,

Great Bargains

Are now offered to wholesale or retail buyers.

Among our assortment of Furniture may be found,

Various Styles and Prices

OF SOFAS,

TETE-A-TETES,

MAHOGANY, EASY, WOOD SEAT, CANE SEAT

AND ROCKING CHAIRS

FRENCH, COTTAGE, COMMON AND TRUNDLE,

BEDSTEADS,

MARBLE TOP, WRITING, CARD AND

TEA TABLES,

Nots, Cradles, Bureaus, Cribs, Desks, Show Cases, Stands, Book Cases, Cupboards, Washstands, Lounges, &c. &c. &c.

Furniture made to order on short notic by the best of Workmen.

LOOKING GLASSES,

COFFINS,

We keep constantly on hand a large and ll assortment of Coffins and will make to order all kinds either Night or Day, and finished and trimmed in the best style,

A Hearse Furnished when Desired.

G. SMITH,
H. SMITH.

Tecumseh, June 11th, 1863.

Great Chance for Bargains.

CHAS. H. ADAM & CO.

BEBNG ABOT TO RETIRE FROM THE DRY GOODS IN TECUMSEH OFFER FOR SALE AT

GREATLY REDUCED RATES

THEIR ENTIRE STOCK OF DRY GOODS,

Consisting of Staple and Fancy goods, Yankee Notions

And everything usually kept in a Dry Goods Store.

This will afford the best opportunity

EVER OFFERED IN TECUMSEH TO OBTAIN BARGAINS IN DRY GOODS, FOR CASH.

GOODS SOLD AY THE PIECE

OR QUANTITY AT WHOLESALE PRICES.

All outstanding account must be settled within thirty days to save interest and cost.

C. H. ADAM & CO.

TECUMSEH, SEPT. 27th 1866.

NEW GOODS,

PRICES DOWN!

H. C. CONKLING

Would call the attention of the public to his new stock of

CHOICE GROCERIES

Just purchased in New York at the

RECENT DECLINE,

which he offers for sale

CHEAP.

All Goods warranted to give satisfaction. Cash paid for Produce, as usual,

5000 Firkins

Of Butter Wanted!!

Butter firkins to put out to be filled:—☞ Call and see those choice Teas: Don't forget, the old stand of Ketcham & Conkling.

H. C. CONKLING.

Tecumseh, May 7th, 1866.

DENTISTRY.

DR. A. PELHAM,

Resident Dentists.

Office over Fisher & Baker's Drug Store, Chicago St.

TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN.

☞ All branches of Dentistry performed in the neatest possible manner and at Reasonable Prices

---

We would respectfully inform the citizens of Tecumseh and vicinity that we opened a

MEAT MARKET,

at McGee's old stand in Bidwell's warehouse where we shall keep on hand everything in our line that the market affords, of the best quality that can be had.

We have also made arrangements for the manufacture of SOFT SOAP, which will be sold at reasonable rates. Ashes and grease taken in exchange and Soap delivered when requested.

Thankful for past favors, we cordially invite our friends to give us a call. All orders left at the Market will be promptly attended to. W. TAYLOR & CO.

$1,500 PER YEAR. We want agents everywhere to sell our IMPROVED $20 Sewing Machines. Three new kinds. Under and upper feed. Sent on trial. Warranted five years. Above salary or large commissions paid. The only machines sold in the United States for less than $40, which are fully licensed by Howe, Wheeler & Wilson, Grover & Baker, Singer & Co., and Bachelder. All other cheap machines are infringements and the seller or user are liable to arrest, fine and imprisonment. Illustrated circulars sent free. Address, or call upon Shaw & Clark, at Biddeford, Maine, or Chicago, Ill.

ROYAL HAVANA LOTTERY OF CUBA

Conducted by the Spanish Government,

$150,000

IN GOLD DRAWN EVERY 17 DAYS

Prizes cashed and information furnished, the highest rates paid for Doubloons and all kinds of Gold and Silver, also for all government Securities.

TAYLOR & CO., Bankers, 16 wall st. N. Y.

n790lysmp

Ditchers take Notice.

The Drain Commissioners of Lenawee County will meet on the east side of section 12 on the lands of Levi Fowler, in the township of Adrian, on Saturday the 1st day of September next, at 9 o'clock A. M., for the purpose of letting jobs on a drain commencing on section 12 and extending to section 24 of Adrian Township. Said jobs will be let to the lowest bidder in sections to suit contractors.

By order of the Drainage Commissioners.

JUSTUS LOWE, Secretary.

Ridgeway, Aug. 7th, 1866.

THE CONFESSIONS AND EXPERIENCE OF AN INVALID.

Published for the benefit and as a CAUTION TO YOUNG MEN and others, who suffer from Nervous Debility, Premature Decay of Manhood, &c., supplying at the same time the means of Self-Cure. By one who has cured himself after undergoing considerable quackery. By enclosing a post-paid addressed envelope, single copies, free of charge, mby be had of the author.

NATHANIEL MAYFAIR, Esq., Brooklyn, n790lysmp Kings Co., N. Y.

$2000 A YEAR made by any one with $15—Stencil Tools. No experience necessary. The Presidents, Cashiers, and Treasurers of 3 Banks indorse the circular. Sent free with samples. Address the American Stencil Tool Works, Springfield, Vermont. n818m8

$90 A MONTH!—Agents wanted for six entirely new articles, just out. Address O. T. GAREY, City Building, Biddeford, Me.

THAT'S RIGHT,

We Have It!!

VARIETY.

We would respectfully announce to the good people of Tecumseh and vicinity that

HIALEY & WALTERS

Have now on hand a large and well selected stock of

FAMILY GROCERIE

Which they are offering very low. They have in connection with their Grocery a

BAKERY,

and having secured the services of a first class Baker, are now prepared to furnish all, with Bread, Crackers, Pies, Cakes &c. They have furnished rooms over their store for the sale of

ICE-CREAM, LEMONAD &c

and by strict attention to business they hope to please all who patronize

---

L. DREW'S

NEW HARDWARE!!

Having received from New York and other eastern cities a large Stock of the following goods viz:

STOVES IN ENDLESS VARITY!

Iron, Steel Nails, Cutlery, Putty, Glass. Window Sashes,

House Trimmings,

Carpenter's Tools, Farming Tools Coopers Tools and Chain Pumps, Bolts, and a

Variety of SHELF GOODS,

PURCHASED FOR CASH Before THE LATE ADVANCE,

They are offered for sale at prices which defy competition. All kinds of

Tin ware

constantly on hand and made to order of the best material and by experienced workmen, also

Copper, Sheet Iron, and Zinc,

Also the

Good Samaritan COOKING STOVE, one of the best stoves in the country.

M. WRIGHT

Keeps constantly on kand, a large and choice assortment of

Drugs and Medicines,

PAINTS, OILS, VARNISHES,

FANCY GLASS WARE,

KEROSENE OIL GROCERY,

WALL PAPER,

PERFUMERY &c.

Also, agent for all the popular

PATENT MEDICINES,

ALCOHOL, Pure WINES, LIQUORS AND SPICES,

Also, a good selection of

FREH GROCERIES,

Physicians' Prescriptions carefully compounded and all orders answered.

Medicines warranted genuine and of the best quality and sold at the lowest cash prices.

The Southern Michigan

MANUFACTORY!

IN FULL BLAST!

T. Cummins, Proprietor,

Would announce to the citizens of Lenawee Co., that he is still located in the Brick Shop on Railroad Street, Where he is now turning out the

Nicest, Best and Strongest,

WAGONS, CARRIAGES, SLEIGHS, BUGGIES, CUTTERS,

and in fact everything in his line from a baby cart to a large Omnibus. His prices are such as defy competition. So call and leave your orders.

☞ Job Printing in all its various branches neatly and promptly executed at this office.—Our charges are moderate.—Try us.

GO TO THE

LONG ESTABLISHED

Head Quarters, for

Groceries & Provisions,

A. JAMES

Is happy to inform his patrons and the public in general that he has heavily replenished his stock of Goods, to which he invites the attention of those in search of

Good Articles

AT FAIR PRICES.

His stock embraces about every article known in his line of trade—

SWEETS, SOURS & SPICES, SNUFF, SOAP & CIGARS,

Confectionery Candles,

FRUIT AND FISH

Stone and Wooden Ware,

&c.

He continuesto pay the highest market price for all kinds of Farmers Produce.

His stock embraces all kinds, under the ollowing heads:

MOLASSES,
SOAP, FISH,
SUGAR, SYRUP,
COFFEE, SPICES,
AMMUNITION, CANDIES,
CANDLES, TOBACCO,
FRUITS, SAUCES,
BURNING OILS.

OUR MOTTO IS,

Never to be Undersold.

Sorghum Men Attention!

LOOK AT THE CANE MACHIMERY.

At Slayton, Tindall & Co's Warehouse.

New Styles of Mills, Evaporators and Horse Powers, never before introduced in Michigan. Patented by Powers & Stevens, of Wisconsin, and successfully and extensively used in the Western States.

Vertical and Horizontal MILLS,

of all sizes, of great strength and capacity, with patent adjustable rubber springs.

EVAPORATORS

divided into sections with instantly movable partitions over fire chamber, which is also divided into sections, and heat regulated by Patent Dampers, at will. Also Saccharometers and tools for full setts of Camp Implements for the manufacture of syrup & sugar

KIRBY Mower & Reaper,
BUCK EYE Mower & Reaper,
CAYUGA CHIEF, Mower & Reaper,
" " No. 2 "
EUREKA Mower & Reaper,
EXCELSIOR Mower & Reaper,
NEW YORKER Mower & Reaper,
BALL Mower & Reaper,
HUBBARD Mower, QUAKER Mower,

Any other style Mower or Reaper you want can be had of SLAYTON, TINDALL & CO.

The Buckeye, Riding, Corn and Fallow Cultivator. The Stafford, Riding, Corn and Fallow Cultivator. 1. 2, and 3 shovel, one horse Corn Cultivators. Corn Plows. L. Green's Patent Peekskill Plows. Curtis' Plows, the genuine, from Mr. Curtis' own shop, For Sale by

SLAYTON, TINDALL & Co

CURTIS & PARSONS

(DEALERS IN)

Having become well known establishment in Bidwell's Block on Chicago Street, would respectfully announce to the citizens of Tecumseh and vicinity, that they are prepared to supply them with everything in the line of Hardware, Tin ware, Iron, Nails, Chains, Cutlery, Bells, Seelf goods Glass, Cradles, Scythes, Forks, Rakes, Carpenter's tools, Doors, Axes, Hoes Cistren Pumps, Putty, Spades and Shovels, Chains, Ropes and every article usually kept in like establishments.

Especial attention is called to the large assortment of Cook and Parlor Stoves & Fixtures, of which they have a large variety, embracing all the latest improvements, We have also a Tin-Shop in opperation, for manufacturing & repairing all kinds of Tin, Copper and Sheet Iron Ware Stove-pipe, Eave Troughs, Milk-Pans, Dippers, Cups, Oil-Cans, and every conceivable article, from a Large Dish Pan down to a Tin whistle. We are sole agents for the Universal Clothes Wringer, for this vicinity.

GEO. CURTIS. WM. A. PARSONS.

The Pride of the West

THE TECUMSEH

RED MILLS

J. MILLER & SONS

Have rented the above Mills; thoroughly repaired the same, and are now manufacturing a No. 1 article of

FAMILY FLOUR,

We are also prepared to furnish

CORN MEAL, SHIP STUFFS, AND Mill Feed, at all times.

CUSTOM WORK

Done with neatness and Dispatch and

WARRANTED TO GIVE SATISFACTION.

The Highest Market Price in

Cash, for Wheat!

Give us a trial, and we will warract that you will not go away dissatisfied.

JOHN MILLER & SONS.

Probate Notice.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, s.s.—At a session of the Probate Court, for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate Office, in the City of Adrian on Tuesday the 4th day of September in the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty six.

Present, Robert R. Beecher, Judge of Probate. In the matter of the estate of Jessee Jackson, deceased. On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of Bridget McC. Jackson widow of said deceased praying that the last will of said deceased may be admitted to probate and that she may be appointed Executrix thereof.

Thereupon it is ordered that Monday, the eighth day of October next, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate Office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said Petioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate, of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Tecumseh Herald, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

ROBERT R. BEECHER,
Judge of Probate.

(A true copy) C. C. COATS, Register.

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the condition of a certain Mortgage made by Thomas Horan and Sarah Horan his wife mortgagors, to Ambrose S. Berry mortgagee, bearing date the fifteenth day June in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and fifty-nine and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the county of Lenawee and State of Michigan, on the [illegible] day of June 1859 in Liber 28, of mortgages on pages 769 and 770 on which said mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice, fifty-nine dollars and eighty-nine cents and no suit or proceedings at law having been instituted to recover the same or any part thereof. Notice is therefore given that on the 17th day of November 1866, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the front door of the old Methodist Church in the city of Adrian in said county of Lenawee, that being the place for holding the Circuit Court for the county of Lenawee, I shall sell at public auction or vendue to the highest bidder the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof, as may be necessary to satisfy the amount due on said mortgage at the date of this notice with interest and the costs and expenses allowed by law together with the attorneys fee as provided in said mortgage, that is to say—all that tract or parcel of land situate in the city of Adrian, in the county of Lenawee and State of Michigan, described as follows: Village (now city) lots one (1) and two (2) on Block number thirteen (13) for a more particular discription reference being had to the Plat of the village (now city) of Adrian as recorded in the Registers office of Lenawee County aforesaid.

AMBROSE S. BERRY, Mortgagee.

WM. L. GREENLY, Attorney for Mortgagee.

Dated Aug. 14th, 1866.

Hear Ye! Hear Ye!!

Do you want the best Card pictures in this section.

Do you want those gems of the Ambrotypes or Porcelains? Do you want work warranted? Do you want to suit yourselves? Do you want the best that Art affords? Then go to Powers rooms over the P. O. Tecumseh, Michigan, and you can find FIRST CLASS WORK, of every description. He is bound not to be out-done in any branch of the business. Pictures of any size done to order in INDIA-INK, WATER or OIL COLORS, on short notice and in the best style

Persons having small Negatives which they like can have pictures made from them life size or smaller as they choose and finished in India-ink water or oil colors. Give him a call and examine his work. You will find him gentlemanly, courteous and ever ready to oblige. He is bound to give satisfaction to all. No poor work allowed to leave the rooms. He has the best instruments known and acknowledged to be such by all superior Artists. One half of the pictures that took the premium at the last County Fair, over A. J. Hoags name, were of Powers make. Do you want proof, call and examine. Powers has served three years in the army, and deserves the patronage of the public. You will find him prompt, active and always at his place of business.

The Tecumseh Herald.

C. M. BURLINGAME, Publisher. "The Constitution, the Union, and the Enforcement of the Laws." Terms per year $2 00 in Advance.

VOL. XVII. NO. 21. TECUMSEH MICHIGAN, THURSDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 18, 1866. WHOLE NO, 831.

Now Ready!
New Fall and Winter Goods!

MERRITT, MEEKER & Co
North side Chicago St

Mr. Wm. Van Camp having just returned from the City of New York, we are now prepared to submit to the inspection, the largest and best ever offered in the Village of Tecumseh.

SELECTED STOCK OF GOODS

Having purchased the same from first hands for cash. We are thereby enabled to offer special Inducements to our patrons. And not only be able to maintain but largely increase our reputation for having the largest, best assortment and cheapest stock of Goods west of New York City.

CONSISTING OF

Foreign & Domestic Dry Goods
FANCY DRESS GOODS.
Yankee Notions and Hosiery!
HATS & CAPS,
GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS,
Broadcloths, Cassimeres, Over Coatings, Vestings and Cloakings, Plain and Fancy Flannels, Ladies' and Gents' Furs, Hoods, Nubias,
Breakfast Shawls, Buffalo Robes, Gloves, Mittens, &c. &c.

Special atten is called to our CLOTH DEPARTMENT. As we have a large assortment of Eastern Cloths, and having the exclusive sale of Cloths manufactured at the Ypsilanti Woolen Mills, we are prepared to sell as low as any one in Southern Michigan.

E. H. ESTES,

Having purchased the interest of

J. S HENDRYX, in the
THE GROCERY BUSINESS,

Will keep constantly on hand
SALT BY THE BARREL,
Sack or by the pound.

CHOICE TEA,

COFFEE, TOBACCO,
FISH, &C.

Also a good assortment of
KEROSENE OIL,
LAMP CHIMNIES.

SERGENT'S PAT. LANTERN,
And all things belonging to the business.

CALL AND SEE HIM.

WANTED.
ALL THE TORN
RAGGED
AND MUTILATED
GREENBACKS
AND
POSTAGE CURRENCY
In the County, at par value in exchange for which I offer my
ENTIRE STOCK,
Comprising the largest and finest assortment of
BOOKS & STATIONERY
GOLD PENS, CUTLERY, ALBUMS,
SHEET MUSIC.
BLANK BOOKS, PAPER COLLARS
YANKEE NOTIONS
&c., &c.,
IN NORTHERN LENAWEE

At prices that defy COMPETITION
Rush in the Rags, no matter how badly torn or soiled. Remember the place, in the Post-Office Building.
G. T. Ketcham.

P. S.—I shall continue taking Greenbacks and Postage Currency not mutilated, as heretofore, until further notice.

J. D. ROBBINS
(Successor to ROBBINS & DEWOLF
DEALER IN
CLOCKS, WATCHES,
FINE JEWELRY,
SPECTACLES,
WALL PAPER,
SCHOOL BOOKS,
FANCY GOODS,
YANKEE NOTIONS,
TOYS, ETC., &c.

I will sell any of the above goods as
Cheap or Cheaper than any other dealer in the country, and
WARRANT
all goods sold as good as recommended.

CASH FOR RAGS!

J. D. Robbins.
TECUMSEH, ... MICHIGAN.

TECUMSEH TIME TABLE

GOING SOUTH.

Mail and Express,	6:50 A. M.
Day Express,	1:12 P. M
Freight,	4:40 P. M.

GOING NORTH.

Mail and Express,	8:42 P M.
Evening Express,	9:30 P. M.
Freight,	8:05 A. M.

Business Directory.

TEMPLE & MURRAY
Carpenters and Joiners, Manufacturers of Doors, Sash, Blinds, Gates &c.
S. W. Temple's Shop. Tec. Mich.

A. HOOD & CO.
Dealers in Hats, Caps and Clothing, &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

GEORGE HEESEN,
Dealer in Ready Made Clothing, &c.
One door west of the Bank.
Chicago st. Tecumseh, Mich

TRIBOU & BIDWELL BRO'S.
Dealers in Dry Goods, Groceries, &c. &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

WARD & STRICKLAND,
Dealers in Dry Goods, Groceries Ready Made Clothing &c. &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

RICHARD C. MOORE.
Dealer in Dry Goods, Fancy Goods &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

MERRITT, MEEKER & CO,
Dealers in Dry Goods and Fancy Goods
Chicago street, Tecumseh, Mich,

ALFRED JAMES,
Dealer in Groceries, Confectionaries, &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

HENRY C. CONKLING.
Dealer in Groceries Provisions, &c., &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, M.

MOSES WRIGHT,
Dealer in Drugs, Medicines, Toilet, &c.
Chicao St: Tecumseh, Mich.

P. N. CURTIS.
Dealer in Drugs, Paints, Oils, & Notions.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

FISHER & BAKER,
Dealers in Drugs, Medicines, Paints &c.
Chicago St: Tecumseh, Mich.

GOULD & WALDO,
Dealers in Drugs, Groceries &c.
Chicago St. - - Tecumseh, Mich.

EDWIN B. WOOD.
Attorney, Counsellor, and Notary Public.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

C. A. STACY,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law, &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

BILLS & BAXTER,
Attorney's, Councellor's and Solicitors.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich,

McNAIR & HEWITT,
Justice's of the Peace, Ihsurance Agents.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

CURTIS & PARSONS,
Dealers in Hardware, Tubs, Pails, &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich:

Hoag & Stevens,
Dealer in Boots, Shoes, Leather &c., &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

Henry Nyland
Dealer in Boots & Shoes & Leather.
One door west of Bank, Tecumseh.

EMLAY & COURTER
Dealers in Saddles, Harness and Leather.
Chicago St Tecumseh, Mich.

HORACE BREWER.
Steam Engine and Machine Founder.
Railroad St. Tecumseh, Mach.

SLAYTON, TINDALL & CO.,
Dealers in
Produce and Agricultural Implements.
Railroad St. Tecumseh, Mich.

J. D. ROBBINS,
Dealer in Jewelry, Clocks and Notions.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

G. T. KETCHAM,
Bookseller, Newsdealer and Stationer.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

WOOLSTON COMFORT.
Raisin, Flouring, Grist and Saw Mills
Tecumseh, - Michigan

H. B. MATHIAS,
Dealer in Tobacco, Cigars, and Pipes.
Chicago St Tecumseh, Mich.

W. K. POWERS & CO,
Photographs, Ambrotypes and Albums,
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

MRS. C. M. BISSELL,
Photograph and Ambrotype Artist, &c.
Pearl & Chicago St's. Tec. Mich

G. & H. SMITH,
Dealers in Furniture and Upholstery.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

DR. A. PELHAM,
Surgical and Mechanical Dentist,
Chicago St - - Tecumseh, Mich.

DR. E. HAUSE,
Surgical, and Mechanical Dentist.
Chicago St. Opposite P. Office.

NATIONAL HOTEL,
Chicago Street, Tecumseh, Michigan.
MERRITT & BURGHER - Proprietors.

HIRAM WESCOTT,
Paper Hanging, Whitewashing, &c., &c
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

EXCHANGE HOTEL
Railroad St. - - - Tecumseh, Mich.
D. FISH, Proprietor.

The Tecumseh Herald.

C. M. BURLINGAME,
Publisher and Proprietor.

Local and Miscellaneous.

Rates of Advertising.
(One inch of column constitutes a square.)

	1 wk	3 wk	3 m	6 m	1 yr
1 Square	$1 00	$ 2.00	$ 6.00	$ 7.50	$10.00
2 Squares	1.75	3 50	8.00	12.00	15 00
3 Squares	2 75	5.00	11.00	16 00	20.00
¼ Column	5.00	9 00	12.00	18.00	25,00
½ Column	7.50	12.00	18,00	25.00	36.00
1 Column	12,00	15.00	20,00	35,00	60,00

☞ No advertisement considered less than one square. Transient advertisements must be paid for in advance. Advertisements unaccompanied with directions for the number of insertions, will be continued until ordered out, and charged accordingly. Business cards of five lines, or less, inserted on 3.50 per year.

JOB WORK neatly executed at this office. Charges reasonable

Grand Trunk Railway.
The Cheapest, Quickest, and Safest route
TO THE EAST.
Tickets to all the Eastern cities and intermediate places for sale at this office.

Base Ball.

The return match between the Tecumseh Club and the Anchoras of Adrian, was played at the latter place last Thursday and resulted in a victory for the Tecumseh's. They very handsomely returned the compliment which the Anchoras paid them in the 1st game played in this village. At that time the Anchoras were the winners. The Tecumseh Club has every reason to feel proud of their success for their antagonists have the reputation of being one of the best clubs in the State.

☞ Silk, Cassimeres and New York Driving Hats—Fall style velvet, Base Ball, and Croquet Caps for sale at Tribou & Bidwell Bros.

☞ Empress Hoods in all colors, something new; also all sizes of Breakfast Shawls, just received at Tribou & Bidwell Bros.

Making Sorghum by Steam.

Mr. T. T. Kneeland has now in operation in the west part of the village a new Steam Sorghum Evaporator of his own patent. The sap of the Sorghum is boiled by steam, the steam passing through a copper coil which lies in the bottom of the pan. He has been testing it now for a few days, and so far it works like a charm. It does away with all danger of burning the sap while boiling, and will manufacture two or three times the quantity in a given length of time of the old style evaporator; and Mr. Kneeland claims that the molasses is of a much better quality. It is certainly something new in the Sorghum line, and deserves a thorough testing. It will be interesting to any one, and especially to farmers to go and see the new Evaporator work.

Political Meetings.

Hon. E. B. Fairfield, addressed a fine audience in Bidwell's Hall last Monday afternoon on the topics of the day, and Wm. P. Wells, of Detroit, spoke in the same hall Tuesday evening. As Mr. Wells did not arrive till the late train the meeting was addressed, before his arrival by Dr. Patterson, of this village, and others. The respective political friends of the two speakers claim their speech to have been the best of the campaign thus far.

☞ Remember the adjourned meeting of the Literary Society, on Tuesday evening next, to perfect an organization. We hope our merchants, professional men and clergymen will interest themselves in this matter and endeavor to be present.

☞ C. H. Conklin, having sold his his Hotel, will give a farewell dance and Oyster Supper at the Clinton Exchange, on Friday evening, Nov. 2d, 1866.—Good music is engaged and carriages will be in readiness to convey his friends to and from the depot.

☞ We would advise all our readers and the rest of mankind to avail themselves forthwith of the grand and unequalled opportunity of securing great bargains in Dry Goods, Yankee Notions and other fixings, at the closing out sale of C. H. ADAM & Co., which commenced last week. Now is the time for bargains.

☞ The Large Packages carried from Tribou & Bidwell Bros'. store, prove positively that they are selling goods very cheap.

☞ Tribou & Bidwell Bros. wish to call particular attention to their large stock of Broad Cloths, Beavers, Cassimers, Water Proof and Ladies' Cloths.

☞ All who have examined the splendid assortment of Fall and Winter Dress Goods at Tribou & Bidwell Bros. at once exclaim: "They have the cheapest and most elegant goods, ever brought to Tecumseh!"

Lyceum and Lecture Association.

A meeting for organizing a literary Society in Tecumseh, was held last Monday eve, Oct. 15th, of which the following is the report of the Secretary:

The meeting being called to order, S. C. Stacy was chosen Chairman, and L. Saviers, Secretary; after, which the Chairman proceeded to explain the object of the meeting, and stated that he had held correspondence with various speakers, with reference to lectures at this place during the coming winter, and had succeeded in securing the services of several. The first of which, Dudlery Waller will give the first lecture, on the evening of Oct, 30th, 1866.

A motion was then made and carried, that the Society be called a "Lyceum and Lecture Association."

A Committee of three, consisting of Prof. Thomas, P. W. Adams and Dr. A. Pelham, was then appointed to report officers for a permanent organization, said committee to report at once. After a short consultation, the following report was presented and adopted:

"The officers of this society, shall consist of a President, Vice President, Secretary and Treasurer."

The following named gentlemen were recommended for said offices:

President, Prof. Thomas; Vice President, P. W. Adams; Secretary, S. C. Stacy; Treasurer, Dr. Fisher.

It was then moved, that the Chair appoint a committee of three, to draft a Constitution and By Laws. The committee appointed, consisted of Prof Thomas, L. Saviers and A. Pelham.

A motion was then made, that a committee of five be appointed to solicit subscriptions for the sale of tickets. The Chair appointed as such committee, S. C. Stacy, A. P. Remington, Prof Thomas, L. Saviers and Dr. Fisher.

This committee was instructed to sell season tickets at the following rates:

One ticket, $2; two tickets, $3; three tickets $4; four tickets $5; the course to consist of eight lectures.

Dr. Fulton, was then appointed a committee of one, to secure rooms for the future meetings of the Society, after which the meeting adjourned until 7 P. M., Oct. 23d, at Union Hall.

The County Fair.

The County Fair held at Adrian last week, although it was not quite all that its friends could wish, still was a success. The unpleasant weather upon the first day of the fair, seriously interfered with entries, but the last two days there was a good crowd out, and the show taken as a whole was a very creditable one. The show of fruit, apples in particular, was pronounced by good judges to be nearly if not quite equal to that of the State Fair. The show of stock of all kinds did not do justice to the county.

Arm in Arm.

Not Massachusetts and South Carolina—but old and young men, little and big men, youths and women of all ages and sizes, are seen, at all hours of the day walking out of Merritt, Meeker & Co's. with a large bundle under each arm, containing Dry Goods, Hats, Caps, Boots, Shoes and Cloths of all descriptions to keep a person warm these cold mornings. It is a cause for laughter more than tears.

☞ Go to Bidwell's and buy the best Calicoes made, for eighteen pence. They have the largest stock of Goods in Tecumseh, and are bound to sell cheap.

☞ About four miles from our pleasant village, lives an honest and industrious farmer. He owns a large, well improved and productive farm, enjoys all the comforts, and many of the luxuries of life. Thirty years ago, all his earthly possessions did not exceed a few hundred dollars, to day he is worth thousands.

On being asked, by one of his neighbors, "How he had accumulated so much, in so short a time," he replied, "I waste no time looking around, but buy my Dry Goods, Groceries &c., at Tribou & Bidwell Bros'."

☞ Wall Paper and Window Shades—a large assortment at J. D. Robbins'—new patterns just bought. We notice Robbins has the best Window Shades and Fixtures, ever brought to town. A new thing—go and see them.

Information for Voters.

Three months' residence in a township or a ward enables a man to vote in Michigan, he possessing the other qualifications—being naturalized, etc., and registered. The Board of Registration will meet on the Saturday immediately preceding election. In the meantime, voters may leave their names with the Town Clerk, who will properly enter them at the time mentioned.

The "Thunderbolt."

The celebrated Breech Loading Rifle—the lightest, best and cheapest in the market, is now offered for sale, by J. D. Robbins. Can be loaded and fired thirty times per minute. Those that would see a good gun, go and look at it.

☞ Tribou & Bidwell Bros, have a splendid assortment of Over-shirts, Drawers, Under-shirts, Neck Ties, Suspenders, and every kind of Gents' Furnishing Goods.

THE STATE FAIR.

Below we give a list of those from Tecumseh and the surrounding towns who received premiums at the State Fair. By looking through the list, our readers will observe that Northern Lenawee did her full share towards making the State Fair as successful as it was, notwithstanding the terrible state of the weather.

SHORTHORNS.
B. Smith—Bull, Hotspur, 1st, - $50
E. Smith—Calf, 2d, - - - - 5
E. Smith—Heifer, 1st. - - - - 40

THOROUGHBREDS.
W. A. Hall—yearling Heifer, 1st, - - $6
W. A. Hall—Calf, 1st, - - - - 5

OXEN AND STEERS.
Benjamin Kelly—five yoke of Oxen, 1st - $50
Leonard Carlton, jr.—trained Steers, 1st, 10
Leonard Carlton, as trainer of Steers, Diploma and 5
Edwin Smith—Herds of Shorthorns, 2d, - 50

HORSES.
D. C. Blair—Stallion colt, Gen. Grant, Diploma.
C. Smalley—yearling Stallion, 2d, - $6
D. C. Blair—Mares 4 yrs old with colts, - 15
L. C. Wells,—Mare 3 yrs. old, 2d, - - 8
E. Grey—Trotting Horse, 2d - - - 10
Merritt & Burgher—Carriage horses, 2d, 10
E. Grey—Cavalry Horse, 2d, - - - 5
W. H. Osborne—Mules, 1st, - - - 10

SPANISH MERINOES.
A. J. Hunter—Buck Lamb, 2d, - - $5
A. J. Hunter—3 yr. Ewe, 2d, - - - 5
J. W. Keeney—5 Ewe Lambs, 2d, - - 8

SWINE.
B. J. Bidwell—Chester white Sow 1 yr., 1st, $5
" " " " " 2d, 3

POUTTRY.
B. J. Bidwell—white Surrey Dork, 1st, - $2
H. M. Blair—black Polands, 1st, - - 2
B. J. Bidwell—white Bantams, 1st, - - 2
H. M. Blair—Pea fowls, 1st, - - - 2

MACHINERY.
Slayton, Tindall & Co.—Horse Power, - $6
" " " —Cane Crusher, Medal

GRAIN, FLOUR, MEAL AND SEED.
Benj. Kelly—1 bush. White Wheat, 1st, - $3
A. Sutton—1 bush. Red Wheat, 2d, - - 2
" " Spring Wheat, 1st, - 3
B. J. Bidwell—1 bush. Rye, 1st, - - 2
L. Talman—1 bu. 4 rowed Barley, 1st, - - 3
B. J. Bidwell— " " " 2d, - 2
Sam'l Rappleye—1 bush. Oats, 1st; - 2
B. J. Bidwell—1 bush. Winter Barley, 1st 3
W. Satterthwaite—1 bush yellow Corn, 1st, 2
A. Waldron—1 bush White Beans, 1st, - 2
A. Sutton—1 bush Small Clover seed, 1st, 2
A. K. Waldron—1 bush Timothy seed, 1st, 2
Sam'l Rappleye—1 bush Buckwheat, 1st, 2
B. J. Bidwell—sample Hops, 1st, - - 3
Sam'l Rappleye—new variety Wheat - Dip.

VEGETABLES.
Sam'l Rappleye—12 Turnip Beets, 1st, - $1
A. Warring—peck white Onions, 1st, - - 1
B. J. Bidwell—peck seed Potatoes, 2d - 1
A. Sutton—peck Tomatoes, 1st, - - 1
W. Satterthwaite—peck Sweet Potatoes, 1st, 1
" White Turnip, 1st, - 1
Sam'l Rappleye—6 heads Cabbage, 1st - 1

BUTTER AND CHEESE.
H. A. Waldron—15 lbs Butter, 1st, - $6
Wm. B. Kelly—Cheese, 2d, - - - 3

BREAD.
Mrs. Wm. Satterthwaite—3 loaves brown Bread, 2d, - - - $2
Mrs. W. Satterthwaite—sample brown Bread made by girl 16 years old, 1st, - - 3
Mrs. W. Satterthwaite—sample flour Bread made by girl 16 yars old, 1st, - - 3

LEATHER.
O. Emlay—Sole Leather, 1st, Dip. and - $1
" Harness Leather, 1st. Dip. and 2
" Calf Skins, 1st, Dip. and - 1

PAINTINGS AND PHOTOGRAPHS.
B. J. Bidwell—Animal Portrait, 2d, - $3
C. H. Hopkins—Photographs 2d, - - 3

FLOWERS.
D. C. Pennington—flat Bouquet, 1st, - $1
Mrs. Lydia Kelly—six Zihneas, 1st, - - 2

FRUIT.
S. Rappleye—6 varieties of Apples, 1st, - $7
" Summer Apples, 1st, - - 4
" Autumn Apples, 2d, - - 2
" 12 specimens Apples, 1st, - 3
" " " " 2d, 1
" Autumn Pears, 1st, - - 2
" Muskmelon, 2d - - - 1

MISCELLANEOUS.
Mrs. W. Satterthwaite—darned Stocking, 1st $1
D. A. Miner—Barn door Fastening, - Dip.

☞ Sheeting, one, and two yards wide, Cotton Yarn, Flag Warp, Cotton Batting, Grain Bags, Horse Blankets Umbrellas, Wicking, woolen Yarn, Knit Socks, Cotton, Shaker, Shirting and Opera Flannels, in fact, everything you want, at Tribou & Bidwell Bros'. Cheap Cash Store

Acknowledgement.

We owe our thanks to Mr. O. Emlay, for a beautiful calf skin which was tanned by a new process in five days. It is one of the finest tanned hides we ever saw, and to all appearances, we being the judges, it is fully equal to the hides that are finished by the old process, besides being much neater in appearance. We advise those who have any tanning to do for their own use, to give O. Emlay & Co, a trial and we will guarantee that they will be amply repaid for their trouble.

PATRONIZE HOME INSTITUTIONS, especially when by so doing, you patronize the best. We advise our readers not to fail to inquire into the merits of the new Business College which was opened at Hillsdale, Mich., Sept. 26, 1866, under the auspices of the distinguished and popular proprietors of the Business Institute at Oberlin, Ohio. It is to be an Actual Business College in the truest sense.

☞ Alf. James has received his stock of groceries and his store is filled to overflowing from cellar to garret. Give him a call. You can find among his stock anything you may wish, from a bunghole to sugars by the hogshead.

☞ P. N. Curtis has a very choice selection of Family Groceries. Great care is taken to keep Butter in good order for families in town. You can be assured that all goods sold at this store are of the very best quality.

☞ Miss Rosalie DePuy, will please accept our thanks for a basket of splendid apples.

THE MEDINA TRAGEDY.

Allusion has previously been made to a letter written by Mrs. Sims, and directed to her husband, which was found after her death, and contains the only explanation of the causes which led to the terrible tragedy. Here it is:

ROBERT:—When this meets your gaze you will be a childless widower.—My fate is sealed. My doom is inevitable. I take the children that they may never follow the footsteps of their mother, and that they may escape her sad fate. I can but trust they are innocent in the sight of God. 'Tis the anguish of despair, the gloom of remorse drives me to this. Oh, my father, I was not to you a dutiful child; I have not been a faithful wife and mother. To the Church I have proved an unworthy member, and to God an unfaithful servant. Let not the Curch suffer for this act of mine.

But to you I say hold fast to your confidence with unwavering faith. Unworthy as I was of a place in your midst, I indulged a hope until I allowed my faith to waver. Then Satan tempted me on every hand until he has completely ensnared me. Oh, Lucy, Julia, Ophelia, Sarah, Elida, be true to your trust. Let my untimely fate be a warning to you and to all. Oh, strive above all things to make your homes happy; and Robert, would to God I could undo the past, but that is irretrievable. I have perjured my soul at the altar and I have lived a lie!

Think you not there is no faith in women. Choose you another, remembering that you had manifested the same spirit in the years that are gone that you have for the past five months, I should have been a different woman.

Oh, be kind to my father, be kind to my mother. Oh, be kind to them. I know not but this will be a blow that will lay them in yonder church-yard.—Oh, be kind, be kind. Soothe their dying pillow as only I might. Oh, I beseech you be kind to them for this is no fault of theirs.

Bury us not in the curch-yard, but beneath the shade of yonder cherry tree. Tell Elder Bassett to preach for the benefit of the living, if you deem me worthy so much respect, from the text, "The way of the transgressor is hard."

My father and my mother, farewell, fare you well. There is no cure for despair. The money that has cost you a life of wearisome toil has proved to me only a curse.

☞ J. M. Thomson, practical Piano Forte Tuner and Repairer, of Adrian, will visit Tecumseh and Clinton, on Saturday, Oct. 20th. Orders left at J. D. Robbins' Jewelry Store, will receive prompt attention. Mr. Thomson is agt. for Raven & Bacon's new scale Pianos. The following will speak for itself:

NEW YORK, Aug. 25, 1866.

We do hereby certify that Mr. J. M Thomson has been for some time employed by us in our Piano Manufactory, and we would cheerfully recommend him to all who wish their instruments skillfully tuned or regulated.

RAVEN & BACON.

Indian Summer.

The last few days have been the finest of the Autumn season—indeed of all the year; the air so soft and dreary that the rays of the sun seemed to linger and commingle with its delicate ethereal touch, or as if charmed with the fragrance of its odorous breath, until the great orb, veiled in scarlet like the maple, drifted slowly away leaving halo behind in pitying remembrance of earth's decaying.

For Sale.

House and Lot on Pearl St., one door North of the old Methodist Church. For particulars, inquire on the premises.

☞ The largest, best and cheapest stock of Stationery in Northern Lenawee can be found at Ketcham's.

☞ All efforts to rival the J. Monroe Taylor Gold Medal Soap have signally failed; we do not hesitate to pronounce it the cheapest and best Soap in existence, it will take out grease, spots, or paint, will make nice soft soap, and make clothes of all grades look better after washing than any other article of the kind in the market; it will not injure the finest fabric. Try it, their Depot is at 113 Liberty street, New York. Most of the grocers sell it.

Married.

At the National Hotel, in this village, on the 13th inst., by Rev. Mr. G. H. Burnham, Mr. FRANKLIN CRAIG of Franklin, and Miss MARY WINES, of Blissfield.

In Clinton, the 17th inst., at the residence of H. Burton, by Rev. H. Elmer, Mr. S. O. GIDDINGS, of Romeo, and Miss JULIA A. SMITH, of Ypsilanti.

In Adrian, the 16th inst., by Rev. J. T. Staunton, Mr. WM. J. GETTY, of Ridgeway, and Miss ADDIE BAIRD, of Tecumseh.

☞ R. C. Moore is now receiving his new goods.

☞ Everybody should read Ward & Strickland's circulars.

DITCHERS TAKE NOTICE.

The Drain Commissioners of Lenawee County will meet at the residence of Thomas Gafney's, Palmyra, on Thursday, Oct. 25th, 1866, for the purpose of letting jobs on drain No. 34. Said jobs will be let to the lowest bidder in sections to soil contractors.

By order of the Drainage Commissioners.
JUSTUS LOWE,
Ridgeway, Oct, 9, 1866. Secretary.

☞ Messrs G. & H. Smith have a new and very useful article of furniture for sale at their rooms. It is the most convenient article of the kind that we have yet seen, and no household should be with one of Montignanis Patent Portable Wardrobe or Clothes and Hat Rack. They can be procured at Smith's Furniture Rooms.

☞ Empress Hoods, in various colors, mentioned in Godey's as the "most stylish covering for the head," just received at Tribou & Bidwell Bros.

☞ R. C. Moore will soon be home from New York with lots of nice new goods.

DISSOLUTION.

Notice is hereby given that the firm of Van Tine & Smith was dissolved on May 7th by mutual consent. All accounts due the above firm must be paid at the Cabinet rooms of G. H Smith immediately, and save costs. Tecumseh, Oct. 9, 1866.

830w4 GEORGE SMITH,
DAVID VAN TINE.

Boots and Shoes
FOR SALE!

The subscriber offers for sale, a small stock of Boots and Shoes of my own Manufacture, cheap for cash, one door West of National Hotel. S. WORTH.

☞ An Accident Policy of Insurance has become a necessity in every well regulated household, but there are few who are aware that the present rates of premium in Accident Companies are much too high. All who desire this kind of Insurance should take a Policy in the National Life and Health Ins. Co., of Kalamazoo. This Company is the oldest Accident Company in the country—excepting the Travelers of Hartford alone—has a solid cash foundation, four General Agency offices, and is doing a very large and lucrative business. Its Travelers tickets are superior to all others, and its rates of premium on general Accident Policies are from 25 to 40 per cent lower than those of any other accident company on the continent. In every respect it is worthy the public patronage. Patronize home institutions. S. C. Stacy, Agent.

Tecumseh Market.

Oct. 18th, 1866.

White wheat	$2 60 a $2 65
Red do	2 40 a 2 50
Beans	1 00 a 1 25
Corn	50
Clover seed	$ 00 9 00
Apples green	40
Butter per pound	30
Cheese " "	16
Hams " "	16
Lard " "	15
Eggs per doz	15
Potatoes, per bush.	40

FOR SALE.

HOUSE and LOT within five minutes' walk of the Post Office. The house is in good repair—conveniently arrayed, and well provided with water. There is a barn on the premises, also plenty of good fruit.

The above described property will be sold at a bargain. Inquire at this office.

THE NEW HARNESS SHOP!
J. D. SHOLES
Having opened a shop in the old
NEW YORK STORE,
Would respectfully invite the attention of his old friends to his very superior stock of
HARNESS, SADDLES, &c.,
Manufactured from the best materials by experienced workmen.
☞ Repairing neatly and promptly done.

KNOW THY DESTINY!

Madame E. F. Thornton, the great English Astrologist, Clairvoyant and Psychometrician, who has astonished the scientific classes of the Old World, has now located herself at Hudson, N. Y. Madame Thornton posses such wonderful powers of second sight, as to enable her to impart knowledge of the greatest importance to the single or married of either sex. While in a state of trance, she delineates the very features of the person you are to marry, and by the aid of an instrument of intense power, known as the Psychomotrope, guarantees to produce a life-like picture of the future husband or wife of the applicant, together with date of marriage, position in life, leading traits of character, &c. This is no humbug, as thousands of testimonials can assert. She will send, when desired a certified certificate, or written guarantee, that the picture is what it purports to be. By enclosing a small lock of hair, and stating place of birth, age, disposition and complexion, and enclosing 50 cents and stamped envelope addressed to yourself, you will receive the picture and desired information by return mail. All communications sacredly confidential. Address in confidence, MADAM E. F. THORNTON, P. O. Box 223 Hudson, N. Y.

CLOTHING!
AT THE
UNION HALL CLOTHING STORE.

JUST RECEIVED
$10,000 Worth of Clothing
For FALL AND WINTER!!
For
MEN AND BOYS WEAR.

Gents' Furnishing Goods,
HATS, CAPS AND CLOTHS
Of all descriptions which I will sell at very low prices at the
UNION HALL CLOTHING STORE.

Come One. Come All.
And judge for yourselves.

Clothing made to Order
IN THE LATEST STYLES.

And I will give you a good fit,
But be sure and give me a call,
For all who love the Union and flag,
Are welcome at Union Hall.

REMEMBER THE PLACE!
GEORGE HEESEN.

C. H. ADAM & CO.,
DEALERS IN
DRY GOODS,
Yankee Notions, &c.,
No. 2 Mechanics' Block,
oct 2tf TECUMSEH, MICH.

Twenty Thousand Dollars worth of Dry Goods just received at Tribou & Bidwell Bros.

Miscellany.

FALSE.

"False!" she thought, with a weary gaze
Over glades alive with the timorous deer,
With hills remote in a violet haze,
And the gleam of a winding mere.
In each sweet, soft eye a large, bright tear
Rose to the brim, but never fell.
"I have lived and loved," she thought, "one year.
It is over. All is well."

"Aye, it is well. For false the lips
That were honey sweet, and seemed so true;
False the touch of those finger tips
That thrilled my whole blood through;
False the eyes of marvelous blue
Which ruled my heart as the moon the sea;
Yet I thought as I knew myself I knew
The man who was king of me.

"Can the falcon coo like an amorous dove,
Then tear the heart from the answering breast?
This man has a scorn that could look like love;
He hated, yet caressed.
With the skill of a fiend, for a cruel jest,
He tamed my spirit, he soothed my fear,
Till I longed in his loving arms to rest—
Then throw me away with a sneer."

From the Round Table.

FAR AT SEA.

"Ah!" I says, you've been a hard and bitter mother to me; and yet it goes again the grit to turn one's back upon you. I've toiled on, and lived hard, and yet you've shown me a cold, cruel face;" and as I said that, feeling heartsick, I leans my elbows on the side of the ship, and my chin on my hands, and has a long, long look at the old country as we was leaving—perhaps to see no more.

I looked round, and there stood plenty, tearful-eyed and sad with all the lines of sorrow marked in their foreheads, while I could see lips trembling and breasts working with the pain they could hardly keep down. And then I don't know how it was, but it seemed to me that we thought together the same sad things, and that I knew their thoughts and they knew mine. There was all the old life—plain as could be; and then came the long, long struggle with sickness, and death, and want; and I knew that people said such poor folks should not marry, and many another bitter word, as if it was wrongful to love and be happy. The wind whistled through the ropes above our heads, and the clouds seemed gathering, too, in our hearts, for though the bitterness was gone, I could see plenty of sorrow and sadness all around.

"Won't do, my lad!" I says rousing up, and wetting both hands asif I meant work; and then I goes down in the steerage to try and make things a bit comfortable, for you see all the poor things were in a most miserable state. Some was ill, some down-hearted, some drunk and foolish, some drunk and noisy, some drunk and quarrelsome. Then there was children crying and women scolding, and altogether, it was anything but a cheering prospect for the night, for, as you may say, we were'nt shook down into shape yet.

"Good time coming!" I said cheerily; and having no young ones of my own, I set to help them that had. I got hold of a young shaver,—about two and a half, I should think, and he was a-letting go right away as if he had all the trouble in the ship in his precious young head. But he soon turned quiet playing with my knife, and and all at once I finds as he'd made a hammock of o' me, and had gone off sound as a church. During the next three days its mother was very ill, poor thing, and I had to regularly mind the little one, and I did, too.

"Well, 't isn't a very pleasant life in the steerage of an emigrant ship, bound for New Zealand, 'specially if the weather's a bit rough; and so we found it. For the next morning when I went on deck, there was a stiff breeze blowing, the ship heeling over; and as I thought the night before, so it was—there was nothing in sight but waves all around. One sailor did point at something which he said was home, but it might have been a cloud.

The fourth night had come, and as I lay in my berth listening to the "wish wash" of the water past the sides of the ship, the creaking and groaning of the timbers, and every now and then the heavy bump of a great wave against the side, I couldn't help thinking what a little there was between us and death; and somehow or other the serious thoughts that came kept me awake.

It was two bells, I think they call it, for they don't count time as we do ashore, when at once I could hear as there was a great bustle up on deck, where all through the watches of the night everything's mostly very quiet. Then there came a good deal of tramping about and running to and fro; so I gets out of my berth, slips on one or two things, and goes cautiously up the ladder and gets my head above the hatchway, and then in a moment I saw what was up, and it gave me such a shock that I nearly let go my hold and fell back into the steerage. There was a thick cloud of smoke issuing out from between the hatches, right in the centre of the ship; and almost before I could thoroughly realize it all, or make myself as it was true, a woman shrieking along the deck in her night-dress, and calling out those fearful words on board ship—

"Fire! fire! fire!"

Hundreds of miles from land, standing on a few nailed together pieces of wood, and and them burning beneath your feet.

I couldn't help it; and my bitter feelings being ill used came back, and I says to myself—

"Your usual luck, mate; wouldn't be if you weren't unfortunate. But never mind, you have your chance, fire or water." And then I thought of danger, and I ketches myself such a thump in the chest, and rolls up my sleeves, and goes up to the captain as was busy giving his orders.

"What shall I do?" I says.

"Pump!" he shouts; "and fetch a dozen more up."

Lord bless you! I had 'em up in no time from amongst the crying women and children; and I found time, too, to get the women and children up on deck in the poop, which was farthest from the hatches, where the smoke kept pouring out, besides which the wind took it away from them.

There was plenty of shrieking and screaming at first; but they had got the right man in the right place when they choose that captain, for he runs to the poop, where all the shivering things was a standing, and with a few words he quiets them. Then he runs to the men as was scuffling about, here, there, and everywhere, and then at last he gets a line of fellows with buckets, a lot more at the pumps, and some more at the little engine as was there; and when all was ready, and every man standing still at his post, he gets with some more to the hatches and drags up a couple, when up rose a regular pillar of smoke, with a snaky, quiet movement, and in a moment every face was lit up, and there was quite a glare spreading far out to sea. Sails, cordage, masts, everthing seemed turned to gold. For a moment I couldn't help forgetting the danger, and thinking what a beautiful sight it was; when directly after there was a regular ringing cheer, the engine and pumps went "clang clang," and the water was turned into the burning hold from bucket and engine nozzle.

How the water hissed and spluttered! while volumes of smoke and steam rushed up where it had been all flame but a moment before, and as we saw this we cheered; but we'd nothing to cheer for; it was only the fire gaining strength; and then, as though laughing at the water we poured in, it came dashing and crawling, and licking the edges of the hatchways, and setting on fire the tarpaulins at the sides, and then it began to shoot and leap up as if to catch at the cordage and sails.

"Pour it in, my lads," shouted the captain. "Don't be afraid; we shan't run short of water, like they do at your London fires."

"No,' said a chap at my side, "and there ain't no running away into the next street."

Then I saw the captain run to the man at the wheel, and he changed the course of the ship, so that all the smoke and flame went over the side; and then at it we went, sending in the water at a tremendous rate, but to all appearance it did no good—not a bit.

"Now, my lads," said the captain, "with a will;" and then we cheered again; and that noble fellow stood with the engine nozzle in his hand, leaning right over the fiery hole, where the flames darted out, scorching him, and there he stood battling with them, and aiming the water where he thought best.

You see I stood close aside him, so that I could see all that he did—a brave fellow—and it was hot, too. You know I was taking the buckets as they were passed to me, and sending the water in with a regular splash as far as I could every time; and the captain nodded to me every now and then, and, "Well done!" he says, when it was him as ought to have had the praise.

It was as looking down into the mouth of a furnace; and as far as I could see, we might just as well have been playing with a couple of boy's squirts; but I knew enough of duty to feel what I ought to do; and though I'd liked to be aside the wife to comfort her, my duty was to stand there pouring in that there water till I couldn't do it no longer; and the more it didn't seem no good, the more I warmed up—obstinate like—and meant to try, for I didn't see no fun in being beaten off by a few flames and sparks, while the look as I got now and then from the captain went right through me, and in went the water.

All at once a lot of sailors stops pumping, and one shouts out—

"Tain't no good, mates. Boats out!"

But he hadn't hardly said it, before I saw the captain dart back; and then there was a bright light as the copper branch of the hose pipe flashed through the air, and then down came the sailor on the deck.

"Back to your work, men!" sang out the captain; and let a man go to the boats, if he dares!"

And then they stood hanging about, muttering, and one Dutch chap pulls out a knife. Just at the same minute, too, a couple of sailors as had been handing me the buckets, strikes work, too, a-saying they'd be hanged if they'd stop there and be frizzled.

I felt that if the men did as they liked, it would be all over with us; and that meant a regular rush to the boats, while the poor women and children were left to burn; so what did I do but I up with the leather bucket I had in my hand—I've often laughed since—and brings it down like a 'stingnisher right on the top of number one's head; as to t'other—he was a little chap, and I'm six foot and pretty strong,—I gets hold of him by the scruff of the neck and strap of the trousers, and afore he knew where he was, I had him up in the air, and over the hole where the flames were pouring up, and so close, too, that he could feel the scorching; and then—I ain't given much to swearing, but I rapped out something fierce, that if he didn't work I'd hurl him in.

Lord, you should have heard what a shriek there was as the fellow twisted like an eel to get away, and then I put him a little nearer; when he begged and prayed to be put down, and he'd work till he dropped; and then up comes the captain, for he'd bolted off into the cabin, but now rushed out again with a revolver in each hand.

"Well done, my man," he shouts to me, for he saw what I did; and then he gives me one of the pistols, and swore he'd shoot the first man as disobeyed, and I'm blessed if I don't believe he would, if they'd tried it on; but they didn't; but began pumping away like mad again, we two went to work pouring in the water, while I'm sure I heard a regular groan from the captain, though his face was like a bit o' wood.

This didn't take us above five minutes; but I believe it lost us the ship, though we had seemed to make such little impression when we turned on the water. But five minutes at such a time was ruin; the flame rose higher and higher, and the heat was awful; so that, do what we would, we were beat back, and instead of a quiet, crawling flame now, there was a regular roar, and the wind set towards the great fiery tongues in a fierce draught.

"Stick to it, my man," says the captain, in a low voice. "It's our only chance."

"And I wouldn't give much for it, sir," I says, in the same tone.

"Hush!" he says; and then to the men, "Pump away, my lads!"

They pumped away hearty enough, and kept trying on a cheer; but it soon could be seen with half an eye that the ship must go, for the flames darted up, and, almost before you knew it, the rigging was on fire, and the tongues like leaping from rope to rope, till the tarry things blazed furiously, right up the mainmast head, and little fiery drops of burning tar kept falling on the deck, or hissing into sea, while far enough off, out into the dark night, the great flaky sparks went flying along for all the world like a beautiful golden snow-storm.

"There," says the captain, throwing down the copper branch with which he had played on the fire, and shaking his fist right in the flames, so that they must have burnt it—"there," he says, savagely, "I've fought it out with you, and you've beat. Now for life saving!"

And then quietly and coolly he had one boat lowered down, with the first mate and a crew of sailors, and the shrieking women and children lowered in, while the quiet ones he kept back. Then there was a water cask and a lot of biscuit bags thrown in, and that boat, well loaded, pushed off on to the calm sea, and lay to, watching us. Then the second mate was ordered into the second boat with a crew of sailors; water and bags of biscuit thrust in; and then, well loaded with women and children and one or two of the men passengers, that was carefully lowered down, unhooked and pushed off.

The other two boats were not swung over the sides, but lay between the masts of the ship, right in the middle of the deck, and were full of stores and odd things put there to be out of the way; but the captain and men left soon had tackling fastened to the boat that was right in front of the fire, and it was hauled up, swung clear and lowered down with a couple of men in, and they rowed it back to the hinder part of the ship, while we who had been launching it, had to make a regular dash through the flames, which now extended nearly across the deck. One man, however, did not dare to come through, but plunged overboard and swam after the boat until he was took in.

"Now, then," said the captain, and the rest of the women were slung down.

I did not mean to go so long as I could help the captain; and then half a dozen of the men passengers were lowered down, and they were just going to shove off when I shouts out:

"Stop!" and the captain turns round angrily at me, and I says: "No water!"

Sure enough, they had none, and a little cask that stood on the deck was slung down, and they were going to shove off again, when I heard a shriek as went through and through me, and I saw a bright glare; the man at the rudder leaned over, while at the same moment there was a roar and a rush of fearful light, and the great mainmast, blazing from top to bottom, covered with burning rope and canvas, came toppling over towards where the boat lay, for the fire had been eating in it below deck for some time. It was all in a moment, and like the flashing of some great sheet of lightning as in the midst of a wild and fearful cry it fell right towards the boat.

That was a fearful moment, that was, and we held our breath with terror; and I—I could not help it—I covered my face with my hands and dared not look, till I heard a loud cheer and saw the boat safely floating within a very few yards of the half extinct mast, which had narrowly missed falling upon the little haven of safety.

And now they were going to get the last boat out, and the three others lay off at little distance, while above the hoarse orders of the captain there was the crackling and roar of the flames, now leaping up at a fearful rate. And yet it was a splendid sight, in spite of the horror; for every now and then pieces of the copper wire rope used in the rigging regularly caught fire and burned with a most beautiful blue light, brighter than any fire works I ever saw; while now the foremast had taken fire, and the flames were tearing along the rigging till the ropes seemed illuminated with little beads and tongues of fire. The heat grew awful, and every now and then little pieces of blazing rope, spars and blocks fell red-hot and glowing into the sea, sending up little smoking columns of hissing steam. The whole of the centre of the ship was now on fire, and the flames rose prodigiously, floating off and flashing amidst the clouds of smoke, while far away still lightly flitted and spun about the golden flaky show, eddying amongst the smoke, and darting far on high in the most beautiful way imaginable.

I think I said before how the tremendous heat caused a regular draught to set towards the fire, so that you were almost scorched before, the wind came with quite a cold rush behind; but then how it made the flames roar again and burn more fiercely than ever! It was a sickening sight, for every now and then the cruel forky tongues seemed to keep lapping at and threatening us, and then dancing and licking everything up, as if in devilish joy at the prospect of soon devouring us poor sinners.

It was a horrible sight, and though I did not show it, yet I could feel my heart sink every time I was idle for a few moments, when I went at it again like a savage. I didn't go down on my knees to pray, but—I don't know—I think I prayed earnestly in my heart then, and though I would gladly have been with the wife in the other boat, yet I couldn't feel as it was suited to a fellow's duty to leave such a man as that captain had showed himself all in the lurch; so I says to myself, "Be a man, too, Phil;" and I did try to, anyhow.

All at once the flames seemed to veer round, and began blowing towards us, while the position of the boats was changed, and I couldn't understand it till I saw the captain run from helping to get the last boat—the one as was on the deck close to the mizzen mast—over the side, and then I found it was the man had left the wheel, and had run up towards the boat.

"Back!" I heard the captain say; "back, or I'll fire!"

"Fire away, cap," says the man sulkily, "one may just as well die by fire one way as another, and I won't stand there and be burnt."

And then the captain's hand—the one as held the pistol—fell down by his side, and he looked regularly done.

"What's up?" I says. "Can I do?" and I followed the captain to the wheel, which he turned on as to put the head of the ship right once more; and as he did it, she just changed round again; but while all this had been going on, the mizzen or third mast took fire, and now was blazing away fiercely.

"Hold on here, my man," says the captain. "and keep the wheel just as it is. That's right; hold the spokes firm; and if her head swings round, call to me to come and help you."

"All right," I says; "but mind, I don't understand it a bit." And now my troubles seemed to begin; for though it was bad enough to be bustling about fancying that the ship would either go down or you'd be burnt every moment, yet to stand stock-still holding on the spokes of that wheel was awful, and do what I would to stop it, a regular tremble came over it, a regular tremble came all over me, and my knees kept on shake, shake, shake.

They got the boat over the side, and then the men rushed over another to get in, and it was only by stamping about and hitting at them that the captain got the poor chaps to take in the things they wanted; such as food, which he fetched out of the cabin himself; and water, which they did sling in, but dropped one little cask overboard. But, one way or another, he got them at last to take in a good many things such as they'd want, and a compass; and then, with three more men, he rushed down to the cabin again for more food, biscuit-bags,—saying that the other boats would want more, and that we must supply them. And then up they came staggering and shaking, one man with a little water keg, and the captain with a side o' bacon, and two men with bags o' biscuit; and they goes to the side, and I wished my job was done as I saw 'em go.

All at once one of the men gives a yell, throws down his bag, and leaps back overboard, and the others running after him, did so too; and then I could see that the cowardly beggars had pushed off,—for they lay close under the side, where I couldn't see 'em before, and now they were rowing hard to get away, and I could see that the boat was so full that the least thing must make her fill and sink.

It was pitiful to hear the shrieks of those poor fellows as was left behind, as they swam with all their might to get up to the boat, and it was pitiful to see, for it was as light as day, and the waves that gently rose and fell seemed waves of blood,—glowing blood,—with golden crests as they softly broke. But though one man swam so fast that he got up to the boat, they pushed him off with the oars; and then I saw him cling to them, and one pulled out a knife to stab him if he came nearer; while just then I saw the boat-hook rise up and fall with a heavy thud on the poor chap's head, and he went under, and I said, "God help him!" for he came up no more.

There were two more swimming after him, and when the next saw all this, he just turned round, and looked back at the ship, and paddled with his hands a bit, and then stretching them straight up towards the sky, he gave one wild bitter shriek, and he went under; and this time I tried to say, "God help him!" but it was only my lips that moved.

There was the other, though, a fine lusty young fellow, and as soon as he saw what took place he turned off to the left and tried to reach the nearest boat of the other three; and manfully he swam for it, raising himself well up in the water at every stroke, and gradually lessening the distance till he got close up to the stern, where I could see quite plain some one holding out his hands to him, and he was took aboard the boat.

Now all this took place in very few minutes; and, in spite of the danger, we, the last two on board, could not help stopping to gaze at the terrible incident; but now the captain comes up to me, and taking my hand, says—

"Brother, it was a cowardly, cruel, selfish action; I don't know but I'd rather die with a brave man than live with curs."

I know my hand shook, but I don't think my voice did, though I thought of life being very sweet, as I remarked to him—

"Is it very hard to die, captain?"

"Yes," he says, "I believe it is, to a strong man; and as God gave us life, and we've done our duty so far, why we must finish it by trying to save two more."

"But how?" says I, getting hold of him.

"Don't leave the wheel," he says; and then, again, "but it don't matter—she make no way. Lend a hand here."

And I helped him, and together, roasting almost, we dragged three great fowl coops and a grating to the side, and he tied them together—lashed them, he called it—in no time; then we shoved them overboard; and as the vessel slowly swung round, we were out of sight of the boats, which were about a quarter of a mile off. He had a rope to the coops so that they could not float off, and as he told me, I slid down onto them and squatted there trembling, while he lowered down to me the water keg, some rope, the bacon, and two of the biscuit bags. Then he pitched some loose pieces of wood work and the cover of the cabin stairs, and a hutch thing and tarpaulin into the water beside me; slid down the rope, and was by my side in a few minutes; with the coops sinking about, so that I was glad to lower myself into the water and hold on.

"That's right," he says, opening his knife with his teeth and cutting the rope, and then getting the tarpaulin and bits of wood and things in the centre in the handiest way possible—same as only a sailor could do. He tells me to hold on tight, and then lowering himself into the water, he pushes off from the burning ship and begins swimming and guiding our bit of a raft away very slowly, but still farther and farther off.

"I'll lash the coops and grating together," he says, "as soon as we're out of danger."

"Out of danger!" I says, "and when will that be?"

"Well," he says, "I mean when we are out of reach of being sucked down when she sinks."

"Will she sink?" I says.

"Yes," he says, "and before long now;" and then he went on swimming hard, while I could do nothing but first watch the boats and then the burning ship.

It was grand, though awful, to see the noble vessel standing there like pyramid of fire whose heat we could feel on our scorched faces. From every part now the flames were rushing, even from the cabin windows beneath where I had so lately been standing, and I could hardly keep from shuddering as I thought of the awful danger.

It was hard work forcing the raft through the water on account of the breeze which set towards the ship; but we got farther and farther away, and were some distance off when the mizzenmast went over the side; but still the captain said we were not safe, and swam on till he could not feel the breeze; and at length panting and exhausted he hung on motionless, and said we must risk it now.

Then we both were silent, and watched the boats now farther away from us, and the blazing ship seemed to be the centre of a glorious ring of light, on the outside of which like sparks we all lay waiting for the end we knew was soon to come. Everywhere else was dark as pitch, not even a star to be seen, while the waves just rose and curled a little over, as they washed against our raft; excepting the dull roar and crackle of the flames, everything was as still as death.

All at once I started, for the captain spoke sadly as he looked at his vessel; and out of the silence his voice sounded wild and strange,—

"If I'd had a crew like you, my man, I think we could have saved her;" and then he spoke no more, for just then, from being quite still, the good ship seemed to roll a little towards us, and then to the other side, slowly, and as if just bending to the breeze; and then we could almost see the water creeping up her burning sides as clouds of steam arose; and with one calm steady dip forward she seemed to plunge right down beneath the golden waters. Then there was a rising and falling of the sea, and a deep, dense darkness, out of which close by me came one of the bitterest heart-tearing sobs I ever heard from the breast of man; and I did not speak, for I felt it was the captain sorrowing for the loss of his good ship.

For a good piece silence was as deep as the darkness and then the captain was the first to break it in quite a cheerful voice—

"Can you lay your hand on the rope?" he says, and I passed it to him, and then I could hear him in the dark busily at work tying and fastening; and at last he says, "Now crawl on again; it will bear you better;" and faint and weary I managed to crawl on, and lay with my legs in the water and my head on the bag of biscuit; and directly after I felt him crawl on, too, and we took hold of hands and then lay there in the deep darkness while he said that prayer aloud in such a soft, deep voice—that prayer as we first learnt kneeling by our mother's knee. When he came to "Deliver us from evil," he stopped short; and soon, worn out there in the great ocean, floating on a few pieces of wood, we felt in whose hands we were, and slept till the warm bright sun shone upon us and told us that another day was here.

The first thing the captain did was to stand up and look round, and then he said he could see only one boat; but he hoisted up one of the pieces of wood, and wedged it in the coop with a handkerchief flying at the top, after which we made a hearty meal of biscuit, raw bacon and water. After this the captain got one of the coops on the other, and by binding and lashing he made a much higher and better raft, so that we could keep our bacon and biscuit out of the water and sit dry ourselves.

And so we lay all day till towards evening, when we found that the boat was coming towards us, and just at dusk it was within hail; and if ever I'd felt hopeful or joyful before in my life, it was then. They had no room for us, but they took us in tow, and the weather keeping calm, we all rowed and worked in turns, steering according to the captain's direction for the nearest land; for when our turn came we two went into the boat, and two others came out on the raft, and so we toiled for days, when one morning there was a joyful cry—

"A sail! a sail?"

And it was, too, within a mile of us, plainer and plainer as that glorious sun rose; and then some laughed, some cried, and one or two went half mad with joy, as after a little while she ran down towards us, picked us up, and proved to be a British man-of-war homeward bound.

In another week I was back in the port I left, without clothes, without money, but with as good and true a friend in Captain Ellis as ever walked. I had life, and with it came hope; and somehow, since then, things have prospered with me in the old country—the old home that I once left to go far at sea.

"THE LEES OF LIFE."

BY GEORGE ARNOLD.

"I have had my will,
Tasted every pleasure;
I have drank my fill
Of the purple measure.
It has lost its zest,
Sorrow is my guest,
O, the lees are bitter—bitter.
Give me rest!

"Love once filled the bowl,
Running o'er with blisses,
Made my very soul
Drunk with crimson kisses;
But I drank it dry;
Love has passed me by;
O, the lees are bitter—bitter.
Let me die!"

Miss Maria S. Cummins, daughter of Judge Cummins, died on the 1st, at Dorchester, Massachusetts. She had been ill for quite a period. Her literary career began in 1858, when "The Lamplighter" was published. Within eight weeks, so great was its popularity, over 40,000 copies were sold, and it has passed through several editions; in this country and England, its sales probably exceeded 100,000 copies. In 1857 she produced "Mabel Vaughan," and in 1860 "El Furiedis," from her pen, was published simultaneously in this country and England. Subsequently, she wrote another work, entitled "Haunted Hearts." She has, of late, been a contributor to the Atlantic Monthly.

SUMMARY OF THE WEEK.

General Intelligence.

The Legislature of Texas is making enactments for the establishment of a State University.

Reuter's first message from New York to India by the Atlantic cable and the Continental line, reached Bombay on the 24th of August. It was forty hours in transmission.

A snow storm at the White Mountains on the 9th, covered the summit of Mount Washington and the neighboring peaks to the depth of several inches. The regular season will close to-day.

Chief Justice Chase has decided that United States Circuit Courts cannot be legally held anywhere until a new assignment of circuits has been made. Under this ruling no Circuit Courts will be held till December.

The appointment of Frank Leslie as commissioner to the French exhibition will probably secure better illustrations of that tournament of universal industry than any ever given to the world of such picturesque gatherings.

According to a recent decision of the War Department, drafted men and substitutes are not entitled to the extra bounties voted by Congress. Officers promoted from the ranks are also decided to have forfeited their claims to said bounties.

One of the British gunboats recently placed on Lake Erie boarded and searched the steamer Congress, flying the United States flag, under pretense that she was in the Fenian service. The Canadian authorities are investigating the matter. It is reported that our Goverment has demanded an apology for the insult.

The State elections on the 9th gave majorities for the Republicans. Returns to the 13th indicated that Pennsylvania had given from 15,000 to 17,000; Ohio, from 40,000 to 50,000; Indiana, from 10,000 to 13,000, and Iowa about 35,000 majority. The Republicans claim a congressional gain of two members in Pennsylvania, and the Democrats claim a gain of one in Ohio, and one in Indiana.

The President having, under date of March 28, 1866, granted a pardon to Joseph E. Davis, the brother of Jefferson Davis, Maj. Gen. Howard has ordered that possession of his property be given him at the expiration of the present lease thereon, viz., on January 1, 1867. Such portion of the rents of the property as accrue after the date of the pardon will be paid to him, amounting to about $20,000.

The White House is being greatly improved and ornamented within. A small regiment of workmen are daily engaged in the lower rooms, in painting, gilding, papering, and removing soiled drapery, which is soon to be replaced by rich and tasteful importations from Europe, an agent being there for the purpose of selecting the goods. These highly necessary improvements will probably not be completed before the 1st of December.

There are reports of great strikes of oil in West Virginia in the valley of the Kanawha. Some wells are said to be yielding fifteen hundred to two thousand barrels per day. White Oak, Burning Springs, and Standing Stone are the localities most in repute. A railroad is in course of construction, and the Little Kanawha river is to be made navigable, by locks and dams, to accommodate the increasing business of the trade.

The Second Comptroller of the Treasury, in order to settle some disputed questions about pensions and bounties, has decided that hernia, or rupture, or a broken limb, are wounds within the meaning of the act of Congress of July 28, 1866, when incurred in consequence of the performance of some military duty, if they were of sufficient severity to cause the soldier's discharge. He also declares that concussion of the brain cannot be considered a wound.

A widely published despatch that the President has desired the opinion of the Attorney General whether a Congress composed of members from the Northern States alone is Constitutional, and whether, in case he should not so regard it, he would be justified in sending to it his next annual message: Also, what steps do the Constitution and his oath of office require the President to take in order to secure the assemblage of a Constitutional Congress, proves to be a canard. Under its influence gold went up four per cent, but subsequently fell nearly that amount

The Cholera.

The cholera, notwithstanding the lateness of the season, has suddenly revived in various parts of the country.

At Holyoke, Mass., the disease has broken out with violence, while at New York it has disappeared.

In Cincinnati, twenty-four deaths from cholera occurred on the 11th, being a sudden rise in number.

On the 10th, in Chicago, there were 71 cases of cholera, with 25 deaths—a decided increase, notwithstanding the lateness of the season. Among the deaths are those of Dr. Daniel Brainerd, the eminent surgeon, and Alderman O'Sullivan. The pestilence since then has decreased.

Foreign News.

An infant daughter of Gen. Tom Thumb died from inflammation of the brain, at Norwich, on the 26th of September.

Late advices from Mexico report that the Liberals are concentrating near Monterey, determined to make a vigorous effort for the capture of that city.

By the treaty between Italy and Austria, Italy obtains the original Venetian territory as owned by Austria, but in so doing assumes the Venetian debt, which amounts to thirty-five million florins.

The profits of the Atlantic cable have been $4,000 in gold for each day since it was laid, or $5,000 for every working day. It is proposed to raise the nominal capital to £5,000,000.

The Canadians are highly pleased with the announcement of the alliance between Santa Anna and the Fenians, because it relieves them from fear of invasion, and tends to a reduction of their taxes.

A number of marine disasters on the Atlantic have occurred recently. In one instance, that of the English steamship Evening Star, with two hundred and fifty passengers and a crew of fifty, but ten are reported saved. Later intelligence says nearly three hundred people perished. Among the lost were a French opera troupe, Dr. Spalding's circus, and nearly one hundred courtezans.

George Hopper, the financial agent of the Fenian organization in Ireland, who was sentenced at the special commission to two years' imprisonment, has been released from confinement. The clemency of the lord lieutenant has been extended to him, it is said, because his health had been greatly impaired by imprisonment. Hopper was formerly the proprietor of a thriving tailoring business.

On Thursday, the 4th inst., the Bank of Upper Canada redeemed a large number of its bills in copper coin, five tons of which were said to be in the vaults. The bills were redeemed at par. A well-known firm in Toronto bought $300 worth—their pile requiring a medium-sized wagon to convey it to its destination. A lady from the country exchanged $500, and afterwards found herself like the man with the elephant—not knowing what to do with her treasure.

The West.

Hudson, Wis., has been visited by a third fire, and the only remaining hotel, the Boyden House, was burned to the ground.

Norman B. Judd has been nominated by the Republicans of Chicago for Congress, as successor to "Long John" Wentworth.

The United States Marshal has ferreted out the haunts of a gang of counterfeiters, at St. Louis, and captured the parties.

A fast young man in Monroe, Iowa, got his store, worth $1,000, insured for $15,000 and then burned it. He is in jail waiting trial.

Kit Carson, Brevet Brigadier General, has been selected to command a battalion of New Mexican volunteers, organized for mounted service along the northern frontier of New Mexico.

Fifteen horses were burned to death in a livery stable at St. Paul, on the 12th. The stable was entirely consumed, together with its stock of horses, carriages, etc. Loss, $10,000.

The lower House of the Oregon Legislature has declared the former action of that body, in ratifying the Constitutional amendment, to be fraudulent, and the Secretary of State has been authorized to transmit the resolution on the case to Secretary Seward.

Gen. Butler had a very narrow escape at Berea, Ohio, on Monday. The rear car of the train in which he was traveling had been set apart for himself and friends, and while occupied by them an express train coming up, and which could not be stopped, smashed into Butler's car, making splinters fly and throwing the occupants around promiscuously. No one was seriously injured.

The St. Joseph (Mo.) Herald says with the exception of stragglers from the rear guard, the grasshoppers have departed from that section, having done but little damage, and are now moving off in a southeasterly direction. But now comes a new army from the great plains—the locusts! They originated far west of the Rocky Mountains, and are moving eastward with alarming rapidity, and in vast numbers. The advance is said to be within forty or fifty miles of Lawrence, Kansas.

Advices from New Mexico state that game has almost entirely disappeared, and in consequence the Indian tribes are starving. As a matter of course the Indians have made incursions upon the settlers' stock, and the settlers, scarcely appreciating the claims of starving Indians, have resorted to the rifle, and blood has been shed on both sides. The only thing, probably, that prevents a bloody Indian campaign, is the very sensible and humane plan already adopted for issuing rations to the starving tribes.

A bold and daring robbery was committed on the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad, near Seymour, Ind., on Saturday evening, the 6th. Two robbers entered the car containing the Adams Express Company's safes, forced the messenger to give them the key, and one of them opened it and took out fifteen thousand dollars in greenbacks. They then threw out another safe containing twenty thousand dollars in gold, partially stopped the train, and made their escape. The gold was recovered, but the robbers, with the currency, are still at large.

The East.

Commodore Stockton of New Jersey, died on Sunday evening, the 7th inst.

Gonzales and Pellicier, the murderers of Senor Otero, the Cuban, were executed in Brooklyn, on the 12th. Both of the guilty wretches left written confessions of their crime.

The unprecedented rains of the 11th and 12th have flooded Baltimore and Washington, cutting off all direct communications with the latter city. The loss is estimated by millions.

There is a movement on foot in New York to send the famous 7th regiment to the Paris Exposition, and an enthusiastic capitalist has offered ten thousand dollars toward defraying the expenses.

St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York, which cost $150,000, together with two large stores, were destroyed by fire Saturday night, the 6th. The total loss will reach four hundred thousand dollars.

The First National Bank of Yarmouthport Mass., was robbed on Friday, the 5th, of seventy-five thousand dollars. The robber proves to be the son of the Cashier; the young thief having scarcely reached the age of twenty-one.

General Benjamin F. Butler has been nominated for Congress by the Republicans of the Sixth Congressional District of Massachusetts. He recieved one hundred and sixty-six out of one hundred and sixty-eight votes on the first ballot.

Wiscasset, the county seat of Lincoln Co., Maine, was half destroyed by fire on the morning of the 9th. The Custom-house, a large hotel, a warehouse, and many other buildings were wiped out by the destroying element, and a large number of families were rendered homeless. Loss, $200,000.

Fannie Estelle and Annie Redding, two girls at Willbraham (Mass.) Academy attempted suicide by a dose of laudanum last week. They are now considered out of danger, though their escape from death was a narrow one. Miss Estelle has tried the same thing once before this term, in a fit of passion, but was discovered in time to prevent serious results.

Professor Henry, of the Smithsonian Institute, says the amount of rain which fell from on the 9th, to the same hour on the 11th, was somewhat more than five inches, being the greatest quantity that has fallen within a long time. Considerable damage to property is reported along the line of the upper Potomac, and Chesapeake and Ohio canal, as well as in Washington and Georgetown. The storm has continued since with but brief intermission.

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES.

A Proclamation.

Almighty God, our Heavenly Father, has been pleased to vouchsafe to us as a people another year of that national life which is an indispensable condition of peace, security, and progress. That year moreover has been crowned with many peculiar blessings. The civil war that was so recently among us has not been anywhere reopened. Foreign intervention has ceased to excite alarm or apprehension. Intrusive pestilence has been benignly mitigated. Domestic tranquillity has improved; sentiments of conciliation have largely prevailed; and affections of loyalty and patriotism have been widely renewed. Our fields have yielded quite abundantly,—our mining industry has been richly rewarded, and we have been allowed to extend our railroad system far into the interior recesses of the country, while our commerce has resumed its customary activity in foreign seas.

These great national blessings demand a national acknowledgement.

Now, therefore, I, Andrew Johnson, president of the United States, do hereby recommend that Thursday, the twenty-ninth day of November next, be set apart and be observed everywhere in the several states and territories of the United States, by the people thereof, as a day of thanksgiving and praise to Almighty God, with due remembrance that in His temple doth every man speak of His honor.

I recommend also that on the same solemn occasion we do humbly and devoutly implore Him to grant to our national councils and to our whole people that divine wisdom which alone can lead any nation into the ways of all good.

In offering these thanksgiving, praises and supplications, we have the divine assurance that the Lord remaineth a king forever. Those that are meek shall he guide in judgment; and those that are gentle shall He learn His way. The Lord shall give strength to His people; and the Lord shall give to His people the blessings of peace.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand, and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington, this 8th day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-six, and of the independence of the United States the 91st.

ANDREW JOHNSON.

By the President:
Wm. H. Seward, Secretary of State.

Personal and Literary.

Rumor forecasts the marriage of James Gordon Bennett, Jr., and a daughter of General Dix.

A Philadelphia paper announces the admission to the bar of Jonathan J. Wright, a full-blooded negro.

Hon. John Bigelow, Minister to France, will resume his editorial chair in the office of the New York Evening Post upon his return to this country.

Even if Maximilian is turned out of Mexico he won't be badly off, as his wife's inheritance from her father, King Leopold, is worth $8,000,000.

At the first Philadelphia Convention, a Savannah gentleman was introduced to Theodore Tilton, and inquired if that fellow was a son of Old Tilton, of the Independent. The reply was, "Yes, his oldest son."

Dr. Rufus Anderson has resigned the Secretaryship of the American Board of Foreign Missions, which he held for 44 years. On retiring he was presented with two checks of $10,000 each, by gentlemen of New England and New York.

Rev. Dr. Cheever, in a recent sermon criticised a statement of Henry Ward Beecher that he expected to meet the Pope of Rome in heaven. Cheever says such doctrine is erroneous, that Popery was self-Christian, and its followers would scarcely be saved, except by a miracle.

Dickens' favorite time for working is in the morning. He rises very early and sets to work at once. He lightly breakfasts at about 9½, and continues to work until 12 o'clock. At this hour he lunches. After lunch he goes out into the fields, and does not return home until 6½ o'clock. He walks every day some eight or ten miles. He walks rapidly. Dickens' favorite wine is Bordeaux wine. Dickens is extremely hospitable. He is fond of receiving company informally and intimately every day of the week, and especially Sunday.

The peculiarities of authors are always interesting, and we are thrilled with delight when we read that Miss Braddon wrote sitting on a low stool, using a book as her desk. George Sala, we are also informed, writes on a chair, bending on his knees before his paper, because he is near-sighted. In our testimony with authors, says some wag, we have noticed some of their characteristics which are amusing. Dr. Holmes wrote Elise Venner while he was suspended from a trapeze by his feet. If his ideas ceased to flow, he gave his body the requisite impetus, and after bumping his head several times against the ceiling, resumed work. Thurlow Weed, of the New York Times, writes his articles on the top of his hat, reclining on his back on a sofa at the Astor House. Horace Greely seats himself on a cushion filled with bran, and uses a pen-handle two yards long. He also uses a broad sheet, about the size of the Tribune, which is pinned against opposite walls of the room. Bayard Taylor composes, while traveling up and down Broadway in an omnibus. There are very few, if any, writers of distinction who sit down like ordinary mortals at a desk.

—A little boy nine years old was recently before a Paris court for murder.

THE MARKETS.

New York, Oct. 13.
COTTON—Middling	$ .38	@ .39
FLOUR—Extra Round Hoop Ohio	9 85	@ 11.75
WHEAT—No. 1 Milwaukee New	2 23	@ 2.35
BARLEY	1 25	@ 1 34
CORN—Sound Western Mixed	.93	@ .94
OATS—New Chicago	.58	@ .58
PORK—Mess new	33.00	@ 33 10
BEEF CATTLE—Common to good	12 50	@ 17.00
DRY GOODS—Merrimacs	.31	@ .32
Bleached Sheetings—Masonville		@ .35
Brown Sheetings—Stark	.23

CURRENT ITEMS.

Domestic Paragraphs.

—A Missourian has realized $6,000 this year from ten acres of peaches.

—In California a Chinaman cannot testify against a white man or a negro.

—A Washington soldier stole the artificial leg of his sleeping comrade.

Government allows Jeff. Davis $20 per week for the purchase of rations.

—The members of the Roman Catholic Council assembled at Baltimore, represent 5,000,000 of people.

—St. Patrick's Cathedral, New York, will be rebuilt at once in the same style and after the same plan as before.

—The population of New Orleans is double what it was during the war, one-fourth larger than ever before.

—The Universal Peace Society, the President of which is appropriately named Love, met in Philadelphia on the 10th inst.

—A contract has been signed to complete the Union Pacific Railroad two hundred and fifty miles west of Fort Riley by December 1, 1867.

—The explosion of a keg of yeast at Freeport, Illinois, the other day, carried a forty pound bar of iron lying upon it, through the ceiling.

—A man forty years old committed suicide in Philadelphia, on Tuesday, because he did not wish to outlive his mother, who was dangerously ill.

—A race horse having been recently killed in South Carolina by lightning, the owner said that there was nothing but a streak of lightning over caught him.

—A fish was caught in the Ohio river near Cincinnati, last week, the stomach of which on being opened, was found to contain a two dollar bill, and a valuable diamond ring.

—John C. Fremont was elected on the 1st inst. President of the Atlantic & Pacific Railway, the St. Louis side-cut or switch from the main line which is to run westward from Chicago via Omaha.

—A school-boy who drank at the faucet in the basement of the City Hall, Springfield, Mass., the other day, was taken violently sick soon after, and only found relief when he threw up a small frog.

—By suddenly starting up his team to avoid a passing train at Detroit, Friday, Robert Walker threw his wife, who was on the back seat, out on the track, and the entire train passed over her body.

—James Brown, a colored man in San Francisco, formerly proprietor of a livery stable, has recovered a verdict of $500 against the Morning Call, for the publication of a local item headed "A Darkey in Luck."

—The largest single plank ever cut is now on exhibition in New York city. Its dimensions are as follows, viz: Length, 12 feet; breadth, 7 feet 4 inches; thickness, 3 inches; without split, knot, or imperfection of any kind.

—The work of cutting a street through Front Hill, Boston, which is densely populated, has recently been commenced, and two thousand poor people have been compelled to vacate the premises occupied by them in consequence.

—The receipts of lumber in Chicago from January 1 to October 6, 1866, were as follows: Lumber, 530,377,000; shingles, 318,926,000; laths, 85,799,000. The annual product of the State of Maine is placed at four hundred millions of feet.

—It is said that there is a village in Vermont which has four churches. Only one of these has a bell, but inasmuch as the other denominations refuse to assist to pay for the ringing of it, the owners of the bell will not allow it to be rung at all.

—When the boilers of the Allena May exploded near St. Louis, the pilot was blown up five hundred feet into the air, and alighting head down into the river, descended to the bottom kerchug. He came up all right, however, and is ready for another blow up.

—The earnings of the convicts at the State Prison at Charlestown, for the last year, were the heaviest since 1860, and more than paid the expenses of the institution. For the last six months they amounted to $49,000. There are now 518 inmates in the institution.

—The Portsmouth Chronicle notices a monster cucumber raised in that town the present season, measuring twenty inches in length, fourteen and one-half inches in circumference, and weighing eight and three-fourth pounds. It is quite likely that this cucumber brought on the present cool weather.

—Returns from all the Lodges of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows in the United States, except those in Texas and North Carolina, received at the recent meeting of the Grand Lodge in Baltimore, show that the total number of members of lodges is 176,175, and of encampments 25,746.

—During the recent freshet in Vermont, and while Rev. Cyrus Liscomb, of East Calais, was looking at the water pouring over the dam in that place, the dam gave way, carrying Mr. Liscomb, down the rapids below, and over two dams, a distance of over ten rods, and a fall of 70 to 75 feet, and at last landing him on a small island, comparatively unhurt.

—The Charleston Courier of Friday says: "From a private letter which we have received from the estimable wife of the distinguished prisoner at Fortress Monroe, we learn with inexpressible regret that his health continues to decline, and that the pecuniary affairs of his family are becoming very embarrassing."

—A brakeman named Littlefield met with a series of disasters the other day. While walking on the top of one of the car of the up freight from Portland to Portsmouth, he was struck by a bridge and knocked down into the next car—an open one filled with cattle. He was seriously injured by the blow and fall, and had one of his legs broken by the cattle tramping upon him.

—At a fair in Norwalk, Ct., last week, was a coop containing a rooster and some five or six hens, all in the gayest of plumage—red, white and blue; yellow, green, purple &c. The colors, however, were all artistical save the white, and were put on at the Norwalk dye works. The rooster was decked off in great "agony," and strutted about as if proud of his new costume.

—According to the last United States census, the number of churches in the United State was 54,000, and the value of church property over $171,000,000. The number of churches had doubled in the previous ten years. More than one half the church property was owned in four States—New York, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, and Ohio. Pennsylvania has more churches than any other State.

—The New York Evening Post says: "One of the curious results of the European war, and its contingent ruin of many private fortunes, is the sudden appearance of old family diamonds in the market. There has lately been received in this city, a magnificont collection of stones of the first water, which will command high prices. Among them is a pair of solitaires, valued at four thousand dollars in gold, which were set as ear-drops a century ago."

—John Dabury, the keeper of a restaurant in Richmond, was a slave before the war, and had bought his freedom, and when the war broke out he owed a balance of $200. Some advised him not to pay it, saying, "you are free by the law." John's reply was, "No, my master acted like a gentleman to me; he let me buy myself and my wife cheap, I owe him the money honestly, and I intend to pay it." And he kept his word, and a few days ago discharged the obligation in full.

—The Gloucester (Mass.) Telegraph says: "Those people who consider mackerel a luxury will find it an expensive morsel to indulge in this winter. For many years there has not been such a scarcity in our market at this season, and the news from the bay indicates that the catch this year will fall much below the average, though we have a larger fleet than usual engaged in the business.

—During the month of September there were lost by fire, wreck, collision and other disasters, twenty-two vessels belonging to the United States, valued at $1,618,000. There were three ships, one steamer, nine barks, three brigs and six schooners destroyed during the month. Thus far, in 1866, there have been 389 vessels, valued at $19,682,800, lost by disasters at sea as compared with 275 vessels, valued at $20,549,800 for the same period of 1865.

—The Portland Press records what it calls "one of the wonders of the world" in the in the case of a woman who had just died in the alms house in that city, at the age of seventy years. Disappointed in love in early life, she made a vow never to speak another word during her life; and during the thirty five years she has spent in the Portland poorhouse she religiously kept her vow, until death sealed her lips, not uttering a single intelligible word during all the that time.

—In the year 1838, a Mr. Cobb, of Baltimore, was applied to to change a $10 note, which, on looking at it, he discovered it to be a $1,000 note. His suspicions were aroused, but he could find no more about it than that it had been offered by an old negro woman as a $10 note in payment for some small articles. He kept it and advertised it, but no claimants appeared. Finally, he desposited it with the city authorities, and by them it has just been donated to the Union Orphan Asylum of Baltimore. Including the interest, the sum amounts to near $3,600.

—The Springfield (Ill.) Journal of Oct. 4 says: "Last Monday, Frank A. Harding, proprietor of a billiard hall in Jacksonville, in a friendly game of billiards with Mr. A. Freeman, of Peoria, made a 'run' of 1,553 points. The balls were not 'locked,' and many shots made were table shots of the most difficult character. Nearly half the shots were 'back-handed.' Twice during the run the balls were 'frozen,' and the run only terminated when for the third time the balls were frozen, and this time in a manner that rendered a count impossible. Time of run, one hour and twenty minutes."

—The Oconomowoc Badger says that a farmer in that vicinity had his water melons stolen as fast as they ripened, until they were nearly all gone. At last, seeing that he could get no good of his melons, he determined to have vengeance on the thieves; accordingly, when the last two lots were about ripe, he injected a powerful dose of croton oil into each one, and then waited for the result. A night or two after the melons were all taken, and the farmer had the satisfaction of knowing that his medicine had taken effect, from learning that doctors were in great demand in that neighborhood for a day or two thereafter.

—Professor George W. Harper, of Cincinnati, in his regular monthly weather report, says of September: "In several respects this month is a marked period in the meteorological history of this place. The maximum temperature, and the mean temperature of the month are the lowest I ever recorded for the month of September. The amount of rain—nearly eleven inches—is, I believe, unprecedented. This excess will more than make up the deficiency of last May. The year 1866 is memorable as containing the dryest May and the wettest September perhaps ever experienced at this point. More rain has fallen during the past month than I have ever recorded in any previous month."

—A New York correspondent of the Albany Argus relates that a handsome orphan work-girl had been for some time courted by a journeyman hatter. One day she pressed him to marry, as she had received disrespectful proposals from a rich lawyer. "There is my hand," said she, "marry me directly." The lover, highly indignant at the attorney, was too glad to obey the direction. The marriage took place at the residence of the bride. The evening before the wedding, however, the bridegroom told his bride that he had a secret to tell her. He was not a journeyman hatter, but was one of the richest men in the city of Boston, and said he would take her the next day to the beautiful country seat in the suburbs of the modern Athens, which he had inherited from his father and mother, for he, indeed, was an orphan like his bride.

—An Albion (N. Y.) paper says: The most important criminal case on hand is the Lindsley case, which created so much interest throughout the country several months ago. Lindsley was arrested for whipping his own child, a boy about three years of age, to death. He was released on $12,000 bail, given by his father and brothers, and his case referred to this term of the court. Yesterday, a full bill of manslaughter was found against him by the grand jury. To-day he was brought into court and plead "not guilty" to the indictment. His case was put over to the January term, at the request of the district attorney. He is a man rather below the medium size, about 35 years of age, and has a very determined look. He fully justifies himself in his horrid work, and declares he was only in the way of duty.

—The Methodist Church in this country is just one hundred years of age. It commenced business over an obscure grocery store, in 1766, in the city of New York. The official census place it, numerically, far in advance of any other American religious body, and the general religious statistics of the country show that it comprises nearly one-half of all our Protestant communicants. The different bodies of the Methodist church comprises about 2,000,000 communicants; 15,000 local and 14,000 traveling preachers; 200 colleges and academies, with 32,000 students; publishing institutions with an aggregate capital of about $1,000,000—the one in New York city having on its catalogues more than 300 books and 900 tracts, beside 2,200 Sunday-school volumes, and scattering more than 1,000,000 copies of the latter annually, and 300,000 copies of Sunday-school periodicals monthly.

—A piece of rascality was attempted upon a Saginaw gentleman in Detroit a few evenings since, which, however, proved a failure. He had taken his seat in a crowded car, when a person near asked if he could give two $5 for a $10. The ever obliging Saginawan took a roll of bills from his pocket and passed over the two fives to the person, receiving in exchange the $10, which he rolled up with the rest of his bills and placed them in the side pocket of his coat. On examining his money in the morning he found that a piece of black silk thread had been run through the bill he received from the stranger, and that a piece of the same about three feet long still remained attached. The intention of the party for whom he changed the bill was doubtless, at a favorable opportunity, to take hold of the thread and drag the whole roll of bills from his pocket, which could easily have been accomplished had not the thread by some means been broken.

Foreign Gossip.

—A Frenchman proposed to build a pontoon bridge with opening for vessels, from Calais to Dover cliffs. He estimates the cost at £16,000,000.

—Ten dollars will buy a broadcloth coat, eight dollars a travelling suit, and thirty-two cents a pair of kid gloves in London. If the cable was only a ferry, eh?

—In his recent diplomatic circular, the Emperor Napolaon gives it as his opinion that "a century hence the United of America will contain one hundred millions of inhabitants."

—At a Russian theatre the orchestra was nonplussed when the officers of our squadron called for Hail Columbia. The manager expressed his regrets, but he had never seen the music.

—During the Doncaster races, a gentleman wagered $500 against a carrot that Rustic would not win. The bet was made in good faith, as both the money and vegetable were deposited.

—The London Era devotes considerable of its space each week to a discussion of Blind Tom's musical talent. It pronounces his feat of playing three different tunes at the same time "a task beyond civilization, sane people generally, and the entire white family."

—Passengers on the railroad from Alexandria to Suez make bitter complaint of the bad usage they receive. The carriages, they say, are "something between beast trucks and fourth-class carriages," and between 6 o'clock in the evening and 7 o'clock the following morning—the time taken by the journey—no food or drink could be had at the station.

—A woman named Steele, sentenced to six months imprisonment, at the City Police Court, London, seems to have carried on a wholesale system of housebreaking in the neighborhood of Rochdale road and Oldham road. The thoroughness of this thief is not often surpassed. In one instance she stripped a child while it lay asleep in bed, and carried away its clothes.

—The Madras Railway Company have been experimenting on the relative costs of wood and iron for railway sleepers. It has been found that for a series of years the wooden sleepers have averaged a cost of $169 per mile, while the iron ones have cost but $74 per mile. The advantage of iron over wood has been made so apparent, that the company has resolved to use iron hereafter altogether.

—The pledge system, long a favorite engine of the temperance movement has been applied by the Free Church Society of England in the following form: "I, the undersigned, believing that any charge for the means of grace, or for the ordinances of Christianity, and any respect of persons in God's house, because they pay or don't pay, is against God's command in holy scriptures and unjust to the poor, engage never to pay any pew rent so long as I continue a member of the ——."

—The Lake of Agnano, in the Neapolitan territory, so famous for savory fish, threatens to become a fishless sheet of water like the Dead Sea, not from an excess of salt, but through the agency of that mischief brewing botheration called Vesuvius. A subaqueous irruption from that dreaded mountain has engendered gases of such mephitic nature, at the bottom of the lake, that the poor things rush to the shore and die. The banks are swarming with the dead.

—A Paris letter, speaking of the cholera experience, says: "But the total of it al is, that the large majority of scientific men believe: First, that the disease is most frequently developed spontaneously, under the influence of some atmospheric condition not yet understood; second, that persons who would not otherwise take the disease may do so from breathing the air which surrounds cholera patients; and third, that the vitiation of this air is caused mostly by the ejections from the sick."

—It is reported from Bucharest that a Frenchman named Poltin had arrived in that city to exhibit two elephants, a male and female, the same which were shown in Paris a few years since. These animals have killed their master in a singular manner. The male seized him with his trunk and threw him into the air; the female caught him as he fell and threw him back again, and this game at ball was continued for a quarter of an hour. When assistance arrived it was too late; every bone in the poor fellow's body was broken.

—The influence of costumes on mortality is shown in a very instructive manner by by one of the English Register General's reports. Thus, from one to five years there is an equality of deaths by scalds and burns among boys and girls; but from five to ten, double the number of girls to that of boys die from these causes, while from ten to twenty, there die one hundred and two women and only twenty-seven men; and from twenty and upwards, seventy-one women and twenty-two men—showing the influence of muslin and flounces in producing death, notwithstanding the greater caution of the female sex.

—"They have a singular mode of punishing robbery in China," said a missionary who had just returned from the Celestial empire, to a number of friends who had called in to hear his account of things in the land of marvels. "Does it cure the offender of his unfortunate propensities?" eagerly inquired a philanthropist, whose interest in human beings was in exact ratio with their villainousness. "Well," replied the missionary, "I never saw the saw the punishment inflicted but once, and I will tell how it was done, and then you can judge for yourself as to its reclaiming and converting powers. They put the culprit in a large mortar, and then fired him head foremost against a stone wall."

—A most ludicrous conversation took place, a few weeks ago, in a small village near Paris. Two peasants were discussing about the war between Prussia and Austria, when one of them remarked that he not understand how messages could be sent by the electric telegraph. His companion, after having tried to make him comprehend the manner in which the telegraph works, at last, struck with a bright idea, exclaimed, "Imagine that the telegraph is an immense long dog—so long that its head is at Vienna and its tail at Paris. Well, tread on his tail, which is at Paris, and it will bark at Vienna. Do you understand now, stupid, what a telegraph is like?" "O, yes!" replied the other, "I have an idea now what a telegraph must be."

—The health of the French Emperor continues to be a matter of much solicitude. In addition to his regular physician and personal friend, Dr. Conneau, he has commanded the services of the three most eminent men in the profession in Paris—Drs. Rayner, Nelaton, and Ricord—a fact that would seem to indicate a case almost desperate. Perhaps it is more likely to insure one. Ricord is an American by birth, a native of Baltimore, but went to Paris when he was nineteen years old. He is now sixty, and wears in his button-hole the ribbon of the Legion of Honor. His income is $100,000 a year; nevertheless he is constantly in hot water and in debt. Although he could not save himself from prison, lately, he is expected to save the Emperor's life.

—Some Frenchman of a statistical turn of mind, who, evidently, has but little to do, publishes in a Havre paper some curious statistics of the average talk of men and women. He has discovered that an ordinary middle aged man spends three hours a day in conversation, calculating at the rate of 100 words per minute, or 29 octavo pages per hour, which would amount to 600 pages per week, or 52 big volumes per year. Having ascertained these facts as regards the masculine portion of the human race, the statistician applied his best energies to ascertain the amount of time spent on an average by the fair sex in general conversation. After the most patient investigation and abstruse calculation, this able arithmetician was compelled to give up the question, and confess that the magnitude of the figures produced even at the outset of the inquiry, baffled all human calculations.

Artemus Ward in London.

A "Trans-Mejim."

MR. PUNCH: My dear Sir—It is now some two weeks since a rather strange lookin' man engaged 'partments in the Greenlion. He stated he was from the celebrated United States, but beyond this he said nothin'. He seem'd to prefer sollytood! He remained mostly in his room, and whenever he did show hisself he walked in a moody and morose manner in the gardin, with his head bowed down and his arms foldid across his breast. He reminded me sumwhat of the celebrated but onhappy Mr. Haller, in the cheerful play of The Stranger. This man puzzled me. I'd been puzzled afore several times, but never so severally as now. Mine 'ost of the Greenlion said I must interrigate this strange bein' who claimed to be my countryman. "He hasn't called for a drop of beer since he's been in this ere 'ouse," said the landlord. "I look to you," he added, "to clear up this dark, this orful mistry!"

I wringed the lan'lord's honest hand, and told him to consider the mistry cleared up.

I gained axes to the misterus bein's room, and, by talkin' sweet to him for a few minits, I found out who he was. Then, returnin' to the lan'lord, who was nervisly passin' up and down the bar, I said:

"Sweet Rolando, don't tremble no more! I've torn the mask from the hawty stranger's face, dived into the recesses of his inmost sole! He's a trans mejim!"

I had been to the Beefanham theatre the previs evenin', and probly the drammar I saw affected me, because I'm not in the habit of goin' on as per above. I like the Beefanham theatre very much, indeed, because there a enthoosiastic lover of the theatre like myself can unite the legitimate drammer with fish. Thus, while your enraptered soul drinks in the lorfty and noble sentences of the gifted artists, you can eat a biled mack'ril jest as comfor'bly as in your own house. I felt constrained, however, to tell a fond mother who sot immegitly behind me, and who was accompanied by a gin bottle and a young infant—I felt constrained to tell that mother, when her infant playfully mingled a rayther oily mack'ril with the little hair which is left on my vener'ble hed, that I had a bottle of scented hair oil at home, which on the whole. I tho't I preferred to that which her orfspring was greasin' me with. This riled the excellent female, and she said, "Git out! You never was a infank yourself, I suppose! Oh, no! You was too good to be a infank, you was! You slid into the world already grow'd didn't you! Git out!" "No, madam," I replied, "I too was once a infant! I was a luvly child. Peple used to come in large and enthoosiastic crowds from all parts of the country to see me, I was such an intel'gent infant. The excitement was so intens, in fack, that a extra hotel was startid in the town to accommodate the peple who thronged to my cradle."

Havin finished these troothful statemints, I smilt sweetly on the worthy female. She said, "Drat you, what do you come a-chaffing me for?" and the estymible woman was really getting furis, when I mollyfied her by praisin her child, and axin pardin for all I had said. "This little gal," I observed, "this surprisingly luvly little gal——" when the mother said, "It's t'other sect is he, sir, it's a boy." Wall," I said, "then this little boy, whose eye is like a eagle a-soaring proudly in the azure sky, will some day be a man, if he don't choke hisself to death in childhood's sunny hours with a smelt or a bloater, or some other dredful calamity. How sublime the tho't, my dear madame, that infant as you fondle on your knee on this night may grow up into a free and independent citizen, whose vote will be worth from ten to fifteen pounds, accordin as suffrages may range at that joyus perid!"

Let us now return, jentle reader, to the landlord of the Greenlion, who we left in the bar in a state of anxiety and perspire. Rubbin' his hot face with a red hankercher, he said, "Is the strange bein' a American?"

"He is."

"A gen'ral?"

"No."

"A colonial?"

"No."

"A major?"

"Not a major."

"A capting."

"He is not."

"A leftenant?"

"Not even that."

"Then," said the landlord of the Greenlion, "you ar deceeved! He is no countryman of yours."

"Why not?" I said.

"I will tell you, sir," said the lan'lord, "my son-in-law is employed in a bankin' house where every American as comes to these shores goes to git his drafts casht, and he says that not one has arrived on these shores during the last 18 months as wasn't a gen'ral, a colonel, major, a captain, or a leftenant. This man, as I said afore, has deceived you! He's a impostner!"

I reeled into a chair. For a minit I was speechlis. At length I mumered, "Alars! I fear it is too troo! Even I was a capting of the home guards."

"To be sure," said the lan'lord; "you all do it over there."

"Wall" I said, whatever nation this person belongs to, we may as well go and hear him lectur this evenin. He is one of those spirit fellars—he is a trans-mejum, and when he slings hisself into a trans state, he says the sperrits of departed great men talk through him. He says that to night sev'ril em'nent persons will speak through him—among others, Cromwell."

"And this Mr. Cromwell—is he dead?" said the lan'lord.

I told him that Oliver was no more.

"It's a 'umbug," said the lan'lord; to which I replied we'd best go and see, and we went. We was late, on accounts of the lan'lord's extensly acquaintans with the public house keepers along the road, and the hall was some two miles distant, but we got there at last. The hall was about half full, and the mejim was just then assumin' to be Benjamin Franklin who was speakin' about the Atlantic cable.

He said the cable was really a merrytorious affair, and that messiges could be sent to America, and there was no doubt about his gettin' there in the course of a week or two, which, he said, was a beautiful idear, and much quicker than by steamer or canal boat. It struck me that if this was Franklin, a spiritooal life hadn't improved the old gentleman's intellecks partic'ly.

The audiens was mostly composed of rayther pale peple, whose eyes I tho't rolled round in a somewhat wild manner. But they was well behaved, and the females kept saying, "How beautiful! What a sublime thing it is," et cetry, et cetry. Among the females was one who was a fair and rosy young woman. She set on the same seat we did, and the lan'lord of the Greenlion, whose frekent intervoos with other lan'lords that evening had been too much for him, fastened his left eye on this fair and rosy young person, and, smilin, lovinly upon her, said, "You may give me, my dear, fourpenny-worth of gin—cold gin. I take it cold, because——"

There was cries of "Silence? silence! Put him out! the scoffer!"

"Ain't we at the Spotted Boar?" the lan'lord whispered.

"No," I answered, "It's another kind of bore. Lis'en, Cromwell is goin' to speak through our inspired fren' now."

"Is he?" said the lan'lord—"is he? Wall, I've suthin' to say, also. Was this Cromwell a licenced vittler?"

"Not that I heard," I answered.

"I'm very sorry for that," said the lan'lord with a sigh; "but you think he was a man who would wish to see licensed vittlers respected in their rights?"

"No doubt."

"Wall," said the lan'lord, "jest you keep a eye on me." Then, risin' to his feet, he said, in a somewhat husky, yet tol'bly distink voice, "Mr. Crunbwell!"

"Cromwell!" I cried.

"Yes, Mr. Cromwell; that's the man I mean. Mr. Cromble! won't you please advise that gen'l'man who you're talkin' through; won't you advise 'im during your elekent speech to settle his bill at my 'ouse to-night, Mr. Crumble," said the lan'lord, glarin' savigely round on the peple, "because if he don't there'll be a punched 'ed to be seen at the Greenlion, where I don't want no more of this everlastin' nonsens'. I'll talk through 'm! Here's a sperrit," said the lan'lord, a smile once more beamin' on his face, "which will talk through him like a Dutch father! I'm the sperrit for you, young feller!" "You're a healthy old sperrit," I remarkt; and then I saw the necessity of gettin' him out of the hall. The wimin was yellin' and screamin', and the men was hollerin' perlice. A perliceman really came and collerd my fat fren. "It's only a fit, Sir Richard," I said. I always call the perlice Sir Richard. It pleases them to think I'm the victim of a deloosion, and they always treat me perlitely. This one did, certinly, for he let us go. We saw no more of the transmejim.

It's diffikilt, of course, to say how long these noosances will be allowed to prowl round. I should say, however, if pressed for a anser, that they will prob'ly continuer on jest about as long as they can find peple to lis'en to 'em. Am I right?

Yours, faithful, ARTEMUS WARD.

DR. SWAIN'S VEGETABLE HAIR BALM invariably restores grey hair to its original color, without staining the skin or clothing. It leaves the most dry, dead and crisp hair, soft, moist and glossy, causes it to curl, and keeps it in its place, while it promotes its growth and prevents its falling off.

It contains neither oil or alcohol.

Numerous preparations of oil, alcohol and sulphur have been palmed upon the public, and having totally failed to give satisfaction, the manufacturers have deservedly come to grief.

Dr. Swain warrants his Vegetable Balm to accomplish all that he claims for it, and authorizes his agent to refund the money wherever it fails to give satisfaction.

It is an entirely new and scientific preparation, produced by the distilation of rare and fragrant flowers, which renders it not only the best renewer in the world, but makes it particularly agreeable as a hair dressing to both old and young, while its liquid purity and floral odor are in striking contrast with the nasty mixtures usually sold.

The proprietor has letters from many of the most distinguished as well as fashionable people, judges, clergymen, lawyers, physicians, opera singers, actresses, &c, certifying to the remarkable virtues of the Balm.

Don't let any dealer urge upon you a different article, but if your tradesman does not keep this, send one dollar for a trial bottle to the nearest agent, or the proprietor.

If for grey hair, send for No. 1.
If for hair dressing, send for No. 2.

C. H. Swain, proprietor, No. 34 South Water street, Chicago.

For sale by all the wholesale druggists in Chicago.

Invigorate the Responsible Organ.

The stomach is the responsible organ of the system. If the digestion is imperfect, every member, every gland, every muscle, every nuscle and fibre is more or less out of order. All the fluids are depraved The brain is clouded. The spirits are depressed. All dyspeptics know this to be the truth. It is not, however, half the truth. Columns would be required to enumerate the pains and penalties of dyspepsia, nor could any pen do them justice. Tens of thousands feel them; no man can describe them.

Can they be prevented? Can they be relieved? Can they be banished at once and forever? UNQUESTIONABLY THEY CAN. No dyspeptic has ever taken HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS in vain. Believe no one who says the complaint is incurable. This great vegetable stomachic will eradicate it—is eradicating it in thousands of cases over which medical practitioners have shaken their heads ominously, saying, "Nothing can be done."

The faculty has its fallacies. One of them is that Indigestion is the most difficult of all the ordinary ailments of mankind to combat and subdue. This is a mistake. Nothing can be easier than to conquer it if the true specific be administered. The vegetable combination which has become famous throughout the civilized world as HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS as an antidote to the disease which has never been known to fail, and fortunately it is everywhere procurable. If you want to root it out and prevent its recurrence, take the Bitters daily. There is no discount on the testimony in its favor. If there is a man or woman who has ever tried it for Indigestion without be ng benefitted the fact has not transpired. Universal, uncontradicted praise avouches its wonderful tonic virtues.

ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS.—A druggist said the other day, you have no need to advertise your Porous Plasters, for every one sold certainly causes a dozen to be sold, and a dozen sells a gross, and so on. You will not be able to supply the demand soon. But we can supply a thousand yards a day.

AFFECTION OF THE SPINE CURED.

HARTFORD, Conn, Nov. 11th, 1861.

Messrs. THOS ALLCOCK & Co.—Please send, with dispatch, twelve dozen Allcock's Porous Plasters. Our daily experience confirms their very superior excellence. At this moment of writing, a man applies for one, who, by entanglement in the shaft of machinery, had both his legs broken, spine severely injured, and was for nearly a year entirely helpless. This man found relief very soon by application of a plaster to his spine. He was soon enabled to work, and now he labors as well as ever. He would cheerfully pay $5 for a single plaster if they could not be had at a lower rate. I am surprised that surgeons do not make use of these perforated plasters, to the exclusion of all others, as their flexibility and adhesiveness are greatly in advance of all other plasters with which I am acquainted; while the perforations peculiar to them rendered them greatly superior to all others for ordinary surgical uses. Knowing the plasters to be so useful, I have no scruples that my sentiments should be known.

J. W. JOHNSON, M. D.

Principal Agency, Brandreth House, New York.
Sold by all Dealers in Medicine.

A Household Necessity Exists for the use of Burne's Celebrated Catarrh Snuff.

The best known remedy for "a Cold in the Head." Headache, Snuffles, Sore Eyes, Deafness, and the worst forms of that loathsome disease, CATARRH.

It cleanses the entire head. Its effects are pleasant and wonderful, contains no tobacco, nor injurious ingredient. It has the highest professional testimonials Sold by all Druggists for 25 cents per Box. Can be sent by mail on receipt of 30 cents for one Box, or $1 for four Boxes. Address JAS. DURNO, Postoffice Box 1235, New York City. Wholesale by D. BARNES & CO., 21 Park Row New York.

MARCHING ON!

Constantly advancing in public favor throughout the United States, the British Colonies, and Spanish America, and needing

No Flourish of Trumpets

to proclaim the success, that standard article,

CRISTADORO'S HAIR DYE,

is now far ahead of any preparation of its class. People of Fashion at length thoroughly understand the terrible consequences entailed by the use of metallic and caustic preparations, and admit the superiority of this celebrated Dye. Manufactured by J. CRISTADORO, No. 6 Astor House, New York. Sold by all Druggists. Applied by all Hair Dressers.

DR. TOBIAS'
VENETIAN LINIMENT.

An instantaneous remedy for chronic rheumatism, headache, toothache, croup, colic, quinsy, sore throat, and pains in any part of the body. Remember, this article is a success—not an experiment; for 19 years it has been tested. No medicine has ever had such a reputation as this: silently it has worked its way before the public, and all are loud in its praise. "Chronic Rheumatism." Thousands who laid for weeks on a bed of agony, and never walked for months without the aid of crutches, with this complaint, can testify to the magical effects of this liniment. They are cured and proclaim its virtues throughout the land. Remember, relief is certain, and a positive cure is sure to follow. Headache or all kinds we warrant to cure. Putrid sore throat, quinsy, and diptheria are robbed of their terrors by a timely use of the Venetian Liniment. It has saved hundreds the past three months. Price, 40 and 80 cents a bottle. Office, 56 Cortlandt street, New York. Sold by all druggists.

GO TO THE BEST.

BRYANT & STRATTON'S CHICAGO BUSINESS UNIVERSITY is the largest and most thorough Institution of the kind in the country, and young men going to Chicago should consult their own best interests by attending this College, where every department of a Business Education is thoroughly taught—Bryant, Stratton & Co's. Scholarships are good during life in forty-eight different Colleges—Address for College Paper, Circular, College Currency and Specimens of Penmanship. BRYANT & STRATTON.
Chicago, Ill.

WE CALL the attention of the reader to the advertisement of the Northwestern Business College, located at Aurora, Illinois. Mr. Reifsnider, the Principal, is a practical man, having kept books and been engaged in general business for eight years in the city of Chicago, and for several years more in other places. His references are from among the best business men and houses in the northwest. We can assure those desiring a sound business education that the Northwestern is a first class business college, and that no pains will be spared to keep it equal to any school in the United States. Send for a circular and decide for yourselves.

BISHOP & BARNES,
No. 115 Lake Street, Chicago,
[SIGN OF THE BLACK BEAR.]
Hat and Fur Factory.

WE are extensively engaged in the manufacturing of ladies' and children's

Fine Fur Garments

of every style, such as Capes, Half Capes, Victorines, Collars, Eugenies, Muffs, Cuffs, &c. Also, Gents' Fur Collars, Gloves, Caps, &c.

Sleigh Robes

of every description, all of which we sell wholesale and retail at manufacturers' prices. We pay strict attention to all orders from the country for dressing the skins, and making up any articles desired. Old Furs made over and repaired. We pay the highest market price for all furs and Skins sent to us.

Bishop & Barnes, 115 Lake St., Chicago.

CLARK SEMINARY

Offers both sexes good advantages in solid and ornamental branches. It has superior buildings, fourteen teachers, and is "one of the most successful schools in the West."

Aurora Commercial College

Is connected with the Seminary, and has all means and methods of illustration and instruction necessary to a complete business education. It has offices, store, bank, &c. After getting the Theory of Accounts, students are put into Actual Practice. Expenses are much less than in large cities; discipline and instruction more thorongh.

Discounts made to Disabled Soldiers and Clergymen's Children.

TELEGRAPHING

Is taught by both paper and sound instruments.

For Circulars, address (enclosing stamp,)

G. W. QUEREAU, A. M.,
AURORA, ILLINOIS

WEED

AMONG THE ADVANTAGES CLAIMED for the WEED SEWING MACHINE, please note the following:

It can make but one Stitch, and that the Lock—this it never fails to do.

The Needle is straight—therefore sure and powerful.

The Blade of the Needle is SHORTER than that of any other Shuttle Machine in use.

Its speed is superior to most—thus producing more effect with the same effort.

It is not Noisseless, but few are more so.

They not only run quietly but easily.

The Tension is the most simple and effective of any.

The feed is perfect. Admirably arranged for examination, cleaning, oiling, &c.

With its shuttle and straight SHORT needle—simple yet perfect feed and tension—speed and easy motion, it produces the best stitch, with the least trouble, in the shortest time, without destroying the life and elasticity of the thread or silk.

Special attention is called to the fact that the arrangements of the Weed Sewing Machine are such that a firm and elastic seam can be made with light tension, and retain the pliability of the silk or thread equally with hand sewing.

Prices correspond with those of other first-class Machines. Every Machine is Warranted to give perfect satisfaction.

Agents wanted. Extra inducements offered.
Northwestern Office, 102 Washington St., Chicago.

Weed Sewing Machine Co.
PAYSON R. MAYHEW, Agent.

Circular Saws,
WITH EMERSON'S

Patent Movable Teeth,

REQUIRE LESS POWER,

less skill, less files—saw smoother and better—cut less kerf. The saw always retains its original size. Send for descriptive pamphlet, containing information of value to all interested in lumber, and sawing of any description.

Address, AMERICAN SAW COMPANY,
No. 2 Jacob-st., near Ferry-st., N. Y.

The "Little Corporal,"

Is acknowledged by the leading papers to be the Best Children's Paper in America!

Published Monthly, at One Dollar a year, (ten cents for sample copy.) by

ALFRED L. SEWELL,
Circulars sent free! CHICAGO, ILL.

Metropolitan Hotel!
COR. RANDOLPH & WELLS STS.,
CHICAGO, ILL.

BALDWIN & MERRITT, - - PROPRIETORS.

This Hotel has recently been enlarged by the addition of the May Hotel, and now contains Two Hundred and Fifty Rooms, well furnished and lighted with gas.

Wilcox & Gibbs Sewing Machine.

"Its seam is stronger and less liable to rip in use or wear than the Lock-Stitch." ["Judges Report," at the "Grand Trial."]

Send for the "Report," and samples of Work, containing both kinds of stitches, on the same piece of goods. Agents wanted.

L. CORNELL & CO., General Agents,
138 Lake Street Chicago Ill

LET COUNTRY PEOPLE SUSTAIN COUNTRY SCHOOLS!

For a Business Education, go to a Business College.

THE NORTHWESTERN
BUSINESS COLLEGE LOCATED AT
Aurora, - - Illinois,

Has no connection with any Literary School, and offers the following advantages:

A Student saves from $50 to $75 in Board and Books.

He avoids the amusements and vices of a large city thereby saving $50 to $75 more, and preserving the purity of his moral character.

He obtains much better accommodation much nearer the School. Having pure air to breathe, clean water to drink, and an absence from excitement, he saves his health for his studies.

Students can enter at any time; and get as good instruction, and much more attention, both in and out of College.

The proprietors are interested in their Students after they obtain their money, as well as before, and look closely to their progress and standing through the entire course.

REFERENCES:

AURORA.
Hon. E. R. Allen.
Charles Hoyt, Esq.
D. Volentine, Esq.
Wm. D. Hawkins, Esq.
D W. Hurd, Esq.
Messrs. L. D. Brady & Perry.

CHICAGO.
O. T. Conner, Esq.
A. E. Small, M. D.

CHICAGO.
C. B. Sawyer, Esq.
McKindley, Ingraham & Co.
Hall, Kimbark & Co.
Benj. Lombard, Esq., Pres. 4th National Bank.
Keith Brothers.
Merrill Ladd, Esq., President N. W. Mutual Life Insurance Co.

The Northwestern Business College located at Aurora, Ill., has no connection with Clark Seminary or any other literary school.

Send for a Circular and decide for yourselves where it is best to attend a Business College.

Address with stamp,

V. RIEFSNIDER,
Aurora, Ill.

FALL TRADE.

Immense Stock! Cash House!

N. F. MERRILL,
71 and 73 Randolph Street, Chicago,

WHOLESALE DEALER IN

Kerosene Lamps.
Kerosene Lanterns.
Kerosene Chandeliers.
Kerosene Chimneys.
Kerosene Burners.
Kerosene Wicks.
Kerosene Cooking

OLD RELIABLE!

CLOTHIERS

AND

Tailors!

D. W. C. HARDY & CO.

Adrian, - Michigan.

The place to secure unheard of bargains;

MAMMOTH STOCK

Always to select from and Eastern prices will be found here.

ONE PRICED SYSTEM AND

GOOD GOODS.

Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Be sure and find the OLD RELIABLE CLOTHING HOUSE, and for

Custom Work and Cloths

You cannot do better west of New York.

D. W. C. HARDY & Co.

Lathrops Block, Adrian, Mich.

EUREKA.

NOT CALIFORNIA WITH ALL ITS GOLD, BUT THE PLACE TO BUY

Boots & Shoes at

Prices that suit the times, at

MC'NICHOL & WILSON'S

EMPIRE

Boot & Shoe Store.

We shall keep constantly on hand a full assortment of the BEST

Eastern Work to be Found

Consisting of

LADIES' CALF, GOAT AND KID GAITERS, BALMORALS, SLIPS,

And an endless variety of EVERYTAING usually found in a First Class Boot & Shoe Store. Our manufacturing department will be ably conducted and all work done by us warranted to give satisfaction. Those in want of Boots or Shoes will save money by calling, and will be sure to buy, for they can't fail to "see it."

☞ Remember the place—one door east of Curtis Drug Store,

Yes, 'Tis So!--Fact.

The subscriber would respectfully inform the citizens of Tecumseh and vicinity, that they have purchased the

On Railroad st. opposite Slayton, Tindall & Co's. Warehouse, where they will keep constantly on hand a good supply of everythings people may want, such as

BEEF, PORK, MUTTON

Lamb, Veal, Corned Beef, Salt Fish of all kinds, Smoked Hams &c. &c. We intend to keep the best market ever kept in this village, and sell as reasonable as the times will allow. Call and see me,

A. S. Mathews.

Tecumseh, July, 1866.

DR. VELPAU'S FRENCH PILLS.

Ladies, take Particular Notice.

THE REAL VELPAU FEMALE PILL.

[WARRANTED FRENCH.]

THESE PILLS, so celebrated many years ago in Paris for the relief of female irregularities, and afterward so notorious for their criminal employment in the practice of abortion, are now offered for sale for the first time in America. They have been kept in comparative obscurity from the fact that the originator, Dr. Velpau, is a physician in Paris of great wealth and strict conscientious principles, and has withheld them from general use, lest they should be employed for unlawful purposes. In overcoming Female Obstructions, Falling of the Womb, Whites, Green Sickness, Suppression, Retention, or Immoderate Flow of the Monthly Discharges, they seem to be truly omnipotent, bursting open the flood-gates from whatever cause may have stopped them; but they are offered to the public only for legitimate uses, and all agents are forbidden to sell them when it is understood that the object is unlawful. Married ladies should never take them when there is any reason to believe themselves pregnant, for they will be sure to produce a miscarriage.

These pills are entirely safe under all circumstances, being composed entirely of substances from the vegetable kingdom.

Each box has the coat of arms for the City of Paris stamped on the box, with the words "Trade Mark" in French, to counterfeit which is a misdemeanor, and all persons will be dealt with according to law.

☞ Full directions accompany every box.

Ladies can obtain a box sealed from the eyes of the curious, by inclosing One Dollar and six post-office stamps to any respectable druggists, or to O. G. STAPLES, General Agent for the United States, Watertown, N. Y.

Agents,

Staiger & Fausel

PRACTICAL

Watch-Makers, Jewelers,

And Repairers of Clocks &c. &c.

J. D. Robbins' Jewelry Store, Tecumseh, Mich. Give them a call.

Farmers! Farmers!

THE

RAISIN MILLS,

is the place to get good grinding done. I pay particular attention to this branch of business,

CUSTOM GRINDING,

keep the Mill constantly in good repair and the 2nd Adam is always on hand with a pleasant smile to tend to the wants

OF MY NUMEROUS CUSTOMERS!

BRING GOOD CLEAN WHEAT, and I will warrant that Adam will give you satisfaction. SOUND

Wheat taken in store for Bread

Good White and Red Wheat Flour for sale. The highest market price paid

In Greenbacks

for good White and Amber Wheat

Mill Feed of all kinds for Sale.

SAWING DONE

for Customers on short notice. Bills of hard wood lumber sawed, and delivered if wished.

LUMBER FOR SALE

Cash paid for Saw Logs. Good hard wood slabs for sale by the load. &c. &c

I sincerely thank my numerous customers for their very liberal patronage, and shall endeavor to do as good work, and even better if possible in the future.

Woolston Comfort.

---

18 Pronunciemento. 66

GLOBE MILLS

This well known and popular Mill is

Now in Good Running Order,

and prepared to do Grinding Grists for the farmers in a satisfactory manner, will endeavor to make a good yield and have the flour suit.

Old Customers

I shall be pleased to retain, and would invite others to try and see

How well we can do For them.

PREFER EXCHANGING THEIR GRAIN,

to having it ground, I shall be ready to accommodate, having always on hand a

SUPPLY OF FLOUR,

There can usually be found at the Mill for Sale

Best White Wheat Flour,
Best Red Wheat Flour,
2nd best Red Wheat Flour,
At Wholesale or Retail.
Corn Meal, Bolted and Coarse,
Fine Middlings, B. W. Flour,
Ship Stuffs, B. W. Bran,
Mixed feed for horses and cattle,
Corn and Oats ground for horse feed.

This Mill can more often grind, because of its unfailing

SUPPLY OF WATER,

and does more certainly have a supply of Flour and Feed always on hand, than any other mill for miles around.

Farmers are invited to bring their wheat to the Globe Mill and get THE HIGHEST MARKET PRICE.

They will always also usually find a market at the Mill for their other grains.

Wm. HAYDEN.

A. HOOD & CO.,

Are receiving a large stock of

CLOTHS, CLOTHING, HATS AND CAPS.

And all kinds of Furnishing Goods pertain- to Gentlemen's wear.

A splendid assortment of

Cassimeres and Vestings

At A. HOOD & CO.

CHINCHILLA BEAVERS,

and all other varieties of Over Coatings

At A. HOOD & CO.

A good assortment of

Broadcloths

for Gentlemen's SUITS, or Ladies' CLOAKS

At A. HOOD & CO.

A large stock of HATS & CAPS of all styles FUR, FELT, CASSIMERE & SILK

At A. HOOD & CO.

A great variety of WOOLEN SHIRTS

At A. HOOD & CO.

Lots of YPSILANTI CLOTHS at the lowest figures, at A. HOOD & CO.

UNDER SHIRTS & DRAWERS

The largest stock ever brought to this town for sale at A. HOOD & CO.

ALL KINDS OF GLOVES

At A. HOOD & CO.

A nice stock of NECK TIES, new styles

At A. HOOD & CO.

TRUNKS, TRAVELING BAGS of all kinds, at A. HOOD & CO.

If you want a Coat, Pants or Vest TRIMMED

Go to A. HOOD & CO

Lots of Ready Made Clothing

At A. HOOD & CO.

A choice lot of

ENGLISH MELTONS

for Ladies' Cloaking for sale at cost,

At A. HOOD & CO.

We still continue the Tailoring Business in all its branches, and are prepared to get up Garments on short notice, on as liberal terms as any other establishment. Cutting done on short notice.

We cordially invite our old customers to examine our Stock before purchasing.

A. HOOD & CO.

ONE OF THE LARGEST

ESTABLISHMENT

In Southern michigan.

One of the best filled Establishments!

A LARGE STOCK,

Most Varied

Stock of Furniture

Is to be found at

G. & H. Smiths'

ROOMS IN THE

NEW BUILDING,

South Side Chicago St, Tecumseh,

Great Bargains

Are now offered to wholesale or retail buyers.

Among our assortment of Furniture may be found,

Various Styles and Prices

OF SOFAS,

TETE-A-TETES,

MAHOGANY, EASY, WOOD SEAT, CANE SEAT

AND ROCKING CHAIRS

FRENCH, COTTAGE, COMMON AND TRUNDLE,

BEDSTEADS,

MARBLE TOP, WRITING, CARD AND

TEA TABLES,

Nots, Cradles, Bureaus, Cribs, Desks, Show Cases, Stands, Book Cases, Cupboards, Washstands, Lounges, &c. &c. &c.

Furniture made to order on short n c by the best of Workmen.

LOOKING GLASSES,

COFFINS,

We keep constantly on hand a large and all assortment of Coffins and will make to order all kinds either Night or Day, and finished and trimmed in the best style,

A Hearse Furnished when Desired.

G. SMITH,
H. SMITH.

Tecumseh, June 11th, 1863.

Great Chance for Bargains.

CHAS. H. ADAM & CO.

BEBNG ABOT TO RETIRE FROM THE DRY GOODS IN TECUMSEH OFFER FOR SALE AT

GREATLY REDUCED RATES

THEIR ENTIRE STOCK OF DRY GOODS,

Consisting of Staple and Fancy goods, Yankee Notions

And everything usually kept in a Dry Goods Store.

This will afford the best opportunity

EVER OFFERED IN TECUMSEH TO OBTAIN BARGAINS IN DRY GOODS, FOR CASH.

GOODS SOLD AY THE PIECE

OR QUANTITY AT WHOLESALE PRICES.

All outstanding account must be settled within thirty da y to save interest and cost.

C. H. ADAM & CO.

TECUMSEH, SEPT. 27th 1866.

NEW GOODS,

PRICES DOWN!

H. C. CONKLING

Would call the attention of the public to his new stock of

CHOICE GROCERIES

Just purchased in New York at the

RECENT DECLINE,

which he offers for sale

CHEAP.

All Goods warranted to give satisfaction. Cash paid for Produce, as usual,

5000 Firkins

Of Butter Wanted!!

Butter firkins to put out to be filled:— ☞ Call and see those choice Teas: Don't forget, the old stand of Ketcham & Conkling.

H. C. CONKLING.

Tecumseh, May 7th, 1866.

DENTISTRY.

DR. A. PELHAM,

Resident Dentists.

Office over Fisher & Baker's Drug Store, Chicago St.

TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN.

☞ All branches of Dentistry performed in the neatest possible manner and at Reasonable Prices

---

We would respectfully inform the citizens of Tecumseh and vicinity that we opened a

MEAT MARKET,

at McGee's old stand in Bidwell's warehouse where we shall keep on hand everything in our line that the market affords, of the best quality that can be had.

We have also made arrangements for the manufacture of SOFT SOAP, which will be sold at reasonable rates. Ashes and grease taken in exchange and Soap delivered when requested.

Thankful for past favors, we cordially invite our friends to give us a call. All orders left at the Market will be promptly attended to. W. TAYLOR & CO.

$1,500 PER YEAR. We want agents everywhere to sell our IMPROVED $20 Sewing Machines. Three new kinds. Under and upper feed. Sent on trial. Warranted five years. Above salary or large commissions paid. The only machines sold in the United States for less than $40, which are fully licensed by Howe, Wheeler & Wilson, Grover & Baker, Singer & Co, and Bachelder. All other cheap machines are infringements and the seller or user are liable to arrest, fine and imprisonment. Illustrated circulars sent free. Address, or call upon Shaw & Clark, at Biddeford, Maine, or Chicago, Ill.

ROYAL HAVANA LOTTERY OF CUBA

Conducted by the Spanish Government,

$350,000

IN GOLD DRAWN EVERY 17 DAYS

Prizes cashed and information furnished, the highest rates paid for Doubloons and all kinds of Gold and Silver, also for all government Securities.

TAYLOR & CO., Bankers, 16 wall st. N. Y.

n790lysmp

Ditchers take Notice.

The Drain Commissioners of Lenawee County will meet on the east side of section 12 on the lands of Levi Fowler, in the township of Adrian, on Saturday the 1st day of September next, at 9 o'clock A. M., for the purpose of letting jobs on a drain commencing on section 12 and extending to section 24 of Adrian Township. Said jobs will be let to the lowest bidder in sections to suit contractors.

By order of the Drainage Commissioners.

JUSTUS LOWE, Secretary.

Ridgeway, Aug. 7th, 1866.

THE CONFESSIONS AND EXPERIENCE OF AN INVALID.

Publiseed for the benefit and as a CAUTION TO YOUNG MEN and others, who suffer from Nervous Debility, Premature Decay of Manhood, &c., supplying at the same time the means of Self-Cure. By one who has cured himself after undergoing considerable quackery. By enclosing a post-paid addressed envelope, single copies, free of charge, mhy be had of the author.

NATHANIEL MAYFAIR, Esq., Brooklyn,

n790lysmp Kings Co, N. Y.

$2000 A YEAR made by any one with $15—Stencil Tools. No experience necessary. The Presidents, Cashiers, and Treasurers of 8 Banks indorse the circular. Sent free with samples. Address the American Stencil Tool Works, Springfield, Vermont. n818m3

$90 A MONTH!—Agents wanted for six entirely new articles. Just out. Address O. T. GAREY, City Building, Biddeford, Me.

THAT'S RIGHT,

We Have It!!

VARIETY.

We would respectfully announce to the good people of Tecumseh and vicinity that

HIALEY & WALTERS

Have now on hand a large and well selected stock of

FAMILY GROCERIE

Which they are offering very low. They have in connection with their Grocery a

BAKERY,

and having secured the services of a first class Baker, are now prepared to furnish all, with Bread, Crackers, Pies, Cakes &c. They have furnished rooms over their store for the sale of

ICE-CREAM, LEMONAD &c

and by strict attention to busines they hope to please all who patronize

---

L. DREW'S

NEW HARDWARE!!

Having received from New York and other eastern cities a large Stock of the following goods viz:

STOVES IN ENDLESS VARITY!

Iron, Steel Nails, Cutlery, Putty, Glass. Window Sashes,

House Trimmings,

Carpenter's Tools, Farming Tools Coopers Tools and Chain Pumps, Bolts, and a

Variety of SHELF GOODS,

PURCHASED FOR CASH Before THE LATE ADVANCE,

They are offered for sale at prices which defy competition. All kinds of

Tin ware

constantly on hand and made to order of the best material and by experienced workmen, also

Copper, Sheet Iron. and Zinc,

Also the

Good Samaritan COOKING STOVE, one of the best stoves in the country.

M. WRIGHT

Keeps constantly on kand, a large and choice assortment of

Drugs and Medicines,

PAINTS, OILS, VARNISHES,

FANCY GLASS WARE,

KEROSENE OIL GROCERY,

WALL PAPER,

PERFUMERY &c.

Also, agent for all the popular

PATENT MEDICINES,

ALCOHOL, Pure WINES, LIQUORS AND SPICES,

Also, a good selection of

FRESH GROCERIES,

Physicians' Prescriptions carefully compounded and all orders answered.

Medicines warranted genuine and of the best quality and sold at the lowest cash prices.

The Southern Michigan

MANUFACTORY!

IN FULL BLAST!

T. Cummins, Proprietor,

Would announce to the citizens of Lenawee Co, that he is still located in the Brick Shop on Railroad Street, Where he is now turning out the

Nicest, Best and Strongest,

WAGONS, CARRIAGES, SLEIGHS, BUGGIES, CUTTERS,

and in fact everything in his line from a baby cart to a large Omnibus. His prices are such as defy competition. So call and leave your orders.

☞ Job Printing in all its various branches neatly and promptly executed at this office.—Our charges are moderate.—Try us.

GO TO THE

LONG ESTABLISHED

Head Quarters, for

Groceries & Provisions,

A. JAMES

Is happy to inform his patrons and the public in general that he has heavily replenished his stock of Goods, to which he invites the attention of those in search of

Good Articles

AT FAIR PRICES.

His stock embraces about every article known in his line of trade—

SWEETS, SOURS & SPICES, SNUFF, SOAP & CIGARS,

Confectionery Candles,

FRUIT AND FISH

Stone and Wooden Ware,

&c.

He continues to pay the highest market price for all kinds of Farmers Produce.

His stock embraces all kinds, uncer the ollowing heads:

MOLASSES,
SOAP, FISH,
SUGAR, SYRUP,
COFFEE, SPICES,
AMMUNITION, CANDIES,
CANDLES, TOBACCO,
FRUITS, SAUCES,
BURNING OILS.

OUR MOTTO IS,

Never to be Undersold.

Sorghum Men Attention!

LOOK AT THE CANE MACHINERY.

At Slayton, Tindall & Co's Warehouse.

New Styles of Mills, Evaporators and Horse Powers, never before introduced in Michigan. Patented by Powers & Stevens, of Wisconsin, and successfully and extensively used in the Western States.

Vertical and Horizontal MILLS,

of all sizes, of great strength and capacity, with patent adjustable rubber springs.

OVAPORATORS

divided into sections with instantly movable partitions over fire chamber, which is also divided into sections, and heat regulated by Patent Dampers, at will. Also Saccharometers and tools for full setts of Camp Implements for the manufacture of syrup & sugar

KIRBY Mower & Reaper,
BUCK EYE Mower & Reaper,
CAYUGA CHIEF, Mower & Reaper,
" " No. 2 "
EUREKA Mower & Reaper,
EXCELSIOR Mower & Reaper,
NEW YORKER Mower & Reaper,
BALL Mower & Reaper,
HUBBARD Mower, QUAKER Mower,

Any other style Mower or Reaper you want can be had of SLAYTON, TINDALL & CO.

The Buckeye, Riding, Corn and Fallow Cultivator. The Stafford, Riding, Corn and Fallow Cultivator. 1. 2, and 3 shovel, one horse Corn Cultivators. Corn Plows. L. Green's Patent Peekskill Plows. Curtis' Plows, the genuine, from Mr. Curtis' own shop, For Sale by

SLAYTON, TINDALL & Co

CURTIS & PARSONS

(DEALERS IN)

Having become proprietors of the well known establishment in Bidwell's Block on Chicago Street, would respectfully announce to the citizens of Tecumseh and vicinity, that they are prepared to supply them with everything in the line of Hardware, Tin ware, Iron, Nails, Chains, Cutlery, Bells, Seelf goods Glass, Cradles, Scythes, Forks, Rakes, Carpenter's tools, Doors, Axes, Hoes Cistren Pumps, Putty, Spades and Shovels, Chains, Ropes and every article usually kept in like establishments.

Especial attention is called to the large assortment of Cook and Parlor Stoves & Fixtures, of which they have a large variety, embracing all the latest improvements, We have also a Tin-Shop in opperation, for manufacturing & repairing all kinds of Tin, Copper and Sheet Iron Ware Stove-pipe, Eave Troughs, Milk-Pans, Dippers, Cups, Oil-Cans, and every conceivable article, from a Large Dish Pan down to a Tin whistle. We are sole agents for the Universal Clothes Wringer, for this vicinity.

GEO. CURTIS. WM. A. PARSONS.

The Pride of the West

THE TECUMSEH

RED MILLS

J. MILLER & SONS

Have rented the above Mills; thoroughly repaired the same, and are now manufacturing a No. 1 article of

FAMILY FLOUR,

We are also prepared to furnish

CORN MEAL SHIP STUFFS AND

Mill Feed, at all times.

CUSTOM WORK

Done with neatness and Dispatch and

WARRANTED TO GIVE SATISFACTION.

The Highest Market Price in

Cash, for Wheat!

Give us a trial, and we will warract that you will not go away dissatisfied.

JOHN MILLER & SONS.

Probate Notice.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, s.—At a session of the Probate Court, for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate Office, in the City of Adrian on Tuesday the 4th day of September in the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty six.

Present, Robert R. Beecher, Judge of Probate. In the matter of the estate of Jessee Jackson, deceased. On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of Bridget McC. Jackson widow of said deceased praying that the last will of said deceased may be admitted to probate and that she may be appointed Executrix thereof

Thereupon it is ordered that Monday, the eighth day of October next, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate Office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said Petioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate, of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Tecumseh Herald, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

ROBERT R. BEECHER,
Judge of Probate.

(A true copy) C. C. COATS, Register.

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the condition of a certain Mortgage made by Thomas Horan and Sarah Horan his wife mortgagors, to Ambrose S. Berry mortgagee, bearing date the fifteenth day June in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and fifty-nine and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the county of Lenawee and State of Michigan, on the 15th day of June 1859 in Liber 28, of mortgages on pages 769 and 770 on which said mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice, fifty-nine dollars and eighty-nine cents and no suit or proceedings at law having been instituted to recover the same or any part thereof. Notice is therefore given that on the 17th day of November 1866, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the front door of the old Methodist Church in the city of Adrian in said county of Lenawee, that being the place for holding the Circuit Court for the county of Lenawee, I shall sell at public auction or vendue to the highest bidder the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof, as may be necessary to satisfy the amount due on said mortgage at the date of this notice with interest and the costs and expenses allowed by law together with the attorney fee as provided in said mortgage, that is to say—all that tract or parcel of land situate in the city of Adrian, in the county of Lenawee and State of Michigan, described as follows: Village (now city) lots one (1) and two (2) on Block number thirteen (13) for a more particular discription reference being had to the Plat of the village (now city) of Adrian as recorded in the Registers office of Lenawee County aforesaid.

AMBROSE S. BERRY, Mortgagee.

WM. L. GREENLY, Attorney for Mortgagee.

Dated Aug. 14th, 1866.

Hear Ye! Hear Ye!!

Do you want the best Card pictures in this section.

Do you want those gems of art, Opatotypes or Porcelains? Do you want work warranted? Do you want to suit yourselves? Do you want the best that Art affords? Then go to Powers rooms over the P. O. Tecumseh, Michigan, and you can find FIRST CLASS WORK, of every description. He is bound not to be out-done in any branch of the business. Pictures of any size done to order in INDIA-INK, WATER or OIL COLORS, on short notice and in the best style

Persons having small Negatives which they like can have pictures made from them life size or smaller as they choose and finished in India-ink water or oil colors. Give him a call and examine his work. You will find him gentlemanly, courteous and ever ready to oblige. He is bound to give satisfaction to all. No poor work allowed to leave the rooms. He has the best instruments known and acknowledged to be such by all superior Artists. One half of the pictures that took the premium at the last County Fair, over A. J. Hoags name, were of Powers make. Do you want proof, call and examine. Powers has served three years in the army, and deserves the patronage of the public. You will find him prompt, active and always at his place of business.

The Tecumseh Herald.

C. M. BURLINGAME, Publisher. "The Constitution, the Union, and the Enforcement of the Laws." Terms per year $2 00 in Advance.

VOL. XVII. NO. 22. TECUMSEH MICHIGAN, THURSDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 25, 1866. WHOLE NO. 832.

Now Ready!
New Fall and Winter Goods!

MERRITT, MEEKER & Co
North side Chicago St

Mr. Wm. Van Camp having just returned from the City of New York, we are now prepared to submit to the inspection, the largest and best ever offered in the Village of Tecumseh. Having purchased the same from first hands for cash. We are thereby enabled to offer special Inducements to our patrons. And not only be able to maintain but largely increase our reputation for having the largest, best assortment and cheapest stock of Goods west of New York City.

SELECTED STOCK OF GOODS

CONSISTING OF

Foreign & Domestic Dry Goods
FANCY DRESS GOODS.
Yankee Notions and Hosiery!
HATS & CAPS,
GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS,
Broadcloths, Cassimeres, Over Coating, Vestings and Cloakings, Plain and Fanch Flannels, Ladies' and Gents' Furs, Hoods, Nubias,
Breakfast Shawls, Buffalo Robes, Gloves, Mittens, &c. &c.

Special atten is called to our CLOTH DEPARTMENT. As we have a large assortment of Eastern Cloths, and having the exclusive sale of Cloths manufactured at the Ypsilanti Woolen Mills, we are prepared to sell as low as any one in Southern Michigan.

E. H. ESTES,

Having purchased the interest of

J. S HENDRYX, in the
THE GROCERY BUSINESS,

Will keep constantly on hand
SALT BY THE BARREL,
Sack or by the pound.

CHOICE TEA,

COFFEE, TOBACCO,
FISH, &C.

Also a good assortment of
KEROSENE OIL,
LAMP CHIMNIES.

SBRGENT'S PAT. LANTERN,
And all things belonging to the business.

CALL AND SEE HIM.

WANTED.
ALL THE TORN
RAGGED
AND MUTILATED
GREENBACKS
AND
POSTAGE CURRENCY
In the County, at par value
in exchange for which I offer my

ENTIRE STOCK,

Comprising the largest and finest assortment of
BOOKS & STATIONERY
GOLD PENS, CUTLERY, ALBUMS,
SHEET MUSIC.
BLANK BOOKS, PAPER COLLARS
YANKEE NOTIONS
&c., &c.,
IN NORTHERN LENAWEE

At prices that defy COMPETITION
Rush in the Rags, no matter how badly torn or soiled. Remember the place, in the Post-Office Building.
G. T. Ketcham.

P. S.—I shall continue taking Greenbacks and Postage Currency not mutilated, as heretofore, until further notice.

J. D. ROBBINS
(Successor to ROBBINS & DEWOLF
DEALER IN
CLOCKS, WATCHES,
FINE JEWELRY,
SPECTACLES,
WALL PAPER.
SCHOOL BOOKS,
FANCY GOODS,
YANKEE NOTIONS,
TOYS, ETC., &c.

I will sell any of the above goods as
Cheap or Cheaper than any other dealer in the country, and
WARRANT
all goods sold as good as recommended.

CASH FOR RAGS!

J. D. Robbins.
TECUMSEH, ... MICHIGAN.

TECUMSEH TIME TABLE

GOING SOUTH.

Mail and Express,	6:50 A. M.
Day Express,	1:12 P. M
Freight,	4:40 P. M.

GOING NORTH.

Mail and Express,	3:42 P M.
Evening Express,	9:30 P. M.
Freight,	8:05 A. M.

Business Directory.

TEMPLE & MURRAY
Carpenters and Joiners, Manufacturers of Doors, Sash, Blinds, Gates &c.
S. W. Temple's Shop, Tec. Mich.

A. HOOD & CO.
Dealers in Hats, Caps and Clothing, &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

GEORGE HEESEN,
Dealer in Ready Made Clothing, &c.
One door west of the Bank.
Chicago st Tecumseh. mich

TRIBOU & BIDWELL BRO'S,
Dealers in Dry Goods, Groceries, &c. &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh. Mich.

WARD & STRICKLAND,
Dealers in Dry Goods, Groceries Ready Made Clothing &c. &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

RICHARD C. MOORE.
Dealer in Dry Goods, Fancy Goods &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

MERRITT, MEEKER & CO,
Dealers in Dry Goods and Fancy Goods
Chicago street, Tecumseh, Mich,

ALFRED JAMES,
Dealer in Groceries, Confectionaries, &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

HENRY C. CONKLING.
Dealer in Groceries Provisions, &c., &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, M.

MOSES WRIGHT,
Dealer in Drugs, Medicines, Toilets, &c.
Chicao St: Tecumseh, Mich.

P. N. CURTIS.
Dealer in Drugs, Paints, Oils, & Notions.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

FISHER & BAKER,
Dealers in Drugs, Medicines, Paints &c.
Chicago St: Tecumseh, Mich.

GOULD & WALDO,
Dealers in Drugs. Groceries &c.
Chicago St. - - Tecumseh, Mich.

EDWIN B. WOOD.
Attorney, Counsellor, and Notary Public.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

C. A. STACY,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law, &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

BILLS & BAXTER.
Attorney's, Councellor's and Solicitors.
Chicago St. Tecumseh. Mich.

McNAIR & HEWITT,
Justice's of the Peace, Ihsurance Agents.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich

CURTIS & PARSONS,
Dealers in Hardware, Tubs, Pails, &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

Hoar & Stevens,
Dealer in Boots, Shoes, Leather &c., &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

Henry Nyland,
Dealer in Boots & Shoes & Leather.
One door west of Bank, Tecumseh.

EMLAY & COURTER
Dealers in Saddles, Harness and Leather.
Chicago St Tecumsgh, Mich.

HORACE BREWER,
Steam Engine and Machine Founder.
Railroad St. Tecumseh, Mach.

SLAYTON, TINDALL & CO.,
Dealers in
Produce and Agricultural Implemen's.
Railroad St. Tecumseh, Mich.

J. D. ROBBINS,
Dealer in Jewelry, Clocks and Notions.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

G. T. KETCHAM.
Bookseller, Newsdealer and Stationer.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

WOOLSTON COMFORT.
Raisin, Flouring, Grist and Saw Mills
Tecumseh, Michigan

H. B MATHIAS,
Dealer in Tobacco, Cigars, and Pipes.
Chicago St Tecumseh, Mich,

W. K. POWERS & CO.,
Photographs, Ambrotypes and Albums,
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

MRS. C. M. BISSELL,
Photograph and Ambrotype Artist, &c.
Pearl & Chicago St's. Tec, Mich

G. & H. SMITH,
Dealers in Furniture and Upholstery.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

DR. A. PELHAM,
Surgical and Mechanical Dentist,
Chicago St - - Tecumseh, Mich.

DR. E. HAUSE,
Surgical, and Mechanical Dentist.
Chicago St. Opposite P. Office.

NATIONAL HOTEL,
Chicago Street, Tecumseh, Michigan.
MERRITT & BURGHER - Proprietors.

HIRAM WESCOTT,
Paper Hanging, Whitewashing, &c., &c
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

EXCHANGE HOTEL
Railroad St. - - - Tecumseh, Mich.
D. FISH, Proprietor.

The Tecumseh Herald.

C. M. BURLINGAME,
Publisher and Proprietor.

Local and Miscellaneous.

Rates of Advertising.
(One inch of column constitutes a square.)

	1 wk	3 wk	3 m	6 m	1 yr
1 Square	$1 00	$2.00	$6.00	$7.50	$10.00
2 Squares	1,75	3.50	8.00	12.00	15.00
3 Squares	2.75	5 00	11.00	16 00	20.00
¼ Column	5,00	9.00	12,00	18.00	25,00
½ Column	7.50	12.00	18,00	25.00	36.00
Column	12,00	15.00	20,00	35.00	60.00

☞ No advertisement considered less than one square Transcient advertisements must be paid for in advance. Advertisements unaccompanied with directions for the number of insertions, will be continued until ordered out, and charged accordingly. Business cards of five lines, or less, inserted one year $3.50 per year.

☞ Work neatly executed at this office. Charges reasonable

Grand Trunk Railway.
The Cheapest, Quickest, and Safest route
TO THE EAST.

Tickets to all the Eastern cities and intermediate places for sale at this office.

☞ Silk, Cassimeres and New York Driving Hats—Fall style velvet, Base Ball, and Croquet Caps for sale at Tribou & Bidwell Bros.

☞ Empress Hoods in all colors, something new; also all sizes of Breakfast Shawls, just received at Tribou & Bidwell Bros.

☞ We would advise all our readers and the rest of mankind to avail themselves forthwith of the grand and unequalled opportunity of securing great bargains in Dry Goods, Yankee Notions and other fixings, at the closing out sale of C. H. ADAM & Co., which commenced last week. Now is the time for bargains.

☞ The Large Packages carried from Tribou & Bidwell Bros'. store, prove positively that they are selling goods very cheap.

☞ Tribou & Bidwell Bros. wish to call particular attention to their large stock of Broad Cloths, Beavers, Cassimers, Water Proof and Ladies' Cloths.

☞ All who have examined the splendid assortment of Fall and Winter Dress Goods at Tribou & Bidwell Bros. at once exclaim: "They have the cheapest and most elegant goods, ever brought to Tecumseh!"

☞ Mr. Howard, of Illinois, has been engaged by the Episcopal Society as their rector. He is said to be an excellent preacher. He will commence his duties here in a few days.

☞ A very severe wind visited us last Sunday night The new covering on the Union Hall roof was torn somewhat, but luckily no great damage was done. The sky-light over our office was blown off and twenty-one lights of glass demolished. Abe Pelham's sign was blown down and several fences about town.

Hunters, Attention!

The hunters of Tecumseh and adjoining towns are invited to meet at the National Hotel, next Saturday evening to make arrangements for a grand hunt.—The plan talked of is this: Gen. Brown and Mr. A. Hayden, propose to select twenty men each, oeganize two parties, and go out on a hunt—and the party which get beat in the race, or in other words, which secures the least game, shall pay the expenses of and order a supper for the whole lot. Remember the time. At the National Hotel, next Saturday evening.

Good Templar's Entertainment.

The Entertainment given by the Good Templars, at their Hall last Monday evening was a perfect success. It was without exception the best public entertainment which they have yet given.—The Hall was well filled, the net receipts amounting to about $50, and the audience were well pleased with the whole entertainment. Where all the parts were so well performed, it would almost seem invidious to make any comparisons, and yet we cannot refrain from mentioning as particularly worthy of praise the reading of the paper by Miss Eliza Adams and the song and recitation by the little daughters of Dr. Hause and P. W. Adams. We hope the G. T's will give us another treat of the same kind some time during the winter.

☞ Fifty dozen, new Fall style Hoop Skirts, just received at Tribou & Bidwell Bros. They keep both the Duplex, Bon Ton, Hull's and the celebrated Combination Silver Skirt.

☞ Abe Pelham is prospering in business, whatever others are doing. As proof of this, we would mention that upon stepping into his office a day or two since, we found him busily employed upon various kinds of work, among which were sixteen full sets of teeth, which he has now nearly completed. He also employs the new method of extracting teeth without pain by the use of ether. It is nothing but fun to have the "Doc" pull ones teeth. If you don't believe it, try him and see.

☞ Mink Muffs, with the head of the animal on them. A new style at MOORE'S.

☞ Furs, Furs, Furs, at Moore's.

THE RECORD.

Our readers will bear us witness that, since the establishment of the Record in this village, we have ever treated that sheet in a polite and respectful manner. It has always had our good wishes, and we have never allowed a word in our columns, reflecting in the least upon its proprietors or upon its general management. We had sincerely hoped that this course of action would be reciprocated by the Record, but in this hope we have been disappointed. In last week's issue it devoted a whole column to a scandalous and abusive article, taking the HERALD to task for publishing a little item of news clipped from an exchange, setting forth the qualities of a drink called metheglin.

Did the simple publication of that item warrant such a base and unprovoked attack upon us? Did the attack come with good grace from such a sheet as the Record? To these inquiries we shall briefly reply.

The only excuse offered by the writer of this abusive article is the publication of the item in question. No other reason is given or even hinted at.

We grant that we published the item just as we publish any news item. We grant further, that it was a hit at the Good Templars. But what of that? Doesn't the Record publish hits at lawyers, physicians and clergymen? Is it not continually publishing hits at those who are opposed to it on the total abstinence question? Doesn't any newspaper, unless it be less than half a paper, occasionally insert hits upon all classes in society, let them hit where they will? And yet the Record sees fit to heap a column of billingsgate upon our shoulders for doing what it has done in every issue. "Fulvia" herself at the close of the article in the Record asks "pardon for occupying space," on the ground that it did "not deserve a reply." Then why did she reply to it? We are satisfied that the publication on our part of this item was not the real reason for their attack. It was only seized upon as a pretext.

It is no secret that the proprietors of the Record have not succeeded in their enterprise as they anticipated. They intended to run the HERALD into the ground, but their effort has proved a most signal failure. They had capital to work with; the HERALD had none, save its own labor and the good will of its patrons. Our subscription list to-day, is two and a half times as large as theirs. Their list we are informed, has decreased within the past month. Ours has never increased so rapidly as it has since the Record commenced publication. Our presses have not been idle a day since they were bought. Their Gordon has run scarcely enough to warm the grease upon its axles. Our advertising columns have been so crowded, that many who came to us begging for a little space have been refused. They have with difficulty filled theirs by giving half columns where quarter columns were ordered, by inserting several advertisements in two places, and by accepting patent medicine advertisements which the HERALD has turned away. These, we are convinced, are the real reasons for the Record's attack.

The Record in its first leader assured the public that it would be Independent in politics, and would exercise great care in excluding from its columns everything of an immoral or questionable character. How has it kept its pledges? Under the guise of Independency, it has hoisted a party flag. To be sure the Editor in last week's issue defended his cause, but still no intelligent person can deny that the patrons of the Record subscribed for that paper with the understanding, that it was not to meddle in politics, and it is just as much a breach of good faith for the Record to place the Republican tickets at the head of its columns, as it would be for the HERALD to raise the Democratic flag. How it has kept the latter part of its pledges, can readily be seen by inspecting its advertising columns. The second page of its last week's issue, furnishes us with abundant proof of our position.

The first column contains the Republican nominations—in which there are several typographical errors and mistakes in names—and an appeal to its readers to support and ratify those nominations at the polls. In the second column is a demand for the impeachment of the Governor and other executive officers, for gross neglect in refusing to enforce the laws. And yet it supports this same governor and other officers for re-election and advises its readers to do likewise. Consistent, isn't it? Column, no. 3, is devoted to the HERALD, and Metheglin in an article heaping slanders upon us for publishing an account of a beautiful drink, a thing which the Record itself acknowledges does not deserve a reply—consistent, isn't it? The fourth column by way of variety, is devoted to ladies and to casting slurs at those who have transferred their support from the Record to the HERALD—believing the latter to be the better paper. The fifth column contains an advertisement of Roback's Bitters, which are composed mainly of Bourbon whiskey, and are sold and drank as a beverage all over the country—an advertisement which the HERALD refused to receive into its columns, and which after being cast off by us, was accepted with alacrity, by the Editor of the Record. Yet it abuses us for inserting Metheglin—consistent, isn't it? Column, number six, has a short notice of the most immoral kind, entitled, "Errors of Youth." We could carry our illustrations much farther, but these will suffice; and we leave it to our readers to determine whether the Record is consistent in its base attack upon us.

We should be pleased to have its Editor, at his leisure, reply to the following interrogatories:

Has the Record one code of morals for its news columns, and another for its advertisements?

Is it strictly "according to Gunter," for a temperance paper to advertise "whisky bitters?"

Which is the most intoxicating: Lager beer, Roback's Bitters or Metheglen?

Is the notice in its columns, headed, "Errors of Youth," strictly speaking, a moral advertisement?

Does the Editor of the Record do, as he advises his readers to do—patronize Dr. Roback's prepared whiskey—and if so, does it produce giddiness?

Which is the more immoral: To take pay from a neighbor for a drink of Bourbon, or to take pay from a stranger for advising ones neighbor to drink it?

Which is the more consistent, for a neutral paper to refuse whisky advertisements, or for a temperance paper to receive them?

What are the respective qualities and effects of Bourbon whiskey and metheglin?

Which is the more moral newspaper. That which advertise a "drink fit for the gods," or that which advertise a common article of prepared whiskey?

Shouldn't the Record substitute, in place of its present motto, the following: "Greenbacks are good, but Roback's Bitters are better."

A word to our patrons in conclusion. The HERALD is the organ of no party, or sect, or clique, but it shall be our endeavor in the future as it has been in the past, to make our sheet the best local newspaper for all classes of readers, that is published in the County. If we succeed in this, our purpose will be accomplished. To this end we shall devote all our energies, thanking our friends for their kind assistance, and heeding as little as justice to ourselves will permit, the slanders and abuse of professional and personal enemies.

UNION SCHOOL.

The students in the 3d and 4th grade, of the Union School, of Tecumseh, held their first regular rhetorical exercises of the present term, in the "Young Ladies' Room," on Friday last, the 13th inst.; and although, it was the first time many of them had participated in these exercises, yet, they passed off very pleasantly and much credit is due to all who took part in them.

The students of these respective grades, are divided into two divisions. The first division taking part in these exercises one Friday, the second the next, and thus alternately, each Friday during the term. Often, quite a stife is gotten up between the divisions, as to which shall excel in these Friday afternoon exercises.

The Essays and Declamations, were both very good on Friday last, and as a general thing, very well delivered.—Where all did so well, it would be wrong to particularize; yet, we cannot close this article without mentioning Mr. Voorhees Miller, who gave a piece entitled, "Memory," with very fine effect—his manner on the stage being cool and deliberate; his enunciation, clear and impressive; and, tone of voice well adapted to the piece he had selected.

Another new feature in the exercises of last Friday, was the introduction of music, by Prof. Thomas, which seemed to add much interest to the occasion, and made the exercises pass off much more pleasantly.

BASE BALL.

The first game of the home and home match between the second nine of Tecumseh and the Ridgeway Base Ball clubs, came off last Friday, the 19th, which resulted in favor of the Ridgeway club.

Ridgeway.	Runs.	Outs.	Tecumseh.	Runs.	Outs.
Palmer, c	5	4	Donnelly, c	2	4
Davidson, p	5	3	Bidwell, p	2	5
M. Davidson, s s	7	1	A. Cummins, s s	1	4
Shipman, a	3	2	C. Cummins, a	5	1
Palmer, b	6	3	Slayton, b	2	2
Ball, c	3	4	Hull, c	2	3
Cadmens, 1 f	5	1	Terry, 1 f	3	3
Pilbean, c f	4	3	Hancock, c f	2	0
Jackson, r f	0	6	Warring, r f	0	5
Total,	38	27	Toal,	19	27

Umpire—C A. Wright, of T. C.
Scorers—E. De Puy and H. Hood.
Home Runs—Palmer, two.
Passed Balls—Palmer, two; Donnelly fifteen.

The second game to be played at Ridgeway, Oct. 26, at 2 o'clock, P. M.

New Stage Route.

A new Stage Route has been established between this village and Ypsilanti, by way of Ridgeway and Mooreville, under the management of S. H. Niblack. This will be a great convenience to the intervening towns, as there is considerable through travel on the line of the Ridge road. The mail will go East from here, Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, instead of Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays as hereafter.

☞ The better nations become acquainted with each other, the fewer will be their prejudices, and the more likely will they be to love and respect each other. Just so with Herrick Allen's Gold Medal Saleratus—the more you know of it, the more you want to, and the more anxious you are to have your friends become its patrons. It not only makes the best Biscuit, Bread, &c., but it cures dyspepsia and strengthens weak stomachs. It has no equal. Most of the grocers have it.

☞ Found in front of Bidwell's store on the evening of Gov. Crapo's speaking, a silver pin with the letter "E" engraved thereon. The owner can have the same by calling on Staiger & Fausel and paying for this notice.

Literary Society.

At an adjourned meeting of the Literary Society, held last Tuesday evening, the meeting having been called to order by the President, C. B. Thomas, the Committee on Constitution and By-Laws made a report. The Constitution and By Laws so reported were, after some discussion and a few alterations adopted.

The Canvassing committee, for selling course tickets made its report. Two hundred dollars had been subscribed. On motion two more members were added to the committee.

An Executive committee of three was elected, consisting of the following members:

Col. L. Saviers, Dr. A. Pelham and W. B. Powers.

Dr. Fulton reported that Good Templars Hall could be secured for holding the meetings of the Society.

On motion the meeting adjourned till next Monday evening, Oct. 29, 7 o'clock, P. M., in Good Templars' Hall. This will be the first regular meeting of the Socity, at which time an address will be delivered by the President, Prof. C. B. Thomas, and other important business transacted. Let there be a general attendance.

Master Dudley Waller, speaks before the Lecture Association, next Tuesday evening, in the Baptist Church. All who wish to hear this oratorical prodigy, should not fail to attend, as this will probably be his last appearance before a Tecumseh audience. They who did not hear him last winter, should by all means be present. They who did, will be sure to go again.

☞ R. C. Moore is now opening a large and elegant stock of Dry Goods consisting of Cloths and Cassimeres.
Brown and bleached Cottons.
Sheetings, 4. 5, 6, and 8 quarters wide.
Elegant Dress Goods.
Flannels, all descriptions.
Balmoral Skirts of most beautiful patterns.
Dress Buttons in great variety.
French Merinoes, Empress Cloths,
Black Satin DeChine, for aprons.
Anything you want in Dry Goods is to be found at lowest market prices at MOORE'S.

☞ Rooms to Rent. Also a good Cow for sale. Apply at this office.

☞ W. J. Andrews, of Ridgeway, presented us with a basket of nice apples, for which he will please accept the thanks of all hands, even those of the devil.

☞ Magazines for November. Harper's, Atlantic, Young Folks', Beadle's, Godey's, Peterson's and DeMorest's Magazines for November at Ketcham's Book Store.

☞ Hon. F. C. Beaman speaks at Clinton, on the political issues of the day, Thursday evening, Oct. 25th, 1866.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

TECUMSEH, Mich.
RECORDER'S OFFICE, Oct. 23, 1866.

At this special session, the Council convened at the usual hour—present, the entire Council, except Messrs. Ames and Rosecrans.

The minutes of the proceedings at preceding meeting were read and approved.

The Street Committee reported that they had carefully examined the bridge near Cemetery, and instructed the Marshal to make suitable reports on same.

The Petition of J. P. Slayton and eleven others, asking this Council to construct a cross-walk across Evans Street, opposite the residence of Mrs Snell, was read by the Recorder, and referred to Committee on streets.

On motion, the following resolution was adopted by the Council:

Resolved, That the Committee in charge of the business connected with the Public Ground, known as Court House Square, viz: Messrs. Heesen, Blinn and Rosecrans be, and said Committee is hereby instructed to publish by two, in sections, in the papers of this village, and also, by posting handbills, the sale of the building, known as the old Court House, in said village. Said building, to be offered for sale on the 3d day of November next, at 2 o'clock, P. M., and sold to the highest bidder, who is to be obligated to remove said building from the Public Ground within twenty days after the sale.

Terms, six months' credit with approved security.

Resolved, That the Cemetery Committee be, and said Committee is hereby instructed to substantially repair the fence around the old Cemetery ground.

Resolved, That the Committee on Streets be, and said Committee is hereby instructed to ascertain whether the Marshal has given legal notice to the citizens of this corporation to repair the sidewalks in front of their respective lots.

Resolved, That the resolution adopted, May 7th last, be amended by striking out the word "forty" in the seventh line from the top of the resolution as recorded and the word "twenty" inserted, so that it will read, twenty days after such notice.

The Council then adjourned.

CHARLES BURRIDGE,
Recorder.

AUCTION SALE!

Notice is hereby given, that the building known as the old Court House, situate on what is called, "Court House Square," will be sold at Auction, on Saturday, Nov. 3d, 1866, to the highest bidder—to be removed within twenty days after such sale. Sale at the premises, at 2 o'clock.

TERMS:—Six months' credit with approved security.

By order of the President and Common Council of the village of Tecumseh.

CHARLES BURRIDGE,
Recorder.

Tecumseh Market.

Oct. 25th, 1866.
White wheat	$2 60 a $2 65
Red do	2 40 a 2 50
Beans	1 00 a 1 25
Corn	50
Clover seed	8 00 9 00
Apples green	40
Butter per pound	30
Cheese " "	16
Hams " "	16
Lard " "	15
Eggs per doz	15
Potatoes, per bush.	40

For Sale.

House and Lot on Pearl St., one door North of the old Methodist Church. For particulars, inquire on the premises.

☞ Elegant Lap Blankets at Moore's

☞ Balmoral Skirts, very cheap, at MOORE'S.

☞ About four miles from our pleasant village, lives an honest and industrious farmer. He owns a large, well improved and productive farm, enjoys all the comforts, and many of the luxuries of life. Thirty years ago, all his earthly possessions did not exceed a few hundred dollars, to day he is worth thousands.

On being asked, by one of his neighbors, "How he had accumulated so much, in so short a time," he replied, "I waste no time looking around, but buy my Dry Goods, Groceries &c., at Tribou & Bidwell Bros'."

☞ P. N. Curtis has a very choice selection of Family Groceries. Great care is taken to keep Butter in good order for families in town. You can be assured that all goods sold at this store are of the very best quality.

The "Thunderbolt."

The celebrated Breech Loading Rifle—the lightest, best and cheapest in the market, is now offered for sale, by J. D. Robbins. Can be loaded and fired thirty times per minute. Those that would see a good gun, go and look at it.

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in a mortgage executed by John H. Phileo to John Wheelan, dated October 13th, 1863, recorded in the Register of Deeds' Office of Lenawee County, Michigan, October 13th, 1863, at two and a half o'clock P. M. in Liber 39 of Mortgages, on pages 17 and 18, upon which mortgage there is claimed due and unpaid at this date the sum of four hundred and eighty five dollars, and for the recovery of which no proceedings hitherto either in law or equity hath been taken. For the purpose therefore of realizing the money aforesaid with accruing interest and costs of foreclosure. Notice is hereby given that the premises mentioned in said mortgage and described as all that tract or parcel of land situate in the City of Adrian in the County of Lenawee and State of Michigan; being village lot number nine (9) on A. W. Budlong's plot as recorded in the Register's Office for Lenawee County, being on section thirty four (34) in the township of Adrian in the county and State aforesaid, will be sold at public vendue at the Circuit Court room known as the old Methodist Church Building in the City of Adrian in said county of Lenawee on the 18th day of January, 1867, at two o'clock in the afternoon.—Dated, Oct. 25th, 1866.

JOHN WHEELAN, Mortgagee.
E. B Wood, Atty. for Mortgagee.

CLOTHING!
AT THE
UNION HALL CLOTHING STORE.

JUST RECEIVED
$10,000 Wort of Clothing
For FALL AND WINTER!!
For
MEN AND BOYS WEAR.

Gents' Furnishing Goods,
HATS, CAPS AND CLOTHS
Of all descriptions which I will sell at very low prices at the
UNION HALL CLOTHING STORE.

Come One. Come All,
And judge for yourselves.

Clothing made to Order
IN THE LATEST STYLES.

And I will give you a good fit,
But be sure and give me a call,
For all who love the Union and flag,
Are welcome at Union Hall.

REMEMBER THE PLACE!
GEORGE HEESEN.

C. H. ADAM & CO.,
DEALERS IN
DRY GOODS,
Yankee Notions, &c.,
No. 2 Mechanics' Block,
oct 2tf TECUMSEH, MICH.

DISSOLUTION.

Notice is hereby given that the firm of Van Tine & Smith was dissolved on May 7th by mutual consent. All accounts due the above firm must be paid at the Cabinet rooms of G. H Smith immediately, and save costs. Tecumseh, Oct. 9, 1866.

830w4 GEORGE SMITH,
DAVID VAN TINE.

DITCHERS TAKE NOTICE.

The Drain Commissioners of Lenawee County will meet at the residence of Thomas Gafney's, Palmyra, on Thursday, Oct. 25th, 1866, for the purpose of letting jobs on drain No. 34. Said jobs will be let to the lowest bidder in sections to soil contractors.

By order of the Drainage Commissioners.
JUSTUS LOWE,
Ridgeway, Oct. 9, 1866. Secretary.

The above sale is hereby postponed until Thursday, Nov. 1st, 1866.
JUSTUS LOWE, Secretary.
Ridgeway, Oct. 25th, 1866.

Twenty Thousand Dollars worth of Dry Goods just received at Tribou & Bidwell Bros.

Miscellany.

AN ANATOMIST TO HIS LADY LOVE.

I list as thy heart and ascending aorta
Their volumes of valvular harmony pour;
And my soul from that muscular music has caught a
New life 'mid its anat mical lore.

O, rare is the sound when thy ventricles throb
In a systolic symphony measured and slow,
While the auricles answer with rythmical sob,
As they murmur a melody wondrously low!

O, thy cornea, love, has the radiant light
Of the sparkle that laughs in the icicle's sheen!
And thy crystaline lens, like a diamond bright,
Through the quivering frame of thine iris is seen!

And thy retina, spreading its luster of pearl,
Like the far away nebula, distantly gleams
From a vault of black cellular mirrors that hurl
From their hexagon angels the silvery beams.

Ah, the flash of those orbs is enslaving me still,
As they roll 'neath the palpabrae dimly translucent,
Obeying, in silence, the magical will
Of the oculo motor—pathetic—abducent.

O, sweet is thy voice, as it sighingly swells
From the daintily quivering chordæ vocales,
Or rings in clear tones through the echoing cells
Of the antrum, the ethmoid, and sinus faontales.

Burning of a Friction Match.

Among the varied operations of the arts there is perhaps no other involving so many chemical and physical changes, and so many philosophical principles, as the burning of a friction match.

First in importance is the intense affinity of phosphorus for oxygen, as it is this property which makes a friction match possible. This affinity is so strong that when phosphorus is exposed to contact with the oxygen of the atmosphere at ordinary temperatures, the two substances combine slowly, generating light which is visible as a faint glow in the dark; and if the temperature is raised to about 120 deg. the combination goes on with that rapidity which we call combustion. It is easy to produce this degree of temperature by friction—hence the possibility of the friction match.

It is necessary, indeed, to modify the inflammability of phosphorus for its use in a friction match, and is done by mixing it with a little gum. The gum also protects it from slow combustion in the atmosphere.

The flame of phosphorus, though intensely hot, will not set fire to pine wood; it is therefore necessary to interpose some substance more readily inflammable than wood; the substance usually employed is sulphur. Pine wood ignites at a temperature of 600 deg., and sulphur at 450 deg. to 500 deg. The phosphorus in burning kindles the sulphur, and the sulphur flame sets fire to the wood.

The refusal of the phosphorus flame to kindle wood is fruitful of suggestions. The quantity of heat generated by the burning of any substance is in proportion to the quantity of oxygen with which the substance combines. One atom of phosphorus in burning combines with five atoms of oxygen, producing phosphoric acid, P. O. 5. The atom of phosphorus weighs 32 and the atoms of oxygen 8, so the proportion by weight is 32 pounds of phosphorus to 40 of oxygen. Sulphur, in burning, combines with oxygen in the proportion of one atom of sulphur to two oxygen, S. O. 2, and as the atomic weight of sulphur is 16 the proportion by weight is 32 of sulphur to 32 of oxygen, consequently phosphorus should generate more heat in burning than sulphur.

Again, this law is modified by either the oxygen or the combustible undergoing a change of form in combining. If a substance is changed from the gaseous to the solid state, heat is evolved; if from the solid to the gaseous heat is absorbed. Now, phosphoric acid is a solid, while suphurous acid is a gas. Phosphorus, in burning, changes the oxygen with which it combines from the gaseous to the solid form, thus increasing the quantity of heat generated; while sulphur, in burning, is changed from the solid to the gaseous state, thus absorbing heat, and diminishing the quantity produced by the combustion.

These theoretical views have been confirmed by careful experiment. The results obtained by Andrews from elaborate investigations were, that one pound of phosphorus in burning to phosphoric acid generates sufficient heat to raise the temperature of 5,747 pounds of water one deg. centigrade; while one pound of sulphur, in burning, raises the temperature of only 2,220 pounds of water one deg.

But it is not the quantity of heat that is to be considered in this case, but the intensity; which is in proportion to the quantity contained in a cubic inch or other given volume. This, however, only increases the difficulty, for the phosphorus flame being condensed to a solid, while that of the sulphur is diffused as a gas, the intensity of the heat ought to be still more in favor of the phosphorus than the quantity.

The usual explanation given for the failure of wood to ignite in a phosphorous flame is, that the surface of the wood is instantly covered by a film of phosphoric acid, which protects it from combustion. As we have no better explanation to offer, we raise no objection to this.

The products of combustion, then, in the burning of the match, are, first, phosphoric acid from the burning of the phosphorus; then sulphuric acid, from the burning of the sulphur, and, finally, carbonic acid and water from the burning of the wood.

This is far from being an exhaustive examination of the subject. The hydrogen and carbon of the wood do not combine directly with the oxygen of the air, but the wood first undergoes distillation, with the production of several hydrocarbon gases, which rise in the air and produce the flame by their combustion; and after the wood is burned the ash that is left behind is made up of some sixteen elements, combined with oxygen in various proportions. The activity of the burning, also, is increased by adding to the paste some substance containing oxygen which is held by feeble affinity, and which is, therefore, readily given up to the sulphur, phosphorus, and wood. Among the substances employed for this office are saltpetre and the peroxides of lead and manganese. In a complete examination of the reactions of the combustion, the decompositions of these oxidizing agents, with the resulting compounds or elements, would demand consideration. All that might be said with relation to the burning of a friction match would fill a large volume.—Scientific American.

Curious Wills—Oddities of Human Nature.

Some, who in life would not have given a cup of water to a beggar, by their wills leave enormous sums to charities, to secure for themselves a kind of posthumous admiration. Others allow not their resentment to sleep with them in the grave, but leave behind them wills which excite the bitterest feelings and animosities among their surviving relatives. Some wills are remarkable for their conciseness and perspicuity; others for their unprecedented shapes and curious contents. One man provides for a college, another for a cat; one gives a legacy to provide bread and herrings for the poor in Lent, and kid gloves to the minister; while others provide for bull-baiting, the welfare of maid servants, and the promotion of matrimony.

John Hodge has kept his name out of oblivion by giving twenty shillings a year to a poor man to go about the parish church of Trysall, during the sermon-time to keep people awake and dogs out of church.

Henry Green, of Melbourne, Derbyshire, gave his property for providing green waistcoats to four poor women every year, such waistcoats to be lined with green galloon lace.

A Lancashire gentleman, in the last century, having given his body to the worms of the family vault, bequeathed an ounce of modesty to the authors of the London Journal and Free Briton, giving as his reasons for the smallness of the legacy that he was "convinced that an ounce will be found more than they'll ever make use of."

Another testator, after having stated at great length in his will the number of obligations he was under, bequeathed to his benefactor ten thousand—here the leaf turned over, and the legatee, turning to the other side, found the legacy was ten thousand thanks.

A testator who evidently intended to thwart his relations and be a benefactor to the lawyers, gave to certain persons "as many acres of land as shall be found equal to the area inclosed by the centre of oscillation of the earth in a revolution round the sun, supposing the mean distance of the sun 21,600 semi-diameters of the earth from it."

An uncle left in his will eleven silver spoons to his nephew, adding, "If I have not left the dozen, he knows the reason." The fact was, the nephew had some little time before stolen the twelfth spoon from his relative.

Sir Joseph Jekyll left his fortune to pay the national debt. When Lord Mansfield heard of this, he said: "Sir Joseph was a very good man and a good lawyer, but his bequest was a very foolish one; he might as well have attempted to stop the middle arch of Blackfriars bridge with his full-bottomed wig."

Lord Pembroke gave "nothing to Lord Say, which legacy I give him because I know he will bestow it on the poor;" and then, after giving equally peculiar legacies, he finished with: "Item—I give up the ghost."

Dean Swift's character is exemplified in his will. Among other things, he bequeathed to Mr. John Grattan, of Clommenthan, a silver box, "in which I desire the said John to keep the tobacco he usually cheweth, called pigtail."

The celebrated Sarah, Duchess of Marlborough, left Pitt £10 000 for "the noble defence he had made for the support of the laws of England, and to prevent the ruin of his country." A similar bequest was not long since made to Mr. D'Israeli.

Bacon left a will appointing six executors, but no property except his name and memory, which he bequeathed to "men's charitable speeches, to foreign nations, and the next age."

Others wrote their wills in verse, and, as a specimen, we will give that of William Jacket, of the parish of Islington, which was proved in 1787, when no witnesses were required to a will of personal estate:

"I give and bequeath,
When I'm laid underneath,
To my two loving sisters so dear
The whole of my store,
Which God's goodness has granted me here.
And that none may prevent,
This my will and intent,
Or occasion the least law racket,
With a solemn appeal,
I confirm, sign and seal,
This the act and deed of Will Jacket."

Tea: A Woman's Drink.

Never has a masculine mind fully appreciated or worthily estimated the subtle and peculiarly refined qualities of this beverage. Since the death of Dr. Johnson it has been hardly dealt with by many a caustic pen, until crabbed spinsters have appeared to be the fitting presiding priestesses of the tea-table. As we, all of us, need our "spree," so also in this state of undeveloped human organism, we require our stimulant; it is to us what the spur is to the racing horse; we do with its use what we could not do without its agency. And if, as I believe, tea is one of the "good and perfect gifts" descending to us from above in pity for our weakness, given to sustain us when we are weary in daily well-doing, surely upon nothing can we more properly invoke a blessing than upon this same much abused, much valued "cup of tea."

Something more than two hundred years ago, Pepys mentions in his admirable diary of fashionable gossip: "I did send for a cup of tea (a Chinese drink), of which I had never drank before;" and it was then so rare a beverage in England as to command fifteen dollars a pound!

In many of the agricultural districts in England, saga and other herb drinks are still in vogue, and the tisannes of the French and Swiss are not yet replaced by bona fide tea. In Morocco they combine tisanne with tea, putting sugar in the teapot with tanzy and mint. In Thibet they boil the leaf with water, flour, butter, and salt, eating the vegetable mess like a dish of spinach; and thus, it is recorded, did an English country dame serve up a pound of the precious plant sent her by a London friend—boiling it in a pan and dressing it with salt and butter.

During the next century no pains were spared to destroy the "raging epidemical madness of importing tea into Europe from China." The most influential journals opened their columns to the fiercest denouncers of this excellent soother and stimulant. Physicians reviewed, and political economists joined in the decry, until the late Dr. Johnson was roused to its spirited defense. Johnson was, as he bravely confesses, "hardened and shameless" in his use of China—"with tea amusing the evening, with tea solacing the midnight, with tea welcoming the morning." Recent researches into the peculiar properties of tea claim for it the power of "calm, placid exhilaration, gently stimulating the stomach when fatigued by digestion." It also saves food, by its action in preventing various "wastes of the system, and renders it peculiarly acceptable to elderly persons, in whom these wastes go on very rapidly, while their stomachs assimilate less and less of the nutritive portion of food.

One ounce of good tea contains about ten grains of theine; from three to four grains of this theine is a healthful amount for a day, so that three ounces of really good tea is more than a person in ordinary health should consume in a week.

Tannin, the astringent element in tea, is attracted by a lengthened infusion, and to avoid the effect of its astringency, the tea should be used soon after the hot water is poured over it. As this astringent quality must constitute what was recently called the "slow suicide of drinking tea at breakfast," it will be seen how easily it can be avoided.

The lyrical ode painted on almost all the pig-tail teapots, concludes with: "at your ease drink the pure liquor, which will drive away the five causes of trouble."

An enterprising French firm has lately imported and introduced in Paris an orchid from the island of Bourbon, called "Fahim," said to be a most agreeable substitute for tea; the leaves are simply dried flat, as specimens in an herbarium; the infusion is of a light color, and of a highly aromatic perfume, being of the same family as vanilla. The natives of this and adjoining islands have always preferred it to tea, and all travelers have indorsed their opinion. George Sand eulogized it thirty years ago in an eloquent description of the isle of Bourbon. It combines the tonic and digestive attributes of tea without its tendency to produce sleeplessness.

Upon all these, however, the womanly regard rests with but slight favor; tea is to us the soothing, inspiriting draught that wins us from despondency, and creates for us a fresh supply of that energy we so much need in our daily routine of never-ending cares. Truly says Thackeray, "Nature meant very gently by women when she made that tea plant."

The Chinese herb may be said to stand in the same relation to woman that tobacco does to man: Of the latter, I think it is Bulwer who says: "He who does not smoke has either known no griefs, or refuseth himself the softest consolation next to that which comes from Heaven." So in the matter of tea, a woman who comprehends not the subtle, delicate potency of this "cheering" decoction, should never know headache, or those many silent sorrows and perplexities which are assuaged, if not dissipated, by the fragrant aroma of the confidential and ever ready cup of tea.

And the giving of many a one to the fevered lips of penury, or the pain-distraught ones of the poor in life's joys, will, I doubt not, be reckoned side by side with the "cup of cold water" which shall not "lose its reward."

Art and Science.

—A chemical analysis of the waters of the Dead Sea shows that they contain 26 per cent. of salt, mostly chloride of soda and chloride of magnesia.

—If a continuous solid iron rail were laid from New York city to Albany, no amount of force applied at one end could move the other in less than one minute and a quarter, the time required for mechanical force to travel in iron that distance.

—The employment of steamships in the whaling service is likely to prove a success. The steam whaler "Vigilant," cruising off the coast of Iceland, has already taken 1,000 barrels of oil, and will probably take 500 more before the season closes.

—Prof. Tomlinson, of King's College, points out, in a letter to the Times, that the apparent impressions of trees in miniature, so often observed upon the bodies of persons killed by lightning while standing under trees, are in reality produced by all electrical discharges, whether of lightning or from a Leyden jar, and that they have no connection with trees.

—While taking a trip across the Atlantic in a hard gale from west-southwest, Mr Scoresby made some investigation in regard to the height of waves, with the following results:

Average highest altitude	43 feet.
Mean distance between waves	550 feet.
Width from crest to crest	600 feet.
Time between each wave	17 sec.
Velocity of waves per hour	33 mls.

—At a recent meeting of the British Association, a paper was read upon the introduction of a new gunpowder for heavy ordnance, in which nitrate of barytes is substituted for saltpetre in composition, the consequence being that the powder, when ignited, consumes more slowly, and the gasses are developed less rapidly, while the same effect is produced upon the projectile as regards its ultimate velocity.

—The undertaking of San Jose, California, has now progressed so far that extensive experiments are making or to be made there for rendering silk productions a staple industry of the State. The experiments already made decide that the climate is more favorable to silk worms than that of China, Japan, France, or Italy, which are the silk producers of the world. California has already added tea and coffee growing to the list of her employments.

—A German has brought to Paris an inexplosible powder, which is certainly going to make a revolution in this department of war material. This powder, invented by Mr. Neumeyer, of Leipsic, does not explode in the open air when inflamed; it burns up slowly like so much tinder; but it explodes with more explosive force than any other powder, in a closed cavity. It is cheaper than ordinary powder, and may be manufactured anywhere, even on board ship.

—A company has been formed in California for the purpose of digging a tunnel in the Sierra Nevada mountains, and through it conveying the clear waters of Lake Tahoe to the channel of a stream, and so across the valleys to San Francisco. It is designed thus to supply a dozen interior towns as well as the larger city with delicious water of great purity, provide the miners with water for carrying on the work during the dry season, and irrigate thousands of acres of land that are now unproductive. The difficulty of the undertaking will be comprehended when it is remembered that the lake is fifteen hundred feet higher than any body of water on earth ever navigated by a steamboat. Col. A. H. Von Schmidt is the engineer by whom the undertaking is to be executed.

—Joseph Whitworth, of Manchester, has patented in England what promises to become an important improvement in the production of steel castings. It is that of making the models of steel or wrought iron, strongly secured together, and then subjecting the metal as soon as poured, and before it is fully set, to powerful hydraulic pressure; no particular pressure being specified, although it may, it is stated, amount "to tuns upon the square inch." By powerful pressure at the moment before the steel begins to set, air-bubbles are prevented, and the steel, when hardened and tempered, as described in Mr. Whitworth's patent, is believed to possess unusual strength. The molds are to be made with a close collar, to surround the ram of the hydraulic press, the construction and application of which are shown. Steel shot, of excellent quality, are, we understand, now made under Mr. Whitworth's patent.

—At the Industrial Exhibition in the Agricultural Hall, Islington, London, there is shown an ingenious invention, by which the action of a shower of rain is made to close an open window. The window, when open, stretches two India rubber springs. These springs are prevented from drawing the window down by means of a curved rod fixed outside the sash, the end of which works up and down a tubular bell-mouthed stand on the window sill. A little piece of loaf sugar is inserted into the mouth of the stand, and the rod is let down gently upon it. The sugar prevents the rod descending into the tube, and of course keeps the window sash up. As soon as it begins to rain, the bell-mouth of the tube collects the drops, the sugar is melted, and no further obstacle being presented to the action of the India rubber springs, the sash is drawn down.

—A French artist, M. Bazin, has been experimenting lately, with the design of obtaining photographs of sunken vessels, so that in attempting to raise the same, positive knowledge can be had of their relative positions. To accomplish this M. Bazin descends to the necessary depth, in a strong sheet-iron box, which he calls his "photographic chamber." Thick glass windows afford every facility for making the necessary preliminary observations, and the picture is taken by the aid of a strong electrical light. An unpleasant feature of the apparatus, and one which would not recommend it to pleasure seekers, is, that the operator is absolutely hermetically sealed, for no means are provided for supplying air, the chamber being constructed of a proper size to contain the quantity required during the ten or twelve minutes occupied in obtaining a negative.

—The excellent washerwomen of Holland and Belgium, who "get up" their linen so beautifully white, use refined borax as a washing powder, instead of soda, in the proportion of one large handful of powder to about ten gallons of boiling water. They save in soap nearly one-half. All the large washing establishments adopt the same mode. For laces, cambric, etc, an extra quantity of the powder is used; for crinolines, required to be made, a strong solution is necessary. Borax being a neutral salt, does not in the slightest degree injure the texture of the linen. Its effect is to soften the hardest water, and therefore it should be kept on every toilet table. To the taste it is rather sweet; it is used for cleaning the hair; it is an excellent dentrifrice, and in hot countries it is used, in combination with tartaric acid and bi-carbonate of soda, as a cooling beverage. Good tea cannot be made with hard water. All water may be made soft by adding a teaspoonful of borax powder to an ordinary sized kettle of water, in which it should boil. The saving in the quantity of tea used will be at least one-fifth.

SUMMARY OF THE WEEK.

General Intelligence.

President Lincoln's funeral car recently arrived at Quincy on its way to the Union Pacific railroad.

The members of the New York Seventh Regiment are now considering the proposed trip to Paris. It will cost $300,000.

A gold fever has broken out in the vicinity of Washington; gold having been found on both sides of the Potomac above Georgetown.

A counterfeit of the new five-cent coin is in circulation. It may be distinguished from the genuine by the softness of the metal.

Land is being surveyed near Washington for the erection of the new White House for the President, and for an extensive new National Park.

The Government printing office has acceded to the demand by the workmen for the adoption of the eight hour system, and work has been resumed.

A new association, called "The Sons of Africa," a rival of "The Sons of Arabia," has been started. It is intended to sustain the Freedman's Bureau, and other matters of similar color.

The object of the new secret order in the South, "The Knights of Arabia," is supposed to be the conquest of Cuba, and it is reported that expeditions will sail from New York, New Orleans and Mobile, this month, comprising in all 20,000 men.

The cholera, which had suddenly sprung up last week in the Western cities to a mortality of twenty-five a day, in Cincinnati and Chicago, has almost as suddenly diminished. At the latest accounts the mortality in those places was only four or five a day.

Counterfeit one dollar greenbacks are circulating now quite freely. The paper is browner, the engraving coarser, the green tint lighter, and the bill generally has so faded an appearance that it would be easily detected by comparing it with the genuine bill.

Secretary Seward has addressed the United States District Attorneys in the South, warning them against a scheme to impose upon the freedmen by inducing them to emigrate to Peru and other foreign countries under false promises of bettering their condition.

It is reported from Washington—probably not true—that Secretary Stanton has tendered his resignation, and that he will be sent to Spain as Minister of the United States. Also, that Lieutenant General Sherman, who is now in the far West, will be requested to assume charge of the War Department.

It is now stated that C. C. Flint, the absconding proprietor of the Old Dominion newspaper, took $22,000 with him in his flight, and that he has gone to Europe. His brother, H. M. Flint, appears to have been the perpetrator of the Philadelphia Ledger hoax, in regard to certain questions put by the President to the Attorney General.

The newspapers in various parts of the country are noting an immense increase in marriages since the close of the war, showing that nature is exerting her recuperative power to make up for the ravages of the battlefield and hospital. In Ohio, the increase in 1865 and 1866 over 1859 and 1860, is 55 per cent. Similar statistics compiled elsewhere show similar results.

A hitch has occurred in the eight hour business at the Government printing office in Washington. The proprietors of private establishments having remonstrated against the adoption of the system, the authorities here, in accordance with a previous arrangement with those parties, having gone back to the old style of reckoning the working day.

No less than six serious steamship disasters have been recorded within a week. Steamer Sheridan went ashore at Body Island, coast of North Carolina; the Daniel Webster was abandoned off Hatteras; the Santiago de Cuba had her decks swept by a heavy sea, losing several passengers overboard; propeller Starlight went ashore on Barnegat Shoals; the Andrew Johnson was driven ashore on the North Carolina coast, and last, and most fatal, the Evening Star foundered at sea, and more than two hundred passengers were lost.

The Treasury Department still receives considerable remittances of conscience money. Recently the sum of $500 was received, inclosed in a communication dated Hudson City, New York, Oct. 9, 1866, in which the writer stated that at a time when in the service, a new recruit placed that sum in his possession for safe-keeping, and soon afterwards deserted. An order was shortly afterward issued to the effect that all money belonging to deserters should be turned over to the Treasury; but the writer says he was ashamed to turn the money over to his commanding officer, and therefore determined to retain possession of it until the proper time came. He expresses a hope that the Secretary of Treasury will pardon his neglect, and not make the affair public. He had served three years in the army, had two brothers in the service, and states his willingness to serve the Government again in case of emergency. Instead of affixing his signature to the epistle, the writer made four queer-looking hieroglyphics, bearing a quaint resemblance to phonograpic signs, but as yet no person has succeeded in deciphering them.

Foreign News.

A fox chase was gotten up near Montreal on the 15th, in which several Americans participated. A Bostonian carried off the brush.

Advices from Europe state that Russia is preparing for war against Turkey, and that there is a prospect of war between France and Prussia.

The Bahama Islands were recently visited by a terrible hurricane, wrecking many vessels, destroying houses, and doing immense other damage.

The inundations in France were subsiding at the last accounts. Great damage had been done, and the Emperor headed a subscription with 100,000 francs.

Wylde Harding, the notorious husband of the notorious Belle Boyd, was one of the passengers drowned by the foundering of the "Evening Star;" and Lieutenant W. P. Dixon, of the United States 6th Cavalry, was also lost.

The Atlantic cable announces the death of M. Thouvenel, the great French statesman, and for many years Minister of Foreign Affairs. Mr. Thouvenel was born in 1818, and was therefore forty-eight years of age.

A Fenian picnic excursion party, steaming up the Niagara river, on Saturday, the 13th, saluted the British gunboat "Rescue" with Irish national airs by the band, and shook the Irish flag defiantly. The Lion growled, ordering the party to return, and threatening to fire into them.

So satisfactory is the financial success of the Atlantic cable, that it is in contemplation to construct another line direct to New York. This was announced at the Cable Banquet in Liverpool by Mr. Elliott, one of the most active promoters of the line to Newfoundland.

The Mexican "Empire" dies hard. Wing-and-wing with the rumors of French evacuation and the United States protectorate of Mexico, comes the statement that Maximilian has taken the field in person, at the head of a splendidly appointed army, and that French officers of distinction are on their way to Mexico, as though the beginning and not the end had just been reached.

At the London banquet in honor of the cable layers, a message was read from the Queen, conferring Knighthood on Captain Anderson, Professor Thompson, Messrs. Glass and Canning, and a Boronetcy upon Mr. Sampson and Mr. Gooch. The Queen says her reason for not conferring distinguished marks of her favor upon Mr. Cyrus W. Field, is an apprehension that it might encroach upon the province of his own Government.

A terrible hurricane commenced in the Bahamas on the 30th ult., and lasted two days. Almost half of the town of Nassau was destroyed by the storm. Houses were blown down, roofs carried away, and trees uprooted. Trinity church was demolished; the Government house lost part of its roof, and the roof of the Marine Hospital was entirely blown off. Vessels were driven ashore and knocked to pieces, and wharves were demolished. The neighboring islands suffered in the same degree, and a large number of vessels have been lost or damaged. This hurricane is the severest which has been experienced since 1813.

Egypt is to have a Constitution. The country will be divided into sixty electoral colleges, and each college will elect one representative who will be invested with the same right as the members of the French legislative body. All the elements of which the population of Egypt is made up, Turks, Arabs, Armenians, Copts, &c., will have a voice in the nomination of the members of the legislative body, and the laws will be prepared by a special body, corresponding with the French Senate and Council of State. The Turkish Porte has authorized the adoption of the Constitution, and the French Government gives the movement a warm suppport.

The South.

The work of exhuming the Federal dead in the State of Georgia has commenced, and will be continued until all are removed to the National Cemetery at Marietta.

Isaac Cromie, of Louisville, died in August, 1865, leaving $160,000 to be shared by the Louisville Presbyterian Orphan Asylum and the New York Sisters of Mercy. The title of neither institution was exactly given in the will, and the heirs at law are endeavoring to avoid the bequest on that ground.

A correspondent of the Richmond (Va.,) Enquirer, writing from Ruckerville, in Greene county, Virginia, says: "Last week an attempt was made to murder an old man by the name of Jarrett, in this neighborhood, by pouring an ounce of hot lead into his ear, and strange to say, he escaped with a bad burn."

A North Carolina correspondent, writing from Portis, Franklin county, gives an interesting history of the Portis gold mines, their history and yield. He says that it is undoubtedly the richest mine in the world. A wealthy company, chartered by the State, and investing a capital of $500,000, has been organized to work them.

The Legislature of Mississippi is in extra session. The Governor, in his message, submits the constitutional amendment, but scouts at the idea of its ratification. He favors the admission of negro testimony in all the courts, and recommends aid for the relief of Confederate soldiers, and for the education of their children.

There are reports of great strikes of oil in West Virginia in the valley of the Kanawha. Some wells are said to be yielding fifteen hundred to two thousand barrels per day. White Oak, Burning Springs, and Standing Stone are the localities most in repute. A railroad is in course of construction, and the Little Kanawha river is to be made navigable, by locks and dams, to accommodate the increasing business of the trade.

The West.

Colonel Gilmore, of Chicago, has received the appointment of Postmaster of that city.

The census of Chicago, just completed by the School Agent, foots up 200,415 souls, no allowance being made for absentees.

Since August 1st, 1,500 deaths from cholera occurred in Cincinnati, 3,700 in St. Louis, 865 in Nashville, and 700 in Memphis.

The population of Fond du Lac, Wis., is estimated at about 14,000, showing an increase of nearly 3,000 in the past twelve months.

The Ute Indians are committing outrages in New Mexico. A detachment of soldiers had a fight with them recently, killing thirteen, and driving them.

The Common Council of Madison have decreased the police force in that city by two. A policeman there receives the enormous sum of $1 per day.

At St. Louis, on the 17th, a fearful boiler explosion took place, blowing up two buildings, and killing twelve or thirteen persons. The boiler had been condemned.

Montana is overflowing with Utah flour, and there will be a loss on it, as well as on much general merchandise, which has been taken into the Territory this season in excess of demand.

A drunken ruffian in Cairo, Illinois, a few days since, who had mounted his horse and was trying to ride down every one he met, was shot by a boy ten years of age, and his life is despaired of.

Professor A. Wood, with a party of gentlemen, lately ascended Mount Hood, in Oregon. His report establishes the fact that Mount Hood is really a volcano, and that it is the highest mountain in the United States, being 17,000 feet.

The sale of public lands advertised to take place this month at the Council Bluffs, Fort Dodge, and Sioux City Land Offices, has been postponed for one year, by an order from the Secretary of the Interior.

In Westport, Dane county, Wisconsin, on Saturday, a young man named Barnard Ruddy, about eighteen years of age, was handling a loaded gun, when it was accidentally discharged, almost instantly killing his mother.

A State Union Prayer Meeting, which all Christians are invited to attend, has been called by clergymen of Springfield, Ill., and various other parts of the State, to meet at Springfield on the 14th of next month, and to continue till the 19th.

An old man had his throat cut from ear to ear, in the vicinity of Blue Lick Springs, Ohio, a few days ago, by a young man named Stewart, who fancied his wife had been insulted by his victim. The murderer was arrested, but escaped.

A young lady near Summit, Waukesha Co., Mo., was injured in a shocking manner a few days ago. She was getting out of a carriage, when the horse caught his foot in her hoop skirt, dragging her under his feet, stamping upon and kicking her until she was shockingly mangled.

A Mormon mob, of some forty or fifty persons, attacked three families of unarmed settlers on the night of September 24, on the banks of the Jordan river, three miles from Salt Lake City, tore down their houses, and drove the settlers away, threatening to kill them all if they dared to recross the river.

On the Milwaukee & Prairie du Chien railroad, the bridge across the Wisconsin river, at Lone Rock, gave way, precipitating an engine and three freight cars into the river. Fortunately, but one man was killed. An hour before the accident occurred, the express passenger train crossed the bridge in safety.

The Davenport Gazette says a contract has been made by the Merchants' Union Express Company with the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad to run their freight over that road. The efforts of the monopolists to prevent them have proved a failure. The Merchants' Union will be ready for business on that road in a few weeks.

At Red-Bud Mills, near Peoria, Illinois, on the 15th, the house of George Grazier took fire from the explosion of a kerosene lamp. Mr. Grazier was severely, if not fatally, burned, as was his oldest boy. But the most heart-rending part of the whole tragic affair is the fact that his three youngest children, a babe one year old, a little girl of seven, and a boy of nine years, sleeping in an adjoining room, could not be rescued, and were all burned to death.

Captain Fisk, in a letter to Governor Marshall, of Minnesota, says more than 3,000 emigrants have been murdered by Indians on Bowman's cut-off route, and the whole route is strewn with fresh graves. He ridicules the present disposition of troops on the Upper Missouri, saying that the soldiers sent out to protect travelers are not distributed on the routes of travel, where they would be of service in case of danger.

On Friday night, the 12th, two children of Solomon Combs, of Fulton county, Ill., were drown in the river, a mile below Copperas Creek Landing. The children had been laid on a horse, to go home, while their mother followed on foot. While crossing the river on a flat boat the horse plunged into the river and swam around to the end of the flat boat, knocking the children off. Both were drowned. This, too, was in sight of the poor mother. The bodies were recovered.

Last week a girl at Milwaukee, in the employ of the Wisconsin Paper Company, while engaged in picking and assorting rags, found $1,050 in 7-30 bonds and greenbacks in an old knapsack, which had been purchased along with some other rags. She communicated her good fortune to two of her companions and shared the money with them. They kept the matter secret, and left the employ of the company, seeming to feel quite independent. Their first action, of course, was to purchase some expensive articles of dress. This led to suspicions that something was wrong, and led to an investigation, when the facts of the case were brought out. Between $900 and $1,000 of the money was recovered and taken possession of by the company.

The East.

Horace Greeley was nominated for Congress by the Republicans of the Fourth District of New York on the 15th.

There was another execution at New York the 19th. Franz Ferris, a wife-murderer was hanged. This makes the third execution there within a fortnight.

Ristori, the great tragedienne, now playing in New York, has already pocketed the sum of $26,910, as her share of her theatrical engagements in New York and Brooklyn—six nights and one afternoon.

A contest interesting and agreeable to the traveling public, has sprung up between the Grand Trunk railway of Canada, and the other through lines. The Grand Trunk has put in a regular auctioneer blow, knocking down the fare between Buffalo and Detroit to four dollars.

During high mass last Sunday, Vicar General Starrs said that the work of rebuilding St. Patrick's Cathedral would begin immediately, and that with the exception of a few improvements, the building would present, when completed its familiar appearance.

A dry goods store in Albany was recently robbed of between four and five hundred dollars worth of silk goods by a male and female shop-lifter. Subsequently, Inspector Carpenter visiting that city with a full set of photographs of thieves, had the clerk pick out the likeness of the thieves, whom he succeeded in arresting. Photography is triumphant.

Hon. John Van Buren, one of the leading lawyers and politicians of New York, and the son of ex-President Martin Van Buren, is dead. He accompanied the official naval party dispatched by our Government to Russia, and on his return from Europe, on the steamship Scotia, he died on the 14th, his remains reaching New York two days afterwards.

AREAS OF THE TERRITORIES.—The following are the areas of the Territories (and States) made from late surveys, reported to the Surveyor General:

	Square Acres.		Square Acres.
Kansas	52,048,520	California	101,717,002
Nebraska	48,636 800	Oregon	60,958 720
Dakota	153,985,080	Nevada	71,737,741
Montana	92,016,480	Arizona	72,906 304
Colorado	66,072,202	Utah	55,356 63
New Mexico	77,668,640	Idaho	58,106,480
Indian Ter	44,154,240	Washington	44,795,160

United States, exclusive of water surface, 1,928,301,032 square acres, or 3,002,018 square miles.

The Evening Star Disaster.

NEW YORK, October 15.

The responsibility for the loss of the Evening Star continues to be discussed by the daily papers. The following interesting particulars are taken from the statements of passengers who were saved:

About midnight it began to blow a hurricane, with a very ugly cross sea, the ship lying in the trough of the sea. The night was dark, fearfully dark, nothing but the most solid and gloomy darkness all round; no view to cheer, nothing to remind the terrified passengers of the deep sea over which they rode but the foam of the spray which came in showers on our decks. At this time the hurricane was so furious and the steamship thrown so completely at its mercy that for the general safety the Captain was obliged to send the women all below and lock them in the cabin. We were now about two hundred and forty miles northeast of Matinella Reef and one hundred and eighty miles from land, and from this time until she went down she never changed her position.

At 3 a. m. October 3, we commenced bailing the ship from engine room and after cabin, at which the women helped with all their might and with all the strength of frenzy and despair. About 4 a. m. the starboard rudder chain got out of the sheave, and the wheelhouses were washed overboard. At 5 a. m. the engine was thoroughly disabled, in spite of the superhuman efforts of the chief engineer and his assistants. The increase of the water in the ship's hold soon drove the men from their duty, by the cargo's shifting aft. The hurricane was all this time blowing with a fury which was fearful, terrific and appalling in the extreme. At about 5 a. m. the Captain went into the cabin and notified the passengers that he had done all in his power, and that the ship would certainly go down. Some of the seamen were at this moment assisting in getting the boats from the fastenings to the ship. The Captain was exhorting the passengers to act coolly. The storm continued to howl in the most fearful and depressing manner, and now came the most thrilling moment of our trying time. The women shrieking frightfully, rushed on deck in the most frantic manner, tearing their hair, and in many ways acting more like lunatics than beings endowed with reason. Reason at the moment had certainly abdicated its throne, and nothing but the wildest stage of madness had the poor beings come to. The men were equally as violent, though for such a scene it may have been worse. The women commenced divesting themselves of their clothing, and madly and wildly plunged in the foaming surf, never to rise to its surface more. The Captain and crew tried their best to prevent this, to no avail. Despair controlled their actions, and rather than face a lingering death, many of them voluntarily sought that grave which opened with such fearful jaws to receive their mortal all.

While these fearful scenes were being enacted, which was about 6 a. m., the ship took a heavy lurch, settling fast. A heavy sea boarded her, and with one fearful, continued lurch down she went, and all was over with the Evening Star. Another statement says: Only four life preservers were on board the Evening Star, which were distributed among the ladies. The members of the ballet troupe and French Circus Company, not speaking English, could not understand what orders were given in relation to the boats, and very few if any managed to reach them. The shrieks of the frantic women could be heard above the roar of the angry waves, rushing to and fro imploring for aid, but it was each one for himself.

In addition to the French Circus Company and ballet troupe there were forty-two frail women, who for various reasons were seeking another field to prosecute their unholy calling. Some with impaired constitutions were migrating to a warmer clime; others were suffering with ennui and merely wanted a change of scene. It is stated that one young girl left a widowed mother, sister and child unprovided for, she being their only support.

John Thuro, of New Orleans, one of the passengers of the ill-fated vessel, bought a policy for $10,000 in the Accidental Insurance Company, for which he paid ten dollars. Several of the unfortunates had their lives insured for the benefit of those dependent upon them in the various New York companies.

SAVANNAH, October 15.—A private letter from Mayport Mills, Florida, says that Gonedsby, the second mate of the Evening Star, had arrived there, having left the steamer with a boat load of ladies. All but two were lost before getting near the shore. In landing, the latter were lost. One named Annie, from Rhode Island, and the other, Rosa Howard, of New York. Both became insane from want and starvation. The bodies were washed ashore. That of the latter was nearly devoured by sharks. The mate is barely alive.

Terrible Fire at Quebec.

QUEBEC (C. E.), Oct. 15.—At 4 o'clock yesterday morning, fire began in the house of Mr. Trudel, grocer, St. Joseph street, near Jacques Cartier market. Owing to the early hour of the morning, there were but few people about. The wind which had blown half a gale from the eastward all night, had slightly abated; still it raged with such fury as to cause serious apprehensions. By the time the fire brigade reached the scene, Trudel's house was enveloped in flames. The sappers were already there, but there was some delay in laying the hose and getting a force of water, which was not remedied for nearly an hour, enabling the fire to make rapid progress. No less than ten or twelve houses were on fire, and lumber and wooden sheds on all sides ignited.

By half-past five, eighty houses, all wooden, were in blaze, the flames, driven by the wind, spreading in all directions.

At 6:30 over 150 houses were consumed. The fire by this time ran along St. Joseph's and Notre Dame des Angus street and Valiera street, carrying everything before it. The church of La Congregation stood in great danger, but a sudden clearing of the wind saved it.

At 11 o'clock the whole centre of the district lying between St. Sauver and Lower streets, running parallel with the river, was a barren waste. Having nothing to feed on, it distributed itself in opposite directions, the wind increasing again, blowing gusts from every direction. Three separate conflagrations were observable at once. St. Sauvier Church, Dunn's soap and candle factory, Ries' rope-walk, and other large buildings were in flames. Along St. Valier street, toward the toll gate and streets surrounding the general hospital and convent, another terrible fire was raging with even greater fury.

CURRENT ITEMS.

Personal and Literary.

JOHN S. C. ABBOTT will lecture at Iowa City on the 25th inst.

MR. OSCANYAN, the Turkish scholar and lecturer, is making a lecturing tour in the West.

HON. HORATIO SEYMOUR and a party of friends, are now on a hunting excursion in Minnesota.

MR. W. W. STORY'S statue of "Medea" has arrived in England and is on exhibition in Southampton.

BISHOP COLENSO writes to the London Times defending his hymn books for not containing the name of Christ.

REV. SAMUEL D. BALDWIN, author of "Armageddon," died at Nashville, Tenn., last Monday evening of cholera.

MRS. ELIZABETH CADY STANTON announces herself a candidate for Congressional honors in the Eighth District, New York. James Brooks is one of the other candidates.

HORACE GREELEY is said to have already made a hundred thousand dollars out of his "History of the Rebellion," and will probably make a still larger fortune out of it.

A NEW religious magazine is announced by the American Tract Society, to be entitled Sabbath at Home, and is to be issued monthly, the first number in January next.

HOWELL ROSS, an eccentric old miser of Coosa county, Alabama, died recently. He lived in a log cabin, and by long continued hoarding, had saved nearly $300,000, which he left to his wife for life.

BARNUM'S fat woman last week broke down a cab in Toronto, and tumbled out in the mud, greatly exciting the respectful commiseration of the newsboys. The cabman will sue for damages.

MR SINN, the theatrical manager, has sued the Philadelphia City Item, for calling him a "handsome man, with beautiful tender eyes, a fine moustache and imperial." The homeliness of Sinn was proverbial.

"SOJOURNER TRUTH" is at Washington, D. C, laboring among the freed people, and instructing them "how to live in freedom." She is the only colored volunteer laborer in the District in behalf of the emancipated.

MRS. DEBORAH SAUNDERS, of Gloucester, Mass., was a century old, on the 4th. She is in good health, reads the newspapers without the aid of glasses, and has knit stockings and worked for the soldiers of the Revolution, the war of 1812 and the rebellion.

SIR HENRY HOLLAND spends his evenings quietly at Mr. Seward's house at Washington in playing chess with Miss Fanny Seward, the Secretary's daughter. This famous physician has attended to his own health with remarkable success. Though nearly eighty, he looks hale and hearty.

THE whole expense of Thoreau's trip to Canada, whereof he makes a most graphic account in his new book, just published, was, including two guide books and a map, just twelve dollars and seventy-five cents. He traveled on foot mostly, eleven hundred miles, for this small sum.

IN view of the fact that Messrs. Glass and Canning, Englishmen, will be knighted for the part they have taken in laying the Atlantic cable, the New York Tribune suggests that some national recognition should be given to Mr. Cyrus W. Field, to whom, more than to any other individual, the enterprise is indebted for its success.

ROGER WILLIAMS' remains, having lain 183 years without a stone to mark the spot, search was recently made for them, when they were found to have been absorbed by the roots of an apple tree. The place occupied by the spine and both legs was filled by a root with its two forks, and not a trace of bone was left. In his wife's grave was found only a lock of hair.

THE Boston Transcript announces the death of Joshua D. Robinson, author of the beautiful poem, "The Little Boy that Died," which has been attributed to many leading poets. Mr. Robinson was a native of Hartford, Conn., but resided much of his life in Newburyport, Mass. He died of cholera at San Antonio, Mexico, where he had lived for a number of years.

A MONUMENT of granite, costing $18,000, has just been erected at Mount Auburn, Cambridge, Mass., to the memory of Wm. F. Harnden, the founder of the express business in America. Its marble tablets are inscribed, "Because the King's business required haste."—First Samuel, 21, 8, and "Erected by the Express Company of the United States, in the year 1866."

MR. JERRY HAYES, of Centreville, Pa., who claims to have made a good oil barrel out of the rough in 18 minutes and 30 seconds, and has given a challenge to any other man in the sum of $1,000 to compete with him at a similar trial, is answered by Peter Moran, of Cleveland, who offers to bet $1,000, and put up the money, that he cannot make a good oil barrel out of the rough in 18 minutes and 30 seconds, and also another $1,000 that he can make a barrel as quick as Mr. Hayes can.

THE late Commodore Stockton was remarkable for his independent manners. While in Constantinople many years ago with his squadron he was, on being introduced to the Sultan, admonished to address him in French, but to forbear delivering his address until his Majesty had spoken first. The Commodore committed his French speech to memory, but forgot all about it; when the Sultan made his appearance, and without waiting for permission to address him, he rushed up to him as the monarch entered the audience room, and said, grasping him by the hand: "How do you do, Mr. Sultan?"

THE editor of the Union Vidette, of Salt Lake City, has been assailing the peculiar institutions of the Mormons, and has therefore lately been taken in hand by the Danites. Himself and his foreman while on the way home one night were seized by a band of ten or twelve ruffians in disguise, and were compelled to promise to leave the Territory, under the threat of instant death. He says, however, "the promise to leave the Territory, and take Capt. Brown and Dr. Williamson with us, was extorted by force, and is therefore, according to our views of moral philosophy, invalid," and he will remain.

MR. RAREY, the horse-tamer, whose death took place recently at Cleveland, was a man remarkable for his modest and loving nature. It was by his tenderness and affectionateness that he succeeded in conquering the obedience of the most untamable horses. The English officers and noblemen with whom he was in personal relation while he was in England, looked upon him not only as the friend of their horses, but as their personal friend, and missed no opportunity to testify their regard for his beautiful nature. Mr Rarey was not only a public benefactor by taking one of the noblest of animals to be better treated, but he taught also the world to emulate his example, and to see how it works a combination of goodness and intelligence may do not only for horses, but also for the higher animal—man.

Domestic Paragraphs.

—A drunken man in Alexandria hid $4,00 where he could not find it when sobe.

—Petersburg, Va., reporter has been presented with two lovely young rattlesnakes.

—Mobile paper says the streets are redolent with milky ways, there are so many cows in them.

—Two boot-blacks of New York are to have a trial of skill for "The Championship of America."

—A Lockport druggist was recently fined $700, for incorrectly preparing a prescription.

—Not less than five thousand Chinese travel each way by the Pacific steamers from San Francisco to China.

—An Albany laborer found two $100 greenbacks sewed up in the sleeve of a coat bought at a second-hand store.

—Forty-eight millions of gallons of petroleum oil have been exported from the United States in the last year.

—A New York milliner has just paid $95,000 cash for a palace on the Fifth avenue, for business purposes.

—C. W. Ricketston, of Pittsburgh, who died suddenly a few days ago, had life insurance to the amount of $80,000.

—A boot-blacking machine has made its appearance on the streets in Buffalo, to the great indignation of the "professionals."

—The appointment of a large number of Generals to sinecures with large salaries, is what burst the National Express Company.

—Seventy turkeys have grown fat on the grasshoppers on Deer Island, in Boston harbor, this summer, which they were sent out there to exterminate.

—The Davenport (Iowa) Gazette claims, taking Mr. Root's canvass as a basis, that Davenport contains a population of between eighteen and twenty thousand inhabitants.

—There was married in Oskaloosa, Iowa, last week, a man aged 78 and a woman aged 80 years. The man was a widower, while the woman is now taking her sixth husband.

—A lady in Jersey City on her death bed accused her husband of poisoning her. The poor man was quite startled until, at a post mortem examination, consumption was clearly shown as the cause.

—An enterprising chap in Maine recently sought to escape the responsibilities of being a father by sending a notice of his death to the papers. The scheme didn't satisfy the demands of the mother or the law.

—The Detroit Free Press says: "Justice Kuhn informs us that, out of 218 couples that he has joined together as man and wife within the last six years, not one-third are now living together."

—A New York correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial says that ex-Minister Bigelow will, on his return from France, unite with Chas. A. Dana in the establishment of a radical morning newspaper in that city.

—A child in Bethlehem, N. Y., was supposed to have died last week of diarrhea, and was prepared for the grave, and laid in its coffin. But its father heard a noise in the night, and to his inexpressible joy found the little fellow alive.

—Mr. Burr Andrews showed to the editor of the Davenport Democrat a basket of 100 apples which weighed 125 pounds, or an average of twenty ounces to the apple. He offers to wager $100 that this cannot be beat by any orchard in the United States.

—The funeral of a woman of bad character in Boston on Sunday, was disturbed by a collection of roughs who interrupted the services by hooting and groaning, and went to such lengths that it was found necessary to detail police to guard the coffin.

—The manager of the Nashville Theatre was perplexed the other night. The stage carpenter took laudanum, and the low comedian took the cholera. The play was commenced, however, and presently some body started a false alarm of fire, and thus emptied the theatre.

—The Postoffice Department find increasing trouble in New England, owing to refusals by railroad companies to carry the mails at established rates. From Boston to Lowell and Nashua the mail is run by horse-power, arriving in Lowell fifteen minutes after the cars.

—A project is on foot for supplying the city of New York with gas manufactured at the coal mines in Pennsylvania, and then conveying it through iron pipes, a distance of 150 miles, to the city. It is asserted that it can be furnished at a much cheaper rate than is now paid.

—A monster trout, measuring four and a half feet in length, three feet around the body and weighing 70 pounds, was caught in Lake Erie, 15 miles from Dunkirk, last week, by a Buffalo gentleman. It is the largest trout ever caught in the lakes of which we have any record.

—At Lewistown, Pa., on Monday night, a girl of 11 years, arose from her bed while asleep, hoisted the window, and deliberately crawled through, falling a distance of fifteen feet to the brick pavement in the yard below, and yet did not awake. Strange as it may seem, she was only slightly injured.

—One night last week, two loyal Kansans stopped a Missouri negro, who was driving a team, at Turkey Creek Bridge, over in Bourbon county, Mo., and demanded his money. The negro gave the rascals his empty pocket book, with which they left. This is about as mean as "stealing coppers from a dead negro's eyes."

—Postoffice clerks occasionally get off a funny thing. A clerk in our postoffice heard a tap at the window of the ladies' department, when who should he find there but a man by the name of Drake, to whom he said: "Mr. Drake, will you please go to the other side? this department is for ducks."

—On Saturday, the 6th inst., a couple of whales were seen off Sandy Hook by a party on a steamboat excursion in that locality. They remained in sight for some time, and frisked about and spouted in the most graceful and approved manner. Such a sight has not been witnessed on the Jersey coast in many years.

—The Colt's Patent Firearms Manufacturing Company, Hartford, Conn., have received an order for the manufacture of a thousand needle guns, conforming in all respects to the famous needle gun of Prussia. The company have also an order for the production of one hundred revolving cannon, at a cost of $100,000.

—A down east paper has a story of an interesting cat, which found a mouse caught in a cellar one night, and she took the trap in her mouth and carried it to the bedside of the mistress of the house; putting it down there, she commenced and continued to mew until the sleepers awoke, and helped the cat to the mouse.

—The Washington Republican notes the following extraordinary matrimonial coincidence: "The father-in-law of our fellow-citizen, A. Hart, Esq., residing in Philadelphia, celebrated yesterday his golden wedding, his eldest daughter's silver wedding, and, at the same time, the wedding of his youngest daughter. Relatives were present from Indiana, Ohio, and Germany."

—The Cambridge (Mass.) School Committee, adopted, but a short time since, a resolution that corporeal punishment shall not be inflicted on any girl in any school without the consent of her parents or guardian, which in each case must be first obtained. And that corporeal punishment shall not be inflicted in any school without the consent of the principal.

The Supreme Court of Erie county, New York, has been occupied at Buffalo for three days with a very ridiculous case. For the third time a jury has been summoned for the trial of the case, which seems to be interminable. The only question involved is the title of a little piece of land in the town of Newstead, the value of which is not more than fifty dollars at the utmost. Each party claims to have the fee simple, and the land has been surveyed and resurveyed by a dozen civil engineers. Altogether it is said the costs of the litigation amount to over two thousand dollars, but both parties are determined to fight it out on this line if it takes forever. The action was begun in 1859, and has thus already extended over seven years.

Foreign Gossip.

—Rumor has is that Gen. Tom Thumb will soon have another Thumb on his hands.

—More than a million of new laid eggs are daily imported into England from France.

—Elephant trampling as a means of capital punishment has been abolished in Hindoostan.

—About thirty journals were "killed" during the German war. The complaint is, that they "spoke their mind."

—Professor Agassiz says that "God save the Queen" is an old Swiss national air that has been known for centuries."

—A few days ago two hundred organ men and Italian itinerants in the musical line left England for America to ply their art.

—About five thousand coolies were sent to the West Indies last year. Ten per cent. of the whole number died on the voyage.

—In time of peace Europe keeps in arms nearly four millions of men, at an annual cost of over six hundred millions of dollars.

—An artist sketching in Switzerland sat down near the brink of a precipice, lost his balance, fell a distance of 163 feet into a lake, and was drowned.

—According to the census recently taken for the city of Paris, the population of the capital, exclusive of foreigners, traveling through it, is 1,700,000.

—The publishers of the Anglo-American Times, the American weekly paper in London, propose a similar journal in Paris, to be called the Franco-American.

—The Mont Cenis Railway is nearly done. It will be open for travel by winter. The incline sometimes attains 8½ feet to the 100, and some of the turnings have a radius of only 133 feet.

—There is an organized band of kidnappers in Pekin, China, who steal children and young women, and carrying them without the walls, put them to death unless paid large ransoms for their release.

—A London paper is responsible for the statement that a large quantity of the whiting manufactured at the chalk quarries on the banks of the Thames is exported to America to be returned mixed with flour.

—A new practice is in vogue among the fashionable of both sexes in Paris. They spend from four to five hours in the water of bath establishments, singing, playing games of dominoes, chess, etc., and also in flirtation.

—A Paris tradesman was in a fair way of making his fortune by advertising that a five franc piece was secreted in one of every hundred sausages sold; but his brother tradesman have stolen his idea and he is nowhere.

—The proposition made to send a section of the "original big tree" from California to the World's Fair, at Paris, is said by Dr. McGowan to be impracticable, for want of a saw long enough to cut it. The cutting will require a saw forty feet long.

—It is ascertained by the cholera returns in London, that the cases were always heavier on Mondays and Tuesdays than on any other days, owing to greater drunkenness which prevails on Saturday night, often extending over Sunday morning.

—It is an interesting item in the history of the Atlantic telegraph, that the manufacture of the wire for the cable laid this year kept nearly two hundred and fifty hands employed in England for eleven months. Upwards of thirty thousand miles were supplied.

—Among other novelties which seem likely to become very fashionable in Paris, are watches and chains made of hardened india rubber, which closely imitates different sorts of wood. Should these articles go into general use, the pickpockets will lose considerably.

—"Let me go," said a pickpocket to a gentleman in Paris, "and I will return your pocket-book—upon my honor I will; a 'pal' has it." The gentleman released him, and in a few days the pocket book and contents were restored. There is "honor" among thieves.

—During the performance of the "Barber of Seville," recently, at Hamburg, Miss Alice Riggs, of New York, sent Patti a bouquet larger than a corn basket, and which the pretty singer was unable to carry. She had to get assistance to remove it from the stage.

—The Emperor Napoleon is plunged in gloom by the successive deaths of all his most intimate friends—Morny, Mocquard, and now Bacciocchi. The latter was a Corsican, and a relative of the Bonapartes, and one more personally devoted to the Emperor than any other of his followers.

—One of the interesting features of the Paris Exhibition will be the collection of periodical literature now in course of formation in England. Newspapers, magazines, and pamphlets of all kinds are to be classified and exhibited; the issues of the year 1866 only to be included.

—It is announced that the privilege of printing the catalogue of the Paris Exposition has been sold at auction for $100,000 to a Paris bookseller. Upon this he calculates that he will make a profit of $40,000 by selling a million copies, the probable demand at the Exposition.

—A servant girl at a farm house in the vicinity of Guilford, England, dreamed one night, that the house was attacked by robbers, and, getting up, hid her watch in a roll of butter, where it was found at the tea several nights after, to the great surprise of the family and of Sarah herself, as well.

—An entertainment called "Lucifer in the Jaws of Hell," was announced recently at Dieppe, France, and crowds flocked to see it. At the appointed time, a great pile of wood, saturated with turpentine, was lighted, and the performer, clad in a fantastic fire-proof suit, and holding a huge fork in one hand, walked through the flame, stirring up the wood as he went. Encouraged by the applause, he entered a second time, lost his way, and wandered aimlessly forward and backward. The firemen, seeing his condition, exerted themselves to save him, and in a few minutes he was withdrawn. He died shortly afterward.

—Sensational paragraphs about the Great Exhibition of '67 are beginning to creep into the paper, and we are told that one of the novelties which will attract most attention is a new model guillotine invented by a compatriot of Count Bismark. The guillotine is capable of cutting off six heads per minute, and eight if properly handled. The machine is worked by steam, and the knife, instead of falling straight, cuts with a rotary movement. This reminds one of poor Louis XVI's telling Dr. Guillotin that the blade should be curved. The new guillotine can be taken to pieces and put together again in ten minutes; the engine works the wheels, and the machine can steam to the place of execution, and take the body up to the cemetery afterwards.

—Rev. J. P. Thompson describes a droll caricature which he saw in Geneva. At a distance it was simply the likeness of Louis Napoleon; but a closer inspection showed that the tuft of hair on the forehead was an eagle, the symbol of the empire, underneath which the "crows-feet" on the brow recorded Dec. ii. The ear was formed of a group of Savoyards tied hands and legs together; the moustache was a cannon with a musket protruding from its mouth; the beard was the flag of Austria; Mexico was tucked away under his collar; his neck was formed of the head of Orsini; while the pupil of his eye was a miniature likeness of Piux IX, tiara and all. It was a most significant picture: the whole story of Napoleon wrought into his personal features.

Irving and His Literary Friends—One of the Engravings Given to Shareholders in the Crosby Opera House Art Association.

From the Chicago Republican, Oct. 6.

Among the many beneficial results that will attend the distribution of paintings by the Crosby Opera House Art Association, probably the most important, because the most universal, will be the wide spread dissemination of elegant engravings from the works of great artists. It is impossible to over-estimate the effect which the presence of these fine prints in so many households will have in refining and cultivating a higher and truer taste for art among the people. Even the cheap, flaming-colored prints we used to see in country taverns and rustic residences had their mission, and accomplished their work in the cultivation of a love for the beautiful. But these finely executed copies of noble painting, mark in their extensive distribution, another epoch in the development of art culture. Next to a spendid painting, a fine engraving is most desirable for the walls of a drawing room or library, and the Crosby Association is doing a noble and valuable work in filling so many homes with engravings of the choicest and best. The effects of their presence will be visible, after many days, in a more rapid and thorough development of a true art taste in the West.

While these general remarks apply equally to all the beautiful engravings the Association furnishes to subscribers, we set out with the purpose of calling a little special attention to the picture entitled "Washington Irving and his Literary Friends," as one of the most desirable, in a popular sense, of the whole. The print contains accurate portraits, from the celebrated pencil of Schuessele, of fifteen of the most prominent literary celebrities of Irving's time—the best and most authentic portraits published. Besides Irving, the central figure in the group, the picture represents Hawthorne, his genial face lost to us, alas, forever; Longfellow, Prescott, Fenimore Cooper, J. K. Paulding, N. P. Willis, Tuckerman, J. P. Kennedy, O. W. Holmes, Simms, Bancroft, Ralph Waldo Emerson, Halleck, and W. C. Bryant—a collection of American literati well worthy to grace any home in the land. The likenesses are accurate, and the grouping more easy and natural than is often seen in similar works. It is a very effective and striking picture throughout, and, we believe, the best specimen of engraving we have ever seen from the burin of an American artist.

What adds to the value of the engraving is the fact that no copies are to be had after the distribution shall have taken place; some of the once well known faces are covered from earth forever, and can therefore never be reproduced, so that, as the years roll on, and copies of this print become more rare, the remainder will acquire additional and antique value, and those who possess them will be considered fortunate indeed. While each of the other engravings possesses an intrinsic merit of its own, which renders them all desirable ornaments of any home, the Irving engraving combines features which give it especial value, and which render it particularly sought for. The time will come when every copy of this print will command double or treble the price at which it is now furnished the public.

The original painting will very shortly be on exhibition in the Art Gallery of the Association in Chicago.

Would You have Done it, Reader?

Mr. Beecher related the following incident in one of his sermons:

"Not long ago, a gentleman who was engaged in the oil business had made some twelve or fifteen thousand dollars and he concluded that he had made enough—extraordinary as it may seem—and that he would wind up his affairs and come home. I do not believe one of you would have done it! Fifteen thousand dollars! Why, that is just enough to bait the trap of mammon! Well, he wound up his affairs, and was on the point of leaving, when he was met by a young man of his acquaintance (I believe they both reside in New York,) who had invested six thousand dollars, all he had, in an experimental well, and had been boring and boring until he had given out in discouragement. And coming to this man, he said, 'I shall lose six thousand dollars if I am obliged to give up my interest in that well,' and begged him to take it off his hands. 'I am selling out, not taking on,' says the man. But the young man plead with him, and out of personal kindness he said, 'Very well, I will take it.' In two days they struck a vein in this well, and it was an immensely fruitful well, and he sold his share for $200,000. The young man was present when the check was drawn on New York for the amount, and he felt like death, and mourned, and said, 'It is always my luck; I am always a little too late.' And the man said, 'You may take ten thousand of it, if you want.' The young man thought he was jesting, but he assured him that he was not, and said, 'I will make it twenty thousand, if it will do you any good.' 'Or,' said he, 'I will make it fifty thousand.' 'Well, said he take the whole of it, I do not want it. Give me the six thousand, and you may have the advantage of the good luck.' And so he gave the young man the two hundred thousand. All of you that would have done that, may rise up!"

A Railway Incident.

As a train of cars was last week approaching the Suspension Bridge, near Niagara, the conductor found a young man who could not pay his fare. The poor fellow was evidently in the last stage of consumption, and emaciated to skeleton proportions. He sat by himself, and his eyes were red, as though he had been weeping; but the laws of the company could not be transgressed, and he must leave the train. Not a person moved or spoke as the conductor led him from his seat, all shivering from the cold; but just as he reached the door a beautiful girl arose from her seat, and with bright, sparkling eyes demanded the amount charged for the poor invalid. The conductor said $8, and the young and noble girl took that sum from her pocket-book, and kindly led the sick youth back to his seat. The action put to shame several men who had witnessed it, and they offered to "pay half," but the whole-souled woman indignantly refused the assistance. When the train arrived in Albany the young protectress gave him money enough to keep him over night and send him to his friends the next morning.—Albany Argus.

.....A farmer, living in the western part of Massachusetts, applied to the proper authorities for a license to keep a hotel. It was replied that he lived on a by-road, little traveled, and where entertainment was seldom openly asked for. "I know it," he answered, "and yet there is a considerable demand for horse feeding and single meals of victuals." The result was that his application was granted. He raised his sign: "Entertainment for man and beast," and from that hour his traffic fell off. In two years time he disappeared from the list of landlords of the county, and the sign was removed.

Our informant asked him, "What in the name of common sense induced him to ask for a license?" "I had most excellent reasons for the application. Before I raised my sign, I had lots of cousins, more than I had an idea of, to visit me, to feed their horses, themselves, and stop over night. As soon as I hung out my sign my cousins began to fall off, and in a year or more not one came to see me. Keeping a hotel has killed that business."

If ever a man filled the idea of knowing how to keep a hotel, as the cant phrase is, that Western Massachusetts farmer did.

.....A Southern gentleman, putting up at the New York hotel, met on Broadway one of his former chattels, who, during the war, had taken a prolonged furlough for an indefinite period, and had not returned to his former residence in the sunny South Julius was all dressed up in snuff colored pants, white vest, blue coat with brass buttons, and purple kid gloves, and swung his cane as gracefully as any of the other Broadway dandies. "Well, Julius," said the gentleman, "what are you doing up here?" "Well, massa, I lives at the norf at present,—in the metropolis of the norf; I has a position as head man at a hotel" "What are you doing at the hotel—waiter?" "No, sah; no waitah; I'ze got a big thing at a hotel in Fulton street; in the summer time I bites the corn from the cobs for succotash, and in de winter time I chews up de cold meat for hash."

.....The more ill a man's luck is, the less likely it is to die.

In Use Five Years—And not a day out of order in that time.—Mr. Wm. A. West, of Dry Run, Pa., says: "We have had one of Wilcox & Gibbs Sewing Machines IN USE OVER FIVE YEARS, AND IT HAS NOT BEEN A DAY OUT OF RUNNING ORDER IN THAT TIME. We would not exchange it with our neighbors for the Wheeler & Wilson, or Grover & Baker, though I have nothing to say disparagingly of them."

THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK,		Oct. 20.
COTTON—Middling	$ 40 @	.41
FLOUR—Extra Round Hoop Ohio	10 20 @	12 85
WHEAT—No. 1 Milwaukee New	2 25 @	2 28
BARLEY	1 25 @	1 34
CORN—Sound Western Mixed	.97 @	1 00
OATS—New Chicago	.59 @	.61
PORK—Mess new	33.20 @	33 70
BEEF CATTLE—Common to good	12 50 @	16 00
DRY GOODS—Merrimacs	.21 @	.23
Bleached Sheetings—Mascoville	@	.25
Brown Sheetings—Stark	.23 @
Delaines—Manchester	.27½ @
Denims—Manchester	.33½ @
GOLD—Closed 147½.

CHICAGO, Oct. 22		1866.
BEEVES—Stock to prime	5 00 @	5 75
BEANS	.50 @	1.00
BUTTER—Good Tub	.22 @	.24
CHEESE—Western States	.13 @	.15
COFFEE—Rio	.27 @	.31
Java	.42 @	.44
EGGS	.27 @	.29
FRUITS—Green Apples—New	2.50 @	5.00
Grapes—per lb	.10 @	.18
Cranberries—per bbl	10.00 @	15.00
FLOUR—Winter White	12 70 @	14 75
Spring Extra	10 00 @	12 00
FISH—Mackerel, No. 1, half bbl	12.00 @	12 25
Whitefish, " "	6.75 @	7.00
Codfish, per hundred	9.00 @	9 50
GRAIN—Corn, No. 1	.70 @	.71
Oats "	.36 @	.37
Rye	.83 @	.56
Wheat—Spring No. 1 New	2.15 @	2.16
Barley Western—new	1.00 @	1 15
Hogs—Live medium	8.37 @	8.60
HOPS—Western	.45 @	.45
LARD	.17 @	.17¼
LUMBER—Common flooring, rough	32.00 @	35.00
PORK—Mess	31.75 @	32.00
POTATOES, per bushel	.50 @	.75
SHEEP—Good	4.00 @	4 50
SUGARS—Cuba	.12⅜ @	.14¼
New York Refined	.17⅝ @	.17¾
White B	.16½ @	.16⅝
SALT—Fine	@	2.65
Coarse	@	2.65
SEEDS—Timothy	2.60 @	2.85
Flax	2.62 @	3.00
WOOL—Medium washed	40 @	.45

CHAMBERLAIN'S IMMEDIATE RELIEF—A Tonic and Pain Killer, is the most valuable and cheapest family medicine in the world, will certainly cure, and if used in time will prevent, the following diseases, as can be proved by nearly one thousand letters from persons who have used the medicine: Cholera Morbus, Asiatic Cholera, Cramps, Colic, Coughs, Croup, Catarrh, Congestion, Colds, Cuts, Dysentery, Diarrhœa, Diptheria, Fever, Rheumatism, Fever and Ague, Neuralgia, Inflammation, Spasms, Sprains, Toothache, Earache, Headache, Backache, in short, wherever pain or soreness exists, either internal or external, there apply the medicine, and the patient will receive immediate relief.

It is the best! In 1849 and in 1854 this medicine cured many thousands seized with cholera, and its timely use as a preventative saved millions of lives.

It is the cheapest! One thirty-five cent bottle of this medicine will cure more complaints than one hundred dollars spent in employing doctors. The thirty-five cent bottle is as large as a fifty cent bottle of any other medicine.

It is warranted! One bottle of this medicine can be had of my agents, and the privilege given the purchaser of using one-half the contents on trial, and if it does not prove satisfactory the money will be refunded.

No family should be without it!

Dealers may tell you they have something else as good, but do not be deceived—ask for Chamberlain's Relief and take no other.

Sold by all the leading wholesale and retail druggists everywhere.

SWAIN MANUFACTURING COMPANY, 34 S. Water Street, Chicago, Sole Proprietors.

SWAIN'S HAIR BALM Restores Gray Hair.

MARCHING ON!

Constantly advancing in public favor throughout the United States, the British Colonies, and Spanish America, and needing

No Flourish of Trumpets

to proclaim the success, that standard article,

CRISTADORO'S HAIR DYE,

is now far ahead of any preparation of its class. People of Fashion at length thoroughly understand the terrible consequences entailed by the use of metallic and caustic preparations, and admit the superiority of this celebrated Dye. Manufactured by J. CRISTADORO, No. 6 Astor House, New York. Sold by all Druggists. Applied by all Hair Dressers.

DR. TOBIAS'

VENETIAN LINIMENT.

An instantaneous remedy for chronic rheumatism, headache, toothache, croup, colic, quinsy, sore throat, and pains in any part of the body. Remember, this article is a success—not an experiment; for 19 years it has been tested. No medicine has ever had such a reputation as this: silently it has worked its way before the public, and all are loud in its praise. "Chronic Rheumatism" Thousands who laid for weeks on a bed of agony, and never walked for months without the aid of crutches, with this complaint, can testify to the magical effects of this liniment. They are cured and proclaim its virtues throughout the land. Remember, relief is certain, and a positive cure is sure to follow. Headache of all kinds we warrant to cure. Putrid sore throat, quinsy, and diptheria are robbed of their terrors by a timely use of the Venetian Liniment. It has saved hundreds the past three months. Price, 40 and 80 cents a bottle. Office, 56 Cortlandt street, New York. Sold by all druggists.

ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS.—A druggist said the other day, you have no need to advertise your Porous Plasters, for every one sold certainly causes a dozen to be sold, and a dozen sells a gross, and so on. You will not be able to supply the demand soon. But we can supply a thousand yards a day.

AFFECTION OF THE SPINE CURED.

HARTFORD, Conn, Nov. 11th, 1861.

Messrs. THOS ALLCOCK & Co.—Please send, with dispatch, twelve dozen Allcock's Porous Plasters. Our daily experience confirms their very superior excellence. At this moment of writing, a man applies for one, who, by entanglement in the shaft of machinery, had both his legs broken, spine severely injured, and was for nearly a year entirely helpless. This man found relief very soon by application of a plaster to his spine. He was soon enabled to work, and now he labors as well as ever. He would cheerfully pay $5 for a single plaster if they could not be had at a lower rate. I am surprised that surgeons do not make use of these perforated plasters, to the exclusion of all others, as their flexibility and adhesiveness are greatly in advance of all other plasters with which I am acquainted; while the perforations peculiar to them rendered them greatly superior to all others for ordinary surgical uses. Knowing the plasters to be so useful, I have no scruples that my sentiments should be known.

J. W. JOHNSON, M. D.

Principal Agency, Brandreth House, New York.

Sold by all Dealers in Medicine.

A Household Necessity Exists for the use of Durno's Celebrated Catarrh Snuff.

The best known remedy for "a Cold in the Head," Headache, Snuffles, Sore Eyes, Deafness, and the worst forms of that loathsome disease, CATARRH.

It cleanses the entire head. Its effects are pleasant and wonderful, contains no tobacco, nor injurious ingredient. It has the highest professional testimonials. Sold by all Druggists for 25 cents per Box. Can be sent by mail on receipt of 30 cents for one Box, or $1 for four Boxes. Address JAS. DURNO, Postoffice Box 1235, New York City. Wholesale by D. BARNES & CO., 21 Park Row New York.

GO TO THE BEST.

BRYANT & STRATTON'S CHICAGO BUSINESS UNIVERSITY is the largest and most thorough Institution of the kind in the country, and young men going to Chicago should consult their own best interests by attending this College, where every department of a Business Education is thoroughly taught—Bryant, Stratton & Co's. Scholarships are good during life in forty-eight different Colleges—Address for College Paper, Circular, College Currency and Specimens of Penmanship. BRYANT & STRATTON, Chicago, Ill.

Invigorate the Responsible Organ.

The stomach is the responsible organ of the system. If the digestion is imperfect, every member, every gland, every muscle, every nerve and fibre is more or less out of order. All the fluids are depraved. The brain is clouded. The spirits are depressed. All dyspeptics know this to be the truth. It is not, however, half the truth. Columns would be required to enumerate the pains and penalties of dyspepsia, nor could any pen do them justice. Tens of thousands feel them; no man can describe them.

Can they be prevented? Can they be relieved? Can they be banished at once and forever? UNQUESTIONABLY THEY CAN. No dyspeptic has ever taken HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS in vain. Believe no one who says the complaint is incurable. This great vegetable stomachic will eradicate it—is eradicating it in thousands of cases over which medical practitioners have shaken their heads ominously, saying, "Nothing can be done."

The faculty has its fallacies. One of them is that Indigestion is the most difficult of all the ordinary ailments of mankind to combat and subdue. This is a mistake. Nothing can be easier than to conquer it if the true specific be administered. The vegetable combination which has become famous throughout the civilized world as HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is an antidote to the disease which has never been known to fail, and fortunately it is everywhere procurable. If you want to root it out and prevent its recurrence, take the Bitters daily. There is no discount on the testimony in its favor. If there is a man or woman who has ever tried it for Indigestion without being benefitted the fact has not transpired. Universal, uncontradicted praise avouches its wonderful tonic virtues.

CROSBY OPERA HOUSE

ART ASSOCIATION.

The Catalogues are Now Ready

CONTAINING A

COMPLETE LIST OF PREMIUMS

IN THE APPROACHING AWARD.

Sent Free of Postage to Any Address.

BISHOP & BARNES,

No. 115 Lake Street, Chicago,

[SIGN OF THE BLACK BEAR.]

Hat and Fur Factory.

WE are extensively engaged in the manufacturing of ladies' and children's

Fine Fur Garments

of every style, such as Capes, Half Capes, Victorines, Collars, Eugenies, Muffs, Cuffs, &c. Also, Gents' Fur Collars, Gloves, Caps, &c.

Sleigh Robes

of every description, all of which we sell wholesale and retail at manufacturers' prices. We pay strict attention to all orders from the country for dressing the skins, and making up any articles desired. Old Furs made over and repaired. We pay the highest market price for all furs and Skins sent to us.

Bishop & Barnes, 115 Lake St., Chicago.

CLARK SEMINARY

Offers both sexes good advantages in solid and ornamental branches. It has superior buildings, fourteen teachers, and is "one of the most successful schools in the West."

Aurora Commercial College

Is connected with the Seminary, and has all means and methods of illustration and instruction necessary to a complete business education. It has offices, store, bank, &c. After getting the Theory of Accounts, students are put into Actual Practice. Expenses are much less than in large cities; discipline and instruction more thorough.

Discounts made to Disabled Soldiers and Clergymen's Children.

TELEGRAPHING

Is taught by both paper and sound instruments.

For Circulars, address (enclosing stamp,)

G. W. QUEREAU, A. M.,

AURORA, ILLINOIS

WEED

AMONG THE ADVANTAGES CLAIMED for the WEED SEWING MACHINE, please note the following:

It can make but one Stitch, and that the Lock—this it never fails to do.

The Needle is straight—therefore sure and powerful.

The Blade of the Needle is SHORTER than that of any other Shuttle Machine in use.

Its speed is superior to most—thus producing more effect with the same effort.

It is not Noiseless, but few are more so.

They not only run quickly but easily

The Tension is the most simple and effective of any.

The feed is perfect. Admirably arranged for examination, cleaning, oiling, &c.

With its shuttle and straight SHORT needle—simple yet perfect feed and tension—speed and easy motion, it produces the best stitch, with the least trouble, in the shortest time, without destroying the life and elasticity of the thread or silk.

Special attention is called to the fact that the arrangements of the Weed Sewing Machine are such that a firm and elastic seam can be made with light tension, and retain the pliability of the silk or thread equally with hand sewing.

Prices correspond with those of other first-class Machines. Every Machine is Warranted to give perfect satisfaction.

Agents wanted. Extra inducements offered.

Northwestern Office, 102 Washington St., Chicago.

Weed Sewing Machine Co.

PAYSON E. MAYHEW, Agent.

Circular Saws,

WITH EMERSON'S

Patent Movable Teeth,

REQUIRE LESS POWER, less skill, less files—saw smoother and better—cut less kerf. The saw always retains its original size. Send for descriptive pamphlet, containing information of value to all interested in lumber, and sawing of any description.

Address, AMERICAN SAW COMPANY, No. 2 Jacob-st., near Ferry-st., N. Y.

Metropolitan Hotel!

COR. RANDOLPH & WELLS STS.,

CHICAGO, ILL.

BALDWIN & MERRITT, - - PROPRIETORS.

This Hotel has recently been enlarged by the addition of the May Hotel, and now contains Two Hundred and Fifty Rooms, well furnished and lighted with gas.

WANTED—SMART, ENTERPRISING Men to engage in a light and highly profitable business. No risk, large profits, and sure sales. Send stamp for circular giving full particulars. This is the best business chance ever offered in this part of the country. HALE & CO., 41

OLD RELIABLE!

CLOTHIERS

AND Tailors!

D. W. C. HARDY & CO.

Adrian, - Michigan.

... to secure unheard of bargains;

MAMMOTH STOCK

Always to select from and Eastern prices will be found here.

ONE PRICED SYSTEM AND

GOOD GOODS.

Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Be sure and find the OLD RELIABLE CLOTHING HOUSE, and for

Custom Work and Cloths

You cannot do better west of New York.

D. W. C. HARDY & Co.

Lathrops Block, Adrian, Mich.

EUREKA.

NOT CALIFORNIA WITH ALL ITS GOLD, BUT THE PLACE TO BUY

Boots & Shoes at

Prices that suit the times, at

MC'NICHOL & WILSON'S

EMPIRE

Boot & Shoe Store.

We shall keep constantly on hand a full assortment of the BEST

Eastern Work to be Found

Consisting of

LADIES' CALF, GOAT AND KID GAITERS, BALMORALS, SLIPS, And an endless variety of EVERYTAING usually found in a First Class Boot & Shoe Store. Our manufacturing department will be ably conducted and all work done by us warranted to give satisfaction. Those in want of Boots or Shoes will save money by calling, and will be sure to buy, for they can't fail to "see it."

☞ Remember the place—one door east of Curtis Drug Store,

Yes, 'Tis So!--Fact.

The subscriber would respectfully inform the citizens of Tecumseh and vicinity, that they have purchased the

On Railroad st. opposite Slayton, Tindall & Co's Warehouse, where they will keep constantly on hand a good supply of everything people may want, such as

FRESH

PORK, MUTTON

Lamb, Veal, Corned Beef, Salt Fish of all kinds, and in fact anything ever kept in this village, and will sell as reasonably as the times will allow. Call and see me,

A. S. Mathews.

Tecumseh, June ... 1.

DR. VELPAU'S FRENCH PILLS.

Ladies, take Particular Notice.

THE REAL VELPAU FEMALE PILL.

[WARRANTED FRENCH.]

THESE PILLS, so celebrated many years ago in Paris for the relief of female irregularities, and afterward so notorious for their criminal employment in the practice of abortion, are now offered for sale for the first time in America. They have been kept in comparative obscurity from the fact that the originator, Dr. Velpau, is a physician in Paris of great wealth and strict conscientious principles, and has withheld them from general use, lest they should be employed for unlawful purposes. In overcoming Female Obstructions, Falling of the Womb, Whites, Green Sickness, Suppression, Retention, or Immoderate Flow of the Monthly Discharges, they seem to be truly omnipotent, bursting open the flood-gates from whatever cause may have stopped them; but they are offered to the public only for legitimate uses, and all agents are forbidden to sell them when it is understood that the object is unlawful. Married ladies should never take them when there is any reason to believe themselves pregnant, for they will be sure to produce a miscarriage.

These pills are entirely safe under all circumstances, being composed entirely of substances from the vegetable kingdom.

Each box has the coat of arms for the City of Paris stamped on the box, with the words "Trade Mark" in French, to counterfeit which is a misdemeanor, and all persons will be dealt with according to law.

☞ Full directions accompany every box.

Ladies can obtain a box sealed from the eyes of the curious, by inclosing One Dollar and six post-office stamps to any respectable druggists, or to O. G. STAPLES, General Agent for the United States, Watertown, N. Y.

Agents,

Staiger & Fausel

PRACTICAL

Watch-Makers, Jewelers,

And Repairers of Clocks &c. &c.

J. D. Robbins' Jewelry Store, Tecumseh, Mich. Give them a call.

Farmers! Farmers!

THE

RAISIN MILLS,

is the place to get good grinding done. I pay particular attention to this branch of business,

CUSTOM GRINDING,

keep the Mill constantly in good repair and the 2nd Adam is always on hand with a pleasant smile to tend to the wants

OF MY NUMEROUS CUSTOMERS!

BRING GOOD CLEAN WHEAT, and I will warrant that Adam will give you satisfaction. SOUND

Wheat taken in store for Bread

Good White and Red Wheat Flour for sale. The highest market price paid

In Greenbacks

for good White and Amber Wheat

Mill Feed of all kinds for Sale.

SAWING DONE

for Customers on short notice. Bills of hard wood lumber sawed, and delivered if wished.

LUMBER FOR SALE

Cash paid for Saw Logs. Good hard wood slabs for sale by the load. &c. &c

I sincerely thank my numerous customers for their very liberal patronage, and shal endeavor to do as good work, and even better if possible in the future.

Woolston Comfort.

---

18 Pronunciemento. 66

GLOBE MILLS

This well known and popular Mill is

Now in Good Running Order,

and prepared to do Grinding Grists for the farmers in a satisfactory manner, will endeavor to make a good yield and have the flour suit.

Old Customers

I shall be pleased to retain, and would invite others to try and see

How well we can do For them.

To such as

PREFER EXCHANGING THEIR GRAIN,

to having it ground, I shall be ready to accommodate, having always on hand a

SUPPLY OF FLOUR,

There can usually be found at the Mill for Sale

Best White Wheat Flour,
Best Red Wheat Flour,
2nd best Red Wheat Flour,
At Wholesale or Retail.
Corn Meal, Bolted and Coarse,
Fine Midlings, B. W Flour,
Ship Stuffs, B. w. Bran,
Mixed feed for horses and cattle,
Corn and Oats ground for horse feed.

This Mill can more often grind, because of its unfailing

SUPPLY OF WATER,

and does more certainly have a supply of Flour and Feed always on hand, than any other mill for miles around.

Farmers are invited to bring their wheat to the Globe Mill and get THE HIGHEST MARKET PRICE.

They will always also usually find a market at the Mill for their other grains.

Wm. HAYDEN.

A. HOOD & CO.,

Are receiving a large stock of

CLOTHS, CLOTHING, HATS AND CAPS.

And all kinds of Furnishing Goods pertain to Gentlemen's wear.

A splendid assortment of

Cassimeres and Vestings

At A. HOOD & CO.

CHINCHILLA BEAVERS,

and all other varieties of Over Coatings

At A. HOOD & CO.

A good assortment of

Broadcloths

for Gentlemen's SUITS, or Ladies' CLOAKS

At A. HOOD & CO.

A large stock of HATS & CAPS of all styles FUR, FELT, CASSIMERE & SILK

At A. HOOD & CO.

A great variety of WOOLEN SHIRTS

At A. HOOD & CO.

Lots of YPSILANTI CLOTHS at the lowest figures, at A. HOOD & CO.

UNDER SHIRTS & DRAWERS

The largest stock ever brought to this town for sale at A. HOOD & CO.

ALL KINDS OF GLOVES

At A. HOOD & CO.

A nice stock of NECK TIES, new styles

At A. HOOD & CO.

TRUNKS, TRAVELING BAGS of all kinds, at A. HOOD & CO.

If you want a Coat, Pants or Vest TRIMMED Go to A. HOOD & CO

Lots of Ready Made Clothing

At A. HOOD & CO.

A choice lot of

ENGLISH MELTONS

for Ladies' Cloaking for sale at cost,

At A. HOOD & CO.

We still continue the Tailoring Business in all its branches, and are prepared to get up Garments on short notice, on as liberal terms as any other establishment. Cutting done on short notice.

We cordially invite our old customers to examine our Stock before purchasing.

A. HOOD & CO.

ONE OF THE LARGEST

ESTABLISHMENT

In Southern michigan.

One of the best filled Establishments!

A LARGE STOCK,

Most Varied

Stock of Furniture

Is to be found at

G. & H. Smiths'

ROOMS IN THE

NEW BUILDING,

South Side Chicago St, Tecumseh,

Great Bargains

Are now offered to wholesale or retail buyers.

Among our assortment of Furniture may be found,

Various Styles and Prices

OF SOFAS,

TETE-A-TETES,

MAHOGANY, EASY, WOOD SEAT, CANE SEAT

AND ROCKING CHAIRS

FRENCH, COTTAGE, COMMON AND TRUNDLE,

BEDSTEADS,

MARBLE TOP, WRITING, CARD AND,

TEA TABLES,

Nots, Cradles, Bureaus, Cribs, Desks, Show Cases, Stands, Book Cases, Cupboards, Washstands, Lounges, &c. &c. &c.

Furniture made to order on short n c by the best of Workmen.

LOOKING GLASSES,

COFFINS,

We keep constantly on hand a large and all assortment of Coffins and will make to order all kinds either Night or Day, and finished and trimmed in the best style.

A Hearse Furnished when Desired.

G. SMITH,
H. SMITH.

Tecumseh, June 11th, 1863.

Great Chance for Bargains.

CHAS. H. ADAM & CO.

BEBNG ABOT TO RETIRE FROM THE DRY GOODS IN TECUMSEH OFFER FOR SALE AT

GREATLY REDUCED RATES

THEIR ENTIRE STOCK OF DRY GOODS,

Consisting of Staple and Fancy goods, Yankee Notions

And everything usually kept in a Dry Goods Store.

This will afford the best opportunity

EVER OFFERED IN TECUMSEH TO OBTAIN BARGAINS IN DRY GOODS, FOR CASH.

GOODS SOLD AY THE PIECE

OR QUANTITY AT WHOLESALE PRICES.

All outstanding account must be settled within thirty days to save interest and cost.

C. H. ADAM & CO.

TECUNSEH, SEPT. 27th 1866.

NEW GOODS,

PRICES DOWN!

H. C. CONKLING

Would call the attention of the public to his new stock of

CHOICE GROCERIES

Just purchased in New York at the

RECENT DECLINE,

which he offers for sale

CHEAP.

All Goods warranted to give satisfaction. Cash paid for Produce, as usual,

5000 Firkins

Of Butter Wanted!!

Butter firkins to put out to be filled.—☞ Call and see those choice Teas: Don't forget, the old stand of Ketcham & Conkling.

H. C. CONKLING.

Tecumseh, May 7th, 1866.

DENTISTRY.

DR. A. PELHAM,

Resident Dentists.

Office over Fisher & Baker's Drug Store, Chicago St.

TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN.

☞ All branches of Dentistry performed in the neatest possible manner and at Reasonable Prices

---

We would respectfully inform the citizens of Tecumseh and vicinity that we opened a

MEAT MARKET,

at McGee's old stand in Bidwell's warehouse where we shall keep on hand everything in our line that the market affords, of the best quality that can be had.

We have also made arrangements for the manufacture of SOFT SOAP, which will be sold at reasonable rates. Ashes and grease taken in exchange and Soap delivered when requested.

Thankful for past favors, we cordially invite our friends to give us a call. All orders left at the Market will be promptly attended to. W. TAYLOR & CO.

$1,500 PER YEAR. We want agents everywhere to sell our IMPROVED $20 Sewing Machines. Three new kinds. Under and upper feed. Sent on trial. Warranted five years. Above salary or large commissions paid. The only machines sold in the United States for less than $40, which are fully licensed by Howe, Wheeler & Wilson, Grover & Baker, Singer & Co, and Bachelder. All other cheap machines are infringements and the seller or user are liable to arrest, fine and imprisonment. Illustrated circulars sent free. Address, or call upon Shaw & Clark, at Biddeford, Maine, or Chicago, Ill.

ROYAL HAVANA LOTTERY OF CUBA

Conducted by the Spanish Government,

$350,000

IN GOLD DRAWN EVERY 17 DAYS

Prizes cashed and information furnished, the highest rates paid for Doubloons and all kinds of Gold and Silver, also for all government Securities.

TAYLOR & CO., Bankers, 16 wall st. N. Y.

n790lysmp

THE CONFESSIONS AND EXPERIENCE OF AN INVALID.

Publised for the benefit and as a CAUTION TO YOUNG MEN and others, who suffer from Nervous Debility, Premature Decay of Manhood, &c., supploing at the same time the means of Self-Cure. By one who has cured himself after undergoing considerable quackery. By enclosing a post-paid addressed envelope, single copies, free of charge, mhy be had of the author.

NATHANIEL MAYFAIR, Esq., Brooklyn,

n790lysmp Kings Co., N. Y.

$90 A MONTH!—Agents wanted for six entirely new articles, just out. Address O. T. GAREY, City Building, Biddeford, Me.

THE NEW HARNESS SHOP!

J. D. SHOLES

Having opened a shop in the old

NEW YORK STORE,

Would respectfully invite the attention of his old friends to his very superior stock of

HARNESS, SADDLES, &c.,

Manufactured from the best materials by experienced workmen.

☞ Repairing neatly and promptly done.

☞ Tribou & Bidwell Bros. have a splendid assortment of Over-shirts, Drawers, Under-shirts, Neck Ties, Suspenders, and every kind of Gents' Furnishing Goods.

THAT'S RIGHT,

We Have It!!

VARIETY.

We would respectfully announce to the good people of Tecumseh and vicinity that

HIALEY & WALTERS

Have now on hand a large and well selected stock of

FAMILY GROCERIE

Which they are offering very low. They have in connection with their Grocery a

BAKERY,

and having secured the services of a first class Baker, are now prepared to furnish all, with Bread, Crackers, Pies, Cakes &c. They have furnished rooms over their store for the sale of

ICE-CREAM, LEMONAD

and by strict attention to business they hope to please all who patronize

---

L. DREW'S

NEW HARDWARE!!

Having received from New York and other eastern cities a large Stock of the following goods viz:

STOVES IN ENDLESS VARITY!

Iron, Steel Nails, Cutlery, Putty, Glass. Window Sashes,

House Trimmings,

Carpenter's Tools, Farming Tools Coopers Tools and Chain Pumps, Bolts, and a

Variety of SHELF GOODS,

PURCHASED FOR CASH Before THE LATE ADVANCE,

They are offered for sale at prices which defy competition. All kinds of

Tin ware

constantly on hand and made to order of the best material and by experienced workmen, also

Copper, Sheet Iron, and Zinc,

Also the

Good Samaritan COOKING STOVE, one of the best stoves in the country.

M. WRIGHT

Keeps constantly on kand, a large and choice assortment of

Drugs and Medicines,

PAINTS, OILS, VARNISHES,

FANCY GLASS WARE,

KEROSENE OIL GROCERY,

WALL PAPER,

PERFUMERY &c.

Also, agent for all the popular

PATENT MEDICINES,

ALCOHOL, Pure WINES, LIQUORS AND SPICES,

Also, a good selection of

FRESH GROCERIES,

Physicians' Prescriptions carefully compounded and all orders answered.

Medicines warranted genuine and of the best quality and sold at the lowest cash prices.

The Southern Michigan

MANUFACTORY!

IN FULL BLAST!

T. Cummins, Proprietor,

Would announce to the citizens of Lenawee Co, that he is still located in the Brick Shop on Railroad Street, Where he is now turning out the

Nicest, Best and Strongest,

WAGONS, CARRIAGES, SLEIGHS, BUGGIES, CUTTERS,

and in fact everything in his line from a baby cart to a large Omnibus. His prices are such as defy competition. So call and leave your orders.

☞ Job Printing in all its various branches neatly and promptly executed at this office.—Our charges are moderate.—Try us.

GO TO THE

LONG ESTABLISHED

Head Quarters, for

Groceries & Provisions,

A. JAMES

Is happy to inform his patrons and the public in general that he has heavily replenished his stock of Goods, to which he invites the attention of those in search of

Good Articles

AT FAIR PRICES.

His stock embraces about every article known in his line of trade—

SWEETS, SOURS & SPICES, SNUFF, SOAP & CIGARS,

Confectionery Candles,

FRUIT AND FISH

Stone and Wooden Ware,

&c.

He continuesto pay the highest market price for all kinds of Farmers Produce.

His stock embraces all kinds, uncer the ollowing heads:

MOLASSES,
SOAP, FISH,
SUGAR, SYRUP,
COFFEE, SPICES,
AMMUNITION, CANDIES,
CANDLES, TOBACCO,
FRUITS, SAUCES,
BURNING OILS.

OUR MOTTO IS,

Never to be Undersold.

Sorghum Men Attention!

LOOK AT THE CANE MACHINERY.

At Slayton, Tindall & Co's Warehouse.

New Styles of Mills, Evaporators and Horse Powers, never before introduced in Michigan. Patented by Powers & Stevens, of Wisconsin, and successfully and extensively used in the Western States.

Vertical and Horizontal MILLS,

of all sizes, of great strength and capacity, with patent adjustable rubber springs.

OVAPORATORS

divided into sections with instantly movable partitions over fire chamber, which is also divided into sections, and heat regulated by Patent Dampers, at will. Also Saccharometers and tools for full setts of Camp Implements for the manufacture of syrup & sugar

KIRBY Mower & Reaper,
BUCK EYE Mower & Reaper
CAYUGA CHIEF, Mower & Reaper,
" " No. 2 "
EUREKA Mower & Reaper,
EXCELSIOR Mower & Reaper,
NEW YORKER Mower & Reaper,
BALL Mower & Reaper,
HUBBARD Mower, QUAKER Mower,

Any other style Mower or Reaper you want can be had of SLAYTON, TINDALL & CO.

The Buckeye, Riding, Corn and Fallow Cultivator. The Stafford, Riding, Corn and Fallow Cultivator. 1, 2, and 3 shovel, one horse Corn Cultivators. Corn Plows. L. Green's Patent Peekskill Plows. Curtis' Plows, the genuine, from Mr. Curtis' own shop. For Sale by

LAYTON, TINDALL & Co

CURTIS & PARSONS

(DEALERS IN)

Having become proprietors of the well known establishment in Bidwell's Block on Chicago Street, would respectfully announce to the citizens of Tecumseh and vicinity, that they are prepared to supply them with every thing in the line of Hardware, Tin ware, Iron, Nails, Chains, Cutlery, Bells, Seelf goods Glass, Cradles, Scythes, Forks, Rakes, Carpenter's tools, Doors, Axes, Hoes Cistern Pumps, Putty, Spades and Shovels, Chains, Ropes and every article usually kept in like establishments.

HARDWARE

Especial attention is called to the large assortment of Cook and Parlor Stoves & Fixtures, of which they have a large variety, embracing all the latest improvements, We have also a Tin-Shop in opperation, for manufacturing & repairing all kinds of Tin, Copper and Sheet Iron Ware Stove-pipe, Eave Troughs, Milk-Pans, Dippers, Cups, Oil-Cans, and every conceivable article, from a Large Dish Pan down to a Tin whistle. We are sole agents for the Universal Clothes Wringer, for this vicinity.

GEO. CURTIS. WM. A. PARSONS.

The Pride of the West

THE TECUMSEH

RED MILLS

J. MILLER & SONS

Have rented the above Mills; thoroughly repaired the same, and are now manufacturing a No. 1 article of

FAMILY FLOUR,

We are also prepared to furnish

CORN MEAL, SHIP STUFFS AND

Mill Feed, at all times.

CUSTOM WORK

Done with neatness and Dispatch and

WARRANTED TO GIVE SATISFACTION.

The Highest Market Price in

Cash, for Wheat!

Give us a trial, and we will warraet that you will not go away dissatisfied.

JOHN MILLER & SONS.

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the condition of a certain Mortgage made by Thomas Horan and Sarah Horan his wife mortgagors, to Ambrose S. Berry mortgagee, bearing date the fifteenth day June in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and fifty-nine and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the county of Lenawee and State of Michigan, on the 15th day of June 1859 in Liber 28, of mortgages on pages 769 and 770 on which said mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice, fifty-nine dollars and eighty-nine cents and no suit or proceedings at law having been instituted to recover the same or any part thereof. Notice is therefore given that on the 17th day of November 1866, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the front door of the old Methodist Church in the city of Adrian in said county of Lenawee, that being the place for holding the Circuit Court for the county of Lenawee, I shall sell at public auction or vendue to the highest bidder the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof, as may be necessary to satisfy the amount due on said mortgage at the date of this notice with interest and the costs and expenses allowed by law together with the attorneys fee as provided in said mortgage, that is to say—all that tract or parcel of land situate in the city of Adrian, in the county of Lenawee and State of Michigan, described as follows: Village (now city) lots one (1) and two (2) on Block number thirteen (13) for a more particular discription reference being had to the Plat of the village (now city) of Adrian as recorded in the Registers office of Lenawee County aforesaid.

AMBROSE S. BERRY, Mortgagee.

WM. L. GREENLY, Attorney for Mortgagee.

Dated Aug. 14th, 1866.

Hear Ye! Hear Ye!!

Do you want the best Card pictures in this section.

Do you want those gems of art, Opatotypes or Porcelains? Do you want work warranted? Do you want to suit yourselves? Do you want the best that Art affords? Then go to Powers rooms over the P. O. Tecumseh, Michigan, and you can find FIRST CLASS WORK of every description. He is bound not to be out-done in any branch of the business. Pictures of any size done to order in INDIA INK, WATER or OIL COLORS, on short notice and in the best style

Persons having small Negatives which they like can have pictures made from them life size or smaller as they choose and finished in India ink water or oil colors. Give him a call and examine his work. You will find him gentlemanly, courteous and ever ready to oblige. He is bound to give satisfaction to all. No poor work allowed to leave the rooms He has the best instruments known and acknowledged to be such by all superior Artists. One half of the pictures that took the premium at the last County Fair, over A. J. Hougs name, were of Powers make. Do you want proof, call and examine. Powers has served three years in the army, and deserves the patronage of the public. You will find him prompt, active and always at his business. June 25

KNOW THY DESTINY!

Madame E. F. Thornton, the great English Astrologist, Clairvoyant and Psychometrician, who has astonished the scientific classes of the Old World, has now located herself at Hudson, N. Y. Madame Thornton posses such wonderful powers of second sight, as to enable her to impart knowledge of the greatest importance to the single or married of either sex. While in a state of trance, she delineates the very features of the person you are to marry, and by the aid of an instrument of intense power, known as the Psychometroscope, guarantees to produce a life-like picture of the future husband or wife of the applicant, together with date of marriage, position in life, leading traits of character, &c. This is no humbug, as thousands of testimonials can assert. She will send, when desired, a certificate, or written guarantee, that the picture shall fulfil what it purports to be. By enclosing a small lock of hair, and stating place of birth, age, disposition and complexion, and enclosing 50 cents and stamped envelope addressed to yourself, you will receive the picture and desired information by return mail. All communications sacredly confidential. Address in confidence MADAME E. F. THORNTON, P. O. Box 223 Hudson, N. Y.

FOR SALE.

HOUSE and LOT within five minutes' walk of the Post Office. The house is in good repair—conveniently arrayed, and well provided with water. There is a barn on the premises, also plenty of good fruit.

The above described property will be sold at a bargain. Inquire at this office.

Boots and Shoes

FOR SALE!

The subscriber offers for sale, a small stock of Boots and Shoes of my own Manufacture, cheap for cash, one door West of National Hotel.

S. WORTH.

The Tecumseh Herald.

C. M. BURLINGAME, Publisher. "The Constitution, the Union, and the Enforcement of the Laws." Terms per year $2 00 in Advance.

VOL. XVII. NO. 23. TECUMSEH MICHIGAN. THURSDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 1, 1866. WHOLE NO. 833.

Now Ready!
New Fall and Winter Goods!

MERRITT, MEEKER, & Co
North side Chicago St

Mr. Wm. Van Camp having just returned from the City of New York, we are now prepared to submit to the inspection, the largest and best ever offered in the Village of Tecumseh.

SELECTED STOCK OF GOODS

Having purchased the same from first hands for cash We are thereby enabled to offer special Inducements to our patrons. And not only be able to maintain but largely increase our reputation for having the largest, best assortment and cheapest stock of Goods west of New York City.

CONSISTING OF

Foreign & Domestic Dry Goods
FANCY DRESS GOODS.
Yankee Notions and Hosiery!
HATS & CAPS,
GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS,
Broadcloths, Cassimeres, Over Coatings, Vestings and Cloakings, Plain and Fancy Flannels, Ladies' and Gents' Furs, Hoods, Nubias, Breakfast Shawls, Buffalo Robes, Gloves, Mittens, &c. &c.

Special attention is called to our CLOTH DEPARTMENT. As we have a large assortment of Eastern Cloths, and having the exclusive sale of Cloths manufactured at the Ypsilanti Woolen Mills, we are prepared to sell as low as any one in Southern Michigan.

E. H. ESTES,

Having purchased the interest of

J. S HENDRYX, in the

THE GROCERY BUSINESS,

Will keep constantly on hand

SALT BY THE BARREL,
Sack or by the pound.

CHOICE TEA,

COFFEE, TOBACCO,
FISH, &C.

Also a good assortment of

KEROSENE OIL,
LAMP CHIMNIES.

SARGENT'S PAT. LANTERN,
And all things belonging to the business.

CALL AND SEE HIM.

WANTED.
ALL THE TORN
RAGGED
AND MUTILATED
GREENBACKS
AND
POSTAGE CURRENCY
In the County, at par value
In exchange for which I offer my
ENTIRE STOCK,
Comprising the largest and finest assortment of
BOOKS & STATIONERY
GOLD PENS, CUTLERY, ALBUMS,
SHEET MUSIC,
BLANK BOOKS, PAPER COLLARS
YANKEE NOTIONS
&c., &c.,
IN NORTHERN LENAWEE
At prices that defy COMPETITION
Rush in the Rags, no matter how badly torn or soiled. Remember the place, in the Post-Office Building.
G. T. Ketcham.
P. S.—I shall continue taking Green-backs and Postage Currency not mutilated as heretofore, until further notice.

D. ROBBINS.
(Successor to ROBBINS & DEWOLF
DEALER IN
CLOCKS, WATCHES,
FINE JEWELRY,
SPECTACLES,
WALL PAPER,
SCHOOL BOOKS,
FANCY GOODS,
YANKEE NOTIONS,
TOYS, ETC., &c.
—o—
I will sell any of the above goods as
Cheap or Cheaper than any other dealer in the country, and
WARRANT
all goods sold as good as recommended.
—o—
CASH FOR RAGS!
—o—
J. D. Robbins.
TECUMSEH, ... MICHIGAN.

TECUMSEH TIME TABLE

GOING SOUTH.

Mail and Express,	6:50 A. M.
Day Express,	1:12 P. M
Freight,	4:40 P. M.

GOING NORTH.

Mail and Express,	3:42 P M.
Evening Express,	9:30 P. M.
Freight,	8:05 A. M

Business Directory.

TEMPLE & MURRAY
Carpenters and Joiners, Manufacturers of Doors, Sash, Blinds, Gates &c.
S. W. Temple's Shop, Tec. Mich.

A. HOOD & CO.
Dealers in Hats, Caps and Clothing, &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

GEORGE HEESEN,
Dealer in Ready Made Clothing, &c.
One door west of the Bank.
Chicago st Tecumseh, Mich

TRIBOU & BIDWELL BRO'S,
Dealers in Dry Goods, Groceries, &c. &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh. Mich.

WARD & STRICKLAND,
Dealers in Dry Goods, Groceries Ready Made Clothing &c. &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

RICHARD D. MOORE.
Dealer in Dry Goods, Fancy Goods &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

MERRITT, MEEKER & CO,
Dealers in Dry Goods and Fancy Goods
hicago street, Tecumseh, Mich.

ALFRED JAMES.
Dealer in Groceries, Confectionaries, &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich

HENRY C. CONKLING.
Dealer in Groceries Provisions, &c., &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, M.

MOSES WRIGHT,
Dealer in Drugs, Medicines, Toilet, &c.
Chicao St. Tecumseh, Mich.

D. N. CURTIS.
Dealer in Drugs, Paints, Oils, & Notions.
Chicago St Tecumseh, Mich.

FISHER & BAKER.
Dealers in Drugs, Medicines, Paints &c.
Chicago St Tecumseh, Mich

GOULD & WALDO,
Dealers in Drugs, Groceries &c.
Chicago St, - - Tecumseh, Mich.

EDWIN B. WOOD.
Attorney, Counsellor, and Notary Public.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

C. A. STACY,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law, &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

BILLS & BAXTER.
Attorney's, Councellor's and Solicitors.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

McNAIR & HEWITT.
Justice's of the Peace, Insurance Agents.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich

CURTIS & PARSONS,
Dealers in Hardware, Tubs, Pails, &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

Hong & Stevens.
Dealer in Boots, Shoes, Leather &c., &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

Henry Nyland
Dealer in Boots & Shoes & Leather.
One door west of Bank, Tecumseh.

EMLAY & COURTER
Dealers in Saddles, Harness and Leather.
Chicago St Tecumseh, Mich.

HORACE BREWER.
Steam Engine and Machine Founder.
Railroad St. Tecumseh, Mich.

SLAYTON, TINDALL & CO.,
Dealers in
Produce and Agricultural Implements
Railroad St. Tecumseh, Mich.

J. D. ROBBINS.
Dealer in Jewelry, Clocks and Notions.
Chicago St Tecumseh, Mich.

G. T. KETCHAM.
Bookseller, Newsdealer and Stationer
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

WOOLSTON COMFORT.
Raisin, Flouring, Grist and Saw Mills
Tecumseh, Michigan

H. B. MATHIAS.
Dealer in Tobacco, Cigars, and Pipes.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich,

W. K. FOWERS & CO,
Photographs, Ambrotypes and Albums,
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

MRS. C. M. BISSELL.
Photograph and Ambrotype Artist, &c.
Pearl & Chicago Sts. Tec. Mich

G. & H. SMITH,
Dealers in Furniture and Upholstery
Chicago St Tecumseh, Mich.

DR. A. PELHAM,
Surgical and Mechanical Dentist,
Chicago St Tecumseh, Mich

DR. E. HAUBE,
Surgical, and Mechanical Dentist.
Chicago St. Opposite P O.fice.

NATIONAL HOTEL,
Chicago Street, Tecumseh, Michigan.
MERRITT & BURGHER Proprietors.

HIRAM WESCOTT,
Paper Hanging, Whitewashing, &c., &c
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

EXCHANGE HOTEL
Railroad St. - - - Tecumseh, Mich.
D. FISH, Proprietor.

The Tecumseh Herald.
C. M. BURLINGAME,
Publisher and Proprietor.

Local and Miscellaneous.

Rates of Advertising.
(One inch of column constitutes a square.)

	1 wk	3 wk	3 m	6 m	1 yr
1 Square	$1 00	$ 2.00	$ 6.00	$ 7.50	$10.00
2 Squares	1.75	3.50	8.00	12.00	15 00
3 Squares	2.75	5 00	11.00	16 00	20.00
¼ Column	5.00	9 00	12.00	18.00	25.00
½ Column	7.50	12.00	18.00	25 00	36.00
Column	12.00	15.00	20.00	35.00	60.00

☞ No advertisement considered less than one square Transient advertisements must be paid for in advance. Advertisements unaccompanied with directions for the number of insertions, will be continued until ordered out, and charged accordingly. Business cards of five lines, or less, inserted at $3.50 per year.

☞ Work neatly executed at this office. Charges reasonable

Grand Trunk Railway.
The Cheapest, Quickest, and Safest route
TO THE EAST.
Tickets to all the Eastern cities and intermediate places for sale at this office.

☞ Rooms to Rent. Also a good Cow for sale. Apply at this office.

☞ Mink Muffs, with the head of the animal on them. A new style at MOORE'S.

☞ Furs, Furs, Furs, at Moore's.

☞ Merritt, Meeker & Co. are closing out their Boots and Shoes at New York cost.

☞ If you want Buffalo Robes at low figures, go to Merritt, Meeker & Co.

☞ A full assortment of Ypsilanti Cloths, just received at Merritt, Meeker & Co.

Dudley Waller.

This oratorical prodigy spoke to a large and appreciative audience last Tuesday evening in the Baptist Church. It would be useless to particularize his pieces as they were all exceedingly well rendered. His extract from Widow Bedott and Shannon O'Brien were among the best which he gave Tuesday evening. The President announced at the close of the entertainment, that the next lecturer would probably be Dr. Haven but the time was uncertain. His subject will be the newspaper press.

☞ Mr. S Depuy presented us with 27 varieties of apples, a very large pumpkin and a very beautiful boquet, for which he will accept our thanks. Mr. DePuy is evidently blessed with two things in this world, a fine flower garden and a wife or daughter of most exquisite taste, for both these are indispensible in a boquet such as he favored us with.

☞ Ward & Strickland are now receiving one of the largest, best and cheapest stocks of goods ever brought to this town. If you want Dry Goods, call on them. If you want Groceries, call on them They have a splendid assortment of Ready Made Clothing which they are offering at very reasonable prices. For anything that you want, we would advise you to call at The Great Cheap Cash Store of Ward & Strickland, and our word for it you will not go away dissatisfied.

Literary Society.

The first regular meeting of the Literary Society was held last Monday evening It's regular meetings will be held every two weeks on Monday evenings at Good Templars' Hall until farther notice. The following resolution was selected for discussion one week from next Monday evening:

Resolved, "That the wrongs of Ireland justify modern Fenianism."

The following disputants were appointed:

Affirmative—C. B. Thomas, O. P. Remington and W. C. Fisher.

Negative—S. C. Stacy, P. W. Adams and J. S. Fulton.

☞ There is no use talking—the place to buy Boots and Shoes is at the Cheap Store of McNichol & Wilson. They are now receiving a large stock and are offering them at prices that defy competition. Give them a call before purchasing elsewhere.

☞ A LITTLE LESS THAN $500,000 WORTH OF GOODS, AT DRY GOODS STORE OF R. C. MOORE

☞ The largest assortment of Hats and Caps, and at lowest prices at Merritt, Meeker & Co.

☞ Gloves and Mittens, Ladies' and Gents' Under Clothing, the cheapest in the market at Merritt, Meeker & Co.

☞ Hoods, Nubias, Tom Sags, Breakfast Shawls and Scarfs, an endless variety, at Merritt, Meeker & Co.

☞ Everybody and his brother has gone hunting to-day.

UNION SCHOOL.

In our issue of last week, we spoke briefly of the manner in which the rhetorical exercises are conducted in the Union School, and made a brief review of the exercises of the week previous. We have now the pleasure of reviewing the exercises of Friday last, and comparing the work of the first division with that of the second.

It is an old adage, that "practice makes perfect," and this seems specially true in this case, for the exercises on Friday last were a very decided improvment on those of the week before, and we are of the opinion that the second division will have be wide awake in order to keep even with the first, should they do as well each succeeding Friday as they did on Friday last.

The essays of last week were among the best we have ever heard read in this school, on an occasion of this kind; and the fair essayists did themselves great credit, both in their productions and the manner in which they were read.

An attempt was made on Friday last, to establish a paper, which, so far as this issue goes, was a decided success, and if continued, it will add much to the interest of these exercises.

The paper last week was edited and published by Miss Ella Schreder and Sarah Train, and was made up of original essays, selected poems, and quite a variety of miscellaneous matter, which taken together, made it quite an interesting little sheet. We hope the ladies will continue to favor us with more of the same kind.

The declamations of last week, were also an improvement on those of the week before; and among the young gentlemen who deserve special mention for their ease upon the stage, and their clear and forcible manner of speaking, were Judson DePuy, George Pencil, Romeyen Miller and Albert Cummins.

The exercises were opened and closed with music, and ware upon the whole a credit to both scholars and teachers.

DANGEROUS CONSPIRACY.

Yesterday afternoon the officers at the State Prison discovered a daring conspiracy among the convicts to escape from that institution. Bortles, who recently made his escape to Canada, and an account of whose capture at Chatham we published a short time since, was the leader in the plot, and he contrived, by some means, to arrange the details of the conspiracy with eight other convicts.—The plan was to rise at three o'clock yesterday afternoon, overpower the guards and keepers, and liberate all the prisoners. For this purpose Bortles contrived to get a piece of chalk, and while the convicts were at dinner, he stealthily ciphered a large figure 3 on one of the tables Fortunately, however, the officers of the institution, having kept a sharp watch upon his movments since his recapture, discovered his designs, and the conspiracy was thus nipped in the bud.

Bortles and his eight confederates were immediately placed in irons and locked up in cells. The balance of the convicts seeing their plans frustrated, continued at their work during the afternoon, and made no effort to escape. Great credit is due the officers of the prison for their vigilance in the matter. Bortles is a desperate customer, and it is evidently not safe to allow him the least liberty. Twice foiled in his strokes for freedom, he will continue to hatch new projects for his escape; and as he appears utterly reckless of his own life, it will be necessary to exercise the strictest vigilance in order that he may not succeed in taking the lives of others.—Jackson Citizen, Oct. 31.

☞ "As my strength was, then even so is my strength now," said Joshua. So will every one who is now troubled with weak stomachs and worn out digestive organs If they will now and forever use Herrick Allen's Gold Medal Saleratus—for wherever it has made an acquaintance, it "sticks closer than a brother."—it will be your protector and shield, besides always giving you nice, light and digestible Bread, Biscuits, Puddings, Cakes, &c. Try it. Most of the merchants sell it. Depot 112 Liberty street, New York.

☞ R. C. Moore is now opening a large and elegant stock of Dry Goods consisting of Cloths and Cassimeres.
Brown and bleached Cottons.
Sheetings, 4, 5, 6, and 8 quarters wide.
Elegant Dress Goods.
Flannels, all descriptions.
Balmoral Skirts of most beautiful patterns.
Dress Buttons in great variety.
Anything you want in Dry Goods is to be found at lowest market prices at MOORE'S.

☞ The subscriber, E. Prichard, has 10 acres of Corn and 2 acres of Potatoes, and offers good inducements to any one who is desirous of obtaining employment. He proposes to give, for husking corn, every sixth bushel; for digging potatoes, every seventh bushel.

THE RECORD!!!

The Record, in its last Saturday's issue, saw fit to take us to task for defending ourselves against its attack of the week previous. It gives full scope to its organ of combativeness, and draws freely from the Dictionary for slang phrases and abusive epithets. It heaps a column of personal abuse upon the proprietor of the HERALD, but does not give a fair answer to a single one of the propositions or questions advanced in our article. "For proof of this, we rely on the impartial judgment of every intelligent reader, whose judgement is not perverted by" Dr. Roback's Bitters. It does not explain how it is consistent for an Independent paper, to raise a party flag, or for a paper professing temperance and morality to advertise whisky bitters and publish "Errors of Youth" notices; neither does it reply to a single one of the questions which we proposed, the reply to which its readers must look for with great anxiety. We should not expend our time and ink in answering the Record's article, were it not to correct a few glaring misstatements and to notice a few personal charges.

Our neighbor wishes to see a copy of the Metheglin item. He can see it. He complains, that we appropriated it as editorial.

It is customary with all newspapers to insert small news items without credit, but it is not customary for papers of respectability and character to insert half column editorials without credit as the Record does.

The Record says of our defense, "It contains several misrepresentations and falsehoods, namely,—that we get no job work." We said no such thing.

"That our subscriptions have decreased."—We were so informed, and believe it to be true.

"That his business has increased since the Record was established." We repeat the assertion, confident that we know our own business as well as the Record does.

"That the Record has made an attack on the HERALD." If Fulvia's article was not an attack, we are at a loss what to call it.

The Record stated, that the parties interested in that sheet had no capital, but had credit. The name of the firm is, P. R. Adams & Co. Was P. R. Adams compelled to borrow the capital which he put into the concern?

They claim that their credit is superior to ours. If that be so, we should be pleased to have the junior partner pay us that five Dollars of borrowed money, which he has owed since Dec. 1863.

They charge us with "accustomed rounds to the Beer and Whisky Saloons." We will willingly refer these three questions to the saloon keepers of Tecumseh:

1. Who has patronized them the most during the past five years—the Editor of the Record or the Proprietor of the HERALD?

2. Who, of these two, have the highest billiard bill still unpaid in this village, of two or three years' standing?

3. Who, of these two, spent his own money—what little was expended, at the saloon; and who squandered the "old man's" for a like purpose?

We are glad to observe, that our strictures upon the Record—which were perfectly just, every candid man must admit—have already produced a beneficial effect upon that sheet.

In last Saturday's issue it omitted Dr. Roback's Whisky Bitters advertisement. Next Saturday we confidently expect that it will discard its quack medical notice. It is hard for old rogues to walk in the paths of righteousness, but we wish the Record success in its work of reformation, "If it has vitality and discrimination enough to follow a good example, we still have hopes of it and will set it a pattern, worthy of imitation and lend it a helping hand to follow." If it continues to improve in the manner which it has during the past week, its columns will soon be as free from immoral advertisements as those of the HERALD

The Record boasts that it has five compositors to our one. We employ a journeyman printer, who is thoroughly conversant with every branch of his business; it employs apprentices; and we will willingly make a wager with the Record that our two hands can easily beat its six. If the HERALD with one compositor gives its readers a better paper than the Record can with five, the public will doubtless consider the former paper more worthy of their patronage.

In conclusion we repeat the questions of our last article, believing that they are pertinent to the issue between us, and feeling that a careful examination of them on the part of the Record will dispel the moral mist, which now obscures its vision and induce it to abandon its evil practice and learn to do good.

Until the Record sees fit to give us a categorical answer to these inquiries, we shall deem it unnecessary to continue this discussion on our part.

☞ E. W. Rappleye, invites his friends to attend his farewell dance and Oyster Supper, given at the Ridgeway Exchange, on Friday evening, Nov. 2d Trumbley's Quadrille Band will be in attendance. All lovers of the "light fantastic toe" should not fail to attend.

SCHOOL INSPECTORS' NOTICE.

The Board of School Inspectors for the township of Tecumseh, will meet at Union School Hall, in the village of Tecumseh, on Saturday afternoon, November 3d, 1866, at 1 o'clock, for the purpose of making an examination of all persons who may present themselves as candidates for teachers in the primary schools of the township.

Dated, Tecumseh, Oct. 28th, 1866.

CHARLES BURRIDGE,
Township Clerk.

☞ C. Saviers, of Franklin, sells at Auction at his residence on Thursday, Nov. 15, a valuable lot of farm property.

French Merinoes, Empress Cloths, Black Satin DeChine, for aprons.
At MOORE'S.

Hunters, Attention.

TECUMSEH, Oct. 29th, 1866.

At a meeting of the Hunters of this and adjoining towns, held at the National Hotel, the following rules and regulations for a general hunt, to come off on Thursday, Nov. 1st, 1866:

Resolved, That Gen. Brown and A. Hayden be Captains of the two sides.

The following persons were chosen to their respective sides:

CAPT. BROWN,	CAPT. HAYDN,
J. H. Wheeler.	Ade Mathews,
Bob. Stretch,	C. A. Wright,
L. J. Church,	S. W. Saddler,
P. Nichols,	J. Davidson,
J. Minor,	H. McDonald,
John Arner,	— House—Clinton,
B. F. Thompson	H. B. Strickland,
J. Dewey,	Wm. Kennedy,
James Clark,	Fred Deuel,
Geo. Merritt,	James Boyd,
B. L. Baxter,	Wm. B. Rowland,
C. K. Spafford,	Henry McDonald,
H. Fisher,	Chas. Adam,
Pete Welling,	John Durling,
Watt Aten,	Myron Ellis,
Wm. Aten,	Mathias Aten,
Rufus Adams,	Myron Wheeler,
W. H. Butler,	M. B. Burgher,
Lou. Bean,	Mat Conkling,
Clay Donnelly,	Miller Waldnsie,
Dr. Hause,	Hank Osborne,
Jake Arner,	Henry Stevens,
John Miller,	Wm. Sherd,
John Couples.	Brant Roberts,
A. Rosecrans,	Fred Zimmerman,
A. L. Richmond,	Jeff Kelly,
Willis Hood,	J. M. Clark,
Geo. Hughes,	Wm. D. Ramsdell,
C. Aten,	S. Pettit,
Dr. Pelham,	Flesh Phillips,
M. S. Tyler,	C. Cummins,
Ed. Fisher,	Wm. Usborne,
John Hialey,	H. Packard,
G. A. Tyler.	Lon Olmstead,
A. Hyde,	Hank Jones,
E. M. Grey,	John Heesen,
Ben Jones,	S. Niblack,
John Sones,	Lew Addis,
E. A. Morehouse,	Joe Robbins,
H. Richards.	C. M. Burlingame,
Webb Thompson,	Irv Kennedy,
Will Warring,	Wm. Clark,
Bill Kyle,	Wm. Grey,
Pat Hendershott,	Warren Stevens,
John Gillespie,	Geo. Ketcham,
Dick McConnell,	H. McGrey.
E. C. Crane,	J. L. Waldo,
Alf. Durling,	Ed. Merritt.
J. G. Warner,	Clint Kelly.
Thos. Osborne,	Miles Baldwin,
Jos. Simonds,	Frank Gilmore,
Jos. Van Antwerp,	W. Berdan,
Ben Woodard,	Capt. Kedwell,
Geo. McConnell,	John Hendry,
Silas Beals,	Hud Roberts,
— Coleman—Clinton,	P. C. Hosmer,
Geo. Williams,	T. Fish,
Lant Bangs,	M. Primrose,
W. H. Arner.	Barney Curry,
Frank Baxter,	L. Van Tine.
A. Richley,	Frank Johnson,

Resolved, That the following be the count of game:

Bear	500	Wild Turkey	100
Deer	250	Prairie Chicken	10
Wolf	100	Partridge	10
Fox	50	Quail	4
Coon	25	Wood Cock	5
Wild Cat	50	Duck	10
Rabbit	10	Snipe	2
Opossum	25	Vir. Rail	5
Wood Chuck,	20	Common Rail	1
Mink,	15	Crow	10
Fox Squirrel	5	Bittern	4
Black or Grey	4	Grouse	4
Red Squirrel	2	Hawk,	10
Chipmuck,	1	Owl	10
Hedge Hog	25	Wild Pigeon	2
Weasel	20	Meadow Lark	2
Eagle	100	Crane	10
Wild Goose	100	Mud Hen,	2
	Plover	2

Resolved, That all game be brought in for count whole, by 10 o'clock, P. M.—Supper at the National Hotel, at the expense of the losing party immediately after the count,

And, that, the Umpires should not declare the winning party, until after the supper.

Messrs. D. Ludlum, Wm. Harden, and Simeon Davidson were chosen Umpires.

It was moved and accepted, that there be a Game Supper at the National Hotel, Friday evening, following,

And, the proprietors of the Hotel, shall choose what game they want for such supper, free of charge.

Resolved, That the count be equalized, according to the number of the persons hunting on the respective sides.

Hillsdale Business Institute.

As many of our readers already know, the Union Business Institute of Hillsdale, Mich., is again in operation. It is with no small degree of pleasure that we notice the success of this Institution—one in which our citizens, and in fact the people of the whole State, have manifested so much interest. By the sad calamity of September 28 h a short vacation in the College was necessitated; but thro' the energy and perseverence of its enterprising proprietors—CALKINS, GRIFFIN & CO.—generously assisted by our public spirited citizens, the Institute is again in operation—offering to our young men, and others desirous of acquiring a first-class, practical business education, advantages unsurpassed anywhere, and certainly not equaled in this State. We say, then, to those expecting to attend some Business College this winter, first enquire into the merits and advantages of this College—keeping in mind the fact that here, entire satisfaction is guaranteed to every faithful student, that tuition and board are much lower than at any other points, that every interest of the student is looked after, that, in fact, advantages are here found combined which do not exist elsewhere.

Voted Down.

We see that a proposition to allow E S. Bonney the sum of one thousand dollars, to reimburse him for the loss he sustained while Treasurer of the town of Roll (through the People's Bank robbery of Hudson), was voted down at the late sitting of the Board of Supervisors—the vote standing, yeas 11, nays 12.

☞ If you want Balmoral Skirts, worth four Dollars for three, go to Merritt, Meeker & Co.

☞ Ladies' and Gents' Furs, in great variety at Merritt, Meeker & Co. Particular attention called to their Patent Muffs.

NEW COUNTERFEIT.—A new counterfeit $1 greenback is flooding the country. It is well executed and calculated to deceive. The chief points of difference from the genuine $1s are in the wrinkled and battered condition of Chief Justice Chase's physiognomy, and the inferiority of the lathe work around the large figure 1.

☞ Writing Desks, something new, cheap and portable, at Ketcham's.

Tecumseh Market.

	Nov. 1st, 1866.
White wheat	$2 60 a $2 65
Red do	2 40 a 2 50
Beans	1 00 a 1 25
Corn	50
Clover seed	8 00 9 00
Apples green	40
Butter per pound	27
Cheese " "	16
Hams " "	16
Lard " "	15
Eggs per doz	15
Potatoes, per bush.	40

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in a mortgage executed by John H. Phileo to John Wheelan, dated October 13th, 1863, recorded in the Register of Deeds' Office of Lenawee County, Michigan, October 13th, 1863, at two and a half o'clock P. M. in Liber 30 of Mortgages, on pages 17 and 18, upon which mortgage there is claimed due and unpaid at this date the sum of four hundred and eighty five dollars, and for the recovery of which no proceedings hitherto either in law or equity hath been taken. For the purpose therefore of realizing the money aforesaid with accruing interest and costs of foreclosure. Notice is hereby given that the premises mentioned in said mortgage and described as all that tract or parcel of land situate in the City of Adrian in the County of Lenawee and State of Michigan; being village lot number nine (9) on A. W. Budlong's plot as recorded in the Register's Office for Lenawee County, being on section thirty four (34) in the township of Adrian in the county and State aforesaid, will be sold at public vendue at the Circuit Court room known as the old Methodist Church Building in the City of Adrian in said county of Lenawee on the 18th day of January, 1867, at two o'clock in the afternoon.—Dated, Oct. 25th, 1866.

JOHN WHEELAN, Mortgagee.
E. B Wood, Atty. for Mortgagee.

CLOTHING!
AT THE
UNION HALL CLOTHING STORE.
JUST RECEIVED
$10,000 Worth of Clothing
For FALL AND WINTER!!
For
MEN AND BOYS WEAR.
Gents' Furnishing Goods,
HATS, CAPS AND CLOTHS
Of all descriptions which I will sell at very low prices at the
UNION HALL CLOTHING STORE.
Come One, Come All,
And judge for yourselves.
Clothing made to Order
IN THE LATEST STYLES.
And I will give you a good fit,
But be sure and give me a call.
For all who love the Union and flag,
Are welcome at Union Hall.
REMEMBER THE PLACE!
GEORGE HEESEN.

C. H. ADAM & CO.,
DEALERS IN
DRY GOODS,
Yankee Notions, &c.,
No. 2 Mechanics' Block,
oct 2tf TECUMSEH, MICH.

DISSOLUTION.

Notice is hereby given that the firm of Van Tine & Smith was dissolved on May 7th by mutual consent. All accounts due the above firm must be paid at the Cabinet rooms of G. H Smith immediately, and are costs. Tecumseh, Oct. 9, 1866.

830w4 GEORGE SMITH,
DAVID VAN TINE.

DITCHERS TAKE NOTICE.

The Drain Commissioners of Lenawee County will meet at the residence of Thomas Gafney's, Palmyra, on Thursday, Oct. 25th, 1866, for the purpose of letting jobs on drain No. 34. Said jobs will be let to the lowest bidder in sections to sell contractors.

By order of the Drainage Commissioners.
JUSTUS LOWE,
Ridgeway, Oct. 9, 1866. Secretary.

The above sale is hereby postponed until Thursday, Nov 1st, 1866
JUSTUS LOWE, Secretary.
Ridgeway, Oct. 25th, 1866.

AUCTION SALE!

Notice is hereby given, that the building known as the old Court House, situate on what is called, "Court House Square," will be sold at Auction, on Saturday, Nov. 3d, 1866, to the highest bidder—to be removed within twenty days after such sale. Sale at the premises, at 2 o'clock.

TERMS:—Six months' credit with approved security.

By order of the President and Common Council of the village of Tecumseh.
CHARLES BURRIDGE, Recorder.

Twenty Thousand Dollars worth of Dry Goods just received at Tribou & Bidwell Bro

Miscellany.

NOTHING TO DO.

A strip of snowiest linen,
Half broidered and stamped with blue,
And the gleam of a threadless needle
Piercing the pattern through;
The needle is ready, yet the sweet little Lady
Sits sighing for something to do.

Heaped on the table beside her
Blossoms of every hue:
Delicate, odorous roses—
The rarest that ever grew.
The vase stands ready, while the sweet little Lady
Sits wishing for something to do.

Half hid under flowers a volume
In daintiest gold and blue,
Just parted, as it would open
At "The Miller's daughter," for you!
The book lies ready, yet the sweet little Lady
Sits sighing for something to do.

A silent harp in the corner,
And melodies old and new
Scattered in pretty disorder—
Songs of the false and true.
The harp stands ready—still the sweet little Lady
Sits sighing for something to do.

A sudden wind sweep and flutter—
The door wide open blew;
A step in the hall, and swiftly,
Like a bird, to the threshold she flew;
Blushing already, the sweet little Lady
Forgets she has nothing to do.

HISTORY OF A WOODEN SHOE.

Towards the end of September, 1832, it was announced among the artistic circles of Paris, that Nicolo Paganini had fallen seriously ill, at the conclusion of a grand concert given by the illustrious violinist. He was attacked by a low intermittant fever, which refused to yield to the remedies employed, and even gave rise to apprehensions for his life.

Paganini whose leanness was already almost spectral, now seemed to have his frail existence suspended by a thread, which the slightest shock might sever. The physicians unanimously ordered solitude, absolute repose, and a strict regimen as to diet.

In order to carry out these prescriptions, Paganini removed to the Villa Lutetiana, in the Faubourg Poissonniere. This excellent establishment, which no longer exists, was intended exclusively for the reception of wealthy invalids. A spacious, comfortable house stood in a large, park-like garden, where each patient could ramble at will, and enjoy either solitude or society at his choice. A great charm at this house was that every one lived just as he or she pleased; in the evening, either retiring to the solitude of his apartment, or joining in the games, music, and conversation held in the drawing-room. Paganini naturally belonged to those who preferred to pass the evenings in quietness and retirement. There was plenty of gossip about him in the drawing room; three or four censorious old maids fell on him tooth and nail.

"Ladies," began one, "have you seen this great musician? He salutes no one, and never speaks a word. He takes his bowl of soup in an arbor in the garden, and then hastens away if any one approaches. What an oddity he must be?"

"That's part of his malady," said another; "people say that there is some terrible mystery about his life; some love-story, I imagine."

"Not at all," added a third; "Paganini is a miser; there's no mystery about that. Do you remember that concert which was organized in favor of the families who had suffered from the inundation at St. Etienne? The great violinist refused to take part in it because he would have had to play gratuitously. Depend upon it, he fears that, were he to mix in our society, he might be asked for similar favors,"

"Paganini guessed pretty well how he was regarded by his fellow-boarders, but, like Galileo of old, he cared for none of these things. His health became gradually better, yet in the whole house he never exchanged a word with any one except Nicette. This was the housemaid who attended on him; a cheerful, innocent country girl, whose gay prattle, when she served his meals, often availed to dispel the cloud which habitually darkened the brows of Paginini.

One morning Nicette presented herself with a sad, drooping countenance, and served breakfast without uttering a word. The musician, who was amusing himself with carving a piece of ivory for the handle of a dagger, noticed the change in the young girl, and questioned her upon it.

"What's the matter, my child? You look sad; your eyes are red; some misfortune has befallen you, Nicette?"

"Oh yes! sir;"

"Would it be indiscreet to ask you what it is?"

"No sir, not precisely; but—"

Paginini fixed his great black eyes on the girl's troubled countenance.

"Come," he said; "I see how it is. After having made you a thousand promises he has quitted you, and you no longer have any tidings of him."

"Ah! poor fellow! He has quitted me certainly, but it was not his fault!"

"How is that?"

"Because in the conscription he drew a bad number, and he has been sent away with a great long gun on his shoulder, and I shall never see him again," sobbed poor Nicette, as she buried her face in her white apron.

"But, Nicette could you not purchase a substitute for him?"

The girl, withdrawing her apron, smiled sadly through her tears.

"Monsieur is jesting," she said; "how could I ever buy a substitute?"

"Does it cost very dear?"

"This year men are tremendously dear, on account of the report that there is going to be a war. Fifteen hundred francs is the lowest price."

The musician pressed Nicette's little plump hand between his long sallow fingers as he said,—

"If that's all, my girl, don't cry; we'll see what can be done."

Then, taking out his pocket-book, he wrote on a blank leaf,—

"Mem. To see about giving a concert for the benefit of Nicette."

A month passed on; winter arrived, and Paganini's physician said to him,—

"My dear sir, you must not venture out of doors again until after the month of March."

"To hear is to obey," replied the musician.

During the winter a comparative degree of health and strength returned to Paganini. Having no longer the pleasant shady arbors of the garden to wander in as a refuge, he began gradually to linger a little in the drawing room. After dinner he used to throw himself on a cushion of crimson velvet, and pass half an hour in turning over a volume of engravings, or in sipping a glass of sugared water flavored with orangé flowers. The old ladies of the society gossiped on about him and his odd way, but he affected not to hear, and certainly did not heed them.

Christmas-eve approached. On the anniversary of the birth of Our Lord, a custom exists in France very dear to its juvenile inhabitants. A wooden shoe is placed at the corner of the hearth, and a beneficent fairy is supposed to come down the chimney laden with various presents and dainties, with which he fills it. It is calculated that one year with another the Christmas wooden shoe enriches the trade of Paris with two million francs.

On the morning of the 24th of December four of Paganini's female critics were in consultation together.

"It will be for this evening," said one.

"Yes, for this evening; that's settled," replied another.

After dinner Paganini was, according to his custom, seated on the drawing-room sofa, sipping his eau sucre, when an unusual noise was heard in the corridor. Presently Nicette entered, and announced that a porter had arrived with a case, directed to Signor Paganini.

"I don't expect any case," said he; "but I suppose he had better bring it in."

Accordingly, a stout porter entered, bearing a good-sized deal box, on which beside the address, were the words, "Fragile with care" Paganini examined it with some curiosity, and having paid the messenger, proceeded to open the lid. His long, thin, but extremely muscular fingers accomplished this task without difficulty, and the company, whose curiosity caused them somewhat to transgress the bounds of good manners, crowded around in order to see the contents of the box.

The musician first drew out a large packet, enveloped in strong brown paper, and secured with several seals. Having opened this, a second, and then a third envelope appeared; and at length the curious eyes of twenty persons were regaled with a gigantic wooden shoe, carved out of a piece of ash, and almost large enough to serve for a child's cradle. Bursts of laughter followed this discovery.

"Ah!" said Paganini, "a wooden shoe. I can guess tolerably well who has sent it. Some of these excellent ladies wish to compare me to a child, who always expects presents, and who never gives any. Well! be it so. We will see if we cannot find some method of making this shoe worth its weight in gold."

So saying, and scarcely saluting the company, Paganini withdrew to his own apartment, carrying with him the case and its contents.

During three days he did not reappear in the drawing room; Nicette informed the company that he worked from morning till night with carpenter's tools. In fact, the musician, whose hands were wondrously flexible and dexterous in other things besides violin playing, had fashioned a perfect and sonorous instrument out of the clumsy wooden shoe. Having enriched it with one silver string, his work was complete. Next day a public notice appeared, that on New Year's eve Paganini would give a concert in the large hall of the Villa Lutetiana. The great master announced that he would play ten pieces, five on a violin, five on a wooden shoe. The price of the tickets was fixed at twenty francs each. Of these only one hundred were issued, and it is needless to add that they were immediately purchased by the elite of the beau monde, who during several months had missed the pleasure of hearing Paganini. The appointed evening arrived: the hall furnished with comfortable chairs, was prepared and lighted for the occasion, elegant equipages were stationed along the Faubourg Poissonneire, and expectation was on tip-toe to know what the announcement respecting the wooden shoe could possibly mean.

At length Paganini appeared, smiling, with every appearance of renewed health, and on his favorite violin played some of those marvellous strains which never failed to transport his auditors to the seventh heaven of delight. Then he seized the shoe, which, in its new guise of a violin, still preserved somewhat of its pristine form, and his whole being lighted up with enthusiasm, he commenced one of those wondrous improvisitations which captivated the soul of his hearers. This one represented first the departure of a conscript, the tears, the wailing of his betrothed, then his stormy life in the camp, and on the field of battle, and finally, his return, accompanied by triumph and rejoicing. A merry peal of wedding bells completed the musical drama. Long and loud was the applause; even the old ladies who disliked Paganini could not refrain from clapping, and bouquets, thrown by fair and jewelled hands, fell at the feet of the musician. In a corner of the hall, next the door, Nicette was weeping bitterly; the symphony of the conscript had gone straight to her heart. At the end of the concert the receipts were counted; they amounted to two thousand francs.

"Here, Nicette," said Paginini, "you have five hundred francs over the sum required to purchase a substitute; they will pay your bridegroom's traveling expenses."

Then, after a pause, he continued, "But you will want something wherewith to begin housekeeping. Take this shoe-violin or this violin-shoe, and sell it for your dowry."

Nicette did so, and received from a rich amateur six thousand francs for Paganini's wooden shoe.

It is now, we believe, in the possession of an English nobleman, who was formerly British Ambassador at Paris.

Advertising.

There are comparatively few business men who understand the art of advertising. Some men advertise for a short time after they commence business, and think that is sufficient; others omit advertising after they have established a flourishing business by its aid. From the moment a house ceases to advertise, however large its reputation and standing, it begins to decline. The changes are so rapid in this country, the public mind is so constantly occupied by new applicants for its attention, that to be out of the paper, where everybody seeks information on every subject, is to be forgotten. The press is daily becoming a necessity, and its usefulness as an advertising medium is constantly increasing. No man is wise or just to himself, who undertakes to do business without availing himself of its advantages.

A blacksmith would be looked upon as foolish, if he were to pile coal upon his forge and neglect to blow. The merchant who fills his store, or the tradesman who opens his shop, and fails to keep the fact before the people, is equally short-sighted. The trade may come, but it will be slow indeed. Be up and doing; show people that you are at work—striving to succeed, and we warrant you hard times will never knock very long or very hard at your door. Providence helps those who helps themselves, and the largest crops come from the best tilled fields every time. This being the fact, business men generally, will do well and reap a rich harvest, by advertising their goods and wares, that the seed may be scattered broadcast throughout the land, and thereby add much fruit to their granaries.

Do not pursue the miserly way of marking your business down—that of posting slips of printed paper upon fences, or painting boards and nailing them upon public or private houses, with letters of some particular article for sale at some particular place—keep yourself prominent before the people by advertising.

Our Increase of Population.

Mr. Elkanah Watson, the friend of Benjamin Franklin, John Adams and Edmund Burke, died in 1858, in his eighty-fifth year. In the year 1815, he made some calculations in regard to the future population of the United States, which have so far been verified in an astonishing manner. In 1810 the population of the United States was 7,239,903 Mr. Watson said:

The increase from 1790, the first census under the Constitution has been about one-third at each census; admitting that it will continue to increase in the same ratio, the result will be as follows:

Year.	Estimated Population.	Actual Results
1820	9,025,734	9,638,151
1830	12,833,645	12,866,020
1840	17,116,526	17,062,565
1850	23,135,363	23,191,876
1860	31,753,824	31,445,080
1870	42,328,432	.....
1880	56,150,241	.....
1890	77,526,989	.....
1900	100,250,985	.....

The actual figures of the three censuses following his estimate were written in by Mr. Watson himself, the other two are supplied from the census reports. The closeness of the estimates to the actual results is so striking as to justify belief in the correctness of the succeeding figures.

Mr. Osbaldeston—His Great Match against Time

The London Field gives the following particulars; "His greatest feat was his match against time at Newmarket, which he made with Col. Charrettie, and in which he undertook to ride 200 miles in ten hours, on an unlimited number of horses, for 1,000 guineas a side. Rarely, if ever before, had a match excited so much interest, and heavy sums of money were depending upot it. The squire took extraordinary pains to get himself fit, riding 60 miles of a morning, and shooting partridges in the afternoon to take the stiffness out of his joints. At length the eventful day, the 6th of November, arrived, and the undertaking commenced on the Round course, beginning and finishing at the Duke's stand. To add to the arduous nature of the feat, the weather was of the most frightful nature, the rain pouring down in torrents, and the wind blowing a perfect hurricane; still our hero was in no way disconcerted, and accomplished his first 25 miles in 58 minutes. In doing the 48 miles, which he covered in 2h., 1 min., 5 sec., he was somewhat delayed by Clasher, his favorite steeple chaser, breaking down badly, and being only able to trot home. Shortly after this round, Mr. Osbaldeston took a mouthful of brandy and water. Sixty miles had now been done in 2h., 33 min., and the time no doubt, would have been shortened, but Emma, the mare he was riding at the time, ran the wrong side of the post, and had to be turned. Having run 120 miles in 5h. 11½ min., he rested for six minutes and a half, and lunched on a cold partridge and brandy and water, and although wet to the skin, he refused to put on fresh clothes. In the 31st round, on Ikey Solomons, the hope of the backers of time was revived by the squire being thrown, and he seemed so distressed that 1,000 to 100 was laid he did not perform the distance in nine hours. At length on the 50th round, he was declared the winner, having galloped the 200 miles in 8 hours 42 minutes, so that, deducting the 1 hour 22 minutes 56 seconds, the whole distance was ridden over in 7 hours 15 minutes and 4 seconds, or at the rate of 26 miles an hour It might have been imagined that such a tax on his constitution would have knocked him up for a time; but such was the iron nature of his frame that, after a warm bath, and a couple of hours between the sheets, he shook off his fatigue and dined with Mr. Gully and a number of friends, as if nothing had happened. We are sorry, however, to remark that his money was not well got on, and that he only won some £1,800 by his herculean feat after deducting the necessary expenses. The best horse he rode on the occasion was Tranby, who, in the 27th heat, did the four miles in eight minutes, which was astonishing, considering Mr. Osbaldeston rode 11 stone 2 lbs. This wonderful feat remains without a parallel, as it was never accomplished before; it was performed on that eventful day at Newmarket, the 5th of November, 1831; nor has it been attempted since. Osbaldeston used 28 horses on that occasion.

Words Without Rhymes.

Poets have often been puzzled to find rhymes for particular words. It is said that there is no word in the English language which fairly rhymes with "step" or "month." Byron says that it is impossible to find a rhyme for the word "silver." Every little while some inquisitive genius proclaims that a particular word is without a rhyme, and challenges the world to disprove his assertion. Forthwith many people cudgel their brains, and sometimes do produce the desired word. Some years ago the Knickerbocker offered a brass quarter dollar to the person who could find a rhyme to the word "window." The prize was earned by the following effort, which furnishes the rhyme and has some fun in it as well:

"A cruel man a beetle caught,
And to the wall he pinned oh!
Then said the beetle to the crowd,
'Though I'm stuck up I am not proud,
And his soul went out at the window.'"

Somebody challenged a rhyme for "carpet," and the following was the best production elicited, called "Lines to a Pretty Barmaid:"

"Sweet maid of the inn,
'Tis surely no sin
To toast such a beautiful bar pet,
Believe me, my dear,
At home on a nobleman's carpet."

A line ending with "harp it" also came near to the mark. A rhyme was found in Timbuctoo, as follows:

"I went a hunting on the plains,
The plains of Timbuctoo;
I shot one buck for all my pains,
And he was a slim buck too."

An Elementary Catechism.

For Young Men about to Marry.

It is fearful to reflect how many persons rush into matrimony totally unprepared for the awful change that awaits them. A man may take a wife at twenty-one, before he knows the difference between a chip and a leghorn. We would no more grant a license to anybody simply because he is of age, than a license on that ground only to practice as an apothecary. Husbands ought to be educated. We would like to have the following questions put to young, inexperienced persons about to marry:

Are you aware, sir, of the price of coal and candles?

Do you know which is the most economical, aitch bone, or the round of beef?

How far will a leg of mutton go in a small family?

How much dearer, now, is silver than Britania?

Declare, if you can, rash youth, the sum per annum that chemisetts, perlerines, cardinals, bonnets, veils, crapes, ribbons, flowers, gloves, cuffs and collars would come to in a lump?

If unable to answer these enquiries, we would say to him, "Go back to school." He that would be a husband should also undergo training, physical and moral. He should be further examined thus:

Can you read or write amid the noise of a nursery?

Can you wait any given time for breakfast?

Can you maintain your serenity during a washing-day?

Can you cut your old friends?

Can you stand being contradicted in the face of all reason?

Can you keep your temper when you are not listened to?

Can you do what you are told without being told why?

In one word, young man, have you the patience of Job?

If you can lay your hand upon your heart and answer "yes," take your license and marry—not else.—Punch.

Power of a Horse Scent.—"There is one perception that a horse possesses, that but little attention has been paid to, and that is the power of scent. With some horses it is as acute as with the dog; and for the benefit of those that have to drive nights, such as physicians and others, this knowledge is invaluable. I never knew it to fail, and I have ridden hundreds of miles dark nights; and in consideration of this power of scent this is my simple advice; never check your horse nights, but give him a free head, and you may rest assured that he will never get off the road, and will carry you expeditiously and safely. In regard to the power of scent in a horse. I once knew one of a pair that was stolen, and recovered mainly by the track being made out by his mate, and that after he had been absent six or eight hours."

....."Mr. Brown, why do you wear that bad hat?" "Because, my dear sir, Mrs. Brown says she will not go out of the house with me until I get a new one."

Art and Science.

—Mercury has twenty-eight times less heat-conducting power than silver.

—Four tons of coal are estimated, with proper machinery for fine work, to be equal to twenty years of hard work.

—Mr. Burns, a telegraph operator in Worcester, Mass., recently sent 250 words, containing 1,166 letters, in six minutes and seven seconds.

—A man by the name of Perrot, offers with a new machine which he has invented, which is moved by steam and exploded by gas, to kill at the rate of sixty thousand men every twelve hours.

—In a life of fifty years a man makes upwards of 500,000,000 respirations, drawing through his lungs nearly 170 tons weight of air, and discharging nearly 20 tons weight of carbonic acid.

—The density of the moon is five-ninths less than that of the earth, while the second satellite of Jupiter appears, if we may place sufficient dependence on the determinations of magnitude and mass, to be even actually denser than the great planet round which it revolves.

—The new anemometer at Greenwich Observatory consists of a circular plate, having an area of two square feet, supported vertically on eight springs. It has a directing vane which always keeps it facing the wind, and the deflection of the springs according to the force of the wind, is registered on a revolving table in the room below.

At one of the sittings of the French Association for the Advancement of Science, a new instrument called the liquometre was exhibited. It is intended for estimating the amount of alcohol in wines and is based on the principle of capillary action. It consists essentially of a very fine graduated tube. The instrument is said also to give separate indications of the amount of tarter and extractive matter.

—A new fire annihilator is announced. Hydrochloric acid gas is confined within the limits of a cartridge, which may be thrown by hand, or fired from an instrument, into the hearts of fires that cannot be closely approached, and the effect is the instant extinguishment of the fire. The invention is vouched for by the Builder, a respectable scientific journal, and will be invaluable if it can be relied upon.

—M. Memorski, of Vienna, confirms M. Brucke's observations, that diffused solar light, instead of being perfectly white, is tinged with red, just as the flames of gas or lamps are tinged with yellow. Diffused light received at noon through a cloudy sky deviates by one twenty-second part of the chromatic circle from the extreme red of the spectrum towards the violet. The light of burning magnesium, which appears to be so like sunlight, has also a tinge of violet.

—A manufactory for making printers' type of vulcanized India-rubber, has been started at Dalston, England. This new kind of type is said to be quickly and easily made and to be fully equal in quality and durability to the common type, the cost price being only one-third of the latter. It offers the advantage of less weight as compared with metal type, and it can be remoulded when worn. It presents particular advantages for sterotyping. The invention is American, and is said to be making rapid progress in England.

—The florative power and air-sacs and hollow bones of a pigeon, when the contained air is raised to the temperature of the bird's body, is less than a grain weight—a fact which proves that birds are sustained in the air solely by muscular exertion. The air-sacs connected with the lungs are supposed to be for the purpose of keeping up a constant current of fresh air over the capillaries, which are naked in the lungs. They open and contract in alternation with the lungs—that is, they expand when the lungs contract.

—A correspondent, a professional physician, in a letter to the Medical and Surgical Reporter, details the circumstances of a case where a patient had taken three ounces of opium tincture, or laudanum, which had exerted its effects three and a half hours. Fluid extract of belladona was then administered in doses of twenty drops every ten minutes, which in twenty minutes arrested the progress of the opium, and in about eight hours the patient was so far recovered as to sit up and converse. The writer says he is sure that belladonna saved this man's life

—By way of experiment, the engineer of the company joined the extremities of the two cables which now stretch across the Atlantic, thus forming an immense loop line of three thousand seven hundred miles. He then put some acid in a lady's silver thimble with bits of zinc and copper, and by this simple agency he succeeded in passing signals through the whole length in little more than a second of time. A few years ago, how incredible such a statement would have sounded! It seems, indeed, that the simplicity of the fact has taken even electricians by surprise. When a cable was first laid across the whole length of the Atlantic, it was anticipated that an unusually high power would be requisite to drive the current in sufficient force through such a length. In the first instance, therefore, they used a battery with fifty cells, and afterward employed five hundred cells. But this extraordinary power only injured the cable, and the company are now working between Valentia and Heart's Content with a battery of only twenty cells. It is, in fact, remarkable how greatly the success of the present year has dissipated the supposed difficulties of deep sea telegraphy.

Dress Well.

It is the duty of all men, young and old, to make their persons, so far as practicable, agreeable to those with whom they are thrown in contact. By this, we mean that they should not offend by singularity nor slovenliness. Let no man know by your appearance what trade you follow. You dress your person, not your business. Be careful to mould the fashion of the times to your own personal peculiarities. Fashion is to be your servant, not your master. Therefore never dress in the extreme of fashion. Only adopt it as far as is consistent with your face and figure. That which will become one man ill becomes another; and for all to follow the same model, is obviously absurd. The exercise of a little judgment on your part will enable you to adopt so much of the prevailing style in your dress as to show that you are acquainted with the fashion, without sacrificing your personal appearance for the scrupulous conformity to its laws. The best possible impression you can make by your dress, is to make no separate impression at all, but to harmonize its material and shape with your own figure, that it becomes part of you; and people, without recollecting how you were clothed, remember that you looked well, and were dressed becomingly.

An objection may be urged here that attention to dress is dangerous. We think not. Extravagance is dangerous, but extravagantly-dressed people are seldom dressed well. We constantly meet multitudes of people dressed in every imaginable style. Here is one in the best of broadcloth and the costliest jewelry, but who looks exceedingly vulgar: here another, habited plainly, but in good taste, is gentlemanly in his appearance at half the cost. Showy and flaring clothes argue menial poverty of the wearer. The secret of being well dressed is but the exercise of judgment and good sense—it invariably requires more care than cash; and instead of making a young man extravagant, it is a saving of half the money it would cost to clothe him in the vulgar and pretending style which so many, now-a-days, unfortunately adopt.

SUMMARY OF THE WEEK.

General Intelligence.

It is now stated that our Government has demanded indemnity for the losses to our commerce on account of the depredations of the Anglo-rebel pirates.

Electricity is now used with great success instead of fire, in exploding the charges of nitro-glycerine used in blasting at the Hoosac tunnel. Fifteen feet of progress in the heading at the west end were made in three days last week.

Four millions of dollars were transmitted through the mails, by postal money orders, during the last fiscal year, as against one million three hundred thousand dollars the year before, and the business of the money order office steadily increases.

Letters from persons in Washington, likely to know, say that Stanton will certainly resign as soon as he has finished the report upon which he is now engaged, and that Sherman will as certainly succeed him as acting secretary in order to satisfy Grant, while reorganizing the army.

The Herald's Fortress Monroe correspondent says: "The trial of Jeff. Davis has been postponed till next spring. The further delay is attributed by Chief Justice Chase to the stupid blundering of the last Congress in meddling with the geographical boundaries of the judicial districts, without making the proper allotment of Judges."

Trouble is anticipated at the coming Baltimore election. Governor Swann, who supports the Administration, has decided that he is competent to investigate the charges against the Police Commissioners, in consequence of which they will hold no further communication with him. The opposition claim that he desires to remove them for the purpose of influencing the election.

Quite a panic exists in Washington, Richmond, and vicinity, among the oyster dealers and oyster eaters, in regard to the reported cases of serious illness of a number of persons at Annapolis and Baltimore, after partaking of the bivalves. The recent heavy rains have greatly damaged the oyster crop, and at times a whole fleet of schooners together have been detained by the storm. The oysters they bring are of course damaged and stale, but they are nevertheless pushed upon the market and peddled through the town.

Foreign News.

Rumors were rife in London on the 26th, of the death of the Tycoon of Japan.

The Emperor of Austria is at Prague, where a very cordial reception was tendered him.

Twenty steamers are to be sent to Mexico in November to convey home the French troops.

Colonel Lynch, of Buffalo, one of the Fenian prisoners in Canadian custody, has been convicted and sentenced to be hanged. The execution will take place on the 13th of December.

Maximilian continues to use the Atlantic cable extensively, his last message having been one of 478 words in cypher to the Empress Carlotta. It cost him the snug little sum of $4,780.

Australia has had a financial panic which causes great agitation, and has resulted in the overthrow of three successive Ministries and the censure of the Government of the colony by a large public meeting.

The Quebec papers report that the fire in that city causes immense loss to the stockholders of local insurance companies, the stock of which has largely depreciated. Nearly all the English companies have withdrawn since the fire.

Dates from Madrid to the 22d announce that Spain has announced her intention to uphold the temporal power of the pope, after the French forces leave Rome.....The people of Venetia have voted almost unanimously for union with Italy.

Maximilian's prospects are daily growing more discouraging. French troops have begun to arrive at Vera Cruz, from which port they will embark for France. The attack on Metamoras by the Liberals has probably taken place ere this.

Intelligence from Europe is to the effect that the Empress Carlotta is a maniac at Rome. The Pope declined to comply with her requests, and by this, the last of a series of disappointments, she was driven to distraction.

The French claims which it is proposed this Government shall assume, in order that Maximilian shall clear out of Mexico, amount to $135,000,000, and it is not believed that the Administration intends to compromise the Mexican question on any such basis.

The Court at Ottawa, Canada, is rushing through the Fenian trials in a manner more rapid than agreeable. On the 26th, Rev. John McMahon, a Catholic priest, alleged to have been impressed in the Fenian ranks, was tried, convicted and sentenced to be hanged on the 13th of December. The trial of Rev. Dr. Lumsden has been postponed.

It appears that the greatest receipts the cable company has yet gathered in, were for two dispatches; the one containing the speech of the King of Prussia to the Chambers, and the other the account of the great prize fight which took place in August, between Mace and Goss. Official notice has been given that on an after November 1st, the rates will be reduced fifty per cent.

In a little more than a year the Suez Canal, which was projected but never begun by Napoleon the Great, it is expected, will be completed. The Cape of Good Hope, at the southern extremity of Africa, will become to European commerce what the Isthmus Railway has made Cape Horn to our Atlantic and Pacific trade. Africa will no longer block the highway between Europe and the East. While we are endeavoring to reach the Indies by a road across the continent, Louis Napoleon is connecting the Mediterranean with the Red Sea and the Arabian Gulf.

Turk's Island, on the 30th of September (Sunday) was visited by a terrible hurricane, destroying over eight hundred houses. Twenty lives were lost, and a number of persons were crippled and otherwise injured. Over three thousand persons were rendered houseless, penniless, and almost naked. The whole laboring portion of the colony is in the most destitute condition. The Government house and public offices were shattered. One hundred and twenty thousand bushels of salt were swept away. Six foreign and twelve island crafts were lost, and twenty of their crews.

The extortions practiced upon Americans visiting Niagara Falls by the hotel keepers on the Canada side, have become so aggravating as to cause a complaint to be filed before the American Consul. The other day a party of Americans were conducted by the employes of the Table Rock House under the Falls, with the assurance before they started that nothing would be charged, and nothing expected unless a little patronage at the hotel. But after they returned and had thrown off their rubber garments loaned them at the hotel, the doors were closed and the party obliged to pay from $2 to $15 before they were suffered to depart. The Museum, too, a house next the Table Rock House, is of a similar stamp; parties are constantly being inveigled in, and then refused egress except by paying a demand of fifty cents to $15.

The South.

It is stated that there are seventy-two cotton and woolen mills in the course of construction in Georgia.

They are discussing the question, at Memphis, whether their late election for representatives was voted.

A fire at Nashville on the 24th, the most destructive ever known there, consumed nearly a million dollars worth of property.

A Mrs. Mildred Allport, residing in Caroline county, Maryland, was recently gored to death by a vicious cow, while milking the animal

There was a horrible fratricide in Mason county, Kentucky, recently, in which one twin brother killed the other while enraged by a quarrel between them.

An excursion train on the Memphis and Charleston railroad returning from a tournament at Legrange, Tenn., on the 18th inst., ran through a trestle demolishing two cars. About forty persons were injured, but only two seriously.

The North Carolina election went sweepingly in favor of the conservative ticket. Worth is chosen Governor. The returns from the western counties show a heavy poll for Dockery, who was voted for by the Unionists, though he had declined to run.

On the 24th, a train on the Memphis & Louisville Railroad, when about eight miles from Memphis, ran over two cows. The baggage and smoking cars were upset and wrecked, and three persons seriously injured, two of whom have since died.

James T. Jones of Farquier county, Va., nephew of the late Chief Justice Marshall, was recently killed by a neighbor in a quarrel that originated during the war, Jones having charged his murderer with piloting Federal troops to his house.

General William F. (Baldy") Smith is President of a company which proposes to lay a cable from the main land of Florida by way of the Island of Sandy Key and Key West to Cuba, thence to San Domingo, thence to Porto Rico; also from Cuba to Jamacai and thence to the Isthmus of Panama.

A Nashville paper notices an exodus of people of East Tennessee, principally on the way to Texas. It says that East Tennesseeans are leaving by hundreds, and that, if Texas is receiving as many emigrants from other portions of the country as she is from East Tennessee, her vast prairies will soon be filled up.

The West.

The first snow of the season fell at Chicago on the 23d of October.

Indianapolis is talking seriously about adopting plans to furnish itself with an abundant supply of pure water.

A sea wall, for the protection of a portion of the harbor of San Francisco, is to be constructed at a cost of $2,500,000.

A son, aged twelve years, of Judge Noble, of McGregor, Iowa, was accidentally shot a few days ago, by another boy, and died almost instantly.

M. Blot, the great French cook is now instructing the ladies of Chicago in the mysteries of this "art of arts," Every lady is required to take her own spoon for tasting.

A man named Perry was recently caught by Indians, near Ruby City, Idaho. Wooden pins were driven through his body into the ground, and then his legs and arms cut off, in which position he was found.

Many of the wells in Lawrence, Kansas, are so filled with grasshoppers as to render the water unfit for use. The late warm weather has caused the eggs to hatch to such an extent that no apprehensions are felt for the renewal of the grasshopper plague next year.

Widow Lear and her three daughters, who live near Rochester, Indiana, were poisoned a few days since, by eating Siberian crab apples—cooked in a copper kettle—which had not been used before for eight years. The oldest daughter, aged 12, died from the effects, and the other was not expected to live when our informant left.

Gen. Sheridan accepts an invitation to be present at a meeting of the Society of the Army of the Tennessee, to be held in St. Louis, November 14. Gen. Grant will also be present. It is true that Gen. Sherman has been called to Washington, but whether his presence there has any connection with Secretary Stanton's retirement from the War Office is not known.

A railroad bridge near Winona, Minnesota, was discovered to be on fire the other day, by a farmer coming to town, who extinguished the flames by the aid of a barrel of water that was kept on the bridge, but he had some trouble in stopping an approaching train, which would have gone through the bridge had he not succeeded in warning the engineer of the danger.

The Ohio State Fair at Dayton, week before last, is reported to have been the most remarkable ever held in the State. The crowd was so great that the sale of tickets was suspended, and the clerks turned gate keepers and took the money as it came along. Forty thousand tickets were sold up to three o'clock on the 18th inst., and fifty thousand persons were on the ground most of the afternoon.

At Red-Bud Mills, near Peoria, Illinois, on the 15th, the house of George Grazier took fire from the explosion of a kerosene lamp. Mr. Grazier was severely, if not fatally, burned, as was his oldest boy. But the most heart-rending part of the whole tragic affair is the fact that his three youngest children, a babe one year old, a little girl of seven, and a boy of nine years, sleeping in an adjoining room, could not be rescued, and were all burned to death.

Captain Fisk, in a letter to Governor Marshall, of Minnesota, says more than 3,000 emigrants have been murdered by Indians on Bowman's cut-off route, and the whole route is strewn with fresh graves. He ridicules the present disposition of troops on the Upper Missouri, saying that the soldiers sent out to protect travelers are not distributed on the routes of travel, where they would be of service in case of danger.

In Keokuk, on the 18th inst., some workmen were engaged in removing the earth from under a church, in order to lower it even with the sidewalk, when, owing, it is thought, to the high wind, the building fell, burying in its ruins six or eight persons. The crash was heard all over the city, and the people gathered around the place in intense excitement. The workmen were speedily extricated. One was killed, and several others seriously injured.

On Sunday evening the 21st, and through the night, a storm swept through the western state, assuming in various places the dimensions of a hurricane or tornado. The most fearful accident was in Chicago, where four persons were killed in their beds at midnight by the falling of two brick walls fifty-five feet high upon the adjoining low frame buildings. Five or six others were injured by the same accident. At St. Louis the storm was more severe, assuming the form of a whirlwind which struck and damaged the city hospital sweeping from the southeast to the northwest. The Polytechnic Institute, on Seventh and Market streets, had its roof torn off, and was damaged to the extent $15,000. The Lindell Hotel roof was raised up; damage, $3,000. A new Catholic church building on St. Ange avenue, was completely demolished. The total damage is not less than $200,000. No lives were lost, nor was any one so far as heard from, seriously injured. The hurricane did not last more than five minutes in any one place, and was not over ten minutes in passing over the city. The storm was also severe upon the lakes, and tidings of heavy losses to commerce are anticipated.

The East.

A young lady was recently married at Trinity Chapel, New York, attended by thirty bridesmaids.

Elizabethtown, New Jersey, on the 24th inst., celebrated with great enthusiasm, its bi-centennial anniversary.

A company has been formed for the establishment of a line of first class steamships between Washington and New York

The Republican majority in the late Pennsylvania State election is stated officially at 17,706. That of Ohio is also stated officially at 43,311.

The Portland Press says, with regard to the report that Quebec had been generous in making contributions, that not a dollar in money or in any other form was received in Portland from that city.

The work of laying out the great Prospect Park, in Brooklyn, New York, is reported to be favorably progressing, and, when completed, it will be a formidable rival to the far famed Central Park, in New York.

All is quiet at Baltimore. Both sides are reported as being ready for any emergency. It is intimated that the Cabinet at Washington have decided to support Governor Swann in any action he may see fit to take in the matter.

The Pennsylvania Freedmen's Relief Association completed a school house at Stephenson, Alabama, Saturday, the 20th, and would have commenced a colored school on the following Monday, on which morning some incendiary burned it to the ground.

A report was current in Brooklyn on the 25th that Henry Ward Beecher had just been assassinated. The consequence was that his residence has been besieged by an army of sympathizing friends and newspaper reporters up to midnight, the annoyance to the family being so great that they at length refused to answer the bell.

Three bills have been introduced into the Vermont Senate relating one way and another to marriage. The tendency of most of them is to reduce marriage to a limited partnership, each party putting in as much capital as seems best, and the partnership to be dissolved upon very small provocation.

At the afternoon performance of Howe's Circus, in Lancaster, Pennsylvania, recently, Lazelle and King, posturers and acrobats, fell, head foremost, a distance of thirty-three feet, while performing on a trapeze. King had one of his shoulders and one of his wrists fractured, and was injured internally. Lazelle received a concussion of the brain. The accident was caused by a bolt giving way.

Fenian excitement runs high in Buffalo over the news of the trial and conviction of Col. Lynch. Threats of retalliation are boldly made, a Fenian General declaring that if Lynch is executed he will capture and execute twelve Canadians as a retaliatory measure. Rumors of an intention to rescue Col. Lynch are also rife, but the attempt is of too foolhardy a nature to entitle the reports to any degree of credibility.

☞ Habit in a child is first like a spider's web; if neglected it becomes a thread or a twine, next a cord or rope, finally a cable—and then who can break it?

What Mr. Styles has Done.—"I have sold," writes Mr. E. Styles, of Rhinebeck, N. Y., "several of these machines to persons who had never used a sewing machine of any kind, and who, without instruction more than could be given in five minutes, have taken them right along out in the country, and in every case they report to me their entire satisfaction."

THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK,		Oct. 27.
COTTON—Middling	$ .38	@ .39
FLOUR—Extra Round Hoop Ohio	11 50	@ 12.85
WHEAT—No. 2 Milwaukee New	2.03	@ 2.40
BARLEY	1 25	@ 1 34
OORN—Sound Western Mixed	1 13	@ 1 15
OATS—New Chicago	.60	@ .61
PORK—Mess new	34.00	@ 34.62
BEEF CATTLE—Common to good	11.00	@ 10 00
DRESSED HOGS	12.00	@ 12.25
DRY GOODS—Merrimack	.31	@ .23
Bleached Sheetings—Masonville		@ .35
Brown Sheetings—Stark	.32	@
Delaines—Manchester	.27½	@
Denims—Manchester	.33½	@
Gold—Closed 1.47.
CHICAGO,	Oct. 29,	1866.
BREVES—Stock to prime	5 00	@ $ 7.25
BEANS	.75	@ 1.00
BUTTER—Good Tub	.22	@ .24
CHEESE—Western States	.13	@ .15
COFFEE—Rio	.27	@ .31
Java	.42	@ .44
EGGS	.28	@ .30
FRUITS—Green Apples—

CURRENT ITEMS.

Domestic Paragraphs.

—A Mr. Still paddled his own canoe from Fort Leavenworth to New Orleans—1,800 miles.

—The coroners of New York are driven with business—they are running it into the ground.

—A splendid revenue is that of the Third Avenue horse railway, New York, $120,000 per month.

—The Mobile papers announce valuable coal discoveries within convenience distance of that city.

—Pat McCann, an Irish street laborer in Erie, Pa., last week became heir to a fortune of $25,000.

—The Charleston Mercury, which has been suspended for some years, is about to be revived by its former editor, Mr. R. Barnwell Rhett, Jr.

—The Fond du Lac (Wis.) Commonwealth says eight divorces were granted in one day by the Circuit Court, and it was not a very good day for divorces either.

—Twenty thousand dollars have been appropriated by Newport for the extension of Bellevue avenue. This, it is said, will make it the finest drive in the world.

—The people "out West" have a good idea of the fitness of things. Mr. James Hogg and Miss Ella Beans were lately joined in wedlock, at Rushville, Indiana.

—Lager beer, it seems, has become what may be called a "naturalized" American beverage, for the amount manufactured in this country is said to exceed the amount made in Europe.

—Norfolk, Virginia, must be an unfortunate city, when its chief newspaper, the Norfolk Dominion, says it is "useless to deny that our city is at a stand still in every sense of the word."

—The New York Sun, in speaking of Mrs. Stanton running as an independent candidate for Congress in the Eighth District, doubts the propriety of sending ladies to Congress, as it might induce the members to "pair off" too frequently.

—A New York correspondent of a Boston paper writes that a merchant who failed twice in fifteen years, and was forced to sell his wife's wardrobe to procure the necessaries of life, has just retired from business worth a fortune of five hundred thousand dollars. Never say die!

—When Judge ———, a member of Congress from Ohio years ago, was opposed at the second election on account of intemperate habits, he good-naturedly admitted the fact, but insisted that he never was so drunk as not to fairly represent his constituents! He was elected by a triumphant majority.

—One night last week, two loyal Kansans stopped a Missouri negro, who was driving a team, at Turkey Creek Bridge, over in Bourbon county, Mo., and demanded his money. The negro gave the rascals his empty pocket book, with which they left. This is about as mean as "stealing coppers from a dead negro's eyes."

—The contract for sweeping the streets of New York was awarded to parties for ten years, at $495,000 a year. The contract has been running three years, and persons have agreed to assume the obligation for the remaining seven years, at the price above stipulated, and pay the city a quarter of a million of dollars for the privilege.

—An interesting and amusing article in the November number of Harper's Magazine, on newspaper advertisements, closes with the following advice: "To merchants: 1.—Advertise. 2.—Advertise liberally. 3.—Advertise courageously. To the Public at Large: 1.—Read the advertisements. 2.—Study them, and verily they shall be your profit."

—The gold and silver products of the United States for the year 1860 have been estimated at from eighty-two to one hundred and six millions. California producing twenty-five millions; Montana, eighteen millions; Nevada, sixteen millions; Idaho, seventeen millions; Oregon, eight millions; Colorado, seventeen millions; other sources five millions.

—A pleasing incident transpired at Elizabeth, N. J., a few days since, being the marriage, by Rev. Mr. Kempsell, assisted by an interpreter from a New York institution, of two deaf mutes. The contracting parties were Mr. H. W. Strong, a clerk in one of the departments at Washington, and Miss Fannie L. Freeman, of Elizabeth, whose father and mother were both murdered in India by Sepoys while engaged in the missionary work.

—Labor is well paid in San Francisco. Bricklayers get $5 a day; caulkers (for Sunday work), $15, and for ten hours on other days, $9 50; stevedores, $5; blacksmiths, $4 to $6; chambermaids, $20 to $25 a month; laundresses, $25 to $30; men servants, $30 to $35; men cooks, $40 to $90; printers, 75 cents per 1,000 ems; shoemakers, $5 per each pair of boots or shoes; policemen, $125 a month. These, of course, are gold prices.

—The Charleston, (Ill.) Plaindealer says: "When Chris. Beckum sold the saloon, under Parcel's store, six or seven months ago, a box containing a turtle was, together with other rubbish, stored away in one corner of the room. On Saturday last, the box was removed, and the turtle taken out. Notwithstanding it had been confined in a close dry box, for a long period, the turtle was still alive, and when exposed to the sunshine, made tracks for a more healthy abode."

—A favorite means of suicide, of late, seems to be running before a railroad train; but it is not by any means a sure way. A man who tried it at Rochester, the other night, was thrown as high as the smoke pipe of the locomotive, and when he fell, one of his feet was caught under a wheel, which cut off two or three of his toes. The sole of his boot on the other foot was torn off. His head was injured, and he was left senseless upon the ground but his injuries will not prove fatal.

—Superintendent Knapp, of the New York Postoffice, has for several days past been engaged in procuring data in regard to the weight of the mail matter which arrives at that office, the result of which shows that the average matter each day is about 35 tons; the average quantity of the letters, newspapers and miscellaneous matter from foreign ports is twelve tons daily; and the mail matter out of the city is about twice as large, being about 28 tons. These figures show an increase in a year of the weight of the mails equal to two and one-half tons per day.

—A great watch dog belonging to a Philadelphia dry goods house died recently, and the clerks could not readily get rid of the body. They finally put it in a packing case, nailed on the lid, and marking it "A. T. Stewart & Co., New York," left it over night on the sidewalk, first giving a hint to the watchman on that beat. The same night, a furniture wagon, with the horses feet muffled in pieces of carpet, drove up, two men jumped out, quickly and quietly put in the box, jumped in again and drove away. That was the last seen of the remains of the faithful animal.

—In thirty-six years, the rate of taxation in the city and county of New York has increased from $2.50 to $40 per inhabitant. In 1830 the city was governed for half a million of dollars. In 1865 the entire government of the island, including assessments on private property for public improvements, cost more than forty millions of dollars. In 1830 the population of the city was a little more than 200,000. It is now about 1,000,000. Thus, while the population of the county is five times greater than it was in 1830, the cost of governing is sixteen times greater.

—The supposed heroine of the great Bond street tragedy in New York, was on board of the ill-fated Evening Star. She had established an extensive and fashionable maison de plaisir in New Orleans, and was returning to that place from a visit to Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Boston, where she had collected a fresh troop of young girls, known as nymphs du pave, whom Mrs. Cunpleighem was conveying to the Crescent city, in order to promote her nefarious business, which was assuming vast proportions. This maitresse du salon has gone to the bottom of the ocean, in company with thirty employes and co-workers in crime.

Personal and Literary.

MISS KATE BATEMAN'S married name is Mrs. Crow.

IT is said that Artemus Ward gets $75 a letter from Punch.

AGASSIZ, the great Professor, is rapidly putting in shape for the press his "Travels in Brazil."

HOLMES is busy over his new romance, the first instalment of which will appear in the January Atlantic Monthly.

GARRISON, still far from being in robust health, works away daily at his "History of the Anti-Slavery Movement in America."

MRS. JULIA WARD HOWE is deep in "Fate, Freewill, and Foreknowledge," probably for the benefit of the readers of the Christian Examiner or her new magazine.

MR. C. L. DABOLL, inventor of the fog trumpet, died at New London, on the 13th inst., aged forty-eight years. He was the son of Nathan Daboll, the maker of "Daboll's Arithmetic."

MR. SPURGEON publishes a note to say that it is true that he has been offered $100,000 to found an "Orphanage," but that the lady was not the Duchess of Sutherland, as was reported.

GEORGE PEABODY has given $150,000 to Harvard College for the purpose of building and maintaining a museum and professorship of archæology and etymology, in connection with that university.

EMERSON is reading the proof sheet of his new volume of poems to be published this autumn by Ticknor & Fields. The title of the new book is "May-Day, and other Pieces." Two long poems lead off the volume.

LONGFELLOW has finished his translation of the Divine Comedy, and is still preparing the notes and illustrations. The whole work will appear in a few months, probably. His "Flower de Luce" is in the bindery.

LOWELL has at last completed the "Second Series of Biglow Papers," and having added a most piquant introduction of some hundred pages to the volume, he is now writing a story in verse for the Atlantic Monthly.

CHARLES READE has, says the New York correspondent of the Hartford Press, at once commenced his suit against Mr. Sweetzer, the proprietor of the Round Table, for the alleged libel concerning "Griffith Gaunt."

GENERAL NEAL DOW, of Portland, Maine, recently spoke at a session of the English Social Science Congress, set apart for the benefit of the workingmen. There was such a noise and row made that not a word could be heard.

LORD BROUGHAM has talked with a lady who lived in the reign of Charles II. She was his great-great-aunt, who died at the age of 106, in the year 1789. Longevity runs in the Brougham family. Lord Brougham's grandfather died at 93, and his mother at 89.

EDWIN FORREST's health has greatly improved since he went to California. Before going into the interior of the State, he acted thirty-five nights in San Francisco, for which he received twenty thousand dollars. He will not return to the Atlantic States till next spring.

MRS. PARTINGTON (B. P. Shillaber) has written to Miles O'Reilly, encouraging him in the effort to get the office of City Register of New York. Partington says "The denomination is the most unacceptable that could be made"—meaning, may be, unexceptionable.

GENERAL LEE accepts the notes of all students who are unable to pay the fees at Washington College, believing that young men who receive their education under such circumstances will pay when able. There have been eight hundred applicants for admission to the college this season.

MR. J. TAFFINGER, the fortunate possessor of the eighteen thousand dollar prize in the recent soldiers' and sailors' gift concert at Washington, is a fireman on board of the steamboat Susquehanna, of the Panama ferry, plying between New York and Jersey City. John says he will continue to stoke, as he can't afford to lose forty dollars per month.

MLLE. ADELINA PATTI commenced her winter season at the Italian Opera in Paris, in "Somnambula," and was received with storms of applause. The best part of the house is now paid for at the rate of twenty francs the seat—a price no other singer has been able to bring. She is the fortune of the house.

ONE of Mr. Lincoln's Secretaries, in his 'White House Sketches,' tells of a personal peculiarity in him we have not seen mentioned. His writing was done when alone, and was rarely corrected, either by himself or others. He composed slowly, and when done, was accustomed to read his manuscript over aloud, "to see how it sounded, as he could hardly judge of a thing by reading it."

MR. CHARLES F. BROWNE's letters in Punch are considered successful in England, which is a great deal more than they are here. The first of the series was so poor that we doubt if any American comic journal would have published it. The second was rather better, but not up to the mark of Artemus Ward. Mr. Browne has taken Egyptian Hall, in London, and is about to give his lectures.

M. ADOLPHUS HUARD, of Paris, has published a biography of Charlotte Corday, who killed the infamous Marat on July 14, 1793, and was guillotined for the deed. From this it appears that, instead of being a Normandy peasant, as generally believed, she was a noble by blood as well as intellect, and that a younger sister of Corneille, the dramatic poet, was among her ancestry. An elder cousin of hers, who survived until 1851, remembered Charlotte as one who was grave or gay, reserved or loquacious, serious or laughing, as the time warranted; but ever with a love for children and their companionship, and with (as she was wont to say) the manners of a well-bred young lady—according to the usages and traditions of the De Corday family.

IT is not generally known that the eldest daughter of the late General Scott died broken hearted in a French convent, because her father would not give his consent to her marriage with a young French nobleman and officer, who was unobjectionable in every respect excepting that General Scott did not wish to have a son-in-law against whom he might have to draw his sword in the event of a collision between France and the United States, in which the suitor to the hand of his daughter would have to take a part, in his capacity of officer in the French army. "The Commander-in-Chief of the United States army should not enter into such entangling alliances," was General Scott's obstinate reply to his daughter's and wife's entreaties. The poor young lady, who while still a pupil at Madame Chagarney's school in New York, had been distinguished on account of her remarkable accomplishments, now retired to a convent, where she died a short time afterward.

Foreign Gossip.

—London contains 19,000 miles of gas pipes.

—In the London work-houses they lock up refractory paupers with corpses.

—The incense burned in the Chinese Empire in idol worship costs $2,250,000,000 a year.

—One of the galleries in the Paris Exposition will be devoted to the display of human skulls.

—The metrical system of weights and measures has been established by law in the Sandwich Islands.

—A cheap and poor coffin, that was easily broken open, saved a man in Brussels from being buried alive.

—The coal panic in England is subsiding and discoveries of new coal veins are reported from Shropshire.

—The Memorial Diplomatique is about to prosecuted for charging the King of Prussia with sheep stealing!

—The latest antiquarian sensation is the discovery of an ancient city in southeastern Africa, believed to be the Ophir of the Scriptures.

—The current number of the London Society contains a portrait of Mr. George Peabody, with a poem celebrating his munificence.

—One of the oldest papers in the world, the Postzeitung of Frankfort, established in 1616, has just disappeared. It was suppressed by Bismark.

—A Fenian in England asserts that liquid fire and combustibles, similar to those lately discovered in Liverpool, are stored away in all the large towns of England.

—An Austrian subject, J. Klautschnigg, has been condemned to six months' imprisonment at Trieste, for having sold one hundred and thirty-three slaves in Egypt.

—The number of deaths in Holland from cholera from April 28th to August 25th, was 15,808; in Belgium, from the commencement of the epidemic to August 31st, 16,699.

—The net revenue of the Bishopric of London in the year 1865 was £20,067; of the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's, £10,870; of the Dean and Chapter of Westminster, £28,739.

—It is proposed to collect at Calcutta, an assemblage of living examples of all the races of men of the Old World for ethnological study, to take place on the occasion of the Industrial Exhibition in 1869-70.

—A cylinder printing pressis said to have been invented in Leipsic which can print 14,000 sheets an hour, and costs far less than Hoe's great American press.

—An immense aquarium is being constructed for the French Exhibition, having a front of one hundred feet. Sharks, porpoises, and every variety of fish are to be therein collected for the amusement of the public.

—A Paris art critic, wishing to damn a certain picture recently, did his worst by saying that "the visitor could easily find the picture in question by the groups of Americans who constantly surrounded it in admiration."

—A correspondent of the New York Times writing from Pekin, under date of June, 1866, relates the discovery of a colony of Jews in the heart of China. They have preserved till lately many of their traditions and the purity of their race.

—In the Legislative Assembly at Victoria, Vancouver Island, recently, a Mr. McClure spoke for seventeen consecutive hours. His object was to prevent the passage of a certain bill, and he succeeded by retaining the floor and speaking for that period.

—In a late speech at Manchester, Lord Stanley said: "There is a story of an admirably conducted man in jail who by extra work managed to lay by a respectable sum, which he immediately proceeded to invest in a first-rate set of housebreaker's tools."

—Near Basingstoke, in England, the ancient Roman and British capital of Southern England, some excavations have recently been made which have laid bare a Roman street, with another smaller one running from it. Two large Roman houses, with tesselated pavements, the site of an amphitheater, and a portion of the walls surrounding the ancient capital, have also been dug out. Several coins, of periods anterior to the Christian era, have been found, and a brick, with parts of an inscription upon it.

—The Rajah of Bolapoor died last month. According to custom, before his death the Rajah had himself and his wives weighed. The reason for performing this ceremony is that it is the custom among the natives of India for a husband to leave his wives as many rupees as each of them weighs. In the present case, the Rajah only weighed four thousand rupees, while the weight of his two wives amounted to fourteen thousand rupees, thus giving each a fortune of seven thousand rupees. These wives may indeed be said to be worth their weight in gold.

—A London letter-writer expresses doubt, should Napoleon die, whether the French nation would submit to a ten years regency even of the Empress, personally popular as she has made herself. She is not a French woman, and there are many in France who, to this day, persist in doubting if she is the actual mother of the Prince Imperial. Besides, religiously speaking, she is the most superstitious and fanatical woman living, and would be certain, sooner or later, to involve herself and the nation in some serious disaster, growing out of her wild vagaries.

—In 1804 a coal mine in Scotland, which could not be reached by water, caught fire. It burned for thirty years, baffling all the efforts made to extinguish it, until finally, in 1834, an eminent engineer, Mr. Goldsworthy Gurney, undertook the task of putting it out. He covered all the openings of the mine, leaving only two holes, into one of which he forced steam, mingled with the products of the combustion of a coke fire, which generated impure carbonic acid and nitrogen. In six weeks the fire was extinguished, and then a new difficulty presented itself—how to cool the heated mine, so that when fresh air was readmitted, combustion would not again begin. This was, however, effected by a spray of water with the jet of suffocating gas.

—A London Times correspondent gives an amusing incident that took place not long since in Greece. The writer spent an evening in society with ten educated persons, members of nine different nations. The languages spoken were English, modern Greek, French, Italian and Latin. The English pronunciation of the latter were utterly unintelligible to the others, and their Latin pronunciation was utterly unintelligible to the English. The writer says: "A Russian officer in the Greek service, who had served in the Russian navy, was very anxious to get some information on nautical matters from my English friend who had been in the navy. The difficulty was to hold intercourse. The Russian spoke only Russian and modern Greek. My friend only English and a smattering of Italian. Latin was tried, but proved to be out of the question. The Russian then put his questions in Greek to his Greek neighbor, who translated them in German to his German neighbor, who passed them on in his own language to me. I then translated them into English and passed them on to my friend. The answers went back to the Russian in the same way, through the different neighbors and languages. What sort of information he got at the end, upon nautical matters, which none of us understood except my naval friend and himself, I don't pretend to say."

.....The fellow who sat down a pin, got up on the spur of the moment.

HOME, FARM AND GARDEN.

A TABLESPOONFUL of saltpetre given to a cow once a day, for three or four days, is an effectual remedy for garget.

IN London and Paris there is said to be a market place for toads which are brought by market-gardeners to destroy troublesome bugs.

DAVID SMITH, of Sanborntown, New Hampshire, has a grape vine from which he picked, last year, two thousand pounds of grapes.

A FARMER in New York has ten acres of osier willow from which he netted $1,500 this year. About one ton to the acre is considered a good yield.

AT a discussion at the New York State Fair, it was stated that hogs would thrive well on whey alone—even without grass—but that they would not do this in cold weather.

TEN or twelve years ago, two poor men commenced stock raising in Nueces, Texas. Recently one of them sold part of his stock to the other for $47,000 in gold. So says the Galveston News.

THE Rural New Yorker thinks a crop of clover seed exhausts the soil more than the crop which is cut for hay, and advises letting the second growth rot on the land, or feeding it off, unless some remuneration is made to the land.

SAMUELSONS' ROTARY DIGGER, an English invention, is said to pulverize six acres of ground per day, to a depth of eight or ten inches. It requires five or six horses and two men, and digs a space of three feet at each passage.

T. C. PETERS, of Maryland, says the average of yield of wool from an ordinary flock of sheep, will be about one pound to twenty pounds of carcass, live weight, and that if more is obtained it must be paid for in better care and keeping.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Germantown Telegraph recommends soaking shingles in thick lime water for forty-eight hours or longer, when first made. He knows of a roof that has been in use twenty eight years and is still in good condition, and attributes its preservation to this process.

BUTTER.—Increase the quantity and quality by feeding the cows with pumpkins, surplus cabbage leaves, beet, carrot, and turnip tops, etc., as the pastures fail. Pack a full supply for winter use. If properly made, thoroughly worked, and stored with care, butter made now will command an extra price before spring.

POINTS OF A GOOD MILKER.—A correspondent of the Country Gentleman says: "In selecting a milker, look well to the udder. Before milking it should be wide and broad, not hanging down like a sack; and hard and shiny, nearly destitute of hair, and what there is should be fine, short and bright. After milking, the udder should be soft, and apparently a skin-bag. If, after milking, the udder is hard and full, it shows that it has flesh and not milk, that distends it."

WOOL INFLUENCED BY FEED.—Sheep prefer upland pastures, and a great variety. It has been proved that pasture has a greater influence than climate, on the fineness of wool. Fat sheep yield heavier and coarser fleece. The fine flocks of Western Pennsylvania, when taken to the prairies of Illinois, in the same latitude, will, in a few years, change their character. The quantity of fleeces and size of the sheep will increase, but the fineness will not be retained. Upland herbage is best for fine wool.

SELECTING SHEEP.—The most approved form in a sheep is general roundness of shape and fineness of bone. The chest should be broad, the ribs well arched, the back and loins broad, flat, and straight; the limbs should be short in proportion to the body, the head small, the ears thin, the skin soft and elastic, the wool soft to the touch, thick, and coming well forward to the face, but not covering it. The face and forehead should be clothed with short hair, and the eyes should have a lively expression.

HOW TO CLEANSE A CISTERN.—A simple thing I have accidentally learned, and, if not generally known, ought to be, relating to stagnant, odorous water in cisterns Many persons know how annoying this sometimes becomes. After frequent cleaning and other experiments, all to no permanent utility, I was advised to put, say two pounds, caustic soda in the water, and it purified it in a few hours. Since then, when I tried what is called concentrated lye, I had quite a good result. One or both these articles can be obtained at any druggist's.—Exchange.

BEST KIND OF CORN-HOUSE.—The evils attending the corn-house, as usually constructed are—the amount of rain and snow which drive in between the vertical siding, necessarily open to admit air—and what is far worse, the moulding of the corn next to the floor, for want of air.

Having occasion a few years since, to build a corn-house, I adopted the following method for avoiding these evils. First, the frame was thickly studded, to receive horizontal siding. Next—the siding was clapboards or common house siding, six inches wide, and lapped one inch and a half. To admit air, put a thin board under the lap on each stud. It may be from one-quarter to one-half an inch, and two inches square. Or perhaps a better form is six inches or the width of a siding in length and two inches wide, slanting off the upper end with a draw-knife or shave. Strike a line on each siding for the lap, and tack the blocks on to the line and stud above. A little light snow will occasionally drive through the crevices; but will soon disappear without sensibly wetting the corn.

To prevent moulding in the bottom, make a floor of boards three inches wide, with space of an inch between. The flooring should be over an inch thick. This kind of flooring is only for the bins. The joists or sleepers should be near together to support it. On such a floor you can make the bins as you please.—Correspondence Western Rural

EARLY FATTENING.—The fattening season soon commences. The philosophy of increase of fat in animals is, that the digested food not needed to supply waste in the system, is laid up in the form of fat around the muscles. Judicious management in the selection and preparation of food, and in the time of feeding, will greatly serve to increase this surplus matter. Early fattening is by far the best. The same amount of food given in warm weather will afford a greater amount of fat than when fed in colder weather, less being needed to supply animal heat. Early pork generally brings also a much better price. Regularity in feeding is desirable. Cleanliness should not be overlooked. Hogs in their wild state are cleanly, and have acquired filthy habits only from domestication. In a clean, healthy condition they will keep far better. Variety of food also conduces to good appetite, in the same manner as with man. Numerous trials have very abundantly proved that cooked food is the most economical. It digests much more easily than raw, yields more nourishment, and is better relished by most animals. Many who have tried this method claim to have made from one-third to one-half saving in grain, and a gain of as much more in time. In one experiment, three bushels of boiled corn per day were fed to twenty seven hogs for ten days. The average gain was two pounds per day. Afterward, three bushels of raw corn per day were fed to the same lot of hogs for twenty days. They gained a mere trifle over one pound per day. Being small, young hogs, they did not of course fatten as fast as larger ones would have fattened.

Universal Interest.

No art scheme ever inaugurated in the country has created so wide-spread and universal an interest as that started by Mr. Crosby. Farmers, merchants, mechanics, lawyers, physicians, artists, laboring men—all classes in fact—are sending in their orders. The millionaire and the poor man equally are determined to secure one of the great works of art offered to the public by the association. The political press, in the midst of an exciting campaign, find time, to discuss its merits. That Diogenes of critics, the Round Table, after demolishing "Griffith Gaunt," turns its attention to the art scheme, and considers what it will do with the Opera House, when it draws it. The Boston musical papers sound the whole gamut of praise in talking about it, while the press of the "wayward sisters" are reconstructing themselves artistically, by advocating the great Art Distribution. We confidently expect to hear, very soon, Logan and Dickey jointly discussing it on the the stump, Anna Dickinson lecturing on it, and Henry Ward Beecher preaching at it.

.....Two good-natured Irishmen, on a certain occasion, occupied the same bed. In the morning one of them inquired of the other.

"Dennis, did you hear the thunder last night?"

"No, Pat; did it railey thunder?"

"Yes; it thundered as if hiven and airth would come togither."

"Why in the divil, thin, didn't ye wake te, for ye know I can't slape whin it hunders."

.....Old Gent (disgusted)—"Here, waiter, here's a—here's a—a—caterpillar in this chop!" Waiter (flippantly)—"Yes sir; about the time o' year for 'em just now, sir!"—Punch.

.....The question is often discussed whether the savages enjoy life. We suppose they do, as they always seem anxious to take it when they get a chance.

.....A gallant young Irishman once declared to his sweetheart that he was in such a way about her he couldn't sleep at night for dreaming of her.

.....A merchant having advertised his stock at prime cost, a neighbor observed that it was impossible, as he had never paid a cent for it himself.

.....When a feller gits a goin' down hill, it dus seem as though everything had been greased for the okashun.

.....Muggs says that the talk of women is usually about men; even their laugh is he! he! he!

.....An exchange mentions a "large plain gold gentleman's ring." "There's richness.

.....Why are umbrellas like pancakes? Because they are seldom seen after lent.

.....What is it that by losing an eye has nothing left but a nose? A noise.

GO TO THE BEST.

BRYANT & STRATTON'S CHICAGO BUSINESS UNIVERSITY is the largest and most thorough Institution of the kind in the country, and young men going to Chicago should consult their own best interests by attending this College, where every department of a Business Education is thoroughly taught—Bryant, Stratton & Co's. Scholarships are good during life in forty-eight different Colleges—Address for College Paper, Circular, College Currency and Specimens of Penmanship. BRYANT & STRATTON, Chicago, Ill.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic.

This medicine, invented by Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, is intended to dissolve the food and make it into chyme, the first process of digestion. By cleansing the stomach with Schenck's Mandrake Pills, the Tonic soon restores the appetite, and food that could not be eaten before using it, will be easily digested.

Consumption cannot be cured by Schenk's Pulmonic Syrup unless the stomach and liver is made healthy and the appetite restored, hence the Tonic and Pills are required in nearly every case of consumption. A half dozen bottles of the SEAWEED TONIC and three or four boxes of the MANDRAKE PILLS will cure any ordinary case of dyspepsia.

Dr. SCHENCK makes professional visits in New York, Boston, and at his principal office in Philadelphia every week. See daily papers of each place, or his pamphlet on consumption for his days for visitation.

Please observe, when purchasing, that the two likenesses of the Doctor, one when in the last stage of Consumption, and the other as he now is, in perfect health, are on the Government stamp.

Sold by all Druggists and Dealers, price $1 50 per bottle, or $7.50 the half dozen. All letters for advice should be addressed to Dr. SCHENCK's Principal Office, No. 16 North 6th street, Philadelphia, Pa.

General Wholesale Agents: Demas Barnes & Co., New York; S. S. Hance, Baltimore, Md.; John D. Park, Cincinnati, Ohio; Walker & Taylor, Chicago, Ill.; Collins & Bros., St. Louis, Mo. [1w]

Invigorate the Responsible Organ.

The stomach is the responsible organ of the system. If the digestion is imperfect, every member, every gland, every muscle, every muscle and fibre is more or less out of order. All the fluids are depraved The brain is clouded. The spirits are depressed. All dyspeptics know this to be the truth. It is not, however, half the truth. Columns would be required to enumerate the pains and penalties of dyspepsia, nor could any pen do them justice. Tens of thousands feel them; no man can describe them.

Can they be prevented? Can they be relieved? Can they be banished at once and forever? UNQUESTIONABLY THEY CAN. No dyspeptic has ever taken HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS in vain. Believe no one who says the complaint is incurable. This great vegetable stomachic will eradicate it—is eradicating it in thousands of cases over which medical practitioners have shaken their heads ominously, saying, "Nothing can be done."

The faculty has its fallacies. One of them is that Indigestion is the most difficult of all the ordinary ailments of mankind to combat and subdue. This is a mistake. Nothing can be easier than to conquer it if the true specific be administered. The vegetable combination which has become famous throughout the civilized world as HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS as an antidote to the disease which has never been known to fail, and fortunately it is everywhere procurable. If you want to root it out and prevent its recurrence, take the Bitters daily. There is no discount on the testimony in its favor. If there is a man or woman who has ever tried it for Indigestion without being benefitted the fact has not transpired. Universal, uncontradicted praise avouches its wonderful tonic virtues.

A Household Necessity Exists for the use of Durno's Celebrated Catarrh Snuff.

The best known remedy for "a Cold in the Head," Headache, Snuffles, Sore Eyes, Deafness, and the worst forms of that loathsome disease, CATARRH.

It cleanses the entire head. Its effects are pleasant and wonderful, contains no tobacco, nor injurious ingredient. It has the highest professional testimonials. Sold by all Druggists for 25 cents per Box. Can be sent by mail on receipt of 30 cents for one Box, or $1 for four Boxes. Address JAS. DURNO, Postoffice Box 1235, New York City. Wholesale by D. BARNES & CO., 21 Park Row New York.

ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS.—A druggist said the other day, you have no need to advertise your Porous Plasters, for every one sold certainly causes a dozen to be sold, and a dozen sells a gross, and so on. You will not be able to supply the demand soon. But we can supply a thousand yards a day.

AFFECTION OF THE SPINE CURED.

HARTFORD, Conn, Nov. 11th, 1861.

Messrs. THOS ALLCOCK & Co.—Please send, with dispatch, twelve dozen Allcock's Porous Plasters. Our daily experience confirms their very superior excellence. At this moment of writing, a man applies for one, who, by entanglement in the shaft of machinery, had both his legs broken, spine severely injured, and was for nearly a year entirely helpless This man found relief very soon by application of a plaster to his spine. He was soon enabled to work, and now he labors as well as ever. He would cheerfully pay $5 for a single plaster if they could not be had at a lower rate. I am surprised that surgeons do not make use of these perforated plasters, to the exclusion of all others, as their flexibility and adhesiveness are greatly in advance of all other plasters with which I am acquainted; while the perforations peculiar to them rendered them greatly superior to all others for ordinary surgical uses. Knowing the plasters to be so useful, I have no scruples that my sentiments should be known.

J. W. JOHNSON, M. D.

Principal Agency, Brandreth House, New York. Sold by all Dealers in Medicine.

MARCHING ON!

Constantly advancing in public favor throughout the United States, the British Colonies, and Spanish America, and needing

No Flourish of Trumpets

to proclaim the success that standard article,

CRISTADORO'S HAIR DYE,

is now far ahead of any preparation of its class. People of Fashion at length thoroughly understand the terrible consequences entailed by the use of metallic and caustic preparations, and admit the superiority of this celebrated Dye. Manufactured by J. CRISTADORO, No. 6 Astor House, New York. Sold by all Druggists. Applied by all Hair Dressers.

DR. TORIAS'

VENETIAN LINIMENT.

An instantaneous remedy for chronic rheumatism, headache, toothache, croup, colic, quinsy, sore throat, and pains in any part of the body. Remember, this article is a success—not an experiment; for 12 years it has been tested. No medicine has ever had such a reputation as this: silently it has worked its way before the public, and all are loud in its praise. "Chronic Rheumatism." Thousands who laid for weeks on a bed of agony, and never walked for months without the aid of crutches, with this complaint, can testify to the magical effects of this liniment. They are cured and proclaim its virtues throughout the land. Remember, relief is certain, and a positive cure is sure to follow. Head the circulars and we warrant to cure. Putrid sore throat, quinsy, and diptheria are robbed of their terrors by a timely use of the Venetian Liniment. It has saved hundreds the past three months. Price, 40 and 80 cents a bottle, Office, 56 Cortlandt street, New York. Sold by all druggists.

DR. SWAIN'S VEGETABLE HAIR BALM invariably restores grey hair to its original color, without staining the skin or clothing. It leaves the most dry, dead and crisp hair, soft, moist and glossy, causes it to curl, and keeps it in its place, while it promotes its growth and prevents its falling off.

It contains neither oil or alcohol.

Numerous preparations of oil, alcohol and sulphur have been palmed upon the public, and having totally failed to give satisfaction, the manufacturers have deservedly come to grief.

Dr. Swain warrants his Vegetable Balm to accomplish all the large claims for it, and authorizes his agent to refund the money wherever it fails to give satisfaction.

It is an entirely new and scientific preparation, produced by the distilation of rare and fragrant flowers, which renders it not only the best renewer in the world, but makes it particularly agreeable as a hair dressing to both old and young, while its liquid purity and floral odor are in striking contrast with the nasty mixtures usually sold.

The proprietor has letters from many of the most distinguished as well as fashionable people, judges, clergymen, lawyers, physicians, opera singers, actresses, &c, certifying to the remarkable virtues of the Balm.

Don't let any dealer urge upon you a different article, but if your tradesman does not keep this, send one dollar for a trial bottle to the nearest agent, or the proprietor.

If for grey hair, send for No. 1.

If for hair dressing, send for No. 2.

C. H. Swain, proprietor, No. 31 South Water street, Chicago.

For sale by all the wholesale druggists in Chicago.

THE BOOK OF WONDERS.

The Book of Wonders contains information of importance to everybody—old and young, male and female, married and single. Sent postpaid on receipt of 25 cents, by. O. A. ROORBACH, 122 Nassau St., New York.

BISHOP & BARNES,

No. 115 Lake Street, Chicago,

[SIGN OF THE BLACK BEAR.]

Hat and Fur Factory.

WE are extensively engaged in the manufacturing of ladies' and children's

Fine Fur Garments

of every style, such as Capes, Half Capes, Victorines, Collars, Hugenies, Muffs, Cuffs, &c. Also, Gents' Fur Collars, Gloves, Caps, &c.

Sleigh Robes

of every description, all of which we sell wholesale and retail at manufacturers' prices. We pay strict attention to all orders from the country for dressing the skins, and making up any articles desired. Old Furs made over and repaired. We pay the highest market price for all furs and Skins sent to us.

Bishop & Barnes, 115 Lake St, Chicago

CLARK SEMINARY

Offers both sexes good advantages in solid and ornamental branches. It has superior buildings, fourteen teachers, and is "one of the most successful schools in the West."

Aurora Commercial College

Is connected with the Seminary, and has all means and methods of illustration and instruction necessary to a complete business education. It has offices, store, bank, &c. After getting the Theory of Accounts, students are put into Actual Practice. Expenses are much less than in large cities; discipline and instruction more thorough.

Discounts made to Disabled Soldiers and Clergymen's Children.

TELEGRAPHING

Is taught by both paper and sound instruments.

For Circulars, address (enclosing stamp,)

G. W. QUERREAU, A. M., AURORA, ILLINOIS

WEED

AMONG THE ADVANTAGES CLAIMED for the WEED SEWING MACHINE, please note the following:

It can make but one Stitch, and that the Lock—this it never fails to do.

The Needle is straight—therefore sure and powerful.

The Blade of the Needle is SHORTER than that of any other Shuttle Machine in use.

Its speed is superior to most—thus producing more effect with the same effort.

It is not Noiseless, but few are more so.

They not only run quietly but easily.

The Tension is the most simple and effective of any.

The feed is perfect. Admirably arranged for examination, cleaning, oiling, &c.

With its shuttle and straight SHORT needle—simple yet perfect feed and tension—speed and easy motion, it produces the best stitch, with the least trouble, in the shortest time, without destroying the life and elasticity of the thread or silk.

Special attention is called to the fact that the arrangements of the Weed Sewing Machine are such that a firm and elastic seam can be made with light tension, and retain the pliability of the silk or thread equally with hand sewing.

Prices correspond with those of other first-class Machines. Every Machine is Warranted to give perfect satisfaction.

Agents wanted. Extra inducements offered.

Northwestern Office, 102 Washington St., Chicago.

Weed Sewing Machine Co.

PAYSON E. MAYHEW, Agent.

FAIRBANKS' STANDARD SCALES OF ALL KINDS.

Fairbanks, Greenleaf & Co., 226 & 228 LAKE STREET, CHICAGO ILL

Empire Shuttle Sewing Machines

ARE SUPERIOR TO ALL OTHERS

For Family and Manufacturing Purposes.

Contain all the latest improvements; are speedy, noiseless, durable, and easy to work. Illustrated circulars free: Agents wanted. Liberal discounts allowed. No consignments made.

Address, EMPIRE S. M. CO., 616 Broadway, New York.

FALL TRADE.

Immense Stock! Cash House

N. F. MERRILL,

71 and 73 Randolph Street, Chicago,

WHOLESALE DEALER IN

Lamps, Lanterns,

CHANDELIERS.

AND COAL OIL GOODS

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

Hotel and Table Glassware.

A local Agent wanted in every town in the Northwest for FISH'S NEW PATENT KEROSENE COOKING LAMPS. Orders from the Trade solicited and promptly filled.

POPE & SLOCUM,

No. 122 Clark Street,

CHICAGO, - - ILLINOIS,

Wholesale Dealers in

CARBON OIL,

LAMPS,

LANTERNS, CHANDELIERS.

CHIMNEYS, GLASSWARE,

Caster Frames and Cruets,

And Kerosene Goods of Every Description,

Such as Shades, Globes, Burners, Wicks, &c., with a large stock of goods selected with great care, and bought in many instances below actual cost of production, which we offer to the trade at figures which cannot fail to secure their patronage. Call and examine. Being the oldest house in the above business in Chicago, we know whereof we speak.

REDUCTION IN PRICE

OF THE

AMERICAN WATCHES

MADE AT

WALTHAM, MASS.

In consequence of the recent great improvement of our facilities for manufacturing, we have reduced our prices to as low a point as they can be placed

WITH GOLD AT PAR,

so that none need hesitate to buy a watch now from the expectation that it will be cheaper at some future time. The test of ten years and the manufacture and sale of

OLD RELIABLE!

CLOTHIERS

AND Tailors!

D. W. C. HARDY & CO.

Adrian, - Michigan.

The place to secure unheard of bargains;

MAMMOTH STOCK

Always to select from and Eastern prices will be found here.

ONE PRICED SYSTEM AND

GOOD GOODS.

Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Be sure and find the OLD RELIABLE CLOTHING HOUSE, and for

Custom Work and Cloths

You cannot do better west of New York.

D. W. C. HARDY & Co.

Lathrops Block, Adrian, Mich.

EUREKA.

NOT CALIFORNIA WITH ALL ITS GOLD, BUT THE PLACE TO BUY

Boots & Shoes at

Prices that suit the times, at

MC'NICHOL & WILSON'S

EMPIRE

Boot & Shoe Store.

We shall keep constantly on hand a full assortment of the BEST

Eastern Work to be Found

Consisting of

LADIES' CALF, GOAT AND KID GAITERS, BALMORALS, SLIPS,

And an endless variety of EVERYTHING usually found in a First Class Boot & Shoe Store. Our manufacturing department will be ably conducted and all work done by us warranted to give satisfaction. Those in want of Boots or Shoes will save money by calling, and will be sure to buy, for they can't fail to "see it"

☞ Remember the place—one door east of Curtis Drug Store.

Yes, 'Tis So!--Fact.

The subscriber would respectfully inform the citizens of Tecumseh and vicinity, that they have purchased the

on Railroad st opposite Slayton, Tindall & Co's Warehouse where they will keep constantly on hand a good supply of everything people may want, such as

BEEF, PORK, MUTTON.

Veal, Corned Beef, Salt Fish of all kinds, Smoked Hams &c. &c. We intend to keep the best market ever kept in this village and sell as reasonable as the times will allow. Call and see me.

A. S. Mathews.

Tecumseh, July 18, 6

DR. VELPAU'S FRENCH PILLS.

Ladies, take Particular Notice.

THE REAL VELPAU FEMALE PILL.

[WARRANTED FRENCH.]

THESE PILLS, so celebrated many years ago in Paris for the relief of female irregularities, and afterward so notorious for their criminal employment in the practice of abortion, are now offered for sale for the first time in America. They have been kept in comparative obscurity from the fact that the originator, Dr. Velpau, is a physician in Paris of great wealth and strict conscientious principles, and has withheld them from general use, lest they should be employed for unlawful purposes. In overcoming Female Obstructions, Falling of the Womb, Whites, Green Sickness, Suppression, Retention, or Immoderate Flow of the Monthly Discharges, they seem to be truly omnipotent, bursting open the flood gates from whatever cause may have stopped them; but they are offered to the public only for legitimate uses, and all agents are forbidden to sell them when it is understood that the object is unlawful. Married ladies should never take them when there is any reason to believe themselves pregnant, for they will be sure to produce a miscarriage.

These pills are entirely safe under all circumstances, being composed entirely of substances from the vegetable kingdom.

Each box has the coat of arms for the City of Paris stamped on the box, with the words "Trade Mark" in French, to counterfeit which is a misdemeanor, and all persons will be dealt with according to law.

☞ Full directions accompany every box.

Ladies can obtain a box sealed from the eyes of the curious, by inclosing One Dollar and six post office stamps to any respectable druggists, or to O. G. STAPLES, General Agent for the United States, Watertown, N. Y.

Agents,

Staiger & Fausel

PRACTICAL

Watch-Makers, Jewelers,

And Repairers of Clocks &c. &c.

J. D. Robbins' Jewelry Store, Tecumseh, Mich. Give them a call

---

Farmers! Farmers!

THE

RAISIN MILLS,

is the place to get good grinding done. I pay particular attention to this branch of business,

CUSTOM GRINDING,

keep the Mill constantly in good repair and the 2nd Adam is always on hand with a pleasant smile to tend to the wants

OF MY NUMEROUS CUSTOMERS!

BRING GOOD CLEAN WHEAT, and I will warrant that Adam will give you satisfaction. SOUND

Wheat taken in store for Bread

Good White and Red Wheat Flour for sale. The highest market price paid

In Greenbacks

for good White and Amber Wheat

Mill Feed of allkinds for Sale.

SAWING DONE

for Customers on short notice. Bills of hard wood lumber sawed, and delivered if wished.

LUMBER FOR SALE

Cash paid for Saw Logs. Good hard wood slabs for sale by the load. &c. &c

I sincerely thank my numerous customers for their very liberal patronage, and shall endeavor to do as good work, and even better if possible in the future.

Woolsten Comfort.

---

18 Pronunciemento. 66

GLOBE MILLS,

This well known and popular Mill is

Now in Good Running Order,

and prepared to do Grinding Grists for the farmers in a satisfactory manner, will endeavor to make a good yield and have the flour suit.

Old Customers

I shall be pleased to retain, and would invite others to try and see

How well we can do For them.

To such as

PREFER EXCHANGING THEIR GRAIN,

to having it ground, I shall be ready to accommodate, having always on hand a

SUPPLY OF FLOUR

There can usually be found at the Mill for Sale

Best White Wheat Flour,
Best Red Wheat Flour,
2nd est Red Wheat Flour,
At Wholesale or Retail.
Corn Meal, Bolted and Coarse,
Fine Middlings, B. W Flour,
Ship Stuffs, B. w. Bran,
Mixed feed for horses and cattle,
Corn and Oats ground for horse feed.

This Mill can more often grind, because of its unfailing

SUPPLY OF WATER,

and does more certainly have a supply of Flour and Feed always on hand, than any other mill for miles around.

Farmers are invited to bring their wheat to the Globe Mill and get THE HIGHEST MARKET PRICE.

They will always also usually find a market at the Mill for their other grains.

Wm. HAYDEN.

A. HOOD & CO.,

Are receiving a large stock of

CLOTHS, CLOTHING, HATS AND CAPS.

And all kinds of Furnishing Goods pertaining to Gentlemen's wear.

A splendid assortment of

Cassimeres and Vestings

At A. HOOD & Co.

CHINCHILLA BEAVERS,

and all other varieties of Over Coatings

At A. HOOD & CO.

A good assortment of

Broadcloths

for Gentlemen's SUITS, or Ladies' CLOAKS

At A. HOOD & CO.

A large stock of HATS & CAPS of all styles FUR, FELT, CASSIMERE & SILK

At A. HOOD & CO.

A great variety of WOOLEN SHIRTS

At A. HOOD & CO.

Lots of YPSILANTI CLOTHS at the lowest figures. at A. HOOD & CO.

UNDER SHIRTS & DRAWERS

The largest stock ever brought to this town for sale at A. HOOD & CO.

ALL KINDS OF GLOVES

At A. HOOD & CO

A nice stock of NECK TIES, new styles

At A. HOOD & CO.

TRUNKS, TRAVELING BAGS

of all kinds at A. HOOD & CO.

If you want a Coat, Pants or Vest TRIMMED

Go to A. HOOD & CO

Lots of Ready Made Clothing

At A. HOOD & CO.

A choice lot of

ENGLISH MELTONS

for Ladies' Cloaking for sale at cost.

At A. HOOD & CO.

We still continue the Tailoring Business in all its branches, and are prepared to get up Garments on short notice, on as liberal terms as any other establishment. Cutting done on short notice.

We cordially invite our old customers to examine our Stock before purchasing

A. HOOD & CO.

ONE OF THE LARGEST

ESTABLISHMENT

In Southern michigan.

One of the best filled Establishments!

A LARGE STOCK,

Most Varied

Stock of Furniture

Is to be found at

G. & H. Smiths'

ROOMS IN THE

NEW BUILDING,

South Side Chicago St, Tecumseh,

Great Bargains

Are now offered to wholesale or retail buyers.

Among our assortment of Furniture may be found,

Various Styles and Prices

OF SOFAS

TETE-A-TETES,

MAHOGANY, EASY, WOOD SEAT, CANE SEAT

AND ROCKING CHAIRS

FRENCH, COTTAGE, COMMON AND TRUNDLE,

BEDSTEADS,

MARBLE TOP, WRITING, CARD AND

TEA TABLES,

What Nots, Cradles, Bureaus, Cribs, Desks, Show Cases, Stands, Book Cases, Cupboards, Washstands, Lounges, &c. &c. &c.

Furniture made to order on short notice by the best of Workmen.

LOOKING GLASSES,

COFFINS,

We keep constantly on hand a large and all assortment of Coffins and will make to order all kinds either Night or Day, and finished and trimmed in the best style,

A Hearse Furnished when Desired.

G. SMITH.
H. SMITH.

Tecumseh, June 11th, 1863.

Great Chance for Bargains!

CHAS. H. ADAM & CO.

BEBNG ABOT TO RETIRE FROM THE DRY GOODS IN TECUMSEH OFFER FOR SALE AT

GREATLY REDUCED RATES

THEIR ENTIRE STOCK OF DRY GOODS,

Consisting of Staple and Fancy goods, Yankee Notions

And everything usually kept in a Dry Goods Store.

This will afford the best opportunity

EVER OFFERED IN TECUMSEH TO OBTAIN BARGAINS IN DRY GOODS, FOR CASH.

GOODS SOLD AY THE PIECE

OR QUANTITY AT WHOLESALE PRICES.

All outstanding account must be settled within thirty days to save interest and cost.

C. H. ADAM& CO.

TECUMSEH, SEPT. 27th 1866.

NEW GOODS,

PRICES DOWN!

H. C. CONKLING

Would call the attention of the public to his new stock of

CHOICE GROCERIES

Just purchased in New York at the

RECENT DECLINE,

which he offers for sale

CHEAP.

All Goods warranted to give satisfaction. Cash paid for Produce, as usual,

5000 Firkins

Of Butter Wanted!!

Butter firkins to put out to be filled:—

☞ Call and see those choice Teas: Don't forget, the old stand of Ketcham & Conkling.

H. C. CONKLING.

Tecumseh, May 7th, 1866.

DENTISTRY.

DR. A. PELHAM,

Resident Dentists.

Office over Fisher & Baker's Drug Store, Chicago St.

TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN.

☞ All branches of Dentistry performed in the neatest possible manner and at Reasonable Prices

---

We would respectfully inform the citizens of Tecumseh and vicinity that we opened a

MEAT MARKET,

at McGee's old stand in Bidwell's warehouse where we shall keep on hand everything in our line that the market affords, of the best quality that can be had.

We have also made arrangements for the manufacture of SOFT SOAP, which will be sold at reasonable rates. Ashes and grease taken in exchange and Soap delivered when requested

Thankful for past favors, we cordially invite our friends to give us a call. All orders left at the Market will be promptly attended to. W. TAYLOR & CO.

$1,500 PER YEAR. We want agents everywhere to sell our IMPROVED $20 Sewing Machines. Three new kinds. Under and upper feed. Sent on trial. Warranted five years. Above salary or large commissions paid. The only machines sold in the United States for less than $40, which are fully licensed by Howe, Wheeler & Wilson, Grover & Baker, Singer & Co., and Bachelder. All other cheap machines are infringements and the seller or user are liable to arrest, fine and imprisonment. Illustrated circulars sent free. Address, or call upon Shaw & Clark, at Biddeford, Maine, or Chicago, Ill.

ROYAL HAVANA LOTTERY OF CUBA

Conducted by the Spanish Government.

$350,000

IN GOLD DRAWN EVERY 17 DAYS

Prizes cashed and information furnished, the highest rates paid for Doubloons and all kinds of Gold and Silver, also for all government Securities.

TAYLOR & CO., Bankers, 16 wall st. N. Y.

n790lysmp

THE CONFESSIONS AND EXPERIENCE OF AN INVALID.

Published for the benefit and as a CAUTION TO YOUNG MEN and others, who suffer from Nervous Debility, Premature Decay of Manhood, &c., supploing at the same time the means of Self-Cure. By one who has cured himself after undergoing considerable quackery. By enclosing a postpaid addressed envelope, single copies, free of charge, may be had of the author.

NATHANIEL MAYFAIR, Esq., Brooklyn,

n790lysmp Kings Co, N. Y

$90 A MONTH!—Agents wanted for six entirely new articles, just out. Address O. T. GAREY, City Building, Biddeford, Me.

THE NEW HARNESS SHOP!

J. D SHOLES

Having opened a shop in the old

NEW YORK STORE,

Would respectfully invite the attention of his old friends to his very superior stock of

HARNESS, SADDLES, &c.,

Manufactured from the best materials by experienced workmen.

☞ Repairing neatly and promptly done.

☞ Tribou & Bidwell Bros. have a splendid assortment of Over-shirts, Drawers, Under-shirts, Neck Ties, Suspenders, and every kind of Gents' Furnishing Goods.

THAT'S RIGHT,

We Have It!!

VARIETY.

We would respectfully announce to the good people of Tecumseh and vicinity that

HALEY & WALTERS

Have now on hand a large and well selected stock of

FAMILY GROCERIE

Which they are offering very low. They have in connection with their Grocery a

BAKERY,

and having secured the services of a first class Baker, are now prepared to furnish all, with Bread, Crackers, Pies, Cakes &c. They have furnished rooms over their store for the sale of

ICE CREAM, LEMONADE

and by strict attention to business they hope to please all who patronize

---

L. DREW'S

NEW HARDWARE!!

Having received from New York and other eastern cities a large Stock of the following goods viz·

STOVES IN ENDLESS VARITY!

Iron, Steel Nails, Cutlery, Putty, Glass, Window Sashes,

House Trimmings,

Carpenter's Tools, Farming Tools Coopers Tools and Chain Pumps, Bolts, and a

Variety of SHELF GOODS,

PURCHASED FOR CASH Before THE LATE ADVANCE,

They are offered for sale at prices which defy competition. All kinds of

Tin ware

constantly on hand and made to order of the best material and by experienced workmen, also

Copper, Sheet Iron, and Zinc,

Also the

Good 'Samaritan COOKING STOVE, one of the best stoves in the country.

M. WRIGHT

Keeps constantly on kand, a large and choice assortment of

Drugs and Medicines,

PAINTS, OILS, VARNISHES,

FANCY GLASS WARE,

KEROSENE OIL GROCERY,

WALL PAPER,

PERFUMERY &c.

Also, agent for all the popular

PATENT MEDICINES,

ALCOHOL, Pure WINES, LIQUORS AND SPICES,

Also, a good selection of

FRESH GROCERIES,

Physicians' Prescriptions carefully compounded and all orders answered.

Medicines warranted genuine and of the best quality and sold at the lowest cash prices.

The Southern Michigan

MANUFACTORY!

IN FULL BLAST!

T. Cummins, Proprietor,

Would announce to the citizens of Lenawee Co, that he is still located in the Brick Shop on Railroad Street,

Where he is now turning out the

Nicest, Best and Strongest,

WAGONS, CARRIAGES, SLEIGHS, BUGGIES, CUTTERS,

and in fact everything in his line from a baby cart to a large Omnibus. His prices are such as defy competition. So call and leave your orders.

☞ Job Printing in all its various branches neatly and promptly executed at this office.—Our charges are moderate.—Try us.

GO TO THE

LONG ESTABLISHED

Head Quarters, for

Groceries & Provisions,

A. JAMES

Is happy to inform his patrons and the public in general that he has heavily replenished his stock of Goods, to which he invites the attention of those in search of

Good Articles

AT FAIR PRICES.

His stock embraces about every article known in his line of trade—

SWEETS, SOURS & SPICES, SNUFF, SOAP & CIGARS,

Confectionery Candles,

FRUIT AND FISH

Stone and Wooden Ware,

&c.

He continues to pay the highest market price for all kinds of Farmers Produce.

His stock embraces all kinds, under the following heads:

MOLASSES,
SOAP, FISH,
SUGAR, SYRUP,
COFFEE, SPICES,
AMMUNITION, CANDIES,
CANDLES, TOBACCO,
FRUITS, SAUCES,
BURNING OILS.

OUR MOTTO IS,

Never to be Undersold.

Sorghum Men Attention!

LOOK AT THE CANE MACHINERY.

At Slayton, Tindall & Co's Warehouse.

New Styles of Mills, Evaporators and Horse Powers, never before introduced in Michigan. Patented by Powers & Stevens, of Wisconsin, and successfully and extensively used in the Western States.

Vertical and Horizontal MILLS,

of all sizes, of great strength and capacity, with patent adjustable rubber springs.

EVAPORATORS

divided into sections with instantly movable partitions over fire chamber, which is also divided into sections, and heat regulated by Patent Dampers, at will Also Saccharometers and tools for full setts of Camp Implements for the manufacture of syrup & sugar

KIRBY Mower & Reaper,
BUCK EYE Mower & Reaper
CAYUGA CHIEF, Mower & Reaper,
" " No. 2 "
EUREKA Mower & Reaper
EXCELSIOR Mower & Reaper,
NEW YORKER Mower & Reaper,
BALL Mower & Reaper,
HUBBARD Mower, QUAKER Mower,

Any other style Mower or Reaper you want can be had of SLAYTON, TINDALL & CO

The Buckeye, Riding Corn and Fallow Cultivator The Stafford, Riding, Corn and Fallow Cultivator. 1, 2, and 3 shovel, one horse Corn Cultivators Corn Plows, L Green's Patent Peekskill Plows. Curtis' Plows, the genuine, from Mr. Curtis' own shop. For Sale by

SLAYTON, TINDALL & Co

CURTIS & PARSONS

(DEALERS IN)

Having become proprietors of the well known establishment in Bidwell's Block on Chicago Street, would respectfully announce to the citizens of Tecumseh and vicinity, that they are prepared to supply them with everything in the line of Hardware, Iron, Nails, Tin Ware, Iron, Nails, Chains, Cutlery, Belts, Scelf goods Glass, Cradles, Scythes, Forks, Rakes, Carpenter's tools, Doors, Axes, Hoes Cistern Pumps, Putty, Spades and Shovels, Chains, Ropes and every article usually kept in like establishments.

Especial attention is called to the large assortment of Cook and Parlor Stoves & Fixtures, of which they have a large variety, embracing all the latest improvements, We have also a Tin-Shop in opperation, for manufacturing & repairing all kinds of Tin, Copper and Sheet Iron Ware Stove-pipe, Eave Troughs, Milk-Pans, Dippers, Cups, Oil-Cans, and every conceivable article, from a Large Dish Pan down to a Tin whistle. We are sole agents for the Universal Clothes Wringer, for this vicinity.

GEO. CURTIS, WM. A. PARSONS.

The Pride of the West

THE TECUMSEH

RED MILLS

J. MILLER & SONS

Have rented the above Mills; thoroughly repaired the same, and are now manufacturing a No. 1 article of

FAMILY FLOUR,

We are also prepared to furnish

CORN MEAL, SHIP STUFFS AND

Mill Feed, at all times.

CUSTOM WORK

Done with neatness and Dispatch and

WARRANTED TO GIVE SATISFACTION.

The Highest Market Price in

Cash, for Wheat!

Give us a trial, and we will warrant that you will not go away dissatisfied.

JOHN MILLER & SONS.

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the condition of a certain Mortgage made by Thomas Horan and Sarah Horan his wife mortgagors, to Ambrose S. Berry mortgagee, bearing date the fifteenth day June in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and fifty-nine and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the county of Lenawee and State of Michigan, on the 15th day of June 1859 in Liber 28, of mortgages on pages 769 and 770 on which said mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice, fifty-nine dollars and eighty-nine cents and no suit or proceedings at law having been instituted to recover the same or any part thereof, Notice is therefore given that on the 17th day of November 1866, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the front door of the old Methodist Church in the city of Adrian in said county of Lenawee, that being the place for holding the Circuit Court for the county of Lenawee, I shall sell at public auction or vendue to the highest bidder the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof, as may be necessary to satisfy the amount due on said mortgage at the date of this notice with interest and the costs and expenses allowed by law together with the attorneys fee as provided in said mortgage, that is to say—all that tract or parcel of land situate in the city of Adrian, in the county of Lenawee and State of Michigan, described as follows: Village (now city) lots one (1) and two (2) on Block number thirteen (13) for a more particular discription reference being had to the Plat of the village (now city) of Adrian as recorded in the Registers office of Lenawee County aforesaid.

AMBROSE S. BERRY, Mortgagee.

WM. L. GREENLY, Attorney for Mortgagee.

Dated Aug. 14th, 1866.

Hear Ye! Hear Ye!!

Do you want the best Card pictures in this section.

Do you want those gems of art, Opatotypes or Porcelains? Do you want work warranted? Do you want to assist yourselves? Do you want the best that Art affords? Then go to Powers rooms over the P. O. Tecumseh, Michigan, and you can find FIRST CLASS WORK of every description. He is bound not to be out done in any branch of the business. Pictures of any size done to order in INDIA INK, WATER or OIL COLORS, on short notice and in the best style

Persons having small Negatives which they like can have pictures made from them life size or smaller as they choose and finished in India ink water or oil colors. Give him a call and examine his work. You will find him gentlemanly, courteous and ever ready to oblige. He is bound to give satisfaction to all No poor work allowed to leave the rooms He has the best instruments known and acknowledged to be such by all superior Artists. One half of the pictures that took the premium at the last County Fair, over A. J. Hongs name, were of Powers make. Do you want proof, call and examine Powers has served three years in the army, and deserves the patronage of the public You will find him prompt active and always at his place of business

---

KNOW THY DESTINY!

Madame E. F. Thornton, the great English Astrologist, Clairvoyant and Psychometrician, who has astonished the scientific classes of the Old World, has now located herself at Hudson, N. Y. Madame Thornton possess such wonderful powers of second sight, as to enable her to impart knowledge of the greatest importance to the single or married of both sex. While in a state of trance, she delineates the features of the person you are to marry, and by the aid of an instrument of intense power, known as the Pyschometrope, guarantees to produce a life-like picture of the future husband or wife of the applicant, together with date of marriage, position in life, leading traits of character, &c. This is no humbug, as thousands of testimonials can assert. She will send, when desired a certified certificate, or written guarantee, that the picture is what it purports to be. By enclosing a small lock of hair, and stating place of birth, age, disposition and complexion, and enclosing 50 cents and stamped envelope addressed to yourself, you will receive the picture and desired information by return mail. All communications sacredly confidential. Address in confidence, MADAME E. F. THORNTON, P. O. Box 228 Hudson, N. Y.

FOR SALE.

HOUSE and LOT within five minutes' walk of the Post Office. The house is in good repair—conveniently arrayed, and well provided with water. There is a barn on the premises, also plenty of good fruit.

The above described property will be sold at a bargain. Inquire at this office.

Boots and Shoes

FOR SALE!

The subscriber offers for sale, a small stock of Boots and Shoes of my own Manufacture, cheap for cash, one door West of National Hotel.

B. WORTH.

The Tecumseh Herald.

C. M. BURLINGAME, Publisher. "The Constitution, the Union, and the Enforcement of the Laws." Terms per year $2 00 in Advance.

VOL. XVII. NO. 24. TECUMSEH MICHIGAN, THURSDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 8, 1866. WHOLE NO. 834.

Now Ready!
New Full and Winter Goods!

MERRITT, MEEKER & Co
North side Chicago St

Mr. Wm. Van Camp having just returned from the City of New York, we are now prepared to submit to the inspection, the largest and best ever offered in the Village of Tecumseh.

SELECTED STOCK OF GOODS

Having purchased the same from first hands for cash. We are thereby enabled to offer special Inducements to our patrons. And not only be able to maintain but largely increase our reputation for having the largest, best assortment and cheapest stock of Goods west of New York City.

CONSISTING OF

Foreign & Domestic Dry Goods
FANCY DRESS GOODS.
Yankee Notions and Hosiery!
HATS & CAPS,
GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS,
Broadcloths, Cassimeres, Over Coatings Vestings and Cloakings, Plain and Fancy Flannels, Ladies' and Gents' Furs, Hoods, Nubias,
Breakfast Shawls, Buffalo Robes, Gloves, Mittens, &c. &c.

Special atten is called to our CLOTH DEPARTMENT. As we have a large assortment of Eastern Cloths, and having the exclusive sale of Cloths manufactured at the Ypsilanti Woolen Mills, we are prepared to sell as low as any one in Southern Michigan.

E. H. ESTES,

Having purchased the interest of

J. S HENDRYX, in the
THE GROCERY BUSINESS,

Will keep constantly on hand
SALT BY THE BARREL,
Sack or by the pound.

CHOICE TEA,

COFFEE, TOBACCO,
FISH, &C.

Also a good assortment of
KEROSENE OIL,
LAMP CHIMNIES.

SARGENT'S PAT. LANTERN,
And all things belonging to the business.

CALL AND SEE HIM.

WANTED.
ALL THE TORN
RAGGED
AND MUTILATED
GREENBACKS
AND
POSTAGE CURRENCY
In the County, at par value in exchange for which I offer my
ENTIRE STOCK,
Comprising the largest and finest assortment of
BOOKS & STATIONERY
GOLD PENS, CUTLERY, ALBUMS,
SHEET MUSIC.
BLANK BOOKS, PAPER COLLARS
YANKEE NOTIONS
&c., &c.,
IN NORTHERN LENAWEE
At prices that defy COMPETITION
Rush in the Rags, no matter how badly torn or soiled. Remember the place, in the Post-Office Building.
G. T. Ketcham.

P. S.—I shall continue taking Greenbacks and Postage Currency not mutilated, as heretofore, until further notice.

J. D. ROBBINS.
(Succ[illegible] ROBBINS & DEWOLF
DEALER IN
CLOCKS, WATCHES,
FINE JEWELRY,
SPECTACLES,
WALL PAPER.
SCHOOL BOOKS,
FANCY GOODS,
YANKEE NOTIONS,
TOYS, ETC., &c.
—o—
I will sell any of the above goods as
Cheap or Cheaper than any other dealer in the country, and
WARRANT
all goods sold as good as recommended.
—o—
CASH FOR RAGS!
—o—
J. D. Robbins.
TECUMSEH, ... MICHIGAN.

A Complete Pictorial History of the Times.

"The best, cheapest, and most successful Family Paper in the Union"

HARPER'S WEEKLY.
SPLENDIDLY ILLUSTRATED
Critical Notices of the Press.

"The best Family Paper published in the United States"—New London Advertiser.

"The Model Newspaper of our country—complete in all the departments of an American Family Paper—Harper's Weekly has earned for itself a right to its title, 'A Journal of Civilization.'"—N. Y. Evening Post

"This paper furnishes the best illustrations. Our future historians will enrich themselves out of Harper's Weekly long after writers, and painters, and publishers are turned to dust."—New York Evangelist.

"A necessity in every household."—Boston Transcript.

"It is at once a leading political and historical annalist of the nation."—Philadelphia Press.

"The best of its class in America."—Boston Traveller.

SUBSCRIPTIONS—1867.

The publishers have perfected a system of mailing by which they can supply the Magazine and Weekly promptly to those who prefer to receive their periodicals directly from the office of publication. Postmasters and others desirous of getting up Clubs will be supplied with a Show Bill on aplication.

The postage on Harper's Weekly is 20 cts. a year, which must be paid at the subscribers's post-office.

TERMS:

HARPER'S WEEKLY, one year - $4 00

An extra copy of either the Weekly or Magazine will be supplied gratis for every Club of five Subscribers at at $4.00 each, in one remittance: or six copies for $2.00.

Back numbers can be supplied at any time.

The Annual Volumes of Harper's Weekly, in neat cloth binding, will be sent free of expense, for $7 each. A complete set, comprising Nine Volumes, sent on receipt of cash at the rate of $5.25 per vol., freight at expense of purchaser. Volume X, ready January 1st, 1867.

Subscriptions sent from British North American Provinces must be accompanied with 20 cents additional to prepay United States postage. Adress,

HARPER & BROTHERS,
Franklin Square, N. Y.

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the condition of a certain Mortgage made by Thomas Horan and Sarah Horan his wife mortgagors, to Ambrose S. Berry mortgagee, bearing date the fifteenth day June in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and fifty-nine and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the county of Lenawee and State of Michigan, on the 15th day of June 1859 in Liber 28, of mortgages on pages 769 and 770 on which said mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice, fifty-nine dollars and eighty-nine cents and no suit or proceedings at law having been instituted to recover the same or any part thereof. Notice is therefore given that on the 17th day of November 1866, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the front door of the old Methodist Church in the city of Adrian in said county of Lenawee, that being the place for holding the Circuit Court for the county of Lenawee, I shall sell at public auction or vendue to the highest bidder the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof, as may be necessary to satisfy the amount due on said mortgage at the date of this notice with interest and the costs and expenses allowed by law together with the attorneys fee as provided in said mortgage, that is to say—all that tract or parcel of land situate in the city of Adrian, in the county of Lenawee and State of Michigan, described as follows: Village (now city) lots one (1) and two (2) on Block number thirteen (13) for a more particular discription reference being had to the Plat of the village (now city) of Adrian as recorded in the Registers office of Lenawee County aforesaid.

AMBROSE S. BERRY, Mortgagee.
WM. L. GREENLY, Attorney for Mortgagee.
Dated Aug. 14th, 1866.

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in a mortgage executed by John H. Phileo to John Wheelan, dated October 13th, 1863, recorded in the Register of Deeds' Office of Lenawee County, Michigan, October 13th, 1863, at two and a half o'clock P. M. in Liber 39 of Mortgages, on pages 17 and 18, upon which mortgage there is claimed due and unpaid at this date the sum of four hundred and eighty five dollars, and for the recovery of which no proceedings hitherto either in law or equity hath been taken. For the purpose therefore of realizing the money aforesaid with accruing interest and costs of foreclosure. Notice is hereby given that the premises mentioned in said mortgage and described as all that tract or parcel of land situate in the City of Adrian in the County of Lenawee and State of Michigan, being village lot number nine (9) on A. W. Budlong's plot as recorded in the Register's Office for Lenawee County, being on section thirty four (34) in the township of Adrian in the county and State aforesaid, will be sold at public vendue at the Circuit Court room known as the old Methodist Church Building in the City of Adrian in said county of Lenawee on the 18th day of January, 1867, at two o'clock in the afternoon.—Dated, Oct. 25th, 1866.

JOHN WHEELAN, Mortgagee
E F. Wood, Atty. for Mortgagee.

WHITNEY'S
Piano, Melodeon, Organ
AND
MUSIC STORE.
WHITNEY'S
PALACE OF MUSIC.
173 Summit St. Toledo, Ohio,
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALER IN
Pianos, Melodeons and Organs,
At lower Prices than any other House in the West,
PIANOS, - - - PIANOS,
SOLE AGENT FOR
STEINWAY & SONS, CHICKERING & SONS,
Calenburg & Vaupel and eight other first class Manufacturers.
MUSIC PUBLISHER,
Wholesale Agent for S D. & H. W. Smith's
CELEBRATED
AMERICAN ORGANS
Customers are informed that every item ordered is ALWAYS sent, if to be had in the city.

TECUMSEH TIME TABLE

GOING SOUTH.

Mail and Express,	6:50 A. M.
Day Express,	1:12 P. M
Freight,	4:40 P. M.

GOING NORTH.

Mail and Express,	3:42 P M
Evening Express,	9:30 P. M.
Freight,	8:05 A. M.

Business Directory.

TEMPLE & MURRAY
Carpenters and Joiners, Manufacturers of Doors, Sash, Blinds, Gates &c.
S. W. Temple's Shop, Tec. Mich.

A. HOOD & CO.
Dealers in Hats, Caps and Clothing, &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

GEORGE HEESEN,
Dealer in Ready Made Clothing, &c.
One door west of the Bank.
Chicago st Tecumseh, mich

TRIBOU & BIDWELL BRO'S,
Dealers in Dry Goods, Groceries, &c. &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh. Mich.

WARD & STRICKLAND,
Dealers in Dry Goods, Groceries Ready Made Clothing &c. &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

RICHARD C. MOORE.
Dealer in Dry Goods, Fancy Goods &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

MERRITT, MEEKER & CO,
Dealers in Dry Goods and Fancy Goods
Chicago street, Tecumseh, Mich,

ALFRED JAMES,
Dealer in Groceries, Confectionaries, &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

HENRY C. CONKLING.
Dealer in Groceries Provisions, &c., &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, M.

MOSES WRIGHT,
Dealer in Drugs, Medicines, Toilets, &c.
Chicao St: Tecumseh, Mich.

P. N. CURTIS.
Dealer in Drugs, Paints, Oils, & Notions.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

FISHER & BAKER,
Dealers in Drugs, Medicines, Paints &c.
Chicago St: Tecumseh, Mich.

GOULD & WALDO,
Dealers in Drugs, Groceries &c.
Chicago St, - - Tecumseh, Mich.

EDWIN B. WOOD,
Attorney, Counsellor, and Notary Public.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

C. A. STACY,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law, &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

BILLS & BAXTER,
Attorney's, Councellor's and Solicitors.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

McNAIR & HEWITT,
Justice's of the Peace, Insurance Agents.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich

CURTIS & PARSONS,
Dealers in Hardware, Tubs, Pails, &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

Hong & Stevens,
Dealer in Boots, Shoes, Leather &c., &c.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

Henry Nyland,
Dealer in Boots & Shoes & Leather.
One door west of Bank, Tecumseh.

EMLAY & COURTER
Dealers in Saddles, Harness and Leather.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich,

HORACE BREWER.
Steam Engine and Machine Founder.
Railroad St. Tecumseh, Mach.

SLAYTON, TINDALL & CO.,
Dealers in
Produce and Agricultural Implements.
Railroad St. Tecumseh, Mich.

J. D. ROBBINS,
Dealer in Jewelry, Clocks and Notions.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

G. T. KETCHAM.
Bookseller, Newsdealer and Stationer.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

WOOLSTON COMFORT.
Raisin, Flouring, Grist and Saw Mills
Tecumseh, Michigan

H. B. MATHIAS,
Dealer in Tobacco, Cigars, and Pipes.
Chicago St Tecumseh, Mich.

W. K. POWERS & CO,
Photographs, Ambrotypes and Albums,
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

MRS. C. M. BISSELL,
Photograph and Ambrotype Artist, &c.
Pearl & Chicago St's. Tec. Mich

S. & H. SMITH,
Dealers in Furniture and Upholstery.
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

DR. A. PELHAM,
Surgical and Mechanical Dentist,
Chicago St - - Tecumseh, Mich.

DR. E. HAUSE,
Surgical, and Mechanical Dentist.
Chicago St. Opposite P. Office.

NATIONAL HOTEL,
Chicago Street, Tecumseh, Michigan.
MERRITT & BURGHER - Proprietors.

HIRAM WESCOTT,
Paper Hanging, Whitewashing, &c., &c
Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

EXCHANGE HOTEL
Railroad St. - - - Tecumseh, Mich.
D. FISH, Proprietor.

The Tecumseh Herald.
C. M. BURLINGAME,
Publisher and Proprietor.

Local and Miscellaneous.

Rates of Advertising.
(One inch of column constitutes a square,)

	1 wk	3 wk	3 m	6 m	1 yr
1 Square	$1 00	$ 2 00	$ 6.00	$ 7.50	$10.00
2 Squares	1.75	3 50	8.00	12.00	15 00
3 Squares	2 75	5 00	11.00	16 00	20.00
¼ Column	5.00	9 00	12.00	18.00	25.00
½ Column	7.50	12.00	18.00	25.00	36.00
Column	12.00	15.00	20.00	35.00	60.00

☞ No advertisement considered less than one square Transient advertisements must be paid for in advance. Advertisements unaccompanied with directions for the number of insertions, will be continued until ordered out, and charged accordingly. Business cards of five lines, or less, inserted at $3.50 per year.

☞ Work neatly executed at this office. Charges reasonable

☞ Buckskin Gloves and Mittens, Woolen Hose, Scarfs, Neck Ties and Paper Collars, in great variety at Tribou & Bidwell Bros'.

J. D. Robbins, has gone to New York to buy "some new dings" for the Holidays. When he gets back you can expect to see something nice.

☞ Red, White, Check, and shirting Flannels in all colors, Over-shirts, Undershirts and Knit Coats at Bidwells'.

☞ There is to be a Grand Party at Bidwell's Hall, on Friday eve., Nov. 16th. Supper at the National Hotel—All those who "trip the light fantastic toe" should improve this opportunity, and have a good time.

☞ Go to Bidwells' for Merinoes, Empress Cloths, Poplins, Alpaccas, or or any other Dress Goods.

☞ C. H. Conklin, of Clinton, sells the entire furniture of the Exchange Hotel at Auction on Saturday, Nov. 17th, commencing at 10 o'clock, A M.

☞ Mrs. F Johnson & Co, have opened a new stock of Millinery Goods, over J. D. Robbins' Jewelry Store.

☞ The celebrated hunt on Thursday last, under command of Captains Brown and Hayden, passed off in grand style, the latter coming out victorious. A grand game supper was held at the National last Saturday evening in honor of the event.

☞ Silk and Cassimere Hats, Fall styles New York, Excelsior and Driving Hats, Base Ball, Croquet and Velvet Caps at Bidwells'.

☞ Hon. S. Blanchard, Masonic State Lecturer, has rented his house in this place, to E. B. Strickland and P. A Perry, and will hereafter, for the winter at least, make his headquarters at the Russell House, Detroit. His numerous friends throughout the State will please address him there.

Melodeons for Sale.

I have Whitney's Improved Melodeons. These instruments have taken the 1st premium at the State Fair in this State for the last two years, and any one wishing a first-class instrument will do well to call and examine these before purchasing elsewhere. Mrs. M. Brown, one door west of the new Presbyterian Church.

☞ "Doonder and blitzen—I sells you dese boots for five dollars—what you gives?" Wilson & McNichols don't do business in that way, but they won't be undersold by either Jew or Gentile.

☞ The notorious Sile Doty, whose propensity to appropriate other people's property, is well known to the inhabitants of this region, is out upon the world again, having served out his last sentence at Jackson. Look out for him.

☞ Herrick Allen's Gold Medal Saleratus is cleaned of all impurities, and contains the largest amount of all necessary and wholesome properties which can be concentrated in the same weight; is guaranteed to give the most perfect satisfaction, or the money refunded. It will cure dyspeptic persons, and save the health of all who use it. Grocers and Druggists sell it. Depot, 112 Liberty Street, New York.

☞ See card of Staiger & Fausel, Jewelers, in another column, They operated on a watch of ours that was troubled with periodical spells of stopping, and now we can't stop it with a crowbar. They can make a stove-handle keep time if there is a chance to attach a spring to it.

☞ Without joking—in dead earnest—"on the square"—really—sincerely and truly, if anybody wants boots and shoes cheap, drop in at Wilson & McNichols—for they will sell, must sell or bust.

Go to R. C. Moore's largest Dry Goods Store in town, for CARPETS, OIL CLOTHS,
FURS,
Everything you want, at the very lowest market price. He will not be undersold by any one.

RECOMPENSE.

Mortal, toil your form is bending;
On your brows the care of years;
Lines are marked beneath the lashes,
Only made by scalding tears.

You have carried others' burdens,
Though your own did heavy lay;
While your feet the thorns were pressing,
They have trod a flow'ry way.

You have hoped for future blessings,
Toiling on with deepest pain;
While your hands have plowed the furrows,
Others garnered in the grain.

Sorrow's hand hath pressed you keenly,
Wild the the throbbing pulses beat;
Yet no kind hand cooled the forehead,
None would stay the tired feet.

But at times the weary spirit
Struggled vainly to be free,
Crying out in bitter anguish,
"Wherefore, Father, must this be?"

Think you He who knows our weakness,
Hath not heard the earnest cry?
That He suff'reth all your labors
To go unrewarded by?

Nay; He noteth all how meekly
You the weary life-lot bear;
Though for his good time he waiteth,
Soon a rich rewards your share.

Toil, and pain, and patient sorrow
Only bring you near Him,
When the brow shall be encircled
With a saintly diadem.

In the "home of many mansions"
You shall lay the burden down;
You have borne the cross so nobly,
You shall surely wear the crown.

Election.

Tuesday was the finest election day which we have witnessed in—we don't know how long. The election in Tecumseh passed off very quietly, there being about 800 votes polled. The Republican majority on the straight ticket was 34. Simeon Davidson for Representative had a majority of 5. Macon went 70, Republican; Ridgeway, 8, Republican; Raisin, 120 and Franklin 160, both Republican; Adrian city gave 286 Rep. majority; Adrian town, 20; Rome, 57; Madison, 132; Fairfield, 132; Hudson, 278; Blissfield, 132; Dover, 7—all Republican. Jackson city, 59 Republican.

Illinois has gone for the Republican Ticket, the majority is not yet known. New York is claimed by both parties, but the probability is that Fenton is elected by about five thousand majority.—Maryland has elected the Conservative Ticket by a large majority. New Jersey has gained one or two Republican Congressmen owing a division in the Conservative ranks. The other States have not been definitely heard from.

☞ We have already referred our readers to Whitney's Palace of Music at Toledo, as the place to buy Pianos, Melodeons and Sheet Music. His new patent improved Melodeon has received fourteen premiums this Fall, three of which were from the Ohio, Indiana and Michigan State Fairs, when they competed with all the melodeons of eastern manufacture. All who wish the best Melodeon now made, will be sure and buy of Whitney.

Lyceum and Lecture Association.

The firtt regular debate of this Society will come off next Monday evening, at Good Templars' Hall, upon the following resolution:

Resolved, That 'The wrongs of Ireland justify modern Fenianism."

An address will also be delivered by the President, Prof. C. B. Thomas. Subject: "Self Culture, as a means of personal influence." The public are invited to attend.

☞ Handsome Cloakings and Sackings, with trimmings for the same at MOORE'S.

☞ The old Court House was sold at Auction last Saturday to Mr. L. M. Mooney for one hundred and fifty Dollars. The building will be moved in a few days to Slayton & Tindall's lot to a spot N. and E of where their warehouse now stands. It will be owned by Slayton, Mooney & Co., who are intending to put in it, an engine, planning machine and other machinery, and make a big shop out of it. If rightly carried on it will add much to the business of the village.

Buckwheat.

W. Comfort wishes us to say, that he has commenced grinding Buckwheat and shall grind twice a week, Tuesdays and Fridays, as long as the people want pancakes. There is the place (Raisin Mills) for the farmers to get their custom grinding done. His very large custom is sufficient evidence of his mode of doing business. "Excelsior" is his motto, and he is bound to give satisfaction.

☞ Schuyler Colfax lectures in Adrian next Saturday evening at the Union Hall.

☞ Large stock of Horse Blankets for sale cheap at Tribou & Bidwell Bros.

THE COLDWATER TRAGEDY.

A Man Murders his Wife and another Person—Details of the Horrible Affair

From the Coldwater Sentinel extra of Sunday, we have the following particulars of the shocking tragedy that occurred in that place on Saturday evening:

"Between 8 and 9 o'clock on Saturday evening our citizens were astonished by the report flying from mouth to mouth that E. O. Leach had murdered his wife and Mr. Geo. Brown, of the law firm of Parsons & Brown, near the residence of Mr. Thomas Daugherty, father of Mrs. Leach, a short distance east of the Oriental House.

Mrs. Leach was the keeper of a millinery and fancy store in the Hotel Block, and was living with her father opposite whose house the tragedy occurred. The parties have not lived together for some years, she refusing to live with him on the grounds of shiftlessness and failure to support herself and children. Mr. D, while he was willing to furnish a home for his daughter and grandchildren, advised Leach that he must provide for himself.

Leach has spent but a small portion of his time in this city for the last four years. His last occupation was selling lightning rods. During the last few weeks he has been dogging his wife's steps, threatening her and those who befriended her, with violence and death. On Saturday, Mrs Leach entered a complaint against him for assault and battery, before Justice Webb, Parsons & Brown, at the same time commencing a suit for divorce.

On Friday evening Brown walked home with her, she fearing violence, Leach following them, and an officer following Leach. On Saturday morning Leach told Brown he would shoot him if he again saw him with his wife. Brown regarded it as a threat to frighten him and seems to have had but little fear of its execution, but notified officer Gray and made arrangement with him to follow and render aid if necessary; but for some reason the officer was not present.

Mrs. Leach left the store about half past eight o'clock, accompanied by Mr. Brown, her sister, (Mrs Pickens) and her father, (Mr. Daugherty). Mrs. Pickens and Mr. Daugherty had fallen a few steps in the rear, and a short distance east of the Oriental met Leach coming from the east, but who, in the dark, had escape the notice of both Brown and Mrs. Leach, and asked who it was with his wife. Mr. Daugherty replied, Mr. Brown. Mrs Pickens started, saying "Come, father, let us go," closely followed by Leach, Daugherty last. Mr. Pickens overtook them and said," Leach is following," when it is supposed Brown commenced turning around and received a ball in his left side, which staggered him against the fence, but he did not fall. Another shot followed as quick as tho't entering Mrs. Leach's left breast, she having turned around, passed through the heart, killing her instantly. Mr. Daugherty ran to his daughter, but finding her dead turned to Leach, who was still standing there, having made no effort to escape—submitted to arrest without resistance. Mrs. Pickens, assisted Brown into the house, seated him in a chair, and returning to the street, assisted her father in securing Leach until help could be procured, to whom he was turned over and taken to jail.

Brown lived about fifteen minutes.—On examination the balls were found near the skin of each on the opposite side of the body from where they entered.

Leach was examined at the jail, but no pistol was found in his possession. A search discovered near the place where the tragedy occurred, with two chambers empty, the other four loaded and the pistol cocked for another shot probably if necessary.

A jury was empanneled and evidence taken on the spot.

Good Advice.

All soldiers and sold ers' heirs who have not already applied for the additional Bounty and increase of Pension sho'd do so immediately. The necessary rules and regulations have been issued from the War Department, and those claims can now be prosecuted without delay. All applications must be made within six months from the first day of Oct. last.—S. C. Stacy, of Tecumseh, has now a full supply of new blanks prepared according to the latest instructions, and is prepared to prosecute all claims with promptness. Soldiers would consult their own interest by favoring him with a call.

☞ We call the attention of our readers to the Prospectus of the Harper's Weekly and Monthly are without a doubt as ably conducted as any Weekly or monthly in the United States. The corps of editors are composed of most eminent and judicious writers—men who spare neither time nor talent in rendering their papers an interesting and reliable medium for information. No one who wishes to keep posted on the affairs of our nation should fail to subscribe for one or both.

☞ Breakfast Shawls, Empress Hoods Clouds, Ladies' Paper Collars, imitation of Linen—something entirely new, at Tribou & Bidwell Bros'.

Thanksgiving Proclamation.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8th, 1866.

Almighty God our Heavenly Father, has been pleased to vouchsafe to us as a people another year of that national life which is an indispensable condition of peace, security and progress. That year, moreover, has been crowned with many peculiar blessings. The civil war that was so recently among us has not been anywhere reopened; foreign intervention has ceased to excite alarm or apprehension i intrusive pestilence has been benignly mitigated; domestic tranquility has improved; sentiments of conciliation have largely prevailed, and affections of loyalty and patriotism have been widely renewed. Our fields have yielded quite abundantly, our mining industry has been richly rewarded, and we have been allowed to extend our railroad system far into the interior recesses of the country, while our commerce has resumed its customary activity in foreign seas. These great national blessings demand a national acknowledgement. Now, therefore,

I, ANDREW JOHNSON, President of the United States, do hereby recommend that Thursday, the 29th day of November next be set apart and be observed everywhere in the several States and territories of the United States by the people thereof as a day of thanksgiving and praise to Almighty God, with due remembrance that in his temple doth every man speak of his honor. I recommend that also on the same solemn occasion we do humbly and devoutly implore him to grant to our national councils and to our whole people that divine wisdom which alone can lead any nation into the ways of all good. In offering these national thanksgiving praises and supplications, we have the divine assurance that the Lord remaineth a King forever; them that are meek shall he guide in judgment, and such as are gentle shall he learn his way. The Lord shall give strength to his people and the Lord shall give to his people the blessings of peace.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington this eighth day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eighl hundred and sixty-six, and of the independence of the United State, the ninety-first.

ANDREW JOHNSON,

By the President:
WM. H. SEWARD, Secretary of State.

HOUSEHOLD FRIENDS.—Coe's Cough Balsam and Coe's Dyspepsia Cure—they should always be in the house ready for immediate use; they are the most reliable remedies known. The one always handy and speedy in cases of sudden attacks of croup amongst the children, or for curing the most stubborn coughs and colds, is excellent for sore throat and all lung difficulties; the other—Coe's Dyspepsia Cure—is certain to cure dyspepsia, no matter of how long standing, indigestion, and all diseases that originate in a disordered state of the stomach and bowels.

Tecumseh Market.

Nov. 8th, 1866.

White wheat	$2 70 a $2 75
Red do	2 60 a 2 65
Beans	1 00 a 1 25
Corn	50
Clover seed	8 00 a 9 00
Apples green	40
Butter per pound	27
Cheese " "	18
Hams " "	16
Lard " "	15
Eggs per doz	15
Potatoes, per bush.	40

CLOTHING!
AT THE
UNION HALL CLOTHING STORE.
JUST RECEIVED
$10,000 Worth of Clothing
For FALL AND WINTER!!
For
MEN AND BOYS WEAR,
Gents' Furnishing Goods,
HATS, CAPS AND CLOTHS
Of all descriptions which I will sell at very low prices at the
UNION HALL CLOTHING STORE.
Come One, Come All,
And judge for yourselves.
Clothing made to Order
IN THE LATEST STYLES.
And I will give you a good fit,
But be sure and give me a call,
For all who love the Union and flag,
Are welcome at Union Hall.
REMEMBER THE PLACE!
GEORGE HEESEN.

C. H. ADAM & CO.,
DEALERS IN
DRY GOODS,
Yankee Notions, &c.,
No. 2 Mechanics' Block,
oct 2tf TECUMSEH, MICH.

DISSOLUTION.

Notice is hereby given that the firm of Van Tine & Smith was dissolved on May 7th by mutual consent. All accounts due the above firm must be paid at the Cabinet rooms of G. H. Smith immediately, and save costs. Tecumseh, Oct. 9, 1866.

930w4 GEORGE SMITH,
DAVID VAN TINE.

FOR SALE.

HOUSE and LOT within five minutes' walk of the Post Office. The house is in good repair—conveniently arrayed, and well provided with water. There is a barn on the premises, also plenty of good fruit.

The above described property will be sold as a bargain. Inquire at this office.

One Hundred Pieces Print for eighteen pence just received at Tribou & Bidwell Bros.

Miscellany.

ECHO POETRY.

The following is a specimen of echo poetry which possesses merit not so much as a literary composition, as an account of the spirit of piety which breathes through it:

I may be distressed, and fain would gather Comfort and ease, I fly in haste to Our Father
Forward hope and help are quite beyond
Except thou stretch us
Who art in heaven.
Thou shalt want no joy, there for Thy sake
We praise thee, singing,
Hallowed be thy name.
Of all our mercies set up the sum
Show us thy ways, and let
Thy kingdom come.
We mortal are, and after from our birth:
Temptations start
Thy will be done on earth.
Then may not the earth as well as planets seven,
Thy name be hallowed there
As 'tis in heaven.
Nothing we have to offer—no debts to pay,
Except thou give it us
Give us this day.
Wherewith to eat the ox, wherewith to be fed,
For without food we want
Our daily bread.
We want, but want no faults, for no day passes
But we
Forgive us our trespasses.
No man is free, no angel ever lives and lives,
Forgiven as God forgives
As we forgive.
If we repentance retain, thou never disdainest us;
We pardon them
That trespass against us.
Forgive us that is past, a new path tread us;
Direct us always in Thy faith,
Also lead us
Unto thine own people and Thy chosen nation,
Based on truth, that
Our hearts into temptation
Show that Thy good grace art the giver,
Still unto us
Deliver
Us from the hence results of the world and devil
And flesh, so shall then from us
From all evil.
To these petitions let both church and layman,
With one consent of heart and voice, say
Amen.

A BOTANIST'S ADVENTURE.

When I was about twenty, botany was my passion. Indeed, I am not sure that I am cured of it yet. I never sit in a railway carriage and feel myself borne at fierce express speed through a green landscape without remembering regretfully those days when I lingered on the wild mountain side, or plunged into the depths of the forest. His quest was beauty in distress to deliver; or mighty Paynim giant to lay low; mine was to discover some fair flower sleeping in the shade of ancient trees, or to snatch some cruel poisonous weed from its lair. The knight was a happy knight, I have no doubt; but I do not think he could be a happier man, than John Graves, your humble servant.

France was the scene of my chief exploits in those days. My father had left England for economy's sake, and settled at some distance from Paris. The country around our home was not interesting, botanically speaking; and I was in the habit of taking long and solitary excursions. During one of these I met with an adventure.

I had spent the morning on the skirt of a forest. Towards noon I entered it, rested awhile, then started again. Ere long I came to a spot where many avenues—seven, I believe—met, and whence they radiated like the points of a star. In the middle of this open space rose a tall and slender pyramid, with a gilt ball on the top. This was the very heart of the forest. Not a soul was visible; not a stately deer or a frightened hare disturbed the silence of the spot. The solemn trees rose around me, leaving a circular roof of sky above, then they divided into their long seven lonely alleys. It was grand and very fine, but it was also very depressing. I sat down on the lowest of the three steps, above which rose the pyramid, a picture of the past flitting before me.

Here, if tradition spoke true, often came that gay hunter, Francis the First, and after him his son Henri, both with the same lady huntress. Perhaps she was only a sort of prime minister after all, as some historians declare. Tastes vary so. Some kings like a pale Cardinal de Richelieu, and others, (like these two,) a Diana of Poitiers, fair-haired and blue-eyed, who, if she now and then sat to Primaticio as the goddess Flora, also caused that haughty medal to be struck, in which she appears trampling Love under her feet, with the imperious motto, "I have conquered the conqueror of all." But, oh! what din, what tumult, what halloing of hounds and trampling of horses there was in those days, and how sadly quiet these good people were all now Ages pass, and Diana is replaced by Fontanges, who ties up her hair with a wonderful ribbon that sends the world mad, or we see that pretty Madame d'Etiolles in this very forest lying in wait for a king's heart, and dying later—rare honor!—in Versailles, under the name of Madame de Pompadour; but other variety we must not expect.

I got tired of these phantoms as I sat thus at the base of the pyramid. I got tired, too, of those endless avenues stretching forever away before me; so I rose and struck into one, walking fast, yet glancing right and left in search of botanical treasures. I found none, but saw a strange abundance of a pale variety of the Solanum tribe. I gathered a bunch, then a few ferns, and, wearied with my profitless day, I quickened my pace, to get out of the forest before nightfall.

I must have been near the outskirt when my adventure began. I saw nothing, but I heard in the thicket on my right hand, a low, plaintive, and not unmelodious whistle. I stood still to listen, and it ceased. Presently it was repeated, and something gliding in the grass near me made it move and rustle. I looked, but the creature, if it were one, was already gone. The whistle sounded again, but at some distance from me; and further away, too, the motion I had already perceived was repeated. It was too dark already for me to distinguish more than that motion of the grass, and it told me nothing. Again the whistle was renewed, but so far away or so faintly that I could scarcely hear it. Then it ceased, or I heard it no more.

I was perplexed. I had seen nothing, neither human being, nor beast, nor bird. The trees were scarce, the thickets were stunted, the grass was poor and thin, and a few moss covered rocks which were scattered about were too low to conceal even a child. Yet some one had been near me, and something had passed within my reach, which was not, however, within my knowledge. I was armed with a stout stick. I beat the bushes, and only started a little harmless bird from its nest. I went round the rocks to explore them, and found a few mosses, which I put in my tin box, and this was the sole result of my quest. It was useless to pursue it; the grayness of evening was stealing on me fast, and the country before me looked flat and desolate.

I am sure that I ought to go on, and tell the reader what follows. I have called it an adventure, and many will think that it scarcely deserves the name. But I believe that adventures are half the time productions of our own mood. I believe they spring from something within us, which, if I may so speak, calls them into existence, as the voice of the enchanter wakens spirits in the old tales of sorcery. Some people cannot have adventures—there is no sympathy between the spirit of adventure and them; and others cannot stir, but lo! some adventure starts up, like the little wicked diablotin in the French toy. I belong to neither class, and have neither more nor less than my share of this doubtful commodity; but the adventurous mood was on me this day, and would not let me rest.

I walked on, only thinking of reaching some village by nightfall, when I heard again the low whistle I heard in the forest. This time it came from some distance, and it stole so faintly over the silent plain that, but for the evening stillness, I could not have heard it at all. I saw no one, but a low hedge which straggled through the fields might conceal a man easily. I was walking in the opposite direction to this. I altered my course at once. I soon reached the hedge, but saw no token of the whistler; no great marvel after all. The path in which I now found myself was a narrow, winding one, which delved down to a little valley. Here, as I soon perceived, clustered a few houses, where lights were already twinkling like mild glowworms.

The first of these houses I entered. The door was open, so I was spared the trouble of knocking. In my best French I bade its tenant a good evening, and asked for a drink, and the way to an inn, if such a thing was to be found in the vicinity. A man looked up from the fireplace, where he was stirring something in an iron pot. He returned my salutation, and civilly replied that I could have a drink of milk if I pleased, and that the nearest inn was a league off. I was tired to death, and asked if I might rest awhile.

"Certainly, sir," replied the man, rising to hand me a rush-bottomed stool. "Would you like some bread with your milk? You seem fatigued."

I thankfully accepted.

"Prudence," he said, raising his voice, "give some milk to monsieur."

The door of an inner room opened, and Prudence came forth, bearing a tin candlestick with a flaring tallow candle in it. The man was a common peasant, tanned, red-cheeked, coarse, and good-humored looking. I saw dozens such daily; but his wife was wholly unlike him, unlike any woman I had ever seen. She was middle sized, but so slender that she looked tall. She wore a close black jacket and dark petticoat, that left her feet and ankles bare. They were small and well made, so were her hands. Her neck, too, was long and slender, without being thin; her head was remarkably small, but flat and not well shaped. Her face was narrow and very sallow, with thin, mobile features, and the strangest little glittering brown eyes. She had black hair, and wore no cap, and, though by no means ugly, she was, to me at least, a very repelling-looking person.

"Milk," she answered, "certainly."

She put down her light, fetched a tin can from a shelf, and filling a coarse crockery cup with rich-looking milk, she handed it to me. Her motions were graceful, and her smile and look meant to be conciliatory; but I had something to do, not to betray my instinctive horror of this woman. I thanked her as graciously as I could, and praised her cow. She smiled, (her smile only made matters worse,) and said:

"I have no cow—we are too poor for that."

"I walk a league every day for that milk," put in the husband, who was still stirring the contents of the iron pot on the fire. "Give the loaf to monsieur, Prudence."

She obeyed, and I remarked:

"You are fond of milk?"

"We never drink any," she replied, smiling again; "we are too poor."

I did not think it civil to ask what Madame Prudence did with the contents of the tin can—a large one—since she could not afford to drink milk: so I ate and drank in silence.

I hoped to leave the cottage as soon as I had done, and reach the inn which the man had mentioned; but it was not to be. A sudden flash of light filled the room, then a loud thunder-peal followed, and after it came a fierce rush of rain. The man crossed himself, and Prudence coolly went and shut the door behind me. It was a terrible storm, and a fierce and a long one. The thunder rolled and rolled, and the rain poured and poured, and Prudence and her husband sat down to their plateful of soup, and went through it with perfect equanimity, whilst I walked up and down the room in silent vexation. I do not know, indeed, why I was so vexed at this trifling delay; I half fancy it was because of the little, restless eyes of Prudence. I tried to avoid them, but could not. Wherever I went, they seemed to follow me; and as she sat with her back to the wall it was impossible to shun them by getting behind her.

The storm did not cease, or even grow less, and Prudence said, very civilly:

"Perhaps monsieur would like to spend the night here? I can go and sleep with a neighbor, and make up a bed for my husband in this room. Our bed is a good one."

"Thank you," I replied, hurriedly; "I must go on."

"Monsieur can scarcely go to-night," replied Prudence, with her smile; "there is no inn within a league; the way to it is across the country, and the men about here are too great poltroons to show monsieur the way in such a storm as this."

The latter remark was uttered with a quick, scornful glance at her husband, who sullenly muttered something about not being afraid, but did not volunteer to be my guide.

I had no alternative. It was getting late. I had no right to intrude any longer on these people unless I accepted their offer, and, in spite of the eyes of Prudence, I did accept it. She arose and went into the inner room to prepare it for me. It was a relief to think that I should soon be out of her sight. In the meantime I tried to get some desultory information from her husband, but his plateful of soup had made him sleepy, and, as nature had also made him stupid, I soon gave him up. Before long, Prudence came out, and, with her smile, informed monsieur that everything was ready. Monsieur took the candlestick from her hand, and, muttering ungracious thanks, entered his apartment.

My first care was to fasten the door, but, as there was no lock to it, I had to barricade it. Two chairs and a table did the thing. I protest that I apprehended no personal danger; I only feared that Prudence would come in and look at me. It was not likely she would do so; she was not to sleep in the cottage; besides, the temptation of seeing me in any slumbers, with a handkerchief tied round my head, might not be irresistible; but fear and reason have nothing in common, and fear, being strong, prevailed and had her way. My room, though small, was clean, and the bed justified Prudence's eulogium. It was a very good bed indeed. I was tired, and I was young. In five minutes I was fast asleep.

Heaven save my worst enemies from such slumbers, or rather from such dreams, as I had! The whole night long Prudence and I were striving for mastery, and every time we engaged in combat she prevailed against me. We never came to blows, but it was a fell and cruel struggle, for all that. When I tried to strike her, she laughed, and my hand fell back powerless; then with her supple and nervous arms, strong as steel, she would embrace me, and tighten her hold, and look at me with a smile, until I shrieked with terror, and asked for mercy—which I never got. I do not know how the fight ended, but it began again and again, without a particle of variety. I believe this dreadful monotony wearied me as much as the struggle itself. I know that when I woke I was in a profuse perspiration. The grayness of early morning stole in through my little window. I saw the whitewashed walls adorned with a few prints, devotional or warlike, but nailed in the plaster, and frameless. This was the only bit of feminine embellishment—and it might as well have come from the husband as from Prudence—which betrayed the presence of a woman. There was no pincushion on the chest of drawers, and no flower-pot outside the window; everything was cold, bare and comfortless-looking. It was rather ungracious in me to be thus criticising Prudence's domestic arrangements, whilst I was laying in her bed; but I owed her a grudge for the night she had given me, and went on commenting without scruple. Ere long I paused. I stared, and could not believe what I saw to be real; and yet, if seeing be believing, I was not deceived. At the foot of the bed, strung on a slender reed like herrings, I saw a row of black vipers. The reed itself, was fastened to two nails in the wall.

I have a horror of serpents; the sight of them alone is hateful to me. I sprang out of bed, I bundled on a few clothes, I kicked the chairs away from the door, and entered the kitchen in a passion.

"What do you mean by poisoning me with those abominable reptiles?" I asked of the man, who was already up and busy. "How dare you make me sleep in a room with a set of vipers?"

I so startled him that, in his confusion, the poor fellow dropped my tin box, which he had been examining.

"They are dead, sir," he said apologetically.

This exasperated me.

"Of course they are dead. A pretty thing if they were alive and crawling!"

"They would bite you if they were alive, sir," he replied.

The fellow's incorrigible stupidity calmed me. It was useless to argue, and I wanted to know why those abominable creatures were there. I put the question to him.

"We always keep them there, lest any one should come and steal them," he replied, "they are worth ten sous apiece now."

I began to understand the facts of the case. These people killed vipers, and got the government reward for doing so.

"You pursue a dangerous trade, my good fellow," I said; "be careful."

"It is Prudence who does it; she has the secret, only she will not tell it to me. I have begged and prayed for it again and again, but she will not give it to me. She says two cannot have it, for if two had it, it would kill her. Now, you know, that is hard upon me," he continued, "for suppose she dies. I am left destitute."

"And have you no idea how she does it?" I asked.

"I know she takes milk out with her, and I have heard her whistle; and once I came home unexpectedly, and I caught her making a sort of tisane, and—monsieur may believe me—she was boiling her pot on the fire beyond, and threw in handfuls of that very herb monsieur has got there."

He pointed to the contents of my tin box. I took the withered herbs.

"That," I said, "is the——"

I had no time to end the sentence. A hand snatched the weeds from mine, and Prudence thrust her face between us.

"Monster! devil!" she shrieked. "Do you want to kill me?—to kill me?"

She was in a frightful rage, but her pale face was not disturbed; it was the face I had seen all night—cruel, relentless, abhorrent—to me, at least—but not otherwise altered. It was her husband whom she addressed, and he slunk away like a detected hound. His wife's anger was as brief as it was violent; she gave him a look of contempt, then turned to me smiling.

"Has monsieur slept well, and will we have any breakfast?" she asked smoothly. "We shall soon have beautiful milk."

Now, it was prejudice, of course, but I could not make up my mind to drink milk in Prudence's house, it would have tasted "viperish" to me, though the cow that gave it had been the fair lo herself. I declined Prudence's courtesy with brief thanks, entered my room, and finished dressing. Within five minutes I had paid my bill, and was on the road to the inn in the next village, with Prudence's husband as my guide. I did not need his services, but I could see that the poor wretch wanted to get away from his wife, whose eye, when it fell upon him took a particular evil expression; moreover, I was not sorry to have a chat with him. I had no need to draw him out; he was fasting and lively now; besides, he wanted to explain why Prudence had got into such a passion, or rather why he submitted to her fury so patiently. "You see, sir," he said, "she is a good girl, is Prudence—a little quick at times, but a good girl; and then she was a good match for me. The secret has been in her family for more than a hundred years; it has gone down from father to son, or to daughter, as the case might be, and all these girls have been sought after and have made good matches, whereas I had not a farthing."

"How came she to marry you?" I asked.

He looked at me and smiled.

"She could not help herself; she was fond of me you see."

"Why will she not tell the secret? You could both go hunting and catching vipers."

Prudence's husband looked ill used.

"She will not," he said, sullenly. "She says that if it were known to more than one person at a time the vipers would bite her and kill her. Now, that is an idea as I tell her."

Every one has an idea in France, so I was not surprised at this remark of Prudence's husband, but I was surprised at what he told me. Did Prudence really believe that the revelation of her secret would destroy her power?

"Did not monsieur see and hear her? Did she not call me a monster, a devil, and ask if I wanted to kill her, and all because I had that bit of herb in my hand? But I have more of it," he added, nodding shrewdly, "and I will make the tisane when she is out. I will! You see, monsieur, it is a hard case. Prudence had the secret from her mother on her death bed, and she had it from her father in the same way; but suppose Prudence dies suddenly. She cannot give it to me in that case, and there I am!"

"Then she has promised to tell it to you on her death bed?"

"To be sure she has; I would not have married her without. But, as I said, suppose she dies suddenly?

"Perhaps there is no secret," I suggested skeptically.

"Oh, yes, there is. Prudence never meddled with vipers before her mother died, though she always had a serpent or two about her.'

"A serpent! And about her?"

"Yes sir; she liked the creatures; she used to have them coiled up round her body to keep her cool in hot weather, she said; and when she was a girl, and frolicsome, she would run after the other girls with a pet snake she had, and frighten them. She was very fond of it, but it vexed her one day, and she killed it."

"Did she ever make a pet of a viper?"

"No, she is afraid of vipers," he replied, confidentially; "but she sometimes kills six in a day, and they are worth ten sous apiece, now. It is hard that she will not tell me the secret."

I comforted him with a franc, which I slipped into his hand, as we at length reached the inn, and parted company. "Now," I thought, as I sat down to a decent cup of coffee with no viper associations about it, "who says the middle ages are dead? Here is a mediæval state of things. This woman believes in her charm, whatever it may be, and goes forth to meet the viper, with the faith of the hero wearing the enchanted armor. Take that faith away, and her natural fear comes on and masters her. And yet how suited she is to that occupation; such as it is!—she is a feminine viper. She has a creature's serpentine grace, and its deadly look. I have no doubt that it feels an affinity towards her, and goes to its perdition with a kind of pleasure. She whistles, and it comes; she feeds it, and it drinks; when it is stupified and torpid, I suppose she coolly kills it, puts it on a hank, brings it home, and thereby earns ten sous. Yet this creature could feel love, and could bestow her regard on that brutish lump, her husband, who is only contemplating the possibility of her sudden death, and the pecuniary loss such a calamity could entail upon him.

A pretty servant girl was waiting upon me. She had a frank, communicative face; and as I had opened my lips to say at whose home I had passed the night, she was ready, good soul, with a torrent of words.

"Ah! good heavens, she would not have slept at Prudence's for the whole world. The woman dealt in witchcraft, else how could she talk to vipers and make them dance, around her, then kill and sell them for twelve sous apiece?"

"Ten," I corrected, "and the vipers do not dance, mademoiselle."

"I beg monsieur's pardon. My own great-aunt saw them dancing around Prudence's grandfather, and of course they do the same now."

I suggested that these were degenerate days, and that vipers might have lost their ancient gift; but I was not heeded.

"It was witchcraft. Prudence took a drink which made the vipers come, when she breathed upon them. But see you; that same drink made her sallow, and Prudence was never in good health. It would not end well. Prudence had gone mad about her husband, and forced him to marry her, when she might have had a much better match in my informant's own uncle. But it would not end well, Mathieu (I now learned his name) "would have no peace till he found out the secret. Once he discovered it the vipers could set upon Prudence and bite and kill her."

The topic of Prudence having been fully exhausted by the time I had despatched a second cup of coffee, and turned to the more congenial theme, botany, I did not utter that barbarous word; but inquired if dusty gentlmen, who had evidently seen some hard work, wandered about the country gathering weeds, which they safely stowed away in tin boxes?

"Oh yes!" was the eager reply. "I have seen them. Does monsieur know what they do with those weeds?"

I shook my head in solemn mystery.

"I suppose they sell them," said my pretty waitress, looking pensive; "they cannot fetch much?"

"Less than vipers, I assure you; but what direction do those poor fellows usually take?"

The explanation which followed was a tedious one, and is not worth repeating. Suffice it that I left the inn an hour after this, and that I struck into a path which was to conduct me to the other end of the forest which I had explored on the preceding day.

The day was burning hot; the forest was oppressively close; but my tin box overflowed with some of the choicest plants I ever found. It was a glorious day. I felt exultant and happy. I forgot fatigue, hunger and thirst; but I also forgot the directions the pretty girl at the inn had given me, and the consequence was that I got lost in the forest. Now, this was not pleasant. The day was well-nigh spent, and even Prudence's bed would have been a more acceptable couch than the bare earth at the foot of a tree. Better dead vipers on a hank, than live vipers at liberty. I had read that the viper is a slandered animal, which never attacks man; but just then my faith in such general maxims was loose. I remembered the seven avenues I had seen on the preceding day, and I wondered if I could not find one of them and thence the central pyramid. Give me that, and certain landmarks I recollected, would take me back to the town where Prudence dwelt. Now, according to all rules of romance, I ought to have wandered up and down the forest all night, and never found the pyramid. But these rules were reversed in the present instance. The first path I took led me to one of the seven avenues, and far away from me, indeed, but quite distinct, I saw the pyramid and its gilt ball glittering in the light of the setting sun. I took heart, and walked fast and reached it. But before I started on my next expedition I sat down at the foot of the pyramid, and rested a few moments. It was a divine evening. The long low rays of the sinking sun poured from the west down one of the avenues; fire and gold are nothing to the splendor which swept along the green earth up the old trunks of trees, and reached their topmost boughs in the rosiest hues. It was a magnificent spectacle; but I looked at my watch, and arose. I turned to the pyramid, then stood still. A woman was lying on the earth at my feet.

Asleep? I stooped; her eyes were fixed and open; her lips had parted in the gasp of her agony; her face was livid. I knew it. This was the face of Prudence, the serpent-charmer, the viper-killer. She was dead. I took her swollen hand, with the marks of a fatal sting on it still; when I dropped it, it fell back loosely, with that inert weight which tells so much. She was dead—the woman whom I had seen all life and fury in the morning—and the red sunlight swept across her rigid face, and only seemed to render its sternness more apparent. How had it happened? Had she been surprised? Had she struggled with her enemy, as I had striven against her all night in my dreams? One thing I felt sure of; she had not been stung here. The fatal bite had been inflicted at some remote spot, whence she had crept to this; then the venom had seized her heart, till sight first, then life, had failed her. Remedies, if applied in time, might have saved her; but there had been no one at hand to give them. Exhaustion, the intense heat of the day, and something too, perhaps, in her constitution, had quickened the action of the poison, and brought on this unusually sudden termination.

I stood and looked at her in a stupor. She lay on the very spot where I had sat twenty-four hours before, thinking of Diana of Poitiers and numerous dead men and women. And she, one of those strange links which connect the present and the past, had gone to join them. Some ancester of hers had been a viper-charmer in those days, and had, maybe exhibited his skill in the royal presence, whilst another charmer looked haughtily on, conscious of equal power.

I left her there at the foot of the pyramid, on the cold earth, in the gathering darkness of evening, and I walked as fast as I could to the cottage I had left that morning. Save that no low whistle came stealing over the plain, everything looked as it had looked on the previous evening. When I pushed open the door of Prudence's cottage, I again found her husband busy at the hearth cooking in the iron pot.

"Many vipers, Prudence?" he asked without looking up.

"It is not Prudence," I said.

He turned round with a start, and knew me at once. He rose in sudden excitement.

"Monsieur, monsieur," he said, "you must tell me where you found that herb. It is the herb. I made the tisane to-day, and I have tasted Prudence's once, and it is the same; for—look!"

He went to the inner room, and came out with a dead viper two feet long

"You killed that!" I said.

He nodded; then added, "I do not mean to tell Prudence just yet. She would be jealous; besides I want to show her that two can have the secret."

How I broke the news I cannot remember, but the final news came out:

"Your wife is lying dead in the forest."

I had no need to add, "a viper has stung her." He knew it. He sank down on his stool, stared wildly, and, throwing up his hands, said:

"Ah, heaven! Then it was true!"

This, and no more was my adventure.

Two years later, indeed, I paid another visit to the forest, and met Mathieu. His right arm was in a sling, and with his left hand he was gathering dried sticks, and withered boughs. He complained bitterly of his poverty. "Then you have not taken to viper-killing?" I said.

He shook his head gloomily.

"It cannot be done without the secret, and two cannot use it and live."

"But you need not tell any one."

He looked slyly at me; and his look said "She did not tell me, and yet I found it out." My impression is that Mathieu feared I should take to viper-killing.

A word of warning. Some imprudent reader may, fancying that the Solanum I have alluded to was the herb used by Mathieu, be tempted to try it. To that reader, I say, it was not the herb.

SUMMARY OF THE WEEK.

General Intelligence.

It is now stated that the reports in relation to Secretary Stanton's retirement are entirely unfounded.

The amount of gold in the national treasury has reached ninety-five millions, including eleven millions of certificates.

It is now said that Gen. Sherman is to accompany Minister Campbell to Mexico. It is stated from the same source that Gen. Grant is likely to assume direction of the War Department.

The business of forwarding money through the mails, which has been carried on by the Postoffice Department since November 1, 1864, has at last become a paying business, the returns for the quarter ending September 13th, showing that since its inauguration the business has paid ninety dollars over the expenses.

At a meeting of the National Lincoln Monument Association of Washington, on the 26th, it was decided to have placed in front of the City Hall, at the intersection of Indiana and Louisiana avenues, a statue of Abraham Lincoln, either in marble or bronze. The amount of funds in the manager's possession is about $7,000, which is believed to be sufficient for the purpose.

The story in relation to the change in the War Department has taken another phase. It is now said that General Grant is anxious that General Steadman should assume the duties of the War Office, General Sherman having shown a disinclination to accept the position. Still another rumor asserts that Mr. Stanton has not now, and never has had any intention of retiring from his present position.

The beginning of the new year will witness the inauguration of unbroken steam communication around the globe, to be thenceforth prosecuted as regularly as the arrival and departure of European steamships at our wharves. The steamship Henry Chauncey will sail on the 11th of December for the Isthmus; will connect there with the Golden City for San Francisco; and from San Francisco, on the first day of January, the steamship Colorado will sail for Yokohama, in Japan, and Hong Kong, in China. If, arrived at the latter port, the passenger wishes still to journey westward, he can proceed by the boats of the Peninsula and Oriental Company to Bombay, and onward through the Red Sea to the Isthmus of Suez, which, crossed by rail, conducts to the British line of Mediterranean steamers, touching at Malta and Gibraltar, and arrive in England, where a few hours of railway will enable him to take passage in one of a dozen lines of steamships for this country—the supposed point of departure.

The Fenians.

Fenian matters have again become interesting. The Canadian authorities have seen fit to sentence Colonel Lynch, who, it is asserted, held no position in the Fenian army, and Rev. J. McMahon, a catholic clergyman, who followed the army to minister to the wounded and dying, to be hung on the 13th of December. Secretary Seward has addressed a letter to the British minister, calling for the evidence on which they, as American subjects, were convicted, and asking a suspension of their sentence until the matter can be officially passed upon by our Government. The letter causes great excitement in Canada.

The Herald's Ottawa special says: The threats of vengeance by the Fenians, should Lynch be executed, is creating great excitement here. The volunteers at Ridgeway demand the death of the leaders, while others oppose it, believing war with the United States would follow the execution.

The Herald's Montreal special says the Roman Catholic Irish will not allow the priest McMahon to be executed, and it is to be feared this will lead to serious trouble between Protestant Upper Canada and Catholic Lower Canada. The Attorney General, West, has been threatened with assassination if he allows the execution of the Fenians to take place.

Popular sentiment in Canada is opposed to leniency towards the Fenian prisoners. Some Fenians in Brantford, Canada, plundered a Protestant Episcopal Church, and made other violent demonstrations when they heard of the sentences of Lynch and McMahon.

Colonel Roberts has issued an address to the Fenian Brotherhood, urging them to hurry forward their military organizations, in order to be ready at call for any emergency.

The Fenian prisoners at Montreal, about twenty in number, will be tried the first week in December.

The West.

The new Rock Island Directory fixes its population at 11,000.

The census recently taken shows the city of Minneapolis to contain about seven thousand inhabitants.

The Cincinnati Gazette, basing its calculation on the recent election, estimates the present population of that city at 211,057.

The Union Pacific Railroad is now completed and in running order 270 miles west of Omaha, and thirty miles more will be ready before New Year's.

On Sunday evening the 21st ult., a tornado destroyed the little village of Larkensburg, Clay county, leaving but one house out of a dozen standing.

A higher than the highest Yo Semite waterfall has been found on the south fork of the Tuolumne river in California. It has a clear, unbroken fall of 2,000 feet.

Two ladies of Monroe, Wis., Mrs. Walker and Mrs. Wheeler, were thrown out backward from a buggy which they were riding and injured so badly that their lives are despaired of.

Mrs. Leach, wife of the lately appointed Postmaster at Joliet, Illinois, was burned to death on the evening of the 1st inst. by lighting a lamp, which communicated fire to her clothing.

A severe snow storm is reported between Denver and Salt Lake. The snow was two feet deep. Trains with grain for Holliday's Overland Express Company had seventy-six mules frozen to death.

Official returns from Nebraska elect John Taffe, Republican, member of the Fortieth Congress, by seven hundred and forty-eight majority. Republican majority in the State Legislature nineteen on joint ballot.

A Mr. Shepherd, of Cerro Gordo county, Iowa, had a difficulty with a boy named Dedham, and while attempting to chastise the lad, the latter discharged a gun, inflicting a wound which resulted in Shepherd's death a few days after.

The Wells & Fargo Express Company have bought up the great Overland Mail Stage and Express line, and will now monopolize the stage and express, and, to a large extent, the banking business of the whole country between the Missouri river and the Pacific ocean.

In Chicago on the 26th ult., Mrs. Golden died of consumption, and, the same hour, her husband, who had, by his unremitting devotion in attending her, been prostrated by cholera, died also. Neither knew that the death of the other was so near, and they were both aged only 26 years.

The Indiana Supreme Court has decided that the "black" article in the Constitution of that State is void, as being in conflict with the National Constitution, and that any citizen of the United States, who has resided in Indiana for six months, no matter what his color may be, is a citizen of the State.

Affairs in Utah seem to be in a desperate condition, and rapidly growing worse. A few days ago it was reported that a gross outrage had been perpetrated upon the editor of the Union Vidette, the anti-Mormon paper published at Salt Lake City, and now we have additional intelligence that Dr. John King Robinson, lately a surgeon in the volunteer service, had been decoyed from his home by Mormons and murdered.

In Cincinnati, on the 28th, two boys, named Edward Morris, aged fourteen years, and Pat Gallagher, aged fourteen and a half years, in company with several others, were engaged in playing some game in a coal yard, situated on Third street. Gallagher, whether accidentally or purposely, it is not known, knocked Morris' hat off his head. The latter, without scarcely saying a word, deliberately pulled a pistol from his pocket and fired, the ball taking effect in the back of the head, just below the base of the brain, and causing death in fifteen minutes afterwards.

The message of Gov. A. C. Gibbs, of Oregon, delivered on the 11th ult., comes in company with the inaugural of the governor elect, George L. Woods, who, after rejoicing in the overthrow of slavery and "the pernicious doctrine of state rights," pledges himself to the constitutional amendment proposed by congress. The message complains of the Indians, as usual, and reports that over $65,000 has been paid in the last two years for the support of a state asylum for the insane, about being completed. The number of schools in the state is 443—a gain of nearly 100 in two years—with an average attendance of 11,144. Immigration, the governor thinks, is much needed to push forward indispensable railroad enterprises. The treasurer reports $43,811 in hand, with no debts or liabilities against the state, except soldiers' bonds, due eight years hence.

The East.

Vermont has just ratified the Constitutional Amendment by a vote of one hundred and ninety-nine to eleven.

Miss Fanny Seward, the only daughter and youngest child of the Secretary of State, died early on the 29th, from bilious fever. Her remains were conveyed to Auburn, N. Y., for interment.

Two Baltimore city laborers sued for extra pay for working over eight hours a day. The court decided that they could resign their position if the objected to ten hours, but could not claim extra pay.

Two new manufacturing establishments at Fall River, Mass, are in contemplation, one to make print cloths, having a capital of $2,000,000, and running one hundred thousand spindles, the other to run forty thousand spindles.

A man in Hartford forgot where he had put $120,000 worth of United States bonds, and a first class robbery was suspected. Police and telegraph were put in operation, but finally he remembered he had left it in a store, where it was found.

A New Haven correspondent says that several enthusiastic gentlemen of that city have determined to form a company for the purpose of prospecting for the freebooter's treasures which is said to have been buried by Captain Kidd somewhere on Thimble Island, in Long Island Sound.

The races at Jerome Park are to be renewed on the 8th of November. The entertainment for that day is rather novel in this country, as gentlemen are to ride their own horses. The proceeds, we understand, are to be given to the relief of the poor in the city of New York.

Mr. A. T. Stewart has decided not to erect the houses for the poor on the lands offered by a wealthy citizen for that purpose. He will accept aid from no source whatever, but will himself prosecute the project to completion at an expense approximating nearer five millions than one million dollars. A well known and expert architect of New York city has been consulted, and the noble work of providing homes for the industrious poor is to be commenced at an early day, and prosecuted with energy.

Hon. William Wright, of Newark, United States Senator from New Jersey, died at that place on the 1st inst., aged 57 years. He had been an invalid for some months, and, it will be remembered, was carried into the Senate Chamber to vote on several important questions last winter. At that time his death was daily looked for. He was a Democrat of the old school, and a supporter of Andrew Johnson's policy. His death occasions a vacancy, which will be filled by the appointment of a Republican by the Governor.

Baltimore dispatches state that the Governor has decided to remove the Commissioners. He says the registry laws of 1866 should have been used, and that the judges of election have no right to go behind the registry law. He says the Police Commissioners and the judges of election were most partisan in their characters, and were guilty of gross official misconduct. He would call upon the United States Government to uphold his authority, if it should be necessary. Sheriff Thompson, of Baltimore, arrived at Annapolis on the morning of the 31st ult. for the purpose of taking up the commissions of the new officers. Great excitement prevails in the streets of Baltimore over the removal of the Police Commissioners by Governor Swann. It is understood that the Police Commissioners had an interview with General Grant the same afternoon. They informed the General of their view of the case, and claimed that they were perfectly able to preserve the peace of the city. General Grant also had the newly appointed Police Board before him. What took place is not definitely known, but it is reported that the General advised them not to attempt to establish their authority by force, but to rely entirely upon legal measures before the courts. It is understood they design to apply to Judge Martin, of the Superior Court, to-morrow, to be sworn in, when it is the purpose of the counsel for the old Board to appear and argue the case.

The South.

General Heintzelman has succeeded Gen. Getty in command of the Department of Texas.

Twenty families of Polish exiles have settled in Spottsylvania county, Virginia. They employed an agent to buy 2,400 acres of land for them.

A New Orleans paper says that the great want in that city at the present time is house room. Since the close of the war the population has increased from fifty to seventy-five thousand souls, without any corresponding increase in the number of buildings.

Hermann Burckhardt, of Louisville, had been a hard working man, but hearing that one of his friends had won seventy or eighty dollars at faro, he tried his own luck, and soon lost all that he had. He took to drink, meantime, and, on the 30th ult., he ended his life by jumping into the Ohio river.

"Mississippi stands by Jefferson Davis," says the Memphis Avalanche. The House of Representatives denounce in a series of resolutions, and "in strong but respectful terms, the outrage upon his constitutional rights, of the great delay in his trial. She proposes to send counsel to Virginia to battle in his defense, and contest for his acquittal."

Foreign News.

The latest report from Japan is that the Tycoon's army has suffered a heavy defeat at the hands of the insurgents, and that the Tycoon has, in consequence, abdicated.

The project submitted by France and England to the Spanish government for the settlement of the Chilian difficulty has been approved by the queen and her minister.

In consequence of the contemplated disarrangement of the Newfoundland land lines, the Anglo-American Telegraph Company propose to lay a cable from Placentia Bay to Halifax and Boston.

It is said that relations between Austria and Prussia are assuming a menancing character. The London Times says that the Prussian government is intriguing for the further disintegration of Austria.

A letter from Buenos Ayres says the wool clip in that country will probably exceed that of last year. It is estimated at four million arobas, 260,000 pounds, and will be worth twelve millions of silver dollars.

It is said in Paris that the Emperor Napoleon has informed the Empress Carlotta, that she had better tell Emperor Maximilian to cede two of his provinces to the United States, in order to consolidate his rule in Mexico.

An attempt was made a few days since upon the life of the Emperor Francis Joseph, and His Highness was only saved by an Englishman being near, who diverted the aim of the would-be assassin, and secured his arrest.

The commandment of our naval fleet on the South American coast refuses to salute the flag of the Peruvian navy, owing to the fact that Tucker, who was one of our conspicuous rebels during the war, has been appointed naval commander of Peru.

The Turks claim great victories over the Christians in Candia. In a hard fought battle near Oressa, the Cretans lost seven hundred men, while the Turkish loss was heavy. Three thousand Cretans had been drowned in a cave where they had sought a hiding place for refuge. The tide rising, submerged them. Large submissions were being made by the Christians to Turkish authority.

The Spanish Government, which still maintains slavery in Cuba, has issued a decree that any person of color living as a slave in the Spanish dependencies, shall, without distinction of age or sex, become free from the moment that he or she may touch the soil of Spain or any other country in which slavery does not exist. Not many slaves will benefit by this decree, as but few can pay for a passage to other countries.

Conundrums.

Why was Eve created? For Adam's Express company.

When did Abraham sleep five in a bed? When he slept with his forefathers.

When is a blow from a lady welcome? When she strikes you agreeably.

For what reasons does a fisherman blow his horn? For selfish reasons.

When is a cat like a teapot? When your teasin' it.

.....A doctor was summoned to a cottage at Harwood, in England, and found a boy in need of his services.

"Show your tongue," said the doctor.

The boy stared like an owl.

"My good boy, let me see your tongue," repeated the doctor.

"Talk English, doctor," said the mother, and turning to her son, said:

"Hopen thy gobbler, and push out thy loliker."

This had the desired effect.

To detect copper in pickles, put some of the pickle, cut small, into a vial, and add two or three drops of liquid [illegible] filled with one-half the quantity [illegible] shake the vial; when, if the most [illegible] portions of copper be present, the liquid will assume a fine blue color. Or immerse a polished knife blade; the copper will deposit upon it.

—The Montreal Witness relates that a Canadian farmer recently took over the line to a starch factory fifteen bushels of potatoes, somewhat damaged. On the way he stopped at the custom-house to inquire the duty on potatoes; but, as the official could not inform him till he investigated the tariff, he passed on and sold his tubers for twenty cents a bushel in American currency. On returning to the custom-house he was informed that the duty was twenty-five cents a bushel in silver currency. The Canadian had therefore to pay $3.75 cents in specie, besides $1.20 in currency, as entry fees—altogether about $4 50—to

CURRENT ITEMS.

Personal and Literary.

A MEMORIAL to the late Washington Irving is now in process of erection at Tarrytown, New York, in the shape of a church.

PROF. DANIEL REED, of the Wisconsin State University, has gone to Missouri to act as President of the Missouri State University.

THE Erie Dispatch says that Hon. C. V. Culver, now confined in jail at Franklin, Pennsylvania, declines to avail himself of his Congressional privilege, and will meet his trial in November.

CHARLES READE has really commenced his suit against the Round Table. Some say the suit is more to advertise his books than to assert his rights. Well, he will have a "Good Fight" of it, and if he does not get rid of a large edition of his "Griffith Gaunt," he will of his "Very Hard Cash."

THE Rev. Mr. A—— was more eminent in his day for the brilliancy of his imagination than the force of his logic. At one time he was preaching on "The Ministration of Angels," and in the peroration he suddenly observed: "I hear a whisper!" The change of tone started the deacon, who sat below, from a drowsy mood, and springing to his feet, he spoke: "I guess it is the boys in the gallery."

MANY years ago Horace Greeley and Park Benjamin were joint editors of a weekly journal. The hour for going to press had come; the editors were together in their room, and were unexpectedly summoned for "more copy." Surprised and vexed, they looked at each other a moment, sat down to desks facing each other, took up their pens and went to work. After two hours' hard work they compared notes. Greeley had written a crusher on "Procrastination," and Benjamin a remarkably bitter article against "Haste."

JUST after Mr. Tieman had finished his term as Mayor of New York, and Fernando Wood was about to occupy that office, the latter personage was met in the park one day by John Van Buren, who congratulated him very heartily upon his election to the office of Mayor once more. Mr. Wood thanked him cordially. Mr. Van Buren then observed: "Mr. Wood, allow me to observe to you that Mr. Tieman went into the Mayor's office an honest man, and is coming out a scoundrel; permit me to hope that in your case it will be the reverse."

JULIA DEAN, that used to be, has applied to the Salt Lake courts for a divorce from Hayne, the individual she married several years ago. Hayne is a brother of Paul, the poet, belongs to one of the first families of South Carolina, and captivated Julia with his lineage and escutcheon. She soon found out what a mistake she had made, to her sorrow. Actors, who were in companies with which they played, all declare that he treated her horribly—too horribly to admit of the details being made public. She earned over sixty thousand dollars in California, yet is poor to-day.

THE benevolent millionaire, Mr. Peabody, adds to his princely gifts to the world's poor and to science the sum of $150,000 to Yale College, after having endowed Harvard with equal generosity. During the last three years he has endowed charities to the amount of £800,000, and he had previously given away about £150,000—in all close upon $5,000,000. It is safe to say that he cannot now be worth more than $10,000,000. Mr. P. recently made a speech at Baltimore, in which he referred to the current charges that he was a Southern sympathizer during the war. He avowed that during the terrible conflict through which our nation has passed, his sympathies are still and always were with the Union.

AMONG the anecdotes of the poet Percival in Mr. Ward's new biography is one to the effect that when Dr. Percival occupied rooms in the State hospital at New Haven, "a showy gentleman with some extra airs," who was showing a pair of ladies the sights, called on the janitor and asked to be shown the way to the distinguished man's apartments. The janitor pointed out the way, and watched the encounter. Percival answered the stranger's knock, and opening the door, beheld the gentleman with a lady on each arm. "I am extremely happy and rejoiced," said the intruder pompously, "that I have the honor of addressing the poet Percival." "Boo!" respondeu the doctor, instantly shutting the door and bolting it. The visitor did not tell the story, but the janitor did.

Domestic Paragraphs.

—During the war the United States Government operated 419 locomotives and 6,330 railroad cars.

—There are 20,000 widows and 60,000 orphans in Alabama, three-fourths of them utterly destitute.

—Two little Vermont girls, nine and eleven years of age, picked up 100 bushels of potatoes in one day.

—A large tobacco establishment of New York paid the enormous tax of $1,200,000 on their business during the past year.

—Rev. Samuel Helfferstein, the oldest minister in the Dutch Reformed Church of the United States, died in Philadelphia last week, aged ninety-two years.

—With utter contempt for the ruling high prices of calico and cradles, two editors of the Tuscarawas, Ohio, Advocate committed matrimony on the same day last week.

—The soldier, John Campbell, who indignantly returned his bounty money to the United States Treasurer, saying he wanted no pay for shooting men, turns out to be insane.

—There are 137,000 persons in Brooklyn who do business in New York. The difference between the number of people that reside in New York, and those doing business there, is 107,000.

—A diamond pin, valued at $6,000, was lost on Broad street, New York, recently, and afterward found by a poor telegraph messenger boy, to whom the owner of the pin gave a check for $500.

—The captain's wife of the schooner Teideux, which foundered at sea last week, saved herself and the crew by whipping off her balmoral skirt and flaunting it to attract the attention of a passing vessel.

—During the Indian war of last year it cost the Government about one hundred thousand dollars apiece to kill Indians while it is estimated that it costs the missionary board about one hundred dollars apiece to convert heathens.

—A merchant having sent, in obedience to an order, fifty barrels of flour to a grocer in the Provinces, recently received another order which he thinks has malice in it, or else that the man did not get what he expected, viz: "Send down fifty hogs to eat up that flour!"

—Some people would be astonished to learn that the phrase escaping "by the skin of one's teeth" is from the Bible. It occurs in Job, chapter nineteen, verse twenty, and the correct reading is: "My bone cleaveth to my skin and to my flesh, and I am escaped with the skin of my teeth."

—It is said that the expenditure of $250 would probably have saved the Evening Star and the lives of her passengers; the assertion being based on the theory that the sheave in which the rudder chain worked was a cheap one, not guarded with iron, and that therefore the chain slipped out, and the vessel became unmanageable.

—From year to year the Falls of Niagara gradually wear away, but it is hardly perceptible. But within the past two weeks, the American Fall has undergone a very great change; huge masses of rock have caved away, about one hundred and fifty feet from Lunar Island, giving this part of the Fall quite as perfect a horse shoe shape as that on the Canadian side of the river.

—Among the Seneca Indians, when a maiden dies they imprison a young bird until it first begins to try its powers of song, and then, leading it with kisses and caresses, they loose its bonds over the grave, in the belief that it will not fold its wings nor close its eyes until it has flown to the spirit land, and delivered its precious burden of affection to the loved and the lost.

—The cost of living in New York at the present time is almost incredible, and it is astonishing where all the money comes from to support such extravagance. Furnished houses in fashionable avenues rent for $1,000 per month. A family living at one of our large hotels pay $700 per week for rooms and board. The average price for large rooms and board in the principal hotels cannot be less than $150 per week.

—As an instance of rapid transportation in these days, it is stated by the Baltimore American that a great number of packages brought by the steamer Carroll of the Baltimore and Liverpool line, were recently properly examined and passed in due form at the Baltimore Custom House, and shipped, per the Baltimore and Ohio railway, to the far West, where they are to arrive, according to the railway time table, in just nineteen days from the period of their shipment from Europe.

—A practical saw maker in San Francisco has solved the difficulty of sawing a section of the big tree in Calaveras county to send to the Paris Exhibition. By this plan, two cuts are to be made on the tree, three feet apart, as deep as the saw will allow; the wood between the cuts being split out with wedges, angles are left which can be sawed and wedged as before. By the labor of two men the section can be ready for transportation within a month's time. The whole expense need not exceed five hundred dollars.

—A writer in the New York Sun gives some statistics of how the city is fed, which are very interesting. He estimates that there are 5,625,000 pounds of beef, 112,500 of mutton, 72,000 of veal, and 2,400,000 of pork purchased in Washington market every week, costing an aggregate of $1,257,335. In March and April the consumption is less, owing to the abundant supply of fish, also in very hot weather. He also estimates that there are 200,000 pints of milk used daily by the inhabitants of that city, 62,500 pounds of butter, and 143,000 ounces of cheese. The grand total paid for meat, milk, butter, and cheese is $221,583.

Foreign Gossip.

—Maximilian, of Mexico, keeps a bank account in New York city.

—A minister in Switzerland has written a biography in 37 different languages.

—The total value of prizes to be given at the Paris Exhibition is $190,000 in gold.

—Since 1861 the production of sugar in the Sandwich Islands has increased from 2,000,000 pounds to 20,000,000 pounds a year.

—A German mile is as long as two of ours. A German pound has several more ounces, but a German dollar is considerably less.

—At Glasgow, in Scotland, on the 16th inst., there was a reform demonstration of the most enthusiastic and imposing description. The number of persons present was estimated at 150,000.

—While the celebrated giant Ching (height about eight feet, weight 20 stone) was on exhibition at Worcester, England, the prodigy stumbled, and out rolled two living bodies, one of which had been hoisted "a top o' tother."

—A firm of Scotch warehousemen in London have in their employ a knitter who has discovered the art of knitting two stockings at one time on the same pins. When finished, the stockings are drawn away from each other.

The estimate originally made by the Belgian engineers, for the wear of rails upon their lines, was 120 years. At present 10 years is not under the average life of rails, whilst many are actually so much worn in 12 months as to be no longer fit for use.

—A correspondent of the New York Times writing from Pekin, under date of June, 1866, relates the discovery of a colony of Jews in the heart of China. They have preserved till lately many of their traditions and the purity of their race.

—An express train carried the twenty millions of thalers which form the war indemnity that Austria must pay Prussia. The whole amount was paid in silver. It was loaded by the ton and took twenty men six days to count it. Ten clerks, twelve tellers, and thirty gendarmes accompanied the train.

—An English wag tells this story: "The passengers in a first class railway carriage, on arriving at the terminus, were addressed by the guard with the customary request: 'Gentlemen, show your tickets.' Among them was one man rather showily attired. He produced a ticket-of-leave."

—There has been an outbreak among the convicts at Toulon, because they were not allowed as much tobacco as they thought they ought to have. The Penitentiary buildings were almost entirely destroyed by fire, and fourteen prisoners perished in the flames. The riot was put down with the aid of a strong military force.

—The chief mechanic in the Imperial Turkish mint is an American, who has been employed there thirty years. A Constantinople correspondent says that he has not been paid a cent of wages for a year, the finances of the country being in a very depressed condition. A great temptation one would think, to coin a few gold pieces for himself.

—When the Seine inundated the meadows near St. Denis, the gudgeons, being fond of insects, invaded by thousands the grass which was under water, to feed upon them. The waters having subsided rather suddenly, the greater portion of the finny tribe were left high and dry, and became the prey of the country people, who armed with shovels and buckets, soon transferred them to the frying pan.

—A French paper says the excavations at Herculaneum are expected to be much more productive than those at Pompeii, whence a great many persons had time to carry away their chief valuables before the storm of ashes and lava overwhelmed the place. At Herculaneum the case was different. The labor will, it is said, be greater than at Pompeii—a mountain of lava has to be pierced, and a descent made into the city as into a mine.

—A correspondent of the New York Times, in a letter from Pekin, gives a curious history of the decay of the Jewish colony in the Chinese city of Kai-fung-gee. They have gradually abandoned their peculiar rites and at last begin to intermarry with the Chinese, although they still remember the names of the Feast of Tabernacles, the Feast of Unleavened Bread, and a few other ceremonial rites, which were practiced by former generations.

—It would be impossible to transfer to the English language the wit of this fine French jeu d' esprit on the situation of Europe resulted from the German war and its settlement:

L'Italie est faite,
Et Rome contrefaite;
L'Autriche est defaite;
Et l' Allemagne refaite;
La Prusse est surfaite;
La France parfaite,
Et l' Angleterre satisfaite.

The meaning may be approximately expressed thus:

Italy is finished, and Rome is counteracted; Austria is undone, and Germany is reconstructed; Prussia is overgrown, France is just right, and England is satisfied.

HOME, FARM AND GARDEN.

To fix labels on tin, use French polish, or a solution of Shellac in naptha or alcohol.

A GOOD SUBSTITUTE FOR KNIFE-SHARPENERS.—It is a difficult matter to obtain a "steel" which retains its sharpening qualities for any length of time. A common round file answers the purpose admirably. Fasten it in an old knife-handle, and it is ready for table use.

To remove fruit stains from napkins, etc., let the spotted part of the cloth imbibe a little water without dipping, and hold the part over a lighted common brimestone match at a proper distance. The sulphurous acid gas which is discharged soon causes the spots to disappear. Or, wet the spot with chlorine water.

MEASURING HAY.—The following method of ascertaining the amount of hay in a mow, we find recommended to those who may live at a distance from hay scales. Multiply the length, breadth and height, into each other, and if the hay is somewhat settled, ten solid yards make a ton. Clover will take from ten to twelve solid yards per ton.

RENOVATING WORN-OUT LAND.—At a recent agricultural meeting in Boston one of the speakers remarked that "on a tract of land which was overrun with box-wood, briars, and other shrubs, he turned one hundred and fifty sheep. At that time a cow could not have lived on the whole tract. The sheep were kept there several years, and so killed out the wild growth that the track now affords good pasture for fifteen cows.

UNPLEASANT TASTE IN MILK.—There are various methods of removing the disagreeable taste in milk, arising from the use of roots and rank grasses. If roots are boiled before fed out, the unpleasant flavor will, to a great extent, be prevented, or pulping the roots, by exposing the greatest surface to the action of the air, will carry off much of the offensive odor. English dairymen place the cream the day before it is churned in boiling water, where it is kept for half an hour, and vigorously stirred as it cools. Powdered saltpetre is also placed in the pans daily before receiving the milk, in the propotrion of one table-spoonful to every gallon of cream.

HOW TO JUDGE WEATHER BY THE SKY.—The following mode of judging of the weather by the sky is from Thompson's Coast Pilot: The color of the sky, at particular times, affords wonderfully good guidance. Not only sunset presages fair weather, but there are other tints which speak with equal clearness and accuracy. A bright yellow sky in the evening indicates wind; a pale yellow sky, wet; natural gray color constitutes a favorable sign in the evening and an unfavorable one in the morning. They are full of meaning in themselves. If their forms are soft, underlined and featurely, the weather will be fine; if the edges are hard, sharp and definite, it will be foul. Generally speaking, any deep, unusual hues betoken wind and rain, while the more quiet and delicate tints bespoak fine weather. Simple as these maxims are, the British Board of Trade thought fit to publish them for the use of sea-faring men.

Barley and Rye for Horses.

My first experience in feeding barley to horses was in California, where there was no other grain raised for feed at the time I was there. All our horses were fed on it for two years without any change, and never got tired of it, always thriving and looking remarkably fine for the amount of labor they performed. This induced me to raise it to feed after my return from that country, and I have learned to esteem it higher than any other grain (when ground) for horses. It is too hard to feed in the grain. It is less liable to founder than corn, wheat or rye, yet contains but very little less nutriment than either of those grains.

I have raised a great many colts, and made breeding trotting horses a study, and in all my experience I have found nothing equal to barley meal to make a mare give milk. I have found it no disadvantage to a mare's getting with foal, and not any while she was so. Oats are a better food for colts from weaning time until they go to work.

Rye is a dangerous grain to feed alone; it is more likely to founder than other grain; but to mix with shorts, or to grind with oats, and feed with out hay or straw, it makes an excellent feed. Instead of its being a preventive to pregnancy in mares, it is an advantage. I own and keep for service one of the finest and most promising young trotting stallions in the State; and if any one has a mare they wish to put at a certain time, I always recommend feeding the mare boiled rye, blood warm, to get her in season, and it never fails to do its work in from three to five days, and I never knew a mare to refuse the horse after such treatment. Three quarts, three times a day, is good feeding. This discovery may be of great value to breeders, and save an enormous sight of trouble.—Cor. Country Gent.

Agricultural Report.

The monthly report of Isaac Newton, the commissioner of agriculture, says: Returns of the local correspondents, up to the 1st of October, verify in all essential particulars, the statements respecting the crops, contained in previous monthly exhibition.

The corn has suffered some deterioration from early frosts and excessive rains; but the crops are larger than the largest ever chronicled in the country.

In the production of wheat next to corn the most important cereal, our agricultural population has been unfortunate for the present year, now nearly completed. The yield will not vary much from 143,000,000 bushels, showing a small percentage of decrease, which is fully compensated by the superior quality of the grain. This is 1,000,000 bushels more than the crop of 1859, and is within 5,000,000 of a product in proportion to the increased population.

The diminution in the south is more apparent. The estimates point to less than 17,000,000 bushels in the States heretofore unrepresented—a fraction less than five-tenths of the crop of 1859. It is worthy of remark, in connection with the diminution of the past three seasons, that the wheat crop of England has been likewise deficient since 1864.

The California wheat crop, of which little note has been publicly made, in connection with the present crop, is excessive. In 1860 the product of this young State was nearly 6,000,000 bushels. Now it is claimed by leading California agriculturists that the surplus for export will nearly double that quantity.

It is evident that the entire wheat crop will exceed by several millions that of 1859, when the yield was reported at 173,104,924 bushels. There were five and a half bushels to each individual. In 1866 the estimates point to five bushels to each inhabitant. There is no ground, then, for apprehension of scarcity, and little excuse in the amount of the crop for starvation prices.

The yield of oats is extraordinary, and the quality excellent. The indications point to an increase from 171,492,072 bushels in 1859 to 371,912,095 bushels in 1866. It is the only crop in the south that maintains an equality with its last census exhibit.

Hay is less in quantity than in the previous year, by one to two-tenths; but is better in quality. An analysis of the southern returns up to Oct. 1 does not warrant a reduction of the former cotton estimate much below 1,750,000 bales; though it is too early for the small estimates. The surety of the damage is reported as increasing.

LITTLE JERRY, THE MILLER.

Beneath the hill you may see the mill,
Of wasting wood and crumbling stone;
The wheel is dripping and clattering still,
But Jerry, the miller, is dead and gone.

Year after year, early and late,
Alike in summer and winter weather,
He pecked the stones and calked the gate,
And mill and miller grew old together.

"Little Jerry!"—'twas all the same—
They loved him well who called him so;
And whether he'd ever another name,
Nobody ever seemed to know.

'Twas "Little Jerry, come grind my rye;"
And "Little Jerry, come grind my wheat;"
And "Little Jerry" was still the cry,
From matron bold and maiden sweet.

'Twas "Little Jerry" on every tongue,
And thus the simple truth was told;
For Jerry was little when he was young,
And he was little when he was old.

But what in size he chanced to lack,
Jerry made up by being stong;
I've seen a sack upon his back,
As thick as the miller, and quite as long.

Always busy and always merry,
Always doing his very best,
A notable wag was little Jerry,
Who uttered well his standing jest.

"When will you grind my corn, I say?"
"Nay," quoth Jerry, you needn't scold;
Just leave your grist for half a day,
And never fear but you'll be toiled."

How Jerry lived is known to fame,
But how he died there's none may know;
One autumn day the rumor came—
"The brook and Jerry were very low."

And then 'twas whispered mournfully
The leech had come and he was dead,
And all the neighbors flocked to see;
"Poor little Jerry" was all they said.

They laid him in his earthly bed—
His miller's coat his only shroud—
"Dust to dust," the parson said,
And all the people wept aloud.

For he had shunned the deadly sin,
And not a grain of over-toll
Had ever dropped into his bin,
To weigh upon his parting soul.

Beneath the hill there stands the mill
Of wasting wood and crumbling stone;
The wheel is dripping and clattering still,
But Jerry, the miller, is dead and gone.

Albion Commercial College, Albion, Michigan.

This popular institution has, within a few years, attained a proud position among the Commercial Colleges of the country. But its remarkable success is readily accounted for. Its President—the Hon. Ira Mayhew—is an experienced and successful teacher. He was formerly a distinguished school officer in New York, and has been eight years the popular and efficient Superintendent of Public instruction in Michigan, having received, at his last election, more votes than any other candidate on the State ticket. He is also widely and favorably known as an author. His treatise on the Means and Ends of Universal Education, published by A. S. Barnes & Co., as a volume of the School Teachers' Library, is justly regarded as standing at the head of works of its class in this country; and Mayhew's Practical Book-keeping is more widely used in the schools of the United States than any other text book on that subject.

Mr. Mayhew has carefully studied his profession, and has had valuable experience in business, having been for several years the efficient United States Collector of Internal Revenue for the Third District of Michigan, But having relinquished the cares of this office, he is now devoting his entire attention to his Commercial College, in which he is supported by an able corps of assistants. "EXCELSIOR" being his motto, he has preferred the perfect development of ONE INSTITUTION that should be worthy of the patronage of this and other States, to establishing a number of widely scattered and necessarily enfeebled institutions in different portions of the country. A large number of earnest and delighted students, from nearly every State of the Union, confirms the wisdom of this decision.

A recent Board of Visitors to the Albion Commercial College, in their report, justly speak of it as having become "one of the most valuable institutions of the State," thus ranking it with our State Normal School, with the Agricultural College, and with the University of Michigan. This institution has a "Theory Department," and a "Business Department," with stores, banks, business offices, etc., all of which are wisely employed as agencies in imparting a thorough and symmetrical business education. And while the Principals of Departments are accomplished instructors, the President gives regular courses of lectures upon which all students attend.

We are led to these remarks at this time from having received a Pamphlet Circular, of forty pages, giving full particulars of the organization, governmental policy, course of study, local advantages, etc., of this excellent institution, of which Michigan may well be proud. We feel great confidence in commending this College to persons who would obtain a thorough business education, and especially to such as regard the expenses, which are here much less than in large cities, while the course of instruction can nowhere be surpassed in thoroughness.—Detroit Tribune.

.....Women's writes—Postscripts.

.....What is it that by losing an eye has nothing left but a nose? A noise.

.....Weaker vessels need much hooping, is the latest excuse for crinoline.

.....Short visits are best, as the fly said when he alighted on a hot stove.

.....Why are umbrellas like pancakes? Because they are seldom seen after lent.

.....Marriage is getting to be regarded as a mere casual tie, and the consequence is it often proves a casualty.

....."Wife," said a hen-pecked husband, "go to bed." "I won't." "Well, then, stay up. I'll be minded."

.....The question is often discussed whether the savages enjoy life. We suppose they do, as they always seem anxious to take it when they get a chance.

.....A New England writer says that it has been found that white men do not betray secrets. We suppose this is upon the principle that they always "keep dark."

....."Well, Mary, are you going to the new place?"

Mary—"Sure, no; the lady couldn't give a satisfactory reference from her last cook."

.....A young lad ran away from home and went to a tavern, where he was found by a friend with a cigar in his mouth. "What made you leave home?" said his friend. "Oh, confound, it," said he, "father and mother were so saucy, I couldn't stand it any longer, and I quit 'em."

.....The following direction was on a letter which passed through the postoffice:

Wood
John
Mass.

A shrewd postmaster finally decided that is was intended for John Underwood, Andover, Mass.

.....We have recently heard of a man who obtained a bill of divorce on the ground that his wife was extravagant. Specification: "She used butter for shortening." This is about equal to the man who complained of his daughter's extravagance because she persisted in buying a waterfall for her head, when she already had a cataract in her eye. He couldn't brook that.

NEW MUSIC.

"Swinging Round the Circle."

A popular Republican Campaign Song and Chorus. Price 30 cents.

"The Dog and Gun."

A beautiful Song and Chorus, with an illuminated title page representing hunting scenery. Price 30c.

"Get Out of Mexico!"

Song and Chorus, with an illustrated title page, showing Uncle Sam in the act of expelling Max at the point of the—boot. Price 35 cents.

"We Met Beneath an Awning."

A charming Song and Chorus with a "taking" melody. The words, although of a humorous character, are unexceptionable. Price 30 cents.

"Beautiful Lena."

The fact that this song has run through twenty-three editions in three months, is the best evidence of its excellence. It has an effective Chorus. Price 30 cents.

Copies of either of the above will be mailed prepaid on receipt of the price. Published by

LYON & HEALY,
Clark and Washington Streets, Chicago.

Not One Cent in Six Years.—Our machine has been in almost constant use for nearly six years, and has not cost one cent for repairs. It has given great satisfaction.—[Letter of Casper W. Dutmar, No. 1,229 Heath street, Philadelphia, March 10, 1865, to the Willcox & Gibbs S. M. Co.

BUSINESS EDUCATION.—The Commercial College Department of Clark Seminary at Aurora, Ill., is filled up in the best manner and offers the best advantages. Young men and women need not expose themselves to the vices and incur the expenses of large cities to get a good thorough business education.

THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK,		Nov. 3.
COTTON—Middling	$ .38 @	.39
FLOUR—Extra Round Hoop Ohio	12 25 @	13 50
WHEAT—No. 2 Milwaukee Spring	2 40 @	2 50
BARLEY	1 25 @	1 34
CORN—Sound Western Mixed	1 30 @	1 36
OATS—New Chicago	70 @	73
PORK—Mess new	30 25 @	26 00
BEEF CATTLE—Common to good	11 00 @	16 00
DRESSED HOGS	11.25 @	11.50
DRY GOODS—Merrimacs	.21 @	.23
Bleached Sheetings—Masonville	@	.35
Brown Sheetings—Stark	.23 @
Delaines—Manchester	.27½ @
Denims—Manchester	.33½ @
GOLD—Closed 1.47⅛.
CHICAGO,	Nov. 5, 1866.
BEEVES—Stock to prime	4 00 @$	6.50
BEANS	.75 @	1.00
BUTTER—Good Tub	.22 @	.24
CHEESE—Western States	.13 @	.15
COFFEE—Rio	.27 @	.31
Java	.42 @	.44
EGGS	.30 @	.32
FRUITS—Green Apples—New	2.50 @	4.00
Cranberries—per bbl	10 00 @	20.00
FLOUR—Winter White	12 70 @	14 75
Spring Extra	10 30 @	12 50
FISH—Mackerel, No. 1, half bbl	11 75 @	12 00
Whitefish, " "	7.00 @	7.75
Codfish, per hundred	9.00 @	9 50
GRAIN—Corn, No. 1	.93 @	.95
Oats, No. 2	.46 @	.48
Rye	1 05 @	1 08
Wheat—Spring No. 1 New	2.19 @	2 20
Barley Western—new	1.04 @	1 07
HOGS—Live medium	8.25 @	8.40
HOPS—Western	.40 @	.40
LARD	.13 @	.14
LUMBER—Common flooring, rough	32.00 @	35.00
PORK—Mess, New	- @	28.00
POTATOES, per bushel	.70 @	.80
SHEEP—Good	4.00 @	4 50
SUGARS—Cuba	.12⅜ @	.14½
New York Refined	.17¼ @	.17½
White B	.16 @	.16¾
SALT—Fine	@	2.65
Coarse	@	2.65
SEEDS—Timothy	2.90 @	3.10
Flax	@	2.75
WOOL—Medium washed	40 @	.45

GO TO THE BEST.

BRYANT & STRATTON'S CHICAGO BUSINESS UNIVERSITY is the largest and most thorough Institution of the kind in the country, and young men going to Chicago should consult their own best interests by attending this College, where every department of a Business Education is thoroughly taught—Bryant, Stratton & Co's. Scholarships are good during life in forty-eight different Colleges—Address for College Paper, Circular, College Currency and specimens of Penmanship. BRYANT & STRATTON. Chicago, Ill.

Consumption Curable by Dr. Schenck's Medicines.

TO CURE CONSUMPTION, the system must be prepared so that the lungs will heal. To accomplish this, the liver and stomach must first be cleansed and an appetite created for good, wholesome food, which, by these medicines, will be digested properly, and good, healthy blood made; thus building up the constitution. SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS cleanse the stomach of all bilious or mucous accumulations, and, by using the Seaweed Tonic in connection, the appetite is restored.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP is nutritious as well as medicinal, and, by using the three remedies, all impurities are expelled from the system, and good, wholesome blood made, which will repel all disease. If patients will take these medicines according to directions, Consumption very frequently in its last stage yields readily to their action. Take the pills frequently, to cleanse the liver and stomach. It does not follow that because the bowels are not costive they are not required, for sometimes in diarrhœa they are necessary. The stomach must be kept healthy, and an appetite created to allow the Pulmonic Syrup to act on the respiratory organs properly and allay any irritation. Then all that is required to perform a permanent cure is, to prevent taking cold. Exercise about the rooms as much as possible, eat all the richest food—fat meat, game, and, in fact, anything the appetite craves; but be particular and masticate well. [2w]

Invigorate the Responsible Organ.

The stomach is the responsible organ of the system. If the digestion is imperfect, every member, every gland, every muscle, every muscle and fibre is more or less out of order. All the fluids are depraved. The brain is clouded. The spirits are depressed. All dyspeptics know this to be the truth. It is not, however, half the truth. Columns would be required to enumerate the pains and penalties of dyspepsia, nor could any pen do them justice. Tens of thousands feel them; no man can describe them.

Can they be prevented? Can they be relieved? Can they be banished at once and forever? UNQUESTIONABLY THEY CAN. No dyspeptic has ever taken HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS in vain. Believe no one who says the complaint is incurable. This great vegetable stomachic will eradicate it—is eradicating it in thousands of cases over which medical practitioners have shaken their heads ominously, saying, "Nothing can be done."

The faculty has its fallacies. One of them is that Indigestion is the most difficult of all the ordinary ailments of mankind to combat and subdue. This is a mistake. Nothing can be easier than to conquer it if the true specific be administered. The vegetable combination which has become famous throughout the civilized world as HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS as an antidote to the disease which has never been known to fail, and fortunately it is everywhere procurable. If you want to root it out and prevent its recurrence, take the Bitters daily. There is no discount on the testimony in its favor. If there is a man or woman who has ever tried it for Indigestion without being benefitted the fact has not transpired. Universal, uncontradicted praise avouches its wonderful tonic virtues.

KNOWLEDGE OFTEN SAVES LIFE.—Every living being has in his system

IMPURITIES.

When these are within their natural limits our health is good; but when they are in excess, pains, colds, rheumatism, gout, debility, costiveness, diarrhea, dysentery, erysipelas, &c., afflict us. What we have to do to recover our health is to take out from the BOWELS AND THE CIRCULATION the excess of impurities. This done, health follows of necessity.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS

are the only medicine that can do this with entire safety to all the organs of the body.

HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS are now living who have adopted BRANDRETH'S PILLS as their only remedy for periods of from thirty to fifty years, and whose average health is excellent. They have always cured themselves, when sick, by using these INNOCENT AND INFALLIBLE PILLS.

Principal office, Brandreth building, New York.

Willcox & Gibbs Sewing Machine.

"Its seam is stronger and less liable to rip in use or wear than the Lock-Stitch." ["Judges Report," at the "Grand Trial."]

Send for the "Report," and samples of Work, containing both kinds of stitches, on the same piece of goods. Agents wanted.

L. CORNELL & CO., General Agents,
138 Lake Street Chicago Ill

DR. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT.

An instantaneous remedy for chronic rheumatism, headache, toothache, croup, colic, quinsy, sore throat, and pains in any part of the body. Remember, this article is a success—not an experiment; for 19 years it has been tested. No medicine has ever had such a reputation as this: silently it has worked its way before the public, and all are loud in its praise. "Chronic Rheumatism" Thousands who laid for weeks on a bed of agony, and never walked for months without the aid of crutches, with this complaint, can testify to the magical effects of this liniment. They are cured and proclaim its virtues throughout the land. Remember, relief is certain, and a positive cure is sure to follow. Headache of all kinds we warrant to cure. Putrid sore throat, quinsy, and diptheria are robbed of their terrors by a timely use of the Venetian Liniment. It has saved hundreds the past three months. Price, 40 and 80 cents a bottle. Office, 56 Cortlandt street, New York. Sold by all druggists.

INVASION!

Do you wish to have your hair cauterized from the scalp? No. Then beware of the new brood of Vitriolic and Caustic Dyes got up by n strum-mongers, who bear the same relation to the responsible Chemist that bear to honest merchantmen. Remember that the experience of years, and the very highest scientific endorsements, guarantee the superiority of over every other in use. It is purely vegetable, infallible, and instantaneous. Manufactured by J. CRISTADORO, No. 6 Astor House, New York. Sold by all Druggists. Applied by all Hair Dressers.

Pirates and Privateers

CRISTADORO'S HAIR DYE,

A Household Necessity Exists for the use of Durno's Celebrated Catarrh Snuff.

The best known remedy for "a Cold in the Head," Headache, Snuffles, Sore Eyes, Deafness, and the worst forms of that loathsome disease, CATARRH.

It cleanses the entire head. Its effects are pleasant and wonderful, contains no tobacco, nor injurious ingredient. It has the highest professional testimonials. Sold by all Druggists for 25 cents per Box. Can be sent by mail on receipt of 30 cents for one Box, or $1 for four Boxes. Address JAS. DURNO, Postoffice Box 1235, New York City. Wholesale by D. BARNES & CO., 21 Park Row New York.

MAGNETISM is the vital principal of life. When by transgressing the laws of nature we impair the workings of that beautiful mechanism which God made perfect, nature, through her great Electrical Battery, makes a powerful effort to remove the impediment which clogs the circulation of the magnetic forces. To assist Nature, use the "Electro Magnetic Fluid," prepared by the Swain Manufacturing Company, which is nothing less than Electricity in liquid form, and is undoubtedly the most wonderful as well as most useful chemical discovery of this age of fruitful research. It is composed of the most powerful ingredients known to chemistry, and when combined by this, the only known process, and applied to the human form, it supplies the deficiency of magnetic power, needed to banish disease.

Palsy of long standing, Scrofula, and Epileptic fits have been cured in a few minutes, while Rheumatism and Neuralgia, those giant diseases which have for ages baffled medical skill, and caused untold suffering, yield at once to the healing influence of this powerful fluid. It is warranted to heal the following diseases when used according to directions as a bathing lotion: Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Palsy, Fits, Swelled Joints, Scrofula, Stiff Limbs, Spasms, Deafness, Cancer, White Swelling, Salt Rheum, Sore Eyes, Female Weak Back, Spinal Affections, Prolapsus, and other Female Diseases.

Remember that its use involves no long tedious, uncertain, and costly experiment, but its good effects will be seen almost instantly while in no case can it possibly do harm.

Send to the proprietors for circular containing certificates from well known citizens of remarkable cures, effected by this medicine after all other remedies had failed to relieve.

One bottle will be sent to any part of the United States on receipt of one dollar.

DR. C. H. SWAIN & CO.,
Successors to DR. JAS. MORRELL, Proprietors.
34 South Water Street, Chicago.
Sold by leading druggists everywhere.

BISHOP & BARNES,

No. 115 Lake Street, Chicago,
[SIGN OF THE BLACK BEAR.]

Hat and Fur Factory.

WE are extensively engaged in the manufacturing of ladies' and children's

Fine Fur Garments

of every style, such as Capes, Half Capes, Victorines, Collars, Eugenies, Muffs, Cuffs, &c. Also, Gents' Fur Collars, Gloves, Caps, &c.

Sleigh Robes

of every description, all of which we sell wholesale and retail at manufacturers' prices. We pay strict attention to all orders from the country for dressing the skins, and making up any articles desired. Old Furs made over and repaired. We pay the highest market price for all furs and Skins sent to us.

Bishop & Barnes, 115 Lake St, Chicago

CLARK SEMINARY

Offers both sexes good advantages in solid and ornamental branches. It has superior buildings, fourteen teachers, and is "one of the most successful schools in the West."

Aurora Commercial College

Is connected with the Seminary, and has all means and methods of illustration and instruction necessary to a complete business education. It has offices, store, bank, &c. After getting the Theory of Accounts, students are put into Actual Practice. Expenses are much less than in large cities; discipline and instruction more thorough.

Discounts made to Disabled Soldiers and Clergymen's Children.

TELEGRAPHING

Is taught by both paper and sound instruments.

For Circulars, address (enclosing stamp,)

G. W. QUEREAU, A. M.,
AURORA, ILLINOIS

Metropolitan Hotel!

COR. RANDOLPH & WELLS STS.,
CHICAGO, ILL.

BALDWIN & MERRITT, - - PROPRIETORS.

This Hotel has recently been enlarged by the addition of the May Hotel, and now contains Two Hundred and Fifty Rooms, well furnished and lighted with gas.

WEED

AMONG THE ADVANTAGES CLAIMED for the WEED SEWING MACHINE, please note the following:

It can make but one Stitch, and that the Lock—this it never fails to do.

The Needle is straight—therefore sure and powerful.

The Blade of the Needle is SHORTER than that of any other Shuttle Machine in use.

It's speed is superior to most—thus producing more effect with the same effort.

It is not Noiseless, but few are more so.

They not only run quietly but easily.

The Tension is the most simple and effective of any.

The feed is perfect. Admirably arranged for examination, cleaning, oiling, &c.

With its shuttle and straight SHORT needle—simple yet perfect feed and tension—speed and easy motion, it produces the best stitch, with the least trouble, in the shortest time, without destroying the life and elasticity of the thread or silk.

Special attention is called to the fact that the arrangements of the Weed Sewing Machine are such that a firm and elastic seam can be made with light tension, and retain the pliability of the silk or thread equally with hand sewing.

Prices correspond with those of other first-class Machines. Every Machine is Warranted to give perfect satisfaction.

Agents wanted. Extra inducements offered.

Northwestern Office, 102 Washington St., Chicago.

Weed Sewing Machine Co.
PAY

OLD RELIABLE!

CLOTHIERS

AND

Tailors!

D. W. C. HARDY & CO.

Adrian, - Michigan.

The place to secure unheard of bargains;

MAMMOTH STOCK

Always to select from and Eastern prices will be found here.

ONE PRICED SYSTEM AND

GOOD GOODS.

Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Be sure and find the OLD RELIABLE CLOTHING HOUSE, and for

Custom Work and Cloths

You cannot do better west of New York.

D. W. C. HARDY & Co.

Lathrops Block, Adrian, Mich.

EUREKA.

NOT CALIFORNIA WITH ALL ITS GOLD, BUT THE PLACE TO BUY

Boots & Shoes at

Prices that suit the times, at

MC'NICHOL & WILSON'S

EMPIRE

Boot & Shoe Store.

We shall keep constantly on hand a full assortment of the BEST

Eastern Work to be Found

Consisting of

LADIES' CALF, GOAT AND KID GAITERS, BALMORALS, SLIPS,

And an endless variety of EVERYTHING usually found in a First Class Boot & Shoe Store. Our manufacturing department will be ably conducted and all work done by us warranted to give satisfaction. Those in want of Boots or Shoes will save money by calling, and will be sure to buy, for they can't fail to "see it."

☞ Remember the place—one door east of Curtis Drug Store,

Yes, 'Tis So!--Fact.

The subscriber would respectfully inform the citizens of Tecumseh and vicinity, that they have purchased the

On Railroad st. opposite Slayton, Tindall & Co's. Warehouse. where they will keep constantly on hand a good supply of everythings people may want, such as

BEEF, PORK, MUTTON.

Lamb, Veal, Corned Beef, Salt Fish of all kinds, Smoked Hams &c. &c. We intend to keep the best market ever kept in this village, and sell as reasonable as the times will allow. Call and see me.

A. S. Mathews.

Tecumseh, July, 1866.

DR. VELPAU'S FRENCH PILLS.

Ladies, take Particular Notice.

THE REAL VELPAU FEMALE PILL.

[WARRANTED FRENCH.]

THESE PILLS, so celebrated many years ago in Paris for the relief of female irregularities, and afterward so notorious for their criminal employment in the practice of abortion, are now offered for sale for the first time in America. They have been kept in comparative obscurity from the fact that the originator, Dr. Velpau, is a physician in Paris of great wealth and strict conscientious principles, and has withheld them from general use, lest they should be employed for unlawful purposes. In overcoming Female Obstructions, Falling of the Womb, Whites, Green Sickness, Suppression, Retention, or Immoderate Flow of the Monthly Discharges, they seem to be truly omnipotent, bursting open the flood-gates from whatever cause may have stopped them; but they are offered to the public only for legitimate uses, and all agents are forbidden to sell them when it is understood that the object is unlawful. Married ladies should never take them when there is any reason to believe themselves pregnant, for they will be sure to produce a miscarriage.

These pills are entirely safe under all circumstances, being composed entirely of sub stances from the vegetable kingdom.

Each box has the coat of arms for the City of Paris stamped on the box, with the words "Trade Mark" in French, to counterfeit which is a misdemeanor, and all persons will be dealt with according to law.

☞ Full directions accompany every box.

Ladies can obtain a box sealed from the eyes of the curious, by inclosing One Dollar and six post-office stamps to any respectable druggists, or to O. G. STAPLES, General Agent for the United States, Watertown, N. Y.

Agents,

Staiger & Fausel

PRACTICAL

Watch-Makers, Jewelers,

And Repairers of Clocks &c. &c.

J. D. Robbins' Jewelry Store, Tecumseh, Mich. Give them a call.

Farmers! Farmers!

THE

RAISIN MILLS,

is the place to get good grinding done. I pay particular attention to this branch of business,

CUSTOM GRINDING,

keep the Mill constantly in good repair and the 2nd Adam is always on hand with a pleasant smile to tend to the wants

OF MY NUMEROUS CUSTOMERS!

BRING GOOD CLEAN WHEAT, and I will warrant that Adam will give you satisfaction. SOUND

Wheat taken in store for Bread

Good White and Red Wheat Flour for sale. The highest market price paid

In Greenbacks

for good White and Amber Wheat

Mill Feed of allkinds for Sale.

SAWING DONE

for Customers on short notice. Bills of hard wood lumber sawed, and delivered if wished.

LUMBER FOR SALE

Cash paid for Saw Logs. Good hard wood slabs for sale by the load. &c. &c

I sincerely thank my numerous customers for their very liberal patronage, and shal endeavor to do as good work, and even better if possible in the future.

Woolston Comfort.

---

18 Pronunciemento. 66

GLOBE MILLS,

This well known and popular Mill is

Now in Good Running Order,

and prepared to do Grinding Grists for the farmers in a satisfactory manner, will endeavor to make a good yield and have the flour suit.

Old Customers

I shall be pleased to retain, and would invite others to try and see

How well we can do For them.

To such as

PREFER EXCHANGING THEIR GRAIN,

to having it ground, I shall be ready to accommodate, having always on hand a

SUPPLY OF FLOUR,

There can usually be found at the Mill for Sale

Best White Wheat Flour,
Best Red Wheat Flour,
2nd best Red Wheat Flour,
At Wholesale or Retail.
Corn Meal, Bolted and Coarse,
Fine Middlings, B. W Flour,
Ship Stuffs, B. w. Bran,
Mixed feed for horses and cattle,
Corn and Oats ground for horse feed.

This Mill can more often grind, because of its unfailing

SUPPLY OF WATER,

and does more certainly have a supply of Flour and Feed always on hand, than any other mill for miles around.

Farmers are invited to bring their wheat to the Globe Mill and get THE HIGHEST MARKET PRICE. They will always also ussally find a market at the Mill for their other grains.

Wm. HAYDEN.

A. HOOD & CO.,

Are receiving a large stock of

CLOTHS, CLOTHING, HATS AND CAPS.

And all kinds of Furnishing Goods pertain to Gentlemen's wear.

A splendid assortment of

Cassimeres and Vestings

At A. HOOD & CO.

CHINCHILLA BEAVERS, and all other varieties of Over Coatings

At A. HOOD & CO.

A good assortment of

Broadcloths

for Gentlemen's SUITS, or Ladies' CLOAKS

At A. HOOD & CO.

A large stock of HATS & CAPS of all styles FUR, FELT, CASSIMERE & SILK

At A. HOOD & CO.

A great variety of WOOLEN SHIRTS

At A. HOOD & CO.

Lots of YPSILANTI CLOTHS at the lowest figures. at A. HOOD & CO.

UNDER SHIRTS & DRAWERS

The largest stock ever brought to this town for sale at A. HOOD & CO.

ALL KINDS OF GLOVES

At A. HOOD & CO

A nice stock of NECK TIES, new styles

At A. HOOD & CO.

TRUNKS, TRAVELING BAGS of all kinds, at A. HOOD & CO.

If you want a Coat, Pants or Vest TRIMMED

Go to A. HOOD & CO

Lots of Ready Made Clothing

At A. HOOD & CO.

A choice lot of

ENGLISH MELTONS

for Ladies' Cloaking for sale at cost.

At A. HOOD & CO.

We still continue the Tailoring Business in all its branches, and are prepared to get up Garments on short notice, on as liberal terms as any other establishment. Cutting done on short notice.

We cordially invite our old customers to examine our Stock before purchasing.

A. HOOD & CO.

ONE OF THE LARGEST

ESTABLISHMENT

In Southern michigan.

One of the best filled Establishments!

A LARGE STOCK,

Most Varied

Stock of Furniture

Is to be found at

G. & H. Smiths'

ROOMS IN THE

NEW BUILDING,

South Side Chicago St, Tecumseh,

Great Bargains

Are now offered to wholesale or retail buyers.

Among our assortment of Furniture may be found,

Various Styles and Prices

OF SOFAS,

TETE-A-TETES,

MAHOGANY, EASY, WOOD SEAT, CANE SEAT

AND ROCKING CHAIRS

FRENCH, COTTAGE, COMMON AND TRUNDLE,

BEDSTEADS,

MARBLE TOP, WRITING, CARD AND

TEA TABLES,

What Nots, Cradles, Bureaus, Cribs, Desks, Show Cases, Stands, Book Cases, Cupboards, Washstands, Lounges, &c. &c. &c.

Furniture made to order on short notice by the best of Workmen.

LOOKING GLASSES,

COFFINS,

We keep constantly on hand a large and all assortment of Coffins and will make to order all kinds either Night or Day, and finished and trimmed in the best style.

A Hearse Furnished when Desired.

G. SMITH,
H. SMITH.

Tecumseh, June 11th, 1863.

Great Chance for Bargains!

CHAS. H. ADAM & CO.

BEBNG ABOT TO RETIRE FROM THE DRY GOODS IN TECUMSEH OFFER FOR SALE AT

GREATLY REDUCED RATES

THEIR ENTIRE STOCK OF DRY GOODS,

Consisting of Staple and Fancy goods, Yankee Notions

And everything usually kept in a Dry Goods Store.

This will afford the best opportunity

EVER OFFERED IN TECUMSEH TO OBTAIN BARGAINS IN DRY GOODS, FOR CASH.

GOODS SOLD AY THE PIECE

OR QUANTITY AT WHOLESALE PRICES.

All outstanding account must be settled within thirty days to save interest and cost.

C. H. ADAM & CO.

TECUMSEH, SEPT. 27th 1866.

NEW GOODS,

PRICES DOWN!

H. C. CONKLING

Would call the attention of the public to his new stock of

CHOICE GROCERIES

Just purchased in New York at the

RECENT DECLINE,

which he offers for sale

CHEAP.

All Goods warranted to give satisfaction. Cash paid for Produce, as usual,

5000 Firkins

Of Butter Wanted!!

Butter firkins to put out to be filled:—☞ Call and see those choice Teas: Don't forget, the old stand of Ketcham & Conkling.

H. C. CONKLING.

Tecumseh, May 7th, 1866.

DENTISTRY.

DR. A. PELHAM,

Resident Dentists.

Office over Fisher & Baker's Drug Store, Chicago St.

TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN.

☞ All branches of Dentistry performed in the neatest possible manner and at Reasonable Prices

---

We would respectfully inform the citizens of Tecumseh and vicinity that we opened a

MEAT MARKET,

at McGee's old stand in Bidwell's warehouse where we shall keep on hand everything in our line that the market affords, of the best quality that can be had.

We have also made arrangements for the manufacture of SOFT SOAP, which will be sold at reasonable rates. Ashes and grease taken in exchange and Soap delivered when requested.

Thankful for past favors, we cordially invite our friends to give us a call. All orders left at the Market will be promptly attended to. W. TAYLOR & CO.

$1,500 PER YEAR. We want agents everywhere to sell our IMPROVED $20 Sewing Machines. Three new kinds. Under and upper feed. Sent on trial. Warranted five years. Above salary or large commissions paid. The only machines sold in the United States for less than $40, which are ftlly licensed by Howe, Wheeler & Wilson. Grover & Baker, Singer & Co, and Bachelder. All other cheap machines are infringements and the seller or user are liable to arrest, fine and imprisonment. Illustrated circulars sent free. Address, or call upon Shaw & Clark, at Biddeford, Maine, or Chicago, Ill.

ROYAL HAVANA LOTTERY OF CUBA

Conducted by the Spanish Government,

$350,000

IN GOLD DRAWN EVERY 17 DAYS

Prizes cashed and information furnished, the highest rates paid for Doubloons and all kinds of Gold and Silver, also for all government Securities.

TAYLOR & CO., Bankers, 16 wall st. N. Y.

n790lysmp

THE CONFESSIONS AND EXPERIENCE OF AN INVALID.

Published for the benefit and as a CAUTION TO YOUNG MEN and others, who suffer from Nervous Debility, Premature Decay of Manhood, &c., supplying at the same time the means of Self-Cure. By one who has cured himself after undergoing considerable quackery. By enclosing a post-paid-addressed envelope, single copies, free of charge, mhy be had of the author

NATHANIEL MAYFAIR, Esq., Brooklyn,

n790lysmp Kings Co, N. Y.

$90 A MONTH!—Agents wanted for six entirely new articles, just out. Address O. T. GAREY, City Building, Biddeford, Me.

THE NEW HARNESS SHOP!

J. D. SHOLES

Having opened a shop in the old

NEW YORK STORE,

Would respectfully invite the attention of his old friends to his very superior stock of

HARNESS, SADDLES, &c.,

Manufactured from the best materials by experienced workmen.

☞ Repairing neatly and promptly done.

☞ Tribou & Bidwell Bros. have a splendid assortment of Over-shirts, Drawers, Under-shirts, Neck Ties, Suspenders, and every kind of Gents' Furnishing Goods.

GO TO THE

LONG ESTABLISHED

Head Quarters, for

Groceries & Provisions,

A. JAMES

Is happy to inform his patrons and the public in general that he has heavily replenished his stock of Goods, to which he invites the attention of those in search of

Good Articles

AT FAIR PRICES.

His stock embraces about every article known in his line of trade—

SWEETS, SOURS & SPICES, SNUFF, SOAP & CIGARS,

Confectionery Candles,

FRUIT AND FISH

Stone and Wooden Ware,

&c.

He continues to pay the highest market price for all kinds of Farmers Produce.

His stock embraces all kinds, under the ollowing heads:

MOLASSES,
SOAP, FISH,
SUGAR, SYRUP,
COFFEE, SPICES,
AMMUNITION, CANDIES,
CANDLES, TOBACCO,
FRUITS, SAUCES,
BURNING OILS.

OUR MOTTO IS,

Never to be Undersold.

Sorghum Men Attention!

LOOK AT THE CANE MACHINERY,

At Slayton, Tindall & Co's Warehouse.

New Styles of Mills, Evaporators and Horse Powers, never before introduced in Michigan. Patented by Powers & Stevens, of Wisconsin, and successfully and extensively used in the Western States.

Vertical and Horizontal MILLS,

of all sizes, of great strength and capacity, with patent adjustable rubber springs.

EVAPORATORS

divided into sections with instantly movable partitions over fire chamber, which is also divided into sections, and heat regulated by Patent Dampers, at will Also Saccharometers and tools for full setts of Camp Implements for the manufacture of syrup & sugar

KIRBY Mower & Reaper,
BUCK EYE Mower & Reaper
CAYUGA CHIEF, Mower & Reaper,
" " No. 2 "
EUREKA Mower & Reaper,
EXCELSIOR Mower & Reaper,
NEW YORKER Mower & Reaper,
BALL Mower & Reaper,
HUBBARD Mower, QUAKER Mower,

Any other style Mower or Reaper you want can be had of SLAYTON, TINDALL & CO.

The Buckeye, Riding, Corn and Fallow Cultivator. The Stafford, Riding, Corn and Fallow Cultivator. 1. 2, and 3 shovel, one horse Corn Cultivators. Corn Plows. L. Green's Patent Peekskill Plows. Curtis' Plows, the genuine, from Mr. Curtis' own shop. For Sale by

SLAYTON, TINDALL & Co

CURTIS & PARSONS

(DEALERS IN)

Having become proprietors of the well known establishment in Bidwell's Block on Chicago Street, would respectfully announce to the citizens of Tecumseh and vicinity, that they are prepared to supply them with everything in the line of Hardware, Tin ware, Iron, Nails, Chains, Cutlery, Belts, Seelf goods Glass, Cradles, Scythes, Forks, Rakes, Carpenter's tools, Doors, Axes, Hoes Cistern Pumps, Putty, Spades and Shovels, Chains, Ropes and every article usually kept in like establishments.

Especial attention is called to the large assortment of Cook and Parlor Stoves & Fixtures, of which they have a large variety, embracing all the latest improvements, We have also a Tin-Shop in opperation, for manufacturing & repairing all kinds of Tin, Copper and Sheet Iron Ware Stove-pipe, Eave Troughs, Milk-Pans, Dippers, Cups, Oil-Cans, and every conceivable article, from a Large Dish Pan down to a Tin, whistle. We are sole agents for the Universal Clothes Wringer, for this vicinity.

GEO. CURTIS. WM. A. PARSONS.

The Pride of the West

THE TECUMSEH

RED MILLS

J. MILLER & SONS

Have rented the above Mills; thoroughly repaired the same, and are now manufacturing a No. 1 article of

FAMILY FLOUR,

We are also prepared to furnish

CORN MEAL, SHIP STUFFS AND

Mill Feed, at all times.

CUSTOM WORK

Done with neatness and Dispatch and

WARRANTED TO GIVE SATISFAC

The Highest Market Price in

Cash, for Wheat!

Give us a trial, and we will warrant that you will not go away dissatisfied.

JOHN MILLER & SONS.

BARRETT'S

THE

ON THIS CONTINENT

AND

THE NE PLUS ULTRA — THE PEOPLE'S CHOICE

[IS SO PRONOUNCED BY THE most scientific Analytical Chemists.

It Restores Gray Hair to its Natural Color.
It Promotes the growth of the Hair.
It Prevents Hair Falling Out.
It Changes the Roots to their Original Organic Action.
It Eradicates Dandruff and Humors.
It Keeps the Scalp Healthy.
It Contains no Injurious Ingredient.

And is generally accorded to be

A SPLENDID DRESSING.

ITS MERITS

Are Inside the Bottle.

Every bottle contains MORE LIQUID than any other dollar preparation. NO LARGE REWARDS offered to establish its efficacy, but we DO GUARANTEE to refund the money to any person who will use two bottles and then say that our restorative has failed to do all we claim.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Our J. R. BARRETT is the first and only man who discovered the art of combining a HAIR RESTORATIVE with a DRESSING, of which there are now many imitations in the market, yet none but BARRETT'S are Original.

J. R. BARRETT & CO., Proprietors,

MANCHESTER, N. H.

FARRAND, SHELEY & CO.,

DETROIT,

General Agents for Michigan.

Hear Ye! Hear Ye!!

Do you want the best Card pictures in this section.

Do you want those gems of art, Opatotypes or Porcelains? Do you want work warranted? Do you want to suit yourselves? Do you want the best that Art affords? Then go to Powers rooms over the P. O. Tecumseh, Michigan, and you can find FIRST CLASS WORK of every description. He is bound not to be out-done in any branch of the business. Pictures of any size done to order in INDIA-INK, WATER or OIL COLORS, on short notice and in the best style

Persons having small Negatives which they like can have pictures made from them life size or smaller as they choose and finished in India ink water or oil colors. Give him a call and examine his work. You will find him gentlemanly, courteous and ever ready to oblige. He is bound to give satisfaction to all. No poor work allowed to leave the rooms He has the best instruments known and acknowledged to be such by all superior Artists. One half of the pictures that took the premium at the last County Fair, over A. J. Hoag's time, were of Powers make. Do you want a good proof, call and examine. Powers has served three years in the army, and deserves the patronage of the public. You will find him prompt, active and always at his place of business.

KNOW THY DESTINY!

Madame E. F. Thornton, the great English Astrologist, Clairvoyant and Psychometrician, who has astonished the scientific classes of the Old World, has now located herself at Hudson, N. Y. Madame Thornton posses such wonderful powers of second sight, as to enable her to impart knowledge of the greatest importance to the single or married of either sex. While in a state of trance, she delineates the very features of the person you are to marry, and by the aid of an instrument of intense power, known as the Psychomotrope, guarantees to produce a life-like picture of the future husband or wife of the applicant, together with date of marriage, position in life, leading traits of character, &c. This is no humbug, as thousands of testimonials can assert. She will send, when desired a certified certificate, or written guarantee, that the picture is what it purports to be. By enclosing a small lock of hair, and stating place of birth, age, disposition and complexion, and enclosing 50 cents and stamped envelope addressed to yourself, you will receive the picture and desired information by return mail. All communications sacredly confidential. Address in confidence, MADAME E. F. THORNTON, P. O. Box 223 Hudson, N. Y.

Boots and Shoes

FOR SALE!

The subscriber offers for sale, a small stock of Boots and Shoes of my own Manufacture, cheap for cash, one door West of National Hotel. S. WORTH.

The Southern Michigan

MANUFACTORY!

IN FULL BLAST!

T. Cummins, Proprietor,

Would announce to the citizens of Lenawee Co, that he is still located in the Brick Shop on Railroad Street, Where he is now turning out the Nicest, Best and Strongest, WAGONS, CARRIAGES, SLEIGHS, BUGGIES, CUTTERS, and in fact everything in his line from a baby cart to a large Omnibus. His prices are such as defy competition. So call and leave your orders.

☞ Job Printing in all its various branches neatly and promptly executed at this office.—Our charges are moderate.—Try us.

PAINTS, OILS, VARNISHES,

FANCY GLASS WARE,

KEROSENE OIL GROCERY,

WALL PAPER,

PERFUMERY &c.

Also, agent for all the popular

PATENT MEDICINES,

ALCOHOL, Pure WINES, LIQUORS AND SPICES,

Also, a good selection of

FRESH GROCERIES,

Physicians' Prescriptions carefully compounded and all orders answered.

Medicines warranted genuine and of the best quality and sold at the lowest cash prices.

L. DREW'S

NEW HARDWARE!!

Having received from New York and other eastern cities a large Stock of the following goods viz:

STOVES IN ENDLESS VARITY!

Iron, Steel Nails, Cutlery, Putty, Glass. Window Sashes,

House Trimmings,

Carpenter's Tools, Farming Tools Coopers Tools and Chain Pumps, Bolts, and a

Variety of SHELF GOODS,

PURCHASED FOR CASH Before THE LATE ADVANCE,

They are offered for sale at prices which defy competition. All kinds of

Tin ware

constantly on hand and made to order of the best material and by experienced workmen, also

Copper, Sheet Iron. and Zinc,

Also the

Good Samaritan COOKING STOVE, one of the best stoves in the country.

M. WRIGHT

Keeps constantly on kand, a large and choice assortment of

Drugs and Medicines,

TECUMSEH HERALD

MICHIGAN

MICROFILMED FOR:

TECUMSEH PUBLIC LIBRARY
215 NORTH OTTAWA
TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN

STARTS WITH

JUNE 25, 1863

Js

MICRO PHOTO DIVISION

BELL & HOWELL

END